Joshua Generation aids region's babies

Jacqueline Blair, child-care provider, feeds 3-month-old Annika Cash at the Child Development Center. Annika, along with other babies such as 3-month-old Dawnte Kyle, on the floor, were recipients of 2,000 free diapers donated by Joshua Generation with the help of Wal-Mart. The charity group serves eight East Tennessee counties and seven counties and three cities in Southwest Virginia. The group also donated 3,000 baby wipes.
