ROAR

Calvin Turner (top left) is South Fulton's principal. Prior to this, he was assistant principal at both Russell and South Fulton. Originally a science teacher, Mr. Turner is married and has two daughters.

Ann Johnston (bottom left), our counselor, is a former seventh grade teacher at Jere A. Wells. She attended the University of Georgia and West Georgia College, and has been in the school system for ten years. She is married to a pharmacist, Bob.

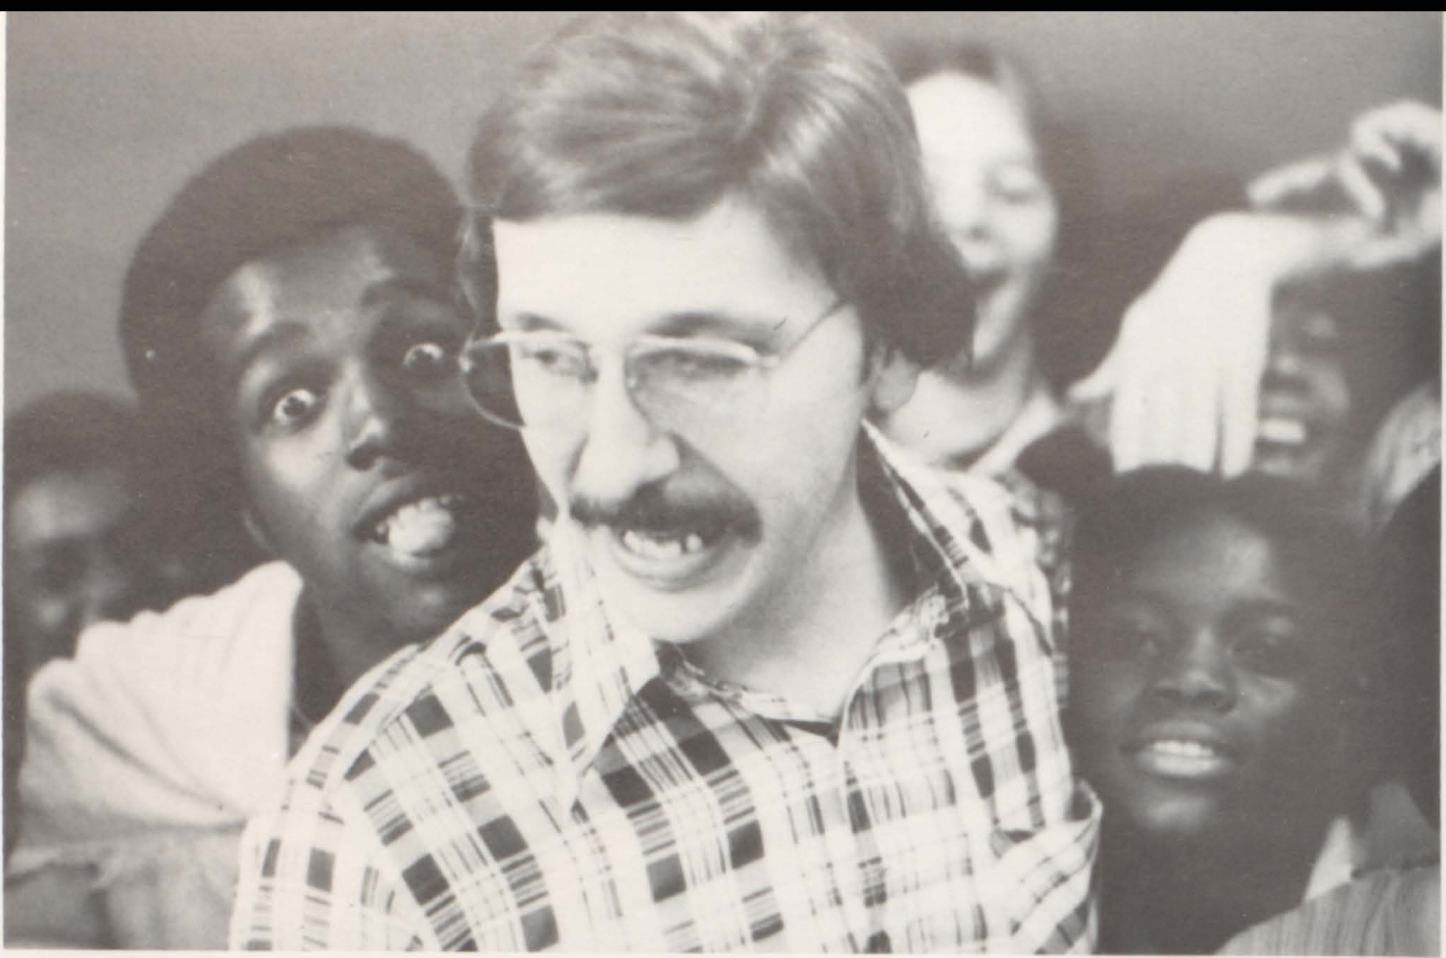

Charles Crews (top right), as assistant principal handles discipline problems. He is active in church work and is a scout leader. He has a wife, Jean, and two sons.

Gloria Wimbush (bottom right) is responsible for keeping the office in smooth running order. Somehow, she has to find time to type and answer the phone, too. She's been our secretary three years now, but also is attending Georgia State, where she's majoring in Journalism. She's been married six years, and has a four year old, Mickey.

Bill Gunnip (above) was born in Syracuse, New York. He attended the State University of New York and Georgia State University. He is not married. He has a dog named Wendy. He has been teaching for seven years. He teaches typing and careers, and enjoys them very much.

CB Hackworth (left) is a student at Georgia State. He has been teaching annual staff at South Fulton for four years. He was once a student at South Fulton, and later at Russell.

Pam Trued (above) teaches art. She has been teaching for ten years and has taught at Campbell and M.D. Collins. She's married to the band director at Campbell and has a daughter, Rebecca, who is four.

Chris Harkey (left) is a native of East Point. He attended Woodward Academy and Milligan College before becoming an English teacher at South Fulton this year. His hobbies are woodworking, guitar playing, photography, and writing.

Linda Gravitt (top left) is one of our social studies teachers. This is her second year at South Fulton, but before that, she was at Russell. She will be leaving around the end of this year to have her baby.

Peggy Shaddix (top right) also teaches social studies. She is the sponsor of the yearbook, and coach of girls' basketball at Russell, where her father is principal.

Hazel Owens (above) is the librarian.

Marie Cotton (right), the library clerk, has been on the staff here since South Fulton became an all eighth grade school in 1970.

Beverly Wisenant (far left) was the chorus teacher first quarter. She had taught two years at South Fulton before that.

Joyce Relyea (above) was born in New York, and has taught orchestra in Indiana, Texas, and Florida, in addition to her work at South Fulton and other schools in the East Point area.

Larry Sims (left) is one wild and crazy guy. Born in Jackson, Mississippi, he studied music at the University of Southern Mississippi. This is his third year teaching band at South Fulton and Russell. "I have better luck here," he says, "than I ever had in Czechoslovakia."

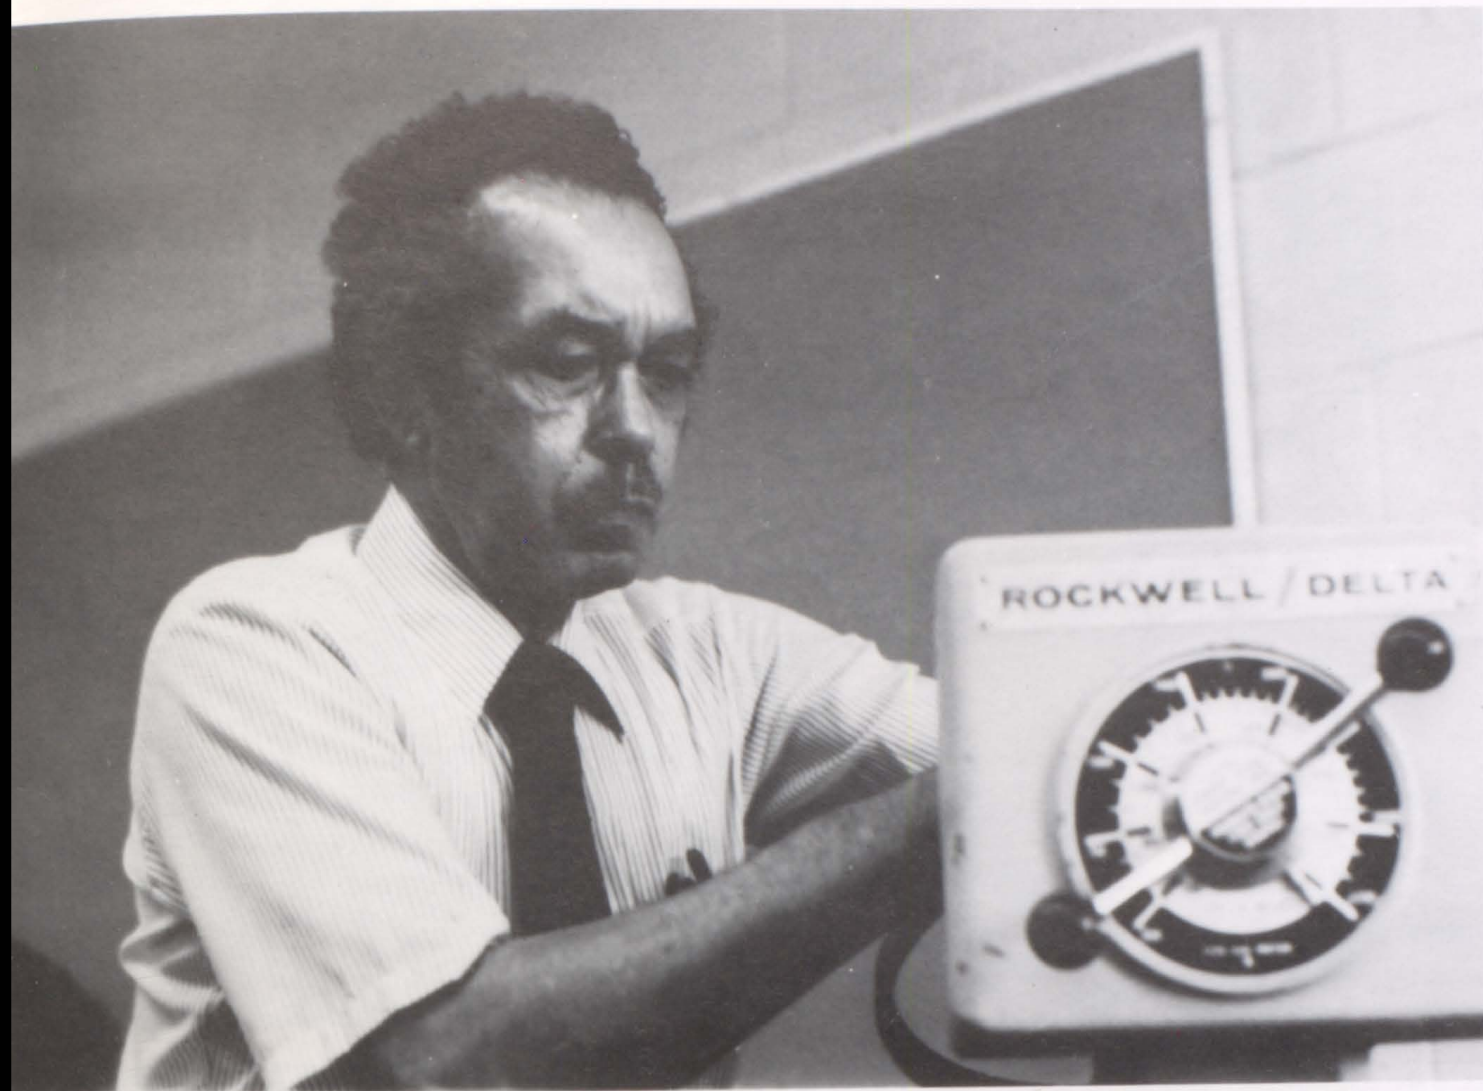

Coach Gary Rymer (right) was born in Cumberland. He went to the University of Arkansas. He has a poodle named Tiffany. His hobbies are coaching, working on his dune buggy, and working in the yard. The coach has two kids, Amie, five, and Gary Jr., one. He's been teaching P.E. for six years.

Libby Sobleskie (above) is the secret identity of Wonder Woman. When she's not busy making sure things go right in Washington, DC, she's making them go right in P.E. class here at South Fulton. She is also responsible for the cheerleaders.

Vinzant Pottsdamer (above) teaches wood shop and drafting, which he has been doing for eighteen years. He is a graduate of Florida A&M, is married, and has two children. He enjoys working with wood and wallpaper.

Nancy Willis (left) teaches Home Economics, English, and Social Studies. She was one of the teachers at South Fulton the first year it was all eighth grade, but taught at Headland for a while before coming back here. She has a four year old boy, Matt.

Mike Exner (above) has been teaching science at South Fulton for two years. He enjoys coin collecting and building model airplanes, but his main interest right now is photography.

Brenda Shelby (right) was born in Wauseon, Ohio and attended school in Goshen, Indiana. She's taught math at South Fulton every year since it became all eighth grade. Her husband, Albert, also teaches. They have two children, Tino and LaRita.

Gene Kessell (right) was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania in 1946. World travel brought him to such places as Mainland China, Formosa, Korea, Japan, Okinawa, Hawaii, France, Greece, Italy, and most of the US. He has attended Columbus College, Auburn, University of Georgia, Georgia State (at Fort Benning and Atlanta). His degrees include A.A., B.S., M.Ed., and pending Ph.D. Mr. Kessell teaches math.

Marion Nichols (left) teaches special education. Sewing and traveling are a few of her interests. She received her BA degree from Clark College, and her M.A. from Atlanta University. She has a husband, Timothy, and two children, Cheryl and Timothy.

Polly Winters (bottom left) spent ten years on the Florida beaches before deciding to finish her college degree and teach school. She is the LD/BD specialist here. She has two children, has attended five colleges, and has taught for seven years.

Working with students is an interesting experience for Jessie Smith (bottom right), who teaches special education. She's attended A&T University in Greensboro, North Carolina and Atlanta University. She has one daughter, Necia Michelle.

COUNSELOR

At no time in one's life are the desires for recognition, for response, for security, and for new experiences greater than during the period of young adolescence. Realizing that the greatest extent of change physically, as well as psychologically and socially occurs during this period, the staff continually evaluates, reevaluates, and establishes new goals for our middle-level educational program--based on a sound understanding of the students' needs.

A variety of activities and teaching/learning environments are provided as our students are motivated toward their intellectual, social, and physical potential. Teaching/learning environments are of such that appropriate opportunities for interaction with both adults and peers are provided. These opportunities provide flexibility necessary for our students to develop dependence/independence patterns and influence their attitudes and behavior.

Our staff must continue to insist and constantly remind our students to reach for the highest and strive for the best--in the classroom, in the athletic arena, and in life.

COUNSELOR

As we look back on the past year, we find that it has come to a close, and on these pages of the past, we hope you find happy memories of your year at South Fulton.

We would like to show our appreciation to all those teachers who suffered many inconveniences because of unpredictable circumstances.

This annual is dedicated to our wonderful basketball and football teams, and to the students of South Fulton.

The 1979 ROAR would like to express special thanks to the following people:

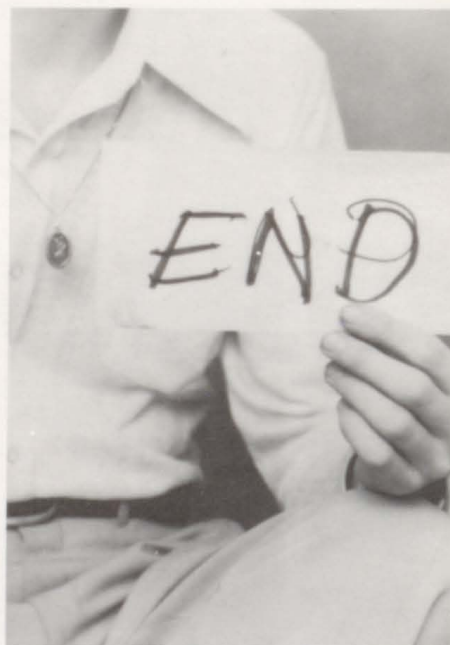

Mike Exner, whose skills in photography helped us out many times.

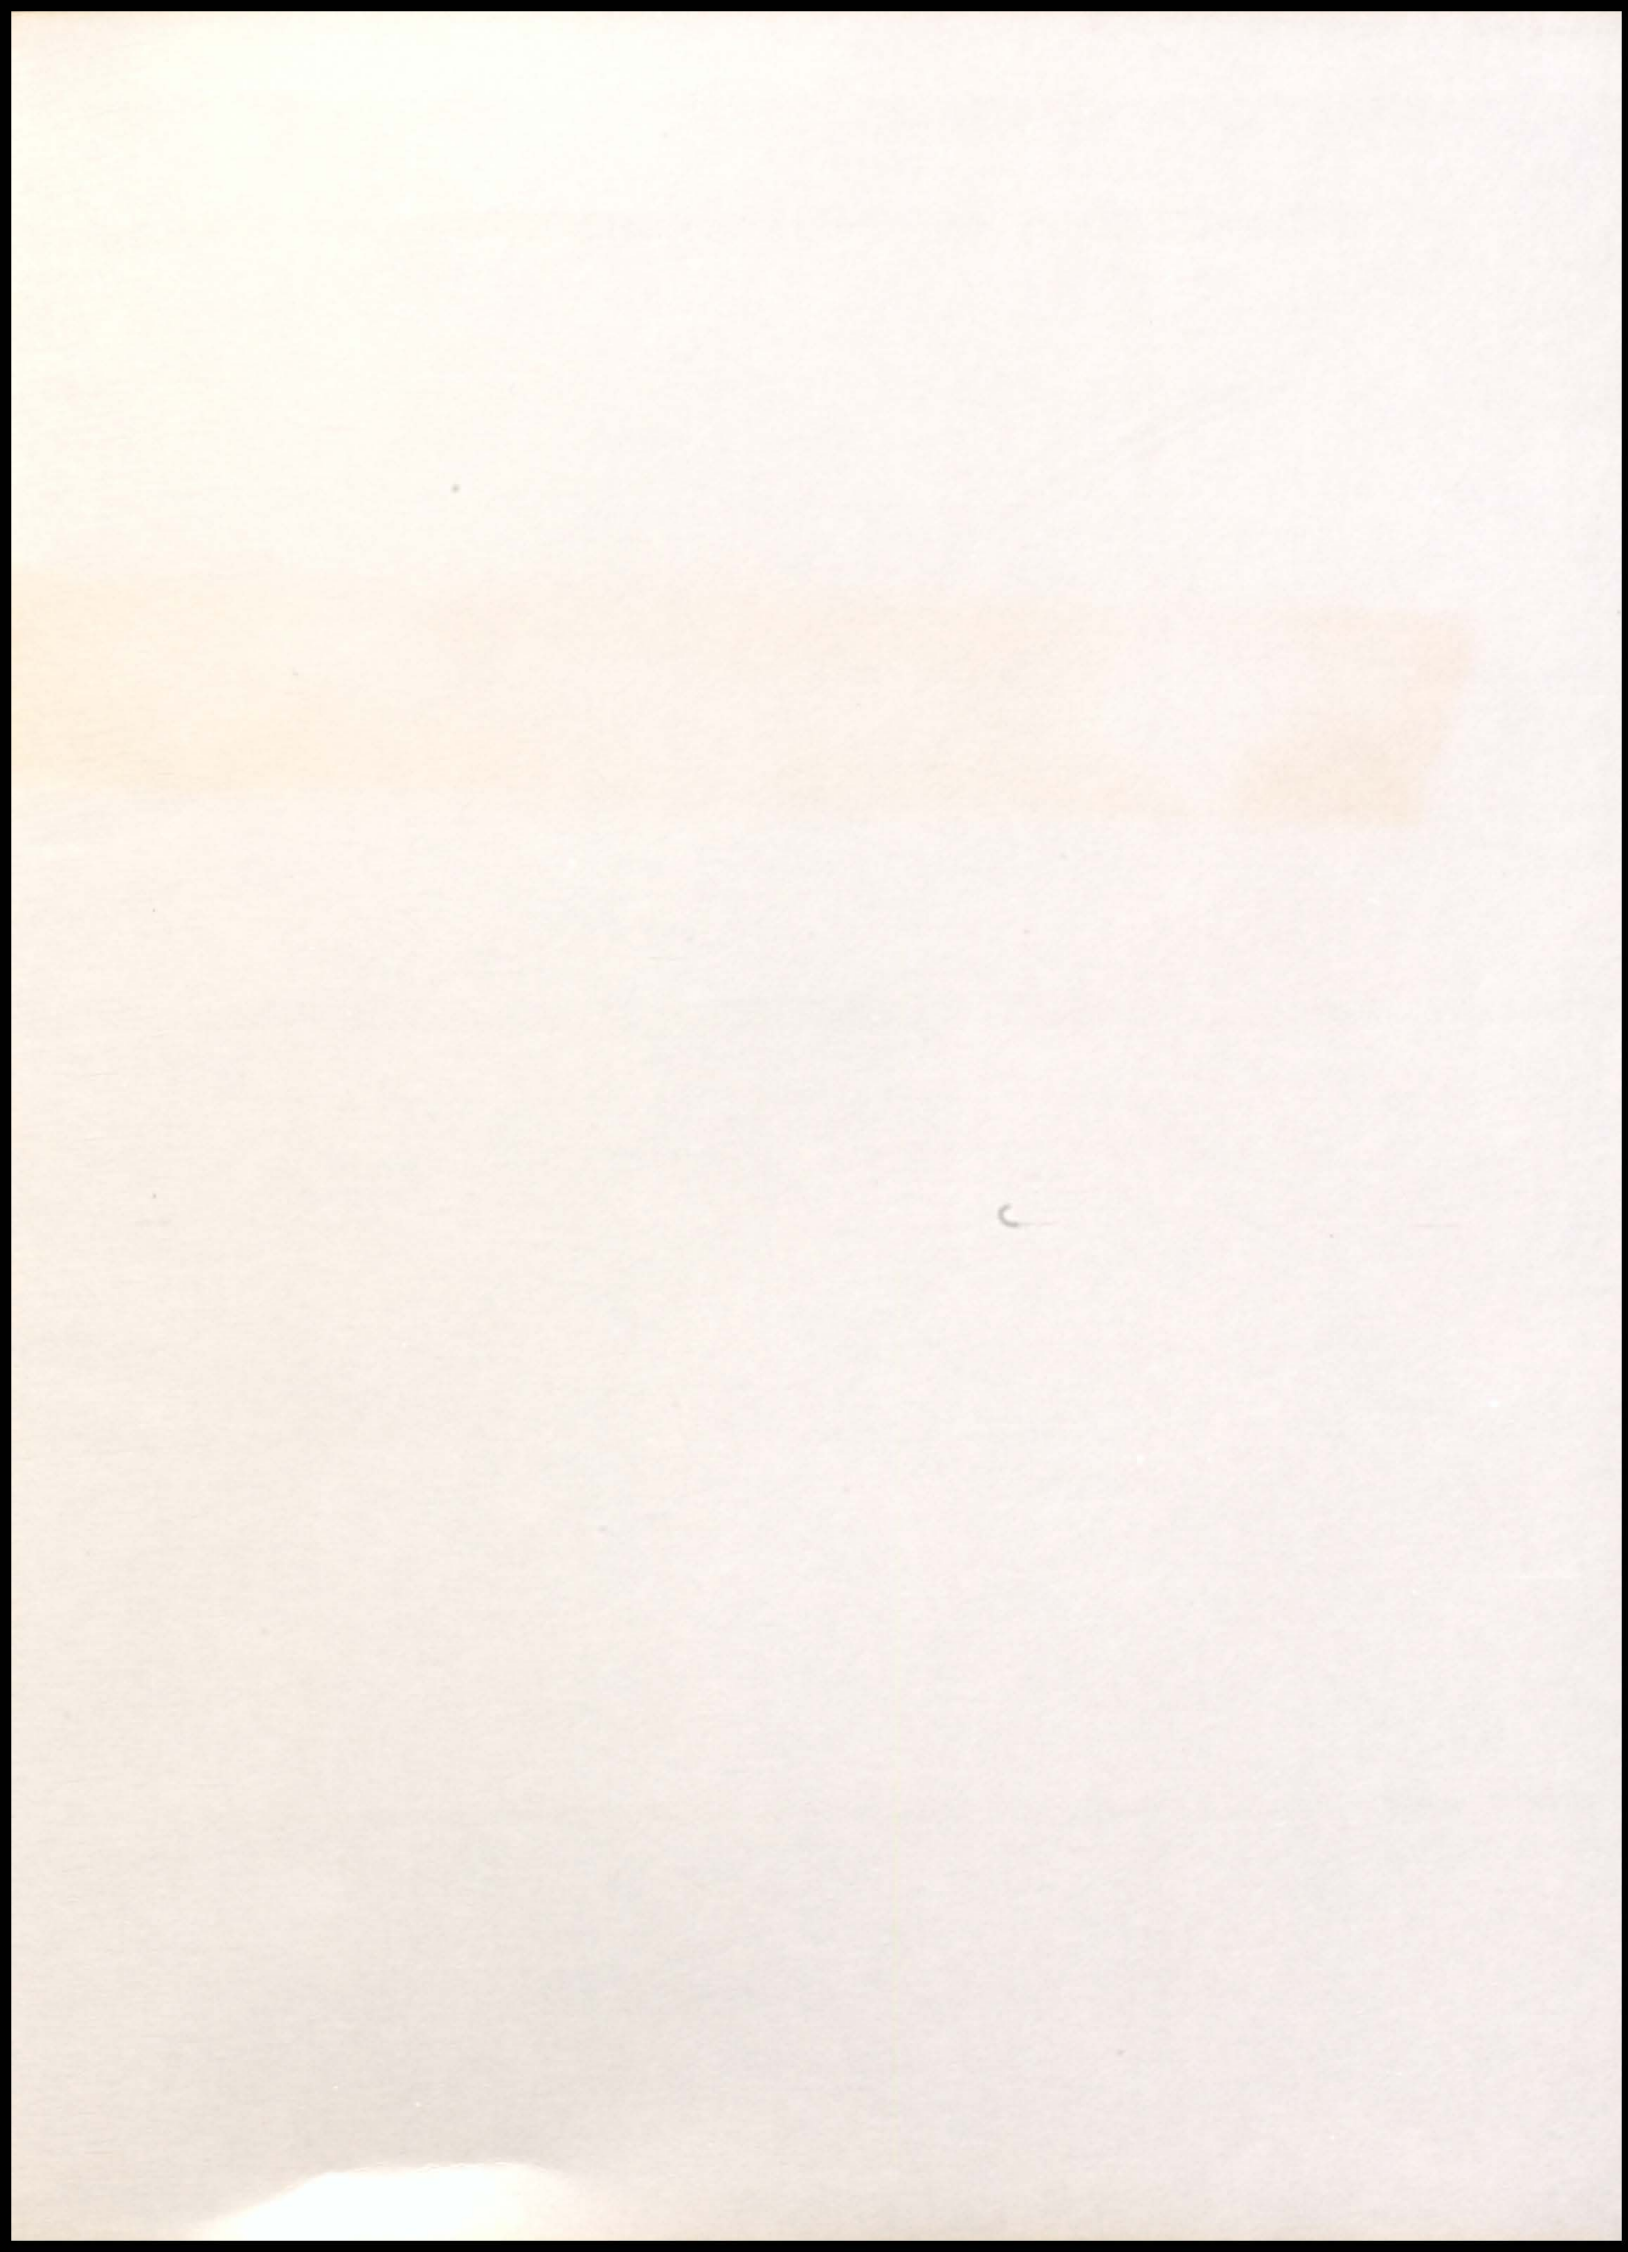

Pam Trued, for letting us use the art room for our Friday afternoon meetings, and for taking the time to do several drawings that appear in this yearbook.

Bill Gunnip, who never saw Laurie Lowe in class because she was working on the annual.

Les Parsons, our advisor from Taylor Publishing Company.

Chris Harkey, who saved us from missing our final deadline by developing and printing several rolls of film at the last minute.
