SAN FRANCISCO - CAMANO ISLAND, 9 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark, accompanied by Colonel Louis Martin and Captain Waters, left Hamilton Field at 0730 hours and landed at Ault Field, Whidbey Island, Washington at 1130 hours. From Ault Field the party proceeded by car to Oak Harbor where they boarded a crash boat for Camano Island. They were met at the pier by Mrs. Clark and Maude and Tom Griffiths. Colonel Martin had lunch with the group and then departed for Fort Worden. General Clark and Mr. Griffiths fished during the afternoon and in the evening rested and relaxed.

* * * *

CAMANO ISLAND, FORT WORDEN - 10 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark arose at 0430 hours and, accompanied by Mr. Griffiths and Captain Walters, went to Hope Island where he spent the morning fishing with Captain Wagner. The General returned to Camano Island at 1330 hours where he had lunch and prepared to depart for Fort Worden. At 1545 hours the General was picked up by a crash boat and with Mrs. Clark and Captain Waters crossed the Sound through Deception Pass and landed at Fort Worden about 1745 hours where he was met by General Ogden. General and Mrs. Clark spent the evening as guests at the quarters of General and Mrs. Ogden.

* * * *

FORT WORDEN, FORT FLAGLER, FORT CASEY, FORT LEWIS - 11 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General and Mrs. Clark had breakfast with General and Mrs. Ogden and then inspected the Honor Guard which was formed outside Post Headquarters at 0755 hours. Following the Guard, General Clark was briefed on the mission and tactical organization of the 2nd Engineers Special Brigade commanded by General Ogden. With General Ogden, the General then watched a review of engineering equipment used by the Special Brigade. Following this the General boarded a crash boat with General and Mrs. Ogden and Mrs. Clark and watched a boat review from the Sound. At the conclusion of the boat review, the crash boat proceeded to Fort Flagler where the General debarked and inspected the 85th Boat Company and installations. At the completion of this tour of inspection General Clark and party again boarded the crash boat and proceeded to Fort Casey where the General inspected the 79th AMTRAC Company. During this inspection the General was treated to a ride in an amphibious tank. Completing inspection of Fort Casey, General Clark returned to Fort Worden and then proceeded to the Station Hospital where he talked with Staff Sgt. Alouis A. Schreiber, who was hospitalized with arthritis. Sgt. Schreiber had been the coxswain on the crash boat during the General's previous trips to the Northwest. General and Mrs. Clark had lunch with the Ogdens and then proceeded by staff car to Fort Lewis, arriving at 1600 hours. That evening General Clark attended a stag dinner party as guest of General Kendall at the Tacoma Country Club. He returned to the Fort Lewis Inn at 2130 hours where he spent the night.

INDUSTRY-ARMY DAY

SEPTEMBER 12, 1947

SPONSORED BY NORTHWEST MILITARY ASSOCIATIONS

General Mark Wayne Clark, Commander, Sixth Army, born at Madison Barracks, New York, 1896, graduated at West Point in 1917. As Captain 11th Infantry, he was wounded in action in France in World War I. Upon recovery he participated in St. Mihiel and Muesse-Argonne offensives.

General Mark Wayne Clark,

General Clark is a graduate of the Infantry School, Command and General Staff School, and the Army War College. He was instructor for Indiana National Guard, and the Army War College. He served with the 30th Infantry Regiment in California and on the 3rd Division Staff at Fort Lewis.

In 1942 General Clark became successively, Chief of Staff, Army Ground Forces; Commander, II Corps; Commander, Ground Forces, European Theatre; then deputy Commander-in-Chief, European Theatre. Prior to the North African invasion Clark made his dramatic hazardous submarine rendezvous with Admiral Darlan, resulting in Darlan repudiating Vichy, ordering French African Forces to cease resistance to the Allies.

In 1943 General Clark became Commander of the Fifth Army, directing the Italian invasion, then as Commander of the 15th Army Group, which included the British 8th Army, he headed all Allied Forces in Italy. His campaigns culminated in the Po Valley offensive, resulting in the formal surrender of 230,000 Germans four days before the end of hostilities in Germany.

In 1945 General Clark became High Commissioner and Commander of United States troops in Austria. In 1947, prior to his present Command, he was deputy to Secretary of State Marshall at the London and Moscow Austria Treaty negotiations.

General Clark's twelve American decorations include the Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Service Medal (twice), Navy Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and Purple Heart, with 18 top decorations from foreign countries.

Lieutenant General Joseph Lawton Collins, deputy Chief of Staff of the Army, born 51 years ago in New Orleans, has been a soldier 34 years. He is a graduate of West Point, two Infantry Schools, Advanced Artillery, Command and General Staff School

Lt. General J. Lawton Collins

Army Industrial College and Army War College. He was an instructor for 10 years,—at the United States Military Academy, the Fort Benning Infantry School and at the Army War College.

General Collins was with the American Expeditionary Forces for two years in World War I. He has served with the 8th, 18th, and 22nd Infantry Regiments and the Philippine Scouts. He was Director of Military Intelligence for the Department of Philippines and later in the Office of the Secretary of War.

General Collins was Chief of Staff VII Army Corps in Alabama in 1941 until Pearl Harbor, when he became Chief of Staff for the Department of Hawaii. As its Commanding General, he led the 25th Infantry Division through long campaigns in Guadalcanal and New Georgia. In 1944 as Commanding General he led his VII Corps from Normandy through France and Germany until the Elbe River junction with the Russians.

In 1945 he became deputy Commander American Ground Forces, then Chief of War Department Information until his present assignment.

General Collins' United States decorations include Distinguished Service Medal (twice), Legion of Merit (twice), Silver Star (twice), with 7 decorations from foreign governments.

spoke on the situation in Austria. Others on this program were: Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Deputy Chief of Staff, U.S. Army, "National Security in the Atomic Age"; Lt. Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Deputy Commander Army Air Forces, "Role of Air Power in National Security"; Maj. Gen. Henry H. Aurand, Director, Research and Development, "Role of Research and Development in National Security". The civilian audience, numbering about 500, was extremely interested in the talks and so signified their interest during the period following the talks by asking numerous questions of the speakers. So numerous were these questions that a halt finally had to be called to the question period. The General then returned to the Inn for a brief rest and he then proceeded to the Officers Mess to take part in the formal reception of the visitors. Included in the receiving line were: Senator Cain, General Clark, Maj. Gen. Aurand, and Maj. Gen. Kendall. The formal reception was followed by dinner at the Officers Mess. Senator Cain was toastmaster for after-dinner talks, which included speeches by General Clark; Maj. Gen. Everett S. Hughes, Chief of Ordnance; Maj. Gen. Edmond H. Leavey, Chief of Transportation; Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, Chief of Chemical Corps; Maj. Gen. Thomas B. Larkin, Chief of Quartermaster Corps; Brig. General C. H. Arnold, representing Chief of Signal Corps; Maj. Gen. William H. Hoge, CG, Fort Belvoir, Va., representing Chief of Engineers. Introductions of the following were then given: Lt. Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Maj. Gen. William B. Kean, Chief of Staff, Hq 1st Army; Maj. Gen. Willis H. Hale, CG, 4th Air Force; Col. Lee S. Gerow, DCS, Hq 2nd Army; Col. Philip R. Faymonville, ACS, G-4, 3rd Army; Col. Edw. T. Williams, DCS, Hq 4th Army; Col. Edw. T. Williams, DCS, Hq 4th Army; Col. Wm. A. Collier, CS, Hq 5th Army; Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, Chief Information, Special Staff, War Dept.; Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks, Chief Public Info Div, War Dept, Special Staff; Mr. J. P. Weyerhauser, Weyerhauser Lumber Company.

At the conclusion of the talks, General Clark returned to the Inn for the night.

* * * *

FORT LEWIS - SAN FRANCISCO - 13 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark, together with Mrs. Clark, Colonel Martin, Colonel Grogan (who had arrived by plane with General Hale), and Captain Waters, breakfasted at the Inn at 0730 hours. At 0800 hours Mrs. Clark departed for Tacoma and General Clark and party left for McChord Field. The party was airborne, in General Hale's plane, a B-17, at 0830 hours. They landed at Hamilton Field at 1130 hours where they were met by Colonel McMahon and Major Luther. The General returned to the Presidio and remained at his quarters throughout the afternoon and evening. He had cancelled a cocktail party engagement with Admiral Beary.

* * * *

SAN FRANCISCO - 14 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark remained at his quarters throughout the day. In the evening he walked to Omar Khayyam's where he had dinner, and then returned to his quarters.

* * * *

SAN FRANCISCO - 15 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark arrived at his office at 0900 hours and immediately worked on his Constitution Day speech to be delivered at Indianapolis on September 17. He talked with Colonel Grogan concerning this and then dictated some changes. Later he finished up his correspondence and then talked with Colonel McMahon and Colonel Haines. Just before leaving his office for lunch, he called in Colonel Martin concerning G-1 problems. After lunch the General returned to his office and again went over his speech, making final corrections. He called in Colonel Grogan to look over the final form and then after conferring with Colonels Grogan and McMahon returned to his quarters where he prepared for his trip to Indianapolis. At 1900 hours General Clark left his quarters, accompanied by Colonel McMahon, and went to Hamilton Field where he boarded a C-47, piloted by Captain George, enroute to Indianapolis.

* * * *

ENROUTE TO INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA - 16 SEPTEMBER 1947 - With one stopover for gasoline at Cheyenne, Wyoming, General Clark's plane landed at Municipal Airport, Indianapolis, at 1000 hours. He was met by Mayor Denny, Samuel R. Harrell, chairman of the Constitution Day Committee, and Colonel Beaucond, 2nd Army representative. The Mayor and Mr. Harrell accompanied General Clark to the Columbia Club where the General was taken to a room in order to freshen up. After getting all the details of the program from Mr. Harrell, General Clark called Irving Lemaux, who came over to talk with the General. General Clark had lunch with a group of civic leaders and old friends in the Harrison Room of the Columbia Club, immediately following which he held a short press conference and then went to the Harrell residence in North Indianapolis. He and Mrs. Clark will stay there throughout their stay in Indianapolis. Mrs. Clark had arrived by train last night. General Clark rested in the afternoon and at 1800 hours went to the Indianapolis Athletic Club where he was guest speaker at a dinner given by the Indianapolis Committee on Foreign Affairs. He returned with Mr. Harrell to his residence and retired for the night.

* * * *

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA - 17 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark rested throughout the morning and later put the final touches on his speech to be delivered in the Murat Theater tonight. After lunch, the General took a short swim and at 1630 hours went to the Scheidenhelm residence where Mrs. Scheidenhelm was giving a tea for Mrs. Clark. The General remained for only a short time and then returned to the Harrell residence where he held a short press conference with the representative of the Indianapolis Star. At 1745, the General and Mrs. Clark, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harrell, Major Luther and Evans Harrell, went to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lacy II on the outskirts of Indianapolis, where they were guests at a buffet dinner given by the Lacys. Governor and Mrs. Ralph Gates, Mayor and Mrs. Denny were among the guests. Following the dinner, General Clark was escorted by the State Police in Governor Gates' car to the Murat Theater where a huge audience had gathered in his honor. With the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra as a background to the program, General Clark was guest speaker. He spoke on his dealings in Austria for the past two years. Immediately following the closing of the Constitution Day ceremonies, General and Mrs. Clark returned with Governor and Mrs. Gates to the Harrell residence where a large group of friends had gathered in their honor.

* * * *

MUNCIE, INDIANA - 18 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark left Indianapolis at 0945 hours and drove to Muncie where he was to speak tonight. He first went to the residence of Marvin Smith where some of his old friends had gathered and later, with Mr. Ed Ball and Mr. Smith, went to the Muncie Club for lunch. After lunch the General went to the Marsh residence where he was to stay for the night. In the afternoon he rested and then worked on his speech. He left for the Smith residence again at 1700 hours for cocktails. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ball, Mr. and Mrs. William Ball, and other old friends were present. The General arrived at the Masonic Temple at 1830 hours for the Civic Day program conducted by the Muncie

Business and Professional Women's Club and he spoke on his foreign relations. Immediately following the program and dinner, General and Mrs. Clark returned to the Marsh residence where a large group of friends had gathered in his honor.

* * * *

MUNCIE - CHICAGO - 19 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General and Mrs. Clark drove out to the cemetery to see the grave of Mrs. Clark's mother and on returning the General learned there was bad weather over the mountains today and that he would be unable to fly to San Francisco. Consequently, he called General Carl Gray of the Northwestern and Chicago Railway and made arrangements to accompany Mrs. Clark by train on her return trip to San Francisco. After lunch with Marvin Smith, General Clark drove to the airport where he took off at 1400 hours enroute to Chicago. Mr. William Ball flew Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Mildred Hawks, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Smith and Mrs. Ball to Chicago in his private plane, to meet the General at 1700 hours at the Blackstone Hotel. General Clark arrived Chicago Municipal Airport at 1500 hours where he was met by Colonel William Collier, Chief of Staff of the Fifth Army, and with the Colonel drove to Fifth Army Headquarters. At 1700 hours General Clark went to the Blackstone Hotel where he saw Colonel Jim Tully, Vice President of the Pullman Company, and a classmate of General Clark's at West Point. At 1730 hours the General met the remainder of his party which had flown in from Muncie and after cocktails at the Blackstone went to the Cameo where they had dinner. Immediately following dinner, General Clark and his party went to the Northwestern Station where General and Mrs. Clark and Major Luther boarded the City of San Francisco and departed Chicago at 1930 hours.

* * * *

ENROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO - 20 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark spent the day enroute from Chicago to San Francisco aboard the train The City of San Francisco.

* * * *

SAN FRANCISCO - 21 SEPTEMBER 1947 : General Clark arrived at the Oakland Pier at 0915 hours where he was met by Ann and Mrs. Sullivan. He drove to his quarters at the Presidio where he remained throughout the day. Later in the morning he took a long walk with Colonel Sullivan.

* * * *

SAN FRANCISCO - 22 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark arrived at his office at 0900 hours. He immediately dictated several letters and then worked on his speech which he will give tomorrow in Los Angeles to the American Legion Convention. After talking with Colonel Grogan regarding some changes in his speech, General Clark dictated the final draft. He then talked with Colonel McMahon concerning his future appointments and later saw Colonel Martin, Colonel Grogan and Colonel Haines concerning bringing back the war dead. At 1230 hours he walked home with Colonel McMahon for lunch and returned to his office at 1330 hours. There he went over the final draft of his speech and discussed it with Colonel Grogan. After dictating some more letters, General Clark received General Franklin, president of the U.S. Lines, at 1500 hours, and at 1600 hours the General left his office and returned to his quarters where he had dinner.

* * * *

LOS ANGELES - 23 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark left his quarters at 0700 hours, accompanied by Colonel Grogan, and drove to Hamilton Field where he took off at 0735 in his C-47 and flew to Los Angeles, landing there around 1005 hours. He was met by Colonel Hocker, Commanding Officer of Fort MacArthur, and then drove to the State Convention of the American Legion where he was the principal speaker. He addressed the Legion on the subject of foreign affairs and his dealings with the Soviets. Immediately after his speech, General Clark returned to the airport and flew back to Hamilton Field, arriving at the Presidio 1445 hours. He went immediately to his office where he took care of the correspondence and official business that had come in during the day. The General then went to his quarters where he spent the remainder of the day.

* * * *

SAN FRANCISCO - 24 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark arrived at his office at 0830 hours and immediately saw Colonel Grogan concerning his two speeches he will deliver today. He then dictated the first draft of the speeches. Later the General saw Colonel McMahon and then talked with General Davidson concerning his appointment as acting Chief of Staff. Later General Clark studied his speeches and then went to his quarters for lunch. He arrived at the Century Club - the oldest women's club in San Francisco - at 1430 hours, accompanied by Mrs. Clark and Captain Waters, and later spoke to the members on the subject of foreign affairs. Following the meeting General and Mrs. Clark were guests at the Club at a tea. The General returned to his quarters at 1645 hours and after resting a bit left again at 1840 hours to go to the Palace Hotel where he was the principal speaker at the final meeting of the League of Cities of California convention. Mayor Roger Lapham introduced the General and he again spoke on his dealings with the Soviets in Austria. The General returned to his quarters at 2230 hours.

* * * *

SAN FRANCISCO - 25 SEPTEMBER 1947 - General Clark arrived at his office at 0845 hours and immediately saw Colonel Martin concerning General Devers' arrival the evening before. At 0945 hours General Devers, Commanding General of Army Ground Forces, arrived at General Clark's headquarters and conferred with the General for the next hour. Immediately following General Devers, General Clark saw General Ruffner of the War Department in Washington, and later he saw Generals Street and Douglas. The visiting Generals arrived for the luncheon given by General Clark for the leading newspaper and radio people in the West in order to aid in the Army recruitment drive. General Clark was host at the luncheon at 1200 hours and after cocktails for one-half hour escorted his 80 guests to the dining room in the Officers Club for lunch. Here General Clark made the introductory address and was followed by Generals Devers, Ruffner, Street and Douglas. The meeting closed at 1500 hours and General Clark returned to his headquarters where he took care of some correspondence. He then went to his quarters where he remained for the rest of the day.
