

★ Our loss is your gain.

Paul Tsongas is our Congressman and we hate to lose him.
But we'd love to see him as our Senator.

Paul Tsongas is the type of person who puts honesty and hard work before political horsetrading.
After what we've been through on Capitol Hill and Beacon Hill, Paul's a refreshing change.

We know Paul. You can't say that about most politicians. Paul Tsongas has made a personal investment in our community — and it's made a difference.

It's the kind of difference that will send 15 students to college with a portion of the Congressional payraise that he opposed and set aside for their education. In four years Paul has revitalized Lowell with America's first urban national park, won his fights for jobs and energy, and kept in touch with town meetings and a mobile office van.

Paul Tsongas has made Washington work — for us.

★ Why we're here.

We've watched Paul's performance in Congress. Many of us remember how he cleaned up the infamous Middlesex County as a reform County Commissioner. We know that as Lowell City Councillor he brought in a professional city manager and lower taxes.

★ There's a story that tells a whole lot about Paul.

At Dartmouth College Paul decided to try out for the swimming team. There was one problem. He couldn't swim. But the coach decided he'd let this freshman practice with the team. By his senior year, Paul was the champion butterfly stroker for Dartmouth.

You can see that same quiet determination today. Odds don't bother Paul Tsongas. Not if there's something important at stake.

★ We know.

He's the kind of Senator we need for Massachusetts.
That's what the Tsongas Express is all about.

What are nice people like us doing on a bus like this?

Why should 41 of us get up early on a week-end morning and travel by bus to your town?
For Paul Tsongas.
