REMARKS.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA MILITARY ACADEMY was originally established December 20, 1842, and continued in operation until the close of the War between the States, in 1865. It was re-opened by the Board of Visitors October 1st, 1882, under the authority of an Act of the General Assembly, approved January 31st, 1882.

CLASSIFICATION OF CADETS.

The Cadets are arranged in four distinct classes, corresponding with the four years of study. The Cadets employed on the first year's course constitute the FOURTH CLASS; those on the second year's course the THIRD CLASS; those on the third year's course the SECOND CLASS; and those on the fourth year's course the FIRST CLASS.

The Academic Year commences on the last day of the Annual Encampment. On or before that date, the result of the Annual Examination, held in June, is announced, and Cadets are advanced from one class to another. At no other time shall a Cadet be advanced from one class to another, unless prevented by sickness, or authorized absence, from attending at the aforesaid examination, in which case a special examination shall be granted him; but in no case shall a Cadet be advanced from one class to another, without having passed a satisfactory examination by the Academic Board.

NOTE.

Those Cadets marked (*) are officially selected for publication, conformably to a regulation which requires the names of the most distinguished Cadets, not exceeding two in each class, to be reported for this purpose at each Annual Examination.

MERIT ROLLS.

The marks on which the merit rolls are made are obtained by taking the sum of the monthly marks received in each department and dividing by the number of marks, to get the average; then by multiplying by the "weight" of the department as established. The aggregates of these "final averages," with the Conduct Mark added in, determine the relative class standing of the Cadets. Elective studies are not counted in the final grading for graduation.

Weights. The weights given the various subjects are proportional to the time assigned them in the schedule of recitations.

In the First Class, the elective and non-elective studies each count as 50 per cent. of the aggregate.

Conduct Mark. The value of the Conduct Mark is fixed at 5 per cent. of the Academic aggregate.

Academic Standard. A minimum average of 50 per cent. is required in each department, and a "general average" of 66 2-3 per cent. of the aggregate,—not including the Conduct Mark,—is required for advancement to a higher class and for graduation.

CONDUCT ROLL.

P. 53. Rolls exhibiting the relative standing of the Cadets in Conduct shall be formed by the Superintendent, at the June examination for the whole Academic Year, in the following manner:

1st, Merits. Merits shall be awarded to the Cadets upon the following basis:

For Perfect Conduct for one week.....1½

2nd, Demerits. To all the recorded delinquencies of the Cadets shall be affixed a number, not exceeding 10, corresponding to the degree of criminality.

3rd. The degree of criminality for the various offences shall be fixed by the Superintendent, subject to the revision of the Board of Visitors.

4th. In determining standing on the "Conduct Roll," Merits and Demerits shall have correlative value.

P. 54, Deficiency in Conduct. When any Cadet shall have a number expressing his Demerits on the General Conduct Roll greater than 200 for his Fourth Class Year, 170 for his Third Class Year, 150 for his Second Class Year, 130 for his First Class Year, such Cadet shall be declared deficient in Conduct, and be immediately suspended, and reported to the Board for action at its next meeting.

ANNUAL REPORT OF INSPECTOR-GENERAL, U. S. A.

FORT MOULTRIE, S. C., May 16th, 1905.

TO THE MILITARY SECRETARY,
Division of the Atlantic,
Governor's Island, N. Y.

SIR:—

I have the honor to submit the following report of the military department of So. Car. Military Academy, made May 15-16, 1905.

1. Is this institution a military school, or is the military instruction merely a single feature of the course? If the latter is the case, what degree of importance is attached to the military instruction by the faculty, and what prominence is given to it? Essentially a military school. The military department is the principal feature of the school, all others being subordinate to it.

2. Does the curriculum cover fully the subjects in which a candidate for appointment as second lieutenant from civil life is examined? If not, what additions should be made to the course? Fully, with the exception of International Law. It is, however, expected that this will be introduced in the course, this Fall.

3. Is the department of military science and tactics graded equally with the other important branches of instruction, and is proficiency in that department a requisite for securing a diploma? (Sec. 9, G. O. 65 War Department, 1904). Yes. Yes.

4. Is the officer on duty at the college cordially supported by the faculty in the matter of military instruction and discipline? Give explicitly your reasons for arriving at this conclusion. He is most cordially supported. The college being the first of all a military college, the officer is charged with practically the most responsible duties of the school. My observations of his relations with President and faculty bears out the above facts.

5. Are the students required to be continuously in uniform, and do they lead, as far as the surrounding conditions can reasonably be expected to permit, a military life? In other words, are the conditions such as to impress them constantly with a sense of being under military discipline? Yes. Yes. Yes.

6. To what extent, if at all, is the true military spirit developed and nurtured? To a greater extent probably than at any other school in the country, with the exception of the National schools, and a few prominent military schools, at Chester, Penn., Orchard Lake, Mich., and Vir. M. I., which latter ones it fully equals.

7. With what degree of zeal is military duty performed? All cadets are at all times zealous to attain proficiency in military standing. Their rank in the corps, and class standing depend to a great extent on this.

8. How did the appearance of the cadets at inspection compare with what you would reasonably expect in a similar organization of regular troops? It was in every respect fully equal to any I have ever witnessed, and superior to most, among regular troops. I do not believe it can be in any way surpassed except by the Cadet Corps of the U. S. M. A.

9. Has the practical military instruction been carried out on broad practical lines, or has it been limited to mere drill? On broad, practical lines.

10. Are the requirements of Par. 13, Sec. 2. G. O. 65 War Department 1904, as to time allowed the military department fully complied with? The requirements are more than complied with, a greater amount of time than there stated being given by the Institution to military course, both practical and theoretical.

11. Has the course of instruction prescribed in Sec. 5 G. O. 65 War Department, 1904, been carried out? It will be by end of college year, which does not expire till late in June.

12. Is the military instruction of such extent and thoroughness as to qualify the average graduate for a commission as a lieutenant of volunteers? Yes, in the Infantry.

13. Personally interview the students of the graduating class, reported as having shown special aptitude for military service, and state your opinion as to their qualifications, so far as you can ascertain the same from suitable questions in the course of conversation with them. Avoid giving this conversation the appearance of an examination, but state to the military instructor your desire to meet these cadets, and in the course of the conversation endeavor to form a general idea as to their fondness for military life, the extent of their military and historical reading, and their general intelligence, neatness, and good manners. Do not report them individually, but give your impression of these selected cadets as a whole.

After personal interviews of more than once, with the cadets of the graduating class, I was greatly struck with straightforward and soldierly bearing and questions and answers assumed and given by them. Their knowledge of military duties and life is well grounded, and their zeal and earnestness unmistakable.

14. Is there a cadet, or are there any cadets, at this institution, whom you would recommend for appointment as second lieutenant, having in view solely the interests of the military service? Yes, there are two. Cadet Captain E. C. Register, and Cadet Lieutenant R. F. Willingham. Both for Infantry.

15. Is the military professor eligible for this detail? (Par. 2, Sec. 2, G. O. 65, War Department, 1904.) Yes.

16. Is he satisfactory to the college authorities? Entirely so.

GENERAL REMARKS.

On reporting to Col. Asbury Coward, the Superintendent of the Academy, on May 15th, I was most cordially received. I was conducted through every department of the Academy and everything connected with it was most fully explained. The history of the Academy, its general life and progress has been so fully reported on by predecessors that it is not considered necessary to report on it now. The appropriation received by the Academy from the State is $26,000.00. To this there are 100 pay students, who each pay $250.00 per annum, covering all expenses of board and tuition. From this total sum of $51,000.00, one of the best military academies in the Union is supported and maintained.

An inspection of cadet quarters, cadet mess, etc., showed me that the cadets were given less luxuries and comforts than those of the U. S. Military Academy, to which, in many respects the school is modelled after.

Attendance on prescribed military exercises and duties is compulsory, the wearing of the uniform at all waking hours is compulsory; so also is instruction in military subjects. This latter instruction is very complete for a school of this nature, and comprises in the practical work,—drills in schools of the soldier, squad, and company, and battalion, of infantry,—in both close and extended order, and the school of the squad in artillery. Practical instruction in Field Engineering (Beach) is also given. The cadet body makes an annual encampment of two weeks, while target practice is held in May and June on a range of the State Nat. Guard, near Charleston.

The battalion, consisting of three companies, was first reviewed, then inspected by me on May 16. This was followed by various company and battalion drills, in which the different officers of the first class alternated in exercising command. Arms and equipments are all in very good condition; uniforms are excellent.

The passage in review was exceptionally steady, and the showing made was very fine. The bearing of cadets was soldierly. The Cadet officers gave their commands accurately and promptly, and the drills showed proficiency in their knowledge of their duties.

Practical instruction in Minor tactics, advance and rear guards, etc., etc., are all to be held in the annual encampment.

A number of reports of previous inspections were shown me, and I can say with emphasis that the high standings therein mentioned have been fully maintained.

The past year, during the summer of 1904, the entire cadet corps were taken to the World's Fair, held in St. Louis, where they were encamped for two weeks. The exhibits of work of the Academy, as well as the showing made by the battalion in all its military work, reflected great credit on the entire Academy and the State that supports it.

I feel that my duty as an inspector would be incomplete if I did not call attention to two serious drawbacks to the good and further advancement of this school. The first one is in the very limited appropriation for its support by the State of South Carolina. The splendid history of its graduates who served the State in the Civil War, alone should render its memory so dear to South Carolinians that every possible care and endeavor, it would seem, should be given to keep up its splendid history and work. To-day its graduates of the past fifteen years are in the Army and Navy, the National Guard and scattered throughout the State and United States, filling many high and important positions, well attesting the value and thoroughness of the instruction they received while at this Academy. Yet this record has been attained only at the expense of many sacrifices on the part of the Superintendent and members of the Faculty. I cannot but believe that were the fact brought to the attention of the S. Carolina people, that this School graduates and gives such fine results at a figure that does not surpass per capita that with which the State High Schools graduate their scholars, it would appropriate a much larger sum yearly than it does. The entire building is worn and needs repairing badly. Its President and Professors should have their salaries increased at least 25%, whereas they now live on salaries less than those of many lieutenants in the Army. The second condition I would call attention to is the near proximity of the police station. This is the main station of the city, and the building adjoins the Citadel; is a handsome structure with many more conveniences than the Academy. The prisoners confined there fill the night air with oaths and conversation that is carried to the ears of boys too young to hear it, but who cannot well escape the sounds. The spectacle of depraved criminals coming and going becomes a familiar one to young men who should be kept, while going through the formative period of their life, free from them. This building should be bought by the State, made a part of the much needed increase of the Citadel Academy and refitted in its interior arrangements for such purposes. The Police Station should be moved away a long distance from the Academy.

A school which turns out a product in the military line so much up to the standard of what is desired by the Government should also be given, by proper legislation, a greater financial support.

I have recommended the appointment of Cadets Register and Willingham, as I fully believe from what I have observed of them, and from my conversation with them, that they have the true military spirit within them, besides the net groundwork of a military education. They stand high in their classes, in fact are Nos. 1 and 2, and are both of excellent character. I fully believe their appointments as 2d lieutenants of infantry would equal many that I have seen made in recent years.
