The Honorable Paul E. Tsongas
U. S. House of Representatives
Washington, D. C. 20515

Dear Congressman Tsongas:

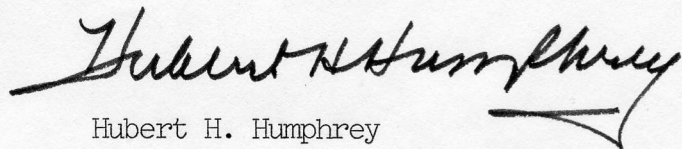

I want to invite you to be a member of the Washington Policy Council of the International Management and Development Institute. Members of Congress who are presently serving on the Council include Jacob Javits, Barber Conable, John B. Anderson, Abner Mikva, Al Ullman, Jonathan Bingham and myself.

The International Management and Development Institute is associated with the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, the George Washington University, and the Fund for Multinational Management Education. The purpose of the Institute is to bring together policy leaders from the Executive and Legislative branches of government, corporate executives, labor representatives, and academicians to discuss international economic policy and the role of private investment in this policy. I believe the Institute affords Members of Congress an excellent opportunity to discuss our concerns and thoughts on these important matters.

I have agreed to extend this invitation because of the excellent reputation of the Institute, its Directors, and Board of Advisors. Gene E. Bradley, President of the Institute, will be contacting you in the next few weeks as a follow-up to my letter. In the meantime, if you agree to serve on the Council, please contact Dick McCall in my office at Ext. 43244, or Gene Bradley at 337-1022, for further details.

With best wishes for the New Year.

Sincerely,

Hubert H. Humphrey
