ANNUAL SUMMARY OF PROGRESS TOWARD ACHIEVING OBJECTS

We have studied and practiced good health and safety habits. In spare time and at home children have read many books from the regional library and the circulating county library. At school they have practiced the use of good manners and everyday courtesy. They have studied about the things that make good citizens, and how to respect citizens.

SCHOOL OBJECTIVES

To Provide opportunities for the development of good citizenship. To teach the need for practicing right uses and proper care of the body. To teach the need for avoidance of bodily damage through safety lessons. To teach children to develop attitudes of cooperation and responsibility. To teach reading and writing as a vehicle to intelligent thinking.

Formulated By

Mrs Virginia Sylvers
Watauga Col.

CLASSROOM OBJECTIVES

To promote good health habits.

To provide for better classroom reading habits.

To improve on manners and home training.

To give the children a better cultural background.

To teach safety to avoid injury.

To teach children to have respect for a citizen.

Formulated By

Mrs Virginia Sylvers
Watauga Col.

The pupils in the first grade are reading, writing and counting. They are able to reason out simple problems.

The pupils in the 3rd and 4th grades have finished their tests and have read several additional tests.

All the pupils are interested in reading the books obtained from the Carter County circulating library and the regional library.

The other classes have done good work in their tests and supplementary material.

We have had two field trips this year, which were helpful in all respects.

We had a tour looking for signs of spring, which brought out many interesting points. One trip to the Tri-City Airport and a tour of the terminal gave much light on science and weather condition pertaining to aviation.

They were able to observe just how planes were signaled in to the field, and how messages were sent to various cities by codes.
