ABOUT THE COMPANY

NUCLEUS is a company of performing artists dedicated to developing and presenting ideas that will encourage and stimulate positive growth.

As a company, one of NUCLEUS' strongest concerns is the support, encouragement and reinforcement of young people. From that shared commitment, "Stepping Into Tomorrow" was created. An original theatrical production, it was conceptualized and written by the company.

MEET THE COMPANY

Yolanda King - Artistic Director - has been involved in the theatre since she wrote and directed her first play at age eight. She has combined her artistic pursuits with her commitment to social change.

Attallah Shabazz - Artistic Director - has performed in virtually every form of artistic media both in front of and behind the scenes. Her major dedication is to the development and enrichment of youth.

Yogi Lee - hails from Washington, D.C. She has performed in Off-Broadway productions and in many prominent clubs in New York. She recently completed an album with percussionist, Ralph McDonald.

Ellyn Long Marshall - has participated in Broadway, Off-Broadway and community theatre as an actress, director, dancer and teacher. Most recently, she served as Casting Coordinator at the New York Shakespeare Festival.

Guy Pleasant - is a songwriter who has performed with many musical groups. He is presently pursuing a career in music production.

Horace L. Sheffield, III - is experienced in theatre, politics and the Church. He presently pastors the Bethel United Methodist Church in Brooklyn, New York.
