Dearest Annie,

One little line to lay my thanks at your feet for all the glow and life you put into me from your glowing, living self in these few [hours] we have been together.

I was so down, so smashed, and failure –filled on Wednesday night that it was all I could do not to throw up the [Bath] plan. Now I feel mended up-quite different to anything that has been since Holloway, and I think I shall not get so down again.

How splendid you were to listen to, both at the meeting and privately face to face.

Mrs Lawrence and I had a glorious talk in the motor coming here. The air did her good I think and now she is asleep.

I had wanted to ask you and her together about how I should try and tackle

Hertfordshire, and perhaps my sister Betty Balfour and I could go to Ireland and do something there.

Mrs Lawrence has given me first rate advice about both of these.

Good luck to you always.

Your loving

Con [Constance]

I was so deeply moved and pleased by the sympathetic kindness of our dear host and hostess and their splendid zealous `daughter.
