Military College Is Ready to Start Its Fall Term

Two vacancies occurred on the Citadel faculty during the summer, Lieut. Eben Taylor, professor of physics, having resigned to enter the Methodist ministry, and Lieut. S. J. Atkins, professor of chemistry, leaving in order to go into business in Virginia. Mr. D. S. McAlister, who only recently graduated from the Citadel, has been elected the assistant professor of physics, and Mr. I. F. DesAutels will have the assistant professorship of chemistry.

It is regretted that Miss Inez B. Parry, who has for the last sixteen years been librarian at the Citadel, has had to resign her position on account of her health. Mrs. Watson Gaillard, who has been holding the position temporarily, has been appointed to a permanent position.

Business management has been introduced as a new department at the college and will be offered as an elective course in the junior and senior years. The course is designed to furnish study in the principles of business. Mr. Virgil H. Dassel, a graduate of the school of commerce of the Ohio State University, has been elected to take charge of this new department.

Many of the interesting relics that were at the old Citadel building were recently moved up to the new Citadel and will be put on exhibition up there. The historic old brass cannon which guarded the sally port of the old building will be mounted on a concrete pedestal in a conspicuous place on the college's present parade grounds, and the large bronze seal of the State has been placed in its new setting over the sally port of the barracks building. The tablets of Lieut. John H. David, Jr., as the first Citadel graduate to fall in France, and the roll of the Citadel cadets in the World War have been placed on the wall of the sally port at the new plant but the marble tablets erected to the graduates of the college who fell in the War of Secession will remain in the rotunda at the old building until there is a suitable memorial hall at the new plant.

ALUMNI DINE

Citadel Victory Over
Furman Adds Joy to Banquet

Featured by several interesting addresses on the general theme, "The Citadel," the alumni banquet in the mess hall of the institution and the dance following, Saturday evening, formally brought to a successful conclusion. Citadel's first "Homecoming Day."

Attended by some 400 alumni, distinguished guests and friends, the banquet Saturday night was a marked success throughout. George C. Rogers, president of the association of graduates, was toastmaster and introduced the speakers. The banquet was a joyous affair, the victory over Furman Saturday afternoon adding to the jubilation of the men gathered around the many tables.

About the speakers' table were gathered the distinguished guests, among whom were Vice Admiral Newton A. McCully, Capt. Martin E. Trench, U. S. N., Capt. Frank Lyon, U. S. N., Major R. John West, U. S. A., Representative H. P. Fulmer, Representative-nominate Thomas S. McMillan, Col. James Armstrong and others.

In his opening address Mr. Rogers declared the executive committee of the association of graduates had decided that the alumni should work for a greater corps of cadets, for a memorial stadium, funds to finish the alumni building and for a success of the $10,000,000 bond issue, coming before the voters, November 4. He also stated that Citadel men should hold public office. That the committee would petition the board of visitors for the bachelor of arts degree was also brought out. Mr. Rogers introduced J. Ross Hanahan, chairman of the committee of ways and means, who represented city council, Mayor Stoney, who was unable to attend. Mr. Hanahan urged Citadel men to cooperate with Mayor Stoney in bringing Charleston into closer touch with the rest of the State and declared that Charleston would help promote the greater Citadel interests.

Col. O. J. Bond, president of the Citadel, read a letter of regret from Col. Asbury Coward, oldest living graduate and made a motion which was unanimously carried to the effect that a telegram of regret at Col. Coward's absence be sent. He spoke of the Citadel and the cadets' excellent college spirit. J. Wilson Gibbes, a member of Colonel Bond's class (1886), spoke humorously of the Citadel in the 80's, reading extracts from letters he had written as a cadet to his mother.

Major W. D. Workman of Greenville told of the Citadel and Citadel men in the world war, closing with a tribute to Coach Carl Prause who as lieutenant of infantry won the distinguished service cross. Coach Prause was given a rising ovation.

Admiral McCully in his remarks told of his early desire to attend the Citadel and his later decision to go to Annapolis. He spoke highly of Citadel men declaring that he was always glad to meet an alumnus of the institution. Gen. C. Irvine Walker was the final speaker of the evening. He was introduced by Mr. Rogers as a graduate of 1861, a distinguished South Carolinian and the ranking ex-Confederate officer living in this State. He expressed his high regard for the Citadel and declared he was thankful he had been spared long enough to attend the jubilee.

The attention of the alumni was called to the game Wednesday at Orangeburg and the Clemson game at Anderson before adjournment. Mr. Rogers also stated Julius L. Mims of Edgefield had accepted the position of chairman of the committee on legislation.

CITADEL JUBILEE IS OUTSTANDING

ALUMNI MUCH PLEASED

A Splendid Attendance of Graduates and Former Cadets in Wide Area

Most of the graduates and former cadets who came for the Citadel homecoming jubilee Saturday left town yesterday. They were enthusiastic in their endorsement of the event and expressed their purpose of returning a year hence for the second annual homecoming at the Citadel. Many of them declared that they would swell the attendance by persuading others to come, by reciting to them the great success of the affair.

While the victory of the Citadel over Furman in the football game Saturday afternoon was probably the theme paramount in conversation, there were numerous allusions to the dinner in the mess hall Saturday night. Some of the "old-timers" recalled that W. Smith Langford, who gave up his citizenship in Newberry in order to vote for "Ma" Ferguson in the Lone Star State (that's Texas), was not the only Citadel man who achieved a commission in the Spanish-American War, and friends of Richard H. Allan, Charlestonian, remarked that the Anderson battery of heavy artillery would have been incomplete without Lieut. Richard H. Allan.

Col. James Armstrong's witticisms in his extemporaneous address at the dinner were generally enjoyed and yesterday there was gentle banter because of some of the colonel's references. With Citadel men, as with other groups, Col. Armstrong is always a welcome figure, and the colonel's style of speaking is cordially desired by them.

Gen. C. Irvine Walker, honorary commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, was the only graduate of the Citadel before the War Between the States at the jubilee. Gen. Walker man in the class of 1861. Col. Asbury Coward, former superintendent of the Citadel, now living in Orangeburg, oldest living graduate, graduated in the class of 1854; he was the Citadel's guiding spirit for eighteen years, retiring in 1908, when Col. O. J. Bond was elected to succeed him. It was pointed out by older graduates that Col. Bond has been most intimately connected with the military college since its reopening. He entered the Citadel in the fall of 1882 and has been connected with the institution without interruption ever since.

Hutchinson). also copies to the papers at Orangeburg, Rock Hill and Yorkville, and be put in the next Annual, with a picture of Col Coward and a short sketch of his life. Expense to be paid by the board. This was the report of the committee of Vice-Chairman Thomas and Col Bond, appointed at the last meeting on April 29th, to draw up resolutions on the death of Col Coward-

" On April 29, 1925, there "passed over the river" a brave and distinguished Confederate soldier, a great educator, and a Christian gentleman whom all the State honored and loved.

Col. Asbury Coward died on that date at the home of his daughter in Rock Hill, and on the 30th of April was buried in his family lot in the cemetery at his old home in York.

The Citadel is called on to mourn the death of Col. Coward in a particular way, since so much of his long life of four-score and ten years was identified with it. It is a far look into the past to Jan. 1st, 1851, when Asbury Coward entered the Citadel as a lad of sixteen. Even then as a student here early recognition was made of his character and talents. One strong friendship, which had a marked effect on his afterlife, was made inside the Citadel walls; - Micah Jenkins and Asbury Coward were two names linked together as cadets, then after their graduation as co-founders of the Kings Mountain Military Academy at York, and finally on the sanguinary fields of Virginia where the gallant Jenkins finally laid down his life for his country, and where Col. Coward himself was several times wounded.

When, in 1890, there was a vacancy in the superintendency of the Citadel, the eyes of the Board turned naturally to Col. Coward. He came with the prestige of a brave soldier and a noteworthy educator, having served as State Superintendent of Education in the days when the foundations of our educational system were being laid. For eighteen years he presided over the affairs of his Alma Mater with ability and filial care, and when he retired in 1908, he left crowned not only with years of devoted service, but with the regard and affection of thousands of young men who had come under the influence of his high character.

He has gone to his reward, but his memory will always be preserved and cherished within the walls of the Citadel, and the Board of Visitors desires to place on record its testimony to his sterling worth and the loyal service he rendered his Alma Mater.

SCHOLARSHIP FOR CITADEL

William S. Lee, of Charlotte, Gives $5,000
Endowment Fund

It was announced Tuesday night by the board of visitors of the Citadel that scholarship foundation fund of $5,000 had been given to the college by William S. Lee, of Charlotte, a graduate of the Citadel in the class of 1894. There are a number of State scholarships to the Citadel, but this is the first one that has ever been endowed by an individual. The scholarship will be competitive and it is understood that it will be open to South Carolinians only.

Mr. Lee is one of the engineers of the Southern Power Company and has been a leader in the development of water power in North Carolina. However, during his residence there he has never lost his interest in his alma mater and has served her in various capacities. He has served as president of the Association of Citadel Graduates and he was the head of the committee that raised the money to build the Alumni Hall on the grounds of the new Citadel.

Where a Man's Heart Is.

"That man in the industrial plant who with all his family works there has a greater stake in that establishment than has the person who has sunk a few hundred dollars in it. He has more, and the only way that ~~man~~ felt at the present time is to organize, and strike, and a strike means war, and war is disastrous to both parties.

"We expect them to strike with reason, who who have generations of culture and education behind us. We are unreasonable with them. We must be friends and you must help to break down the barriers. For when the employe becomes a stockholder, then the lines are no more.

"South Carolina has suffered because its educated have not taken the trouble to make friends." It will take years to break down the line that has been formed between the classes through ignorance and pride; Dr. Harrison accented "pride." "Have courage, fellows; turn the catastrophe into achievement."

"The South has suffered in the past through this lack of leadership. If the South had had wise visioned leadership before 1860 that leadership would have seen that slavery was doomed." They should have seen that sectional strife was splitting the sections and that "secession was suicidal," despite the fact that it and the holding of slaves as well were understood under the Constitution, and that they were "subjecting the country to outside" usurpation.

"I say this in Charleston, where the war first began, that suffered. I am a South Carolinian. My father commanded a regiment at Chancellorsville. I never apologize for the course the South took, but think seriously of the condition." He commended an article written years ago by Professor Gildersleeve. "one of the wisest professors Charleston has ever known," on "The Greed of the Old South."

"In other ways the South has been needing leadership. The whole country is needing leadership." Now many States are perplexed at a curious intermingling of politics, education and religion, he continued. North Carolina escaped ignominy by twenty-six votes, Kentucky by one, and Tennessee by a "poor policy of good intention will pay the penalty that her people will pay for." Dr. Harrison stated that he was against any movement that censored freedom of thought, especially freedom of religion, and stated that the people of Tennessee faced the double danger of bringing back together church and State, for it is the religious phase that is being emphasized.

"You cannot legislate force of thought. The people have the right to say what their children shall be taught, but the Legislature is not the place."

The Pulitzer Prize.

The people said the South could not produce thinking men, but South Carolina has produced as many as did Greece or Italy, and no nations in the world have produced more. "That is, no obstacle to South Carolina."

"The awarding of the Pulitzer prize to Mr. Robert Lathan, editor of that paper that I have considered since my student days as the best in South Carolina, was based editorial brought leadership. That editorial brought leadership." It was a curious coincidence, stated Dr. Harrison, that while Mr. Lathan should deplore the lack of leadership in the South, he by writing what he deplored himself, brought one kind of leadership to the South. It was like Ernest waiting for some person to come along "who should bear the exact resemblance of the Great Stone Face."

Col. Bond announced that Cadet R. H. Guthrie, of Sumter, had graduated with first honors, and Mr. A. E. Hutchinson, of Rock Hill, a member of the board of visitors, made the presentation of the medal, saying to the cadets that "procrastination is the thief of time."

Cadet H. M. Pickell, of Anderson, a member of the junior class, won the Mrs. St. John Allison Lawton medal for the best essay on the policies of John C. Calhoun. Cadet Hosea Wilson won the Holmes medal, which goes each year to the captain of "A" company. Cadet Dunlap, of Honea Path, was awarded the Willson ring for being voted by his classmates as the "manliest, most virtuous and purest" member of the class. Mr. George C. Rogers, president of the Association of Graduates, in making the presentation, stated the need of the present time was "for men, God-fearing men."

Col. Orlando Sheppard, after presenting the diplomas, charged the cadets to ever remain true to the traditions of the Citadel—"obedient, exercising self-control, giving service and sacrifice."

The cadet band played through the morning. A large number of visitors packed the Citadel chapel.

2. That beginning with the junior year, students be allowed to major elsewhere as at present, and be permitted to check their courses. In physics, English, and other studies.

Schools of the Southern States, held in Memphis December 4-5, 1924, the Citadel was elected a member of the Association, and thus a very important step was taken in the recognition of our scholastic work. A case showing the value of this step came up almost immediately after our election to membership in the Association when a graduate of the Citadel who desired to teach in the State of New York but had been refused a certificate and an appeal to us, and after some correspondence we got the following letter from the University of the State of New York:

My dear President Bond:

I have pleasure in advising you that the Board of Regents, at a meeting held March 26, 1925, formally registered your institution under section 404 of Regents Rules, in its course leading to the degree of B.S.

Graduates of your institution holding that degree will be entitled to receive the college graduate limited certificate to teach in the schools of this State.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Augustus D. Downing,

Asst. Commissioner, and Director of Professional Education."

A year ago, the Board of Visitors authorized the establishment of a new Department of Business in our curriculum, and the experiment has been tried out during the past year with very satisfactory results. There is always a certain number of our graduates who expect to go into business, and the courses in accounting, economics, marketing, salesmanship, etc., provide valuable practical training for this work.

The number of students of the two higher classes enrolled in the elective courses is as follows:

Literary Course,	7 seniors,	11 juniors.
Chemical	" 7	" 8
Engineering	" 20	" 16
Physics	" 8	" 8
Business	" 10	" 20

The scientific departments at the Citadel are so excellently equipped for laboratory instruction that the elective courses offered in these departments ought to be taken advantage of to a much greater degree than is done at present. It is the opinion of the faculty that a freer use of electives in the junior and senior classes will not only be in line with modern educational ideas but will probably result in a better quality of work done and a wider field of usefulness of all the departments. The faculty would like, at least, to try the experiment, and if the Board approve they will present the following recommendations.

1. That the courses in the freshman and sophomore classes be not required, but be required of all students of these classes as at present.

2. That beginning with the junior year, cadets be allowed to make one major elective as at present, and be permitted to elect minor electives as far as practicable, instead of being compelled to take certain required courses in physics, English, and other studies.

3. That the history, English and language courses be required in major courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and the scientific and engineering courses as leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science.

4. That certain additional minor courses, such as geology, astronomy, physiology, ethics, etc., be offered as soon as convenient, having regard to making no increase in the faculty which is teaching the electives until the number of students warrants.

5. That the college year be divided, as is now customary in most institutions into two distinct semesters; and that students who do not pass on the studies of one but do pass on the other semester be conditioned on the work of one semester only and not on the entire year's work. This will necessitate students taking conditioned courses with sections of lower classes.

6. That the military course be required throughout the four years as at present and be credited with the value of a regular college course in each year.

7. In the junior and senior classes, the credits earned will be by semesters and a cadet will not be graduated until he has earned the minimum number of hours required. The number of courses which a student may take will be by consent of the faculty.

8. A Saturday morning class, or study up to twelve o'clock period would seem to be necessary for a workable schedule, thus making Saturday a half-holiday instead of a whole holiday as at present.

9. Juniors and seniors deficient in any courses at the end of the year would be permitted to take examinations for promotion at the beginning of the next session on those subjects as at present, or repeat the courses during the next session.

Just how the exigencies of a schedule will permit the adoption of the plan proposed can be determined only by trial. If the Board approves the faculty will endeavor to work out a plan whereby a student arriving at his junior year can select more freely than at present a line of study in conformity with his talents and future occupation.

The present graduating class number 49 men. In answer to a question naire the prospective occupations of these men for the next year appears as follows:

Not yet decided	16
Teachers	12	or 24%
University courses	5
" fellowships	4	or 8%
State Highway Dept.	4
Southern Power Co.	2	or 4%
Business	3	or 6%
Army & Marine Corps	2
Farming	1

The large percentage of teachers is partly due to the fact that the beneficiary cadets have an obligation to teach in the schools of the State. Three of the graduates in the engineering will receive fellowships at the University of S.C., and one in physics will receive a fellowship at Purdue University, Ind. Four of the engineering graduates will obtain positions with the State Highway Department, and two with the Southern Power Company.

The military department has maintained its usual high standard of excellence. The Board of Officers appointed to determine the colleges which will be rated by the War Department as "Distinguished" inspected the Citadel April 27-28. The Board consisted of Lieut. Colonel Lewis H. Brown and Captain Vernon E. Writchard. Colonel F. W. Howell, of the Fourth Corps Area headquarters, inspected the Corps of Cadets in February, and Major E. A. Stockton, representative of the Chief of Coast Artillery, Washington, inspected the C. A. C. unit in March.

The Citadel was also honored with a brief visit by the Secretary of War, Hon. John W. Weeks, on March 18th.

The commutations received by the cadets from the Government during the scholastic year 1924-25 were as follows:

For uniforms,	$5,220.00
For subsistence,	8,438.10
	$13,658.10

The spring encampment was conducted at the state Rifle Range near Mt. Pleasant from April 8 to 16, inclusive. The entire corps was given instruction in rifle practice, the course fixed being what is known as Course B for R. O. T. C. students. The best record was made by Cadet J. J. Mackay, who will wear the Marksmen's Medal for the next year. The seniors were instructed in pistol shooting. As it is not considered necessary that these encampments should be held every year, I recommend that it be not held in 1926.

At the close of the present session, the members of the junior class will go to the Government camps for six weeks instruction, eighteen members of the C. A. C. unit going to Fort Barrancas, Fla., and thirty-one members of the Infantry unit going to Camp McClellan, Ala.

Owing to the limited number of vacancies in the officer personnel of the Army and Marine Corps, the Citadel this year may not obtain more than three appointments in these branches of the service. Cadet Cleland Green, of Columbia, S. C., has been selected for the commission in the Marine Corps. The appointments for the Army will be made at the end of the session.

The Professor of Military Science and Tactics recommends a light-weight rain-coat, to cost approximately $7.00, as a required part of every cadet uniform. I concur.

He also recommends a battalion organization for the cadet corps in accordance with Army regulations by the appointment of a cadet major, in which I also concur.

With a large prospective increase in our cadet corps next year, it is very desirable to obtain the detail of two additional army officers for duty as instructors, which it is hoped will be allowed by the War Department.

The report of Dr. R.S. Cathcart, Surgeon, shows that the general health of the cadets throughout the session has been good. There were two outbreaks of influenza, but these were controlled and were not accompanied by serious complications. Only one case of pneumonia developed, and this case made a good recovery.

As showing the excellent facilities of our hospital for controlling contagious diseases, the record of only two cases of mumps which were isolated is cited.

The surgeon's report shows a number of personal injuries incurred in most cases on the athletic field. The most serious of these was a fracture of leg and dislocation of the ankle of Cadet Brinker in a baseball game.

I commend to the Board most cordially the services of Dr. Cathcart as surgeon, and Miss Gaeque as matron of the hospital.

The report of the Secretary of the Citadel Y.M.C.A., Mr. J.E. Leland, shows that this organization continues to be of great value in the corps of cadets. Some of the statistics are of interest; as, for instance, the average attendance at the Bible Study Class has been 95 cadets, and at the morning prayer service at 6.15, over 40. Special thanks are due to Dr. Wimberley, of Bethel Church, Dr. Hickman, of the Second Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Van de Brve of the Medical College, for the courses of lectures which they gave. The total expenditures of the Association were $1109.25.

The conduct of the post-office at the Citadel has been one of the duties placed upon the Y.M.C.A. Secretary. His salary as Secretary is $1500 a year, and as the duties of postmaster are in themselves very important and exacting, an additional salary of $500 as postmaster ought to be added.

The following recommendations in connection with the post-office should be approved:

- (1) That the Secretary have a student assistant.
- (2) That a regular system of lock-boxes for the individual cadets be installed. A small rental to be charged.
- (3) That an iron safe be provided for keeping money, stamps, etc.

Mr. Leland reports that the money orders written during the year amounted to over $200, and the sale of stamps to $400.

A thorough inspection of the post-office by the postal authorities has recently been made, and its business found in proper condition.

The report of cadet activities by the former Director of Cadet Affairs, Major Rahms, whose connection with the Citadel was terminated on April 10th by the legislative enactment, is inserted here as showing the scope of this officer's work. Since that date, the various activities have been placed in charge of various members of the faculty.

According to instructions from the Board, I obtained the opinion of the Attorney-General as to the time when the payment of the salary of the Director of Cadet Affairs legally terminated, and his opinion was that it would not be paid after April 10th, the date on which the Appropriation Act was signed by the Governor. The salary of Major Rahms has not been paid, therefore, since that date.

I beg to submit herewith a report of cadets activities for the period beginning September 20th, 1924, and ending April 10th, 1925.

ATHLETICS. This program was the most ambitious and comprehensive ever undertaken by The Citadel, embracing as it did football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, and intra-mural sports. The football and basketball teams were unusually successful; the football team having been runner-up for the State Championship. The basketball team was also runner-up for the S.I.A.A. Championship in the tournament held at Macon, Georgia. The Citadel was represented in the Tech Relay Carnival at Atlanta, and made a creditable showing. The track team participated also in the State Meet at Clinton. The Citadel Tennis team participated in the State Tournament at Spartanburg. Of particular note is The Citadel Home-Coming Day which was celebrated October 25, 1924. The Citadel played and defeated Furman University in football on this occasion, which was particularly satisfactory to all Citadel supporters. Of great importance, however, was the wonderful gathering of Citadel men from every section of the country. I believe this day, October 25th, 1924, will go down in Citadel history as an epoch making day.

Final Statement Exhibit "A".

CANTEEN. The Citadel Canteen has been operated very successfully under the management of Cadet Lieutenant Danlop, and continues to be a source of comfort and convenience to the Corps of Cadets. The affairs were checked up and placed under the supervision of Lieutenant McAllister, and his report is enclosed as Exhibit "B".

CADNET ANNUAL. The present Annual Staff claims the best "Sphinx" ever produced at The Citadel, and certainly it must be said they have been untiring and very successful in their efforts. The final statement enclosed as Exhibit "C" proves that proper business methods have been applied.

"THE BULL DOG". This cadet publication has gone forward by leaps and bounds under the 1924-'25 management, and is now on a firm financial basis. The paper is financed almost entirely by subscriptions. However, a number of business concerns have willingly offered to take advertising space, which has helped materially. It is believed that the paper is doing much good advertising for The Citadel, and its continuance should be encouraged in every way.

Financial Statement Exhibit "D"

SOCIAL. The cadets have held their regular dances to date, including Thanksgiving Hop, Christmas Hop and Senior Hop, also one informal or Mess Hall dance each month. All of these dances with the exception of the Senior Hop were conducted under the supervision of the Director, and the usual high plane was maintained.

In addition to these regular dances, the Annual Staff conducted a series of three dances, approved by the Board of Visitors.

continue to foster a conservative athletic program, as an example sent in the institution where one hundred percent of the student body has the opportunity of applying in a practical way the theoretical instruction of the classroom. Certainly competitive sports improve the judgment, encourage quick thinking, self-confidence, self-reliance and self-control, and strength and the moral fibre. The Citadel is producing the right kind of citizens on its team, and this department should have every encouragement.

The social atmosphere in the student body is not satisfactory.
This is due in part to the fact that the cadets are permitted to attend too many social functions that are not properly supervised. This fact makes our own duties hard to control. A stricter application of the old regulation of only one late leave a month is desirable for all classes, and this leave should only be granted for a specified purpose. Cadets undoubtedly have too much leave. It may be said that times are different and young people must have more freedom. This is a debatable question. The fact remains that many parents resent the Citadel for their sons because of the close supervision that is promised, and because they believe that his welfare is properly safeguarded. If we fail to live up to these expectations, then we are losing one of the strongest arguments in favor of the military college.

Respectfully,

Henry H. Nelson.

The report of the Quartermaster shows a satisfactory condition of the finances. During the past year a considerable amount of work has been done on the premises in improvements and repairs. Chief among these is the improvement of the steam lines, repairs to main sewer, deepening and relining the artesian well so that we may have an adequate water-supply, and putting a concrete floor in the basement of the Alumni Hall. During the coming summer vacation, the following work should be done:

Fitting up four sets of quarters on 2nd and 3rd floor
Meeting Street Building, Marion Square	$2,000.00 ✓
Laboratory for Motor Transport Department	1,500.00 ✓
Bungalow for Engineer	2,500.00 ✓

Storm drains around Mess Hall kitchen	125.00
Piping water to Athletic Field, three outlets	150.00

	$6,550.00

Funds available for this work are as follows:

Report of the President: The following are the recommendations of the President and the action taken by the Board-

To the Board of Visitors.

Gentlemen:-

During the past summer, the associate professor of modern languages, Capt. H. J. Garnand, resigned. Upon the recommendation of Major Winship, head of the department, I propose to you Lieut. Alfred E. Dufour, at present assistant professor of modern languages, for promotion as associate professor, with the rank of Captain, and salary of $ 2500.00, and the election of Mr. Bledsoe Kelly as assistant-professor, with the rank of First Lieutenant, and at a salary of $ 1875 per annum. The following assistants in the several departments were also engaged with the approval of the Chairman of the Board, and their names are respectfully submitted for confirmation:

Mr. Thomas Carey, Assistant-professor physics, with rank of first Lieutenant, and a salary of $ 1875. per annum.

Mr. D. E. Michie, instructor in English and history, with rank of second Lieutenant, and at a salary of $ 1500. per annum.

Mr. J. P. Beaty, instructor in mathematics, with rank of second lieutenant and at a salary of $ 1500 per annum.

Mr. A. N. Geisenheimer, assistant-professor of economics, with no rank, and at a salary of $ 500 per annum.

In connection with the salary item in the budget, I would respectfully recommend that the quartermaster's salary be raised from $ 3000 to $ 3600 per annum. Unlike the professors, who have a summer vacation of three months, this officer is busy all the year round. He has a great deal to do and to look after, and has always discharged his duty faithfully and well.

I also recommend that the Y.M.C.A. Secretary, who is also the post-master be eligible to salary promotion on the same basis as the assistant-professors.

I recommend that in addition to the $ 500 allowed the Commandant of Cadets a clerk be engaged for him at a salary of $ 50.00 per month.

I also recommend that the Board approve the appointment of a housekeeper in the cadet hospital at a salary of $ 40. a month.

In connection with the meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges which will be held in Charleston December 1-4, the educational institutions of the city have arranged a program of entertainments for the body of distinguished visitors who will be here. The cost of those entertainments is estimated at about $ 1000, of which the Citadel's share would be $ 200. I ask the Board to authorize the expenditure of that amount for the purpose, and also to approve the entertainment of the Association at lunch in the Citadel mess-hall on the last day of the meeting, December 4th.

The need for them is absolutely immediate and imperative.

Respectfully,

C. J. Bond
President.

At the annual meeting of the Board in June, a recommendation was approved for the faculty to formulate new regulations regarding the courses and standards in the academic department. The faculty has gone carefully and thoroughly into the matter, and has adopted regulations which they would recommend to be tried out during the current session. At the end of the year, experience may suggest some modifications which can be submitted later. The regulations are submitted for the approval of the Board.

In the matter of Christmas holidays, I would recommend that all cadets be furloughed from one o'clock Wednesday afternoon, December 23rd, until 10 o'clock Monday morning, January 4, 1926.

In submitting the tentative budget for the year 1926 as prepared by the Quartermaster, the item of most far-reaching importance is that for building purposes. We are confronted with the immediate proposition of providing additional dormitory rooms, and class-rooms for cadets or of halting the growth of the institution. In order for the Citadel to do economically and properly the work it is planned to carry on, the two upper classes, in which the elective courses are given, and for which the college is splendidly equipped in laboratories, must be large enough to make the per capita cost reasonable. With a normal freshman class annually of 200 men, and allowing for ordinary casualties, the numbers in the higher class ought to be as follows: sophomores, 160; juniors, 140; seniors, 135; making a total of 625. These are the figures which we must have in view at the present time. In a few years they will probably be increased by at least 25-per cent.

The freshman class of this year numbers 225. Allowing for 40 casualties in the class, 20 in the others, and 5- graduates, we will probably have at the end of the year about 330 cadets, and as our barracks cannot properly accommodate more than 415 men, we would be compelled to limit the freshmen class of next year to 85 men if additional provision is not made for new students. We have not had a freshman class of less than 100 since before the World War, and the average number for the past ten years is 135.

The question of class-rooms is equally urgent. While our laboratories have been wisely planned to meet the needs of the college for some years to come, the situation as regards class-rooms is even now practically impossible, as may readily be conceived when it is stated that we have twenty-five professors teaching classes in sixteen rooms. Some of these rooms, too, have been taken from other uses for which they were intended, and are needed. For instance, the reception-room on the ground floor of cadet barracks has had to be fitted up as a class-room, as also the Y.M.C.A. and literary society room.

The least building program which will permit the college to go forward instead of backward is the construction of a section of the second barracks-building called for in the general plans of the Greater Citadel, and of an apartment-house of four suites, so that the president, the commandant, and the quartermaster can live on the grounds. The barracks, which will also provide eight additional class-rooms can probably be put up for $ 100,000, and the officers quarters for $ 35,000. These items are unquestionably indispensable for the work of the college. The need for them is absolutely immediate and imperative.

Respectfully,
O. J. Bond:
President.

Resolutions adopted by the Senior Class of the Citadel

Whereas, it is known that the morale of the Corps of Cadets of the Citadel is extremely low, and

Whereas, there is a decided lack of interest by the Cadet Corps in the welfare of the school, and

Whereas, there has been no effective communication and cooperation between the Senior class and the Commandant, and

Whereas, the improvements attempted by the present Commandant, while actuated by the highest motives, have not only failed in their purpose, but have produced the above situation, and

Whereas, the situation requires definite and immediate action-

Therefore, be it resolved, that the Senior class unanimously request the immediate resignation of the present Commandant. Be it further resolved that the Senior class express its appreciation for the earnest and sincere efforts of the Commandant during his connection with the school.

Request of the Senior class for Committee to appear before Board:

1. We request this in order that we may bring before the Board some very important business.
2. This business is of vital importance to the welfare of the Citadel.

signed- Thomas.B. Caldwell

President Senior class.

Referred by the Commandant (thru the President) to the Board Visitors.

EXECUTIVE SESSION:

By Mr Hutchison duly seconded moved, That the Board decline to accept the resignation of Major Goodwyn, Commandant. adopted

The Board refused to allow a Committee of the Senior class to appear before them in violation of Section 60-M of the College Regulations.

Cadets Caldwell, Still, Wright and Chadbourn, appeared before the Board as individuals and gave their reasons for making their request in violation of the College Regulations.

The Board invited Maj Goodwyn, Commandant, Maj Mack and Captain Robertson, to appear before them and express their opinions as to the reasons for the action of the Senior class.

Maj Goodwyn, spoke at length, the action of the Senior class was a direct violation of College regulations, it showed a spirit that needed prompt and drastic action.

Maj Mack: Thought a spirit of unrest was shown by members of the 1st class and these periodical flare ups occurred every few years and should be controlled.

Capt Robertson, thought their action was probably caused by putting Seniors in ranks, wearing boots & etc.

A motion was made by Mr Hutchison, duly seconded; That Col Bond enter report against each member Senior class for infraction of Regulations 60-M, and such other regulations as have been violated by Cadets. adopted.

By Col Hammond, duly seconded: That we express our appreciation to Col Bond and Faculty for the manner in which they have handled the present situation and conducted the institution and we pledge our support. The Chairman appointed Col Hammond, Westmoreland and Mauldin on this Committee.

> The Board as a body ask Col Bond, to reconsider his resignation and remain as President of the College. adopted.

Mr D.S. McAlister, on behalf of the Greenville-Anderson Citadel Clubs states they desire to establish a four year scholarship at the Citadel, and request the privilege of naming the Beneficiary, subject to approval of the Faculty and Board Visitors. Accepted by Chairman expressing the Unanimous approval of the Board.

BOARD adjourned until 10 a.m, November 14th.

MINUTES of adjourned meeting of the Board of Visitors:

The Board met in the Chapel about 10.30 a.m, after having reviewed the Corps of Cadets on the parade ground in connection with the celebration of "Home Coming Day"

Present Mr Thomas, Chairman, Col Padgett, Col Hammond, Messrs Westmoreland, Hutchison, and Still, Gen'l Craig and Mr Mauldin.

The Senior class was called, and assembled in the Chapel. Mr. Thomas stated to the class briefly that the Board has heard the Committee from the class on the previous day and that the class had been assembled in order that they might recede from the position they had taken in asking for the resignation of the Commandant, if they desired to do so. He told them that their actions had been directly in violation of their matriculation pledge which ~~was~~ read to them, and also of Par 60-m of the Regulations, which was also read. Cadet Major Wright on the part of the Senior class stated that the class had not intended to be Bolchevistic, and that the members of the Class were not against constituted authority, but rather that they were actuated by a desire to help. At the suggestion of the Chairman, the Senior class with drew to an adjoining ~~room~~ class room for consultation, and in a few minutes returned, when the President of the class, Cadet Caldwell, stated that the class wished to apologize for its action in requesting the resignation of the Commandant, and withdraw entirely from the position ~~of~~ which it had taken. The Chairman then asked if the class intended to support loyally the constituted authorities hereafter. Cadet Caldwell replied that the class had not taken action on this question, but, in compliance with suggestions from several members that the class take action without leaving the room again, he put the question asked by the Chairman, and by a rising vote, which was unanimous, the class agreed to support the constituted authorities hereafter.

Col Padgett, then addressed the class. He first wished to know if the Senior class endorsed the article in a recent issue of "The Bull Dog" entitled "Democracy or Autocracy"? Cadet Chadbourn, editor of the Bull Dog, took responsibility for the article, which he said he was the author, but that it was not his intention to advocate disobedience to authority.

Col Padgett laid particular stress on the evil of irresponsible man mass action, and said that such combinations as that entered into by the Senior class would not be tolerated at the Citadel. He pointed out forcibly that the Board of Visitors is the source of authority at the Citadel, and not the Cadets.

Mr Westmoreland also spoke to the class of the false idea they had of loyalty to class rather than loyalty to the Citadel.

Mr Still also spoke briefly to the class, laying stress upon the fact that the Seniors in particular ought to have known and respected the regulations above any other class.

Mr Thomas concluded with some remarks, and then excused the class. The Board then considered what action should be taken, and after some discussion the following motion was made by Col Padgett, and adopted.

" That the matter be referred back to the proper authorities for action"

The question was brought up as to what action should be taken on the requests submitted by the Committee of the Senior Class the day before: it was resolved that they be disapproved.
