LION'S ROAR

1975 Lion's Roar

South Fulton High School
East Point, Georgia

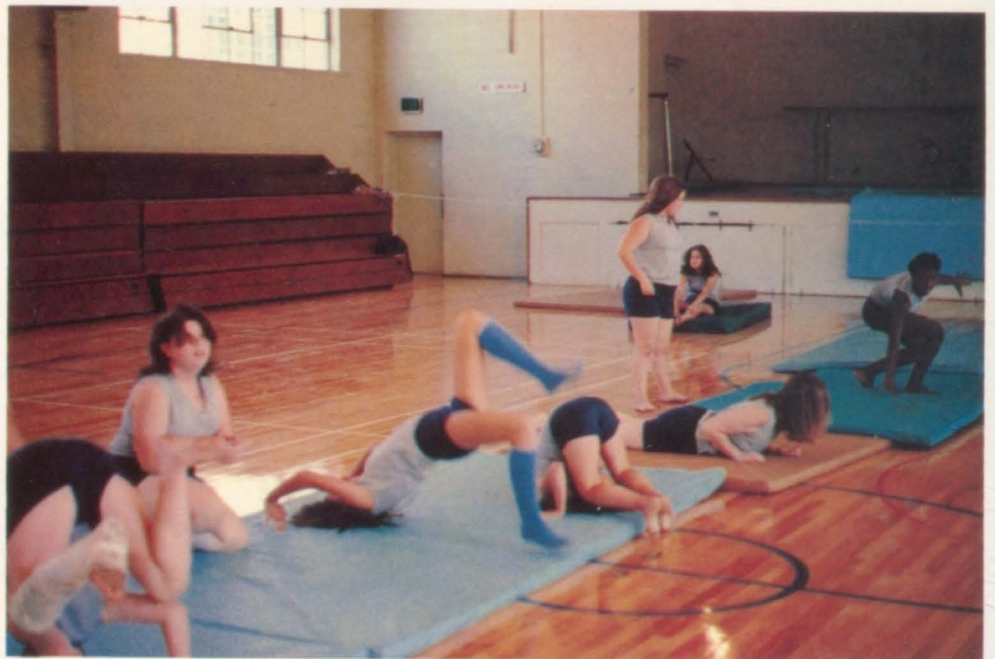

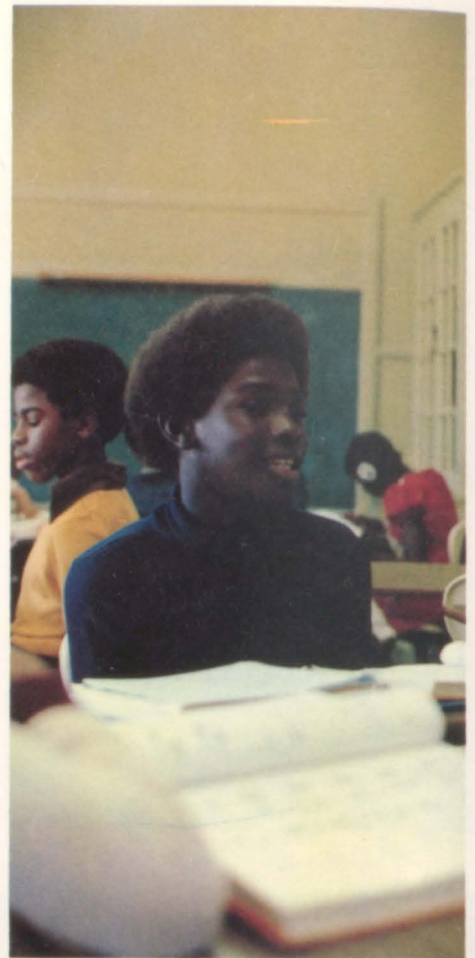

Competing Together

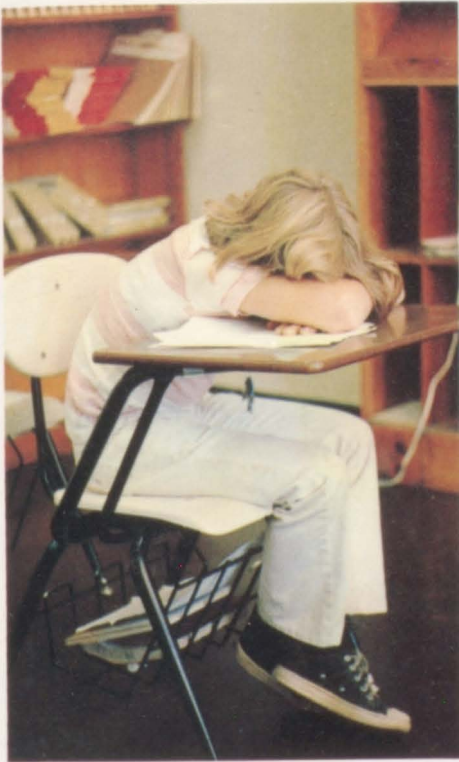

Here at South Fulton High School, when we win, we share the victory. But when we lose we still feel good because we tried. We might lose in points, but if we do our best, we are always winners.

Each student studies in his or her own way. And no matter how they choose to study, the teachers are always willing to help. Working together can provide each student with the will to try harder.

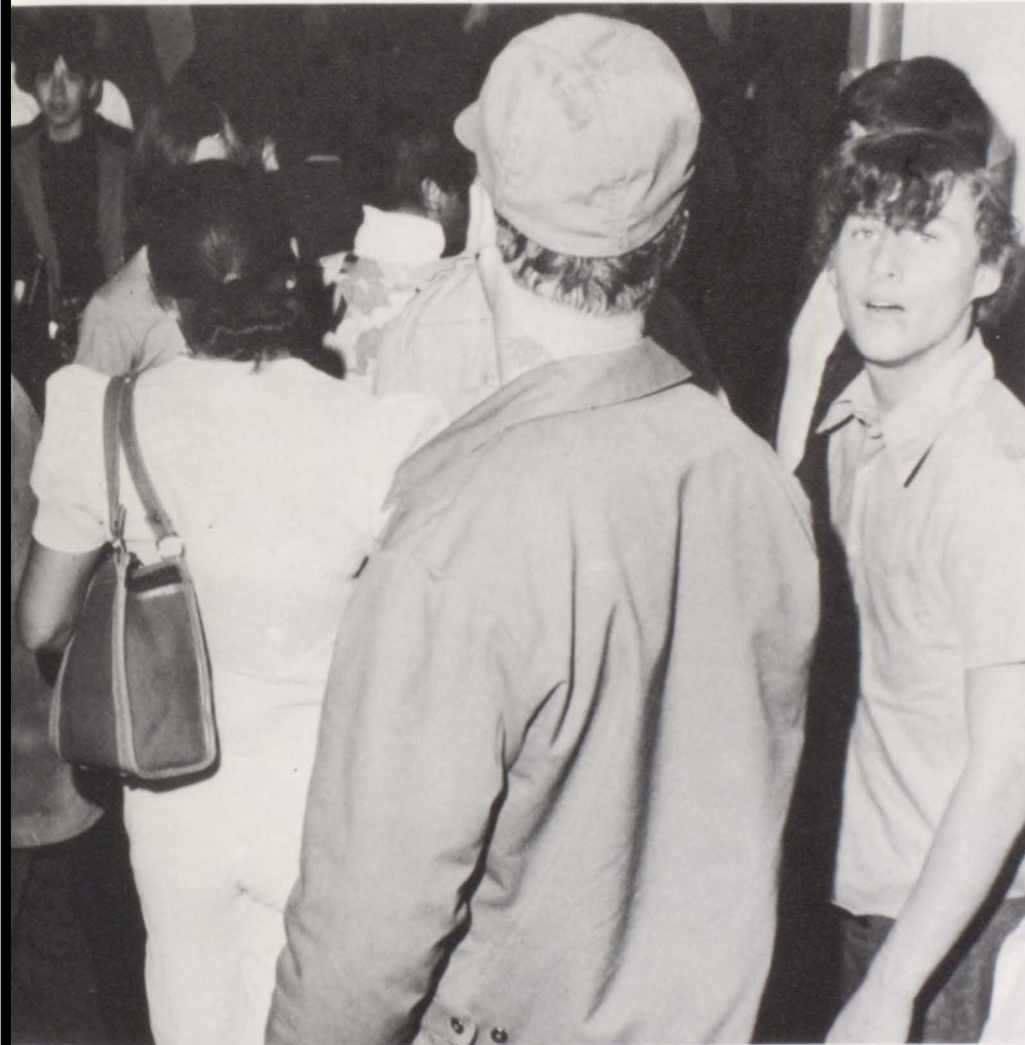

Working Together

Playing is just one way of "getting it all together" at South Fulton High School.

Playing Together

Through our many clubs and organizations the students can combine school projects with a good time outside of the classroom.

The faculty at South Fulton works vigorously preparing the students for the future in hopes that when we leave our school, the world will look a little brighter. They mix work with play so that we can all have a headstart on life.

Sharing Together

Dedication

Every now and then there is a teacher who gives more than what the average school day requires. There is such a man at South Fulton High School. Not only is he an excellent math teacher, but he is football coach, basketball coach, and a really great guy to all. He maintains order and respect in his classes and keeps complete interest while teaching. He also adds a little humor with academic reasoning. Because of all his accomplishments and efforts, the 1975 LION'S ROAR is dedicated to
