JAMES R. JONES, M.D.
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Dear Mr. Jones,

I agree with President Nixon,
"one year of Watergate is enough".
Let's get this impeachment talk stopped immediately. If all Congressmen and Senators read John 8:7-10 and practiced it, Watergate would end tomorrow. In that Bible account when the men brought the adulterous woman before Jesus to see what he said about the law, he said for the one that was without sin to cast the first stone (vote) at her (him). This would end Watergate and the Country could get back to the real problems
confronting the nation & the world.
To me this seems more of an effort to reverse the vote of the people than any other thing & Mr. Jones how dangerous for America when a loud slide vote can be reversed.

Most sincerely
Vince Quist

Dear Ms. Quist:

Thank you very much for communicating with me concerning your opinions on the question of impeachment.

After several resolutions of impeachment were introduced last year, the House Judiciary Committee was assigned the responsibility of investigating the facts to determine whether there was evidence to personally implicate the President in an impeachable offense.

A staff was assembled in December to begin this study. It is expected that the Judiciary Committee staff investigation will be completed sometime in April. At that time, the evidence will be presented and a vote taken to determine whether impeachment proceedings should begin or be dropped.

Most House Members, including myself, believe that we should keep an open mind and decide on the basis of the legal evidence which is presented later in the spring.

In the meantime, Congress has a full agenda of important business in the areas of energy, the economy, and other domestic legislation which will occupy my work and attention.

I do appreciate your taking the time to share your views with me, and I will keep these in mind at such time as I am called upon to decide on this issue.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

JAMES R. JONES
