A long-exposure photograph of a school building at night. The building is illuminated from within, and its lights are visible through the windows. The foreground shows a road with multiple lanes, and the light trails from cars are visible as streaks of red and white. The sky is dark, and there are some clouds. The overall scene is a mix of urban and educational environments.

terror!

—or—
wyandotte, michigans,
i have known

That must have been some party.

Well, we're here
Where's the fire?

Give a guy a mustache and he thinks he has to protest.

terror

is putting your suitcase on the train and discovering all you brought were your white tennies since-turned-darker.

terror

is sneaking up to the dome car after dark and finding Mr. Johnson already there.

terror

is what your friend will look like in ten years after he puts on his fake mustache designed to impress Michigan women-folk.

terror

is getting off the train to a near-riot of students with signs and placards making demands of, "hey, they're just like the 'marlboro' commercial says!"

terror

is asking your host what age is considered mature in Michigan, and he answers, "21."

terror

is finding out creedance clearwater and johnny cash don't make it in Detroit.

terror

is boarding a train like crying sparrows and riding home like silent, 17 year locusts.

terror

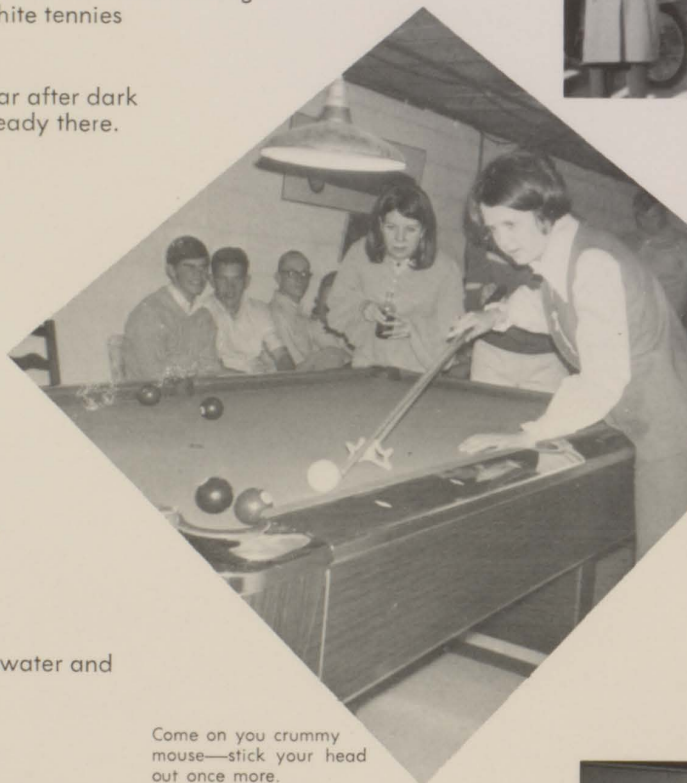

is telling miss howell about your extensive cross-country experiences, and finding out she's been to Europe.

terror

is knowing your english theme is due the day you get back, and you haven't yet started it.

really, i could drool for hours.

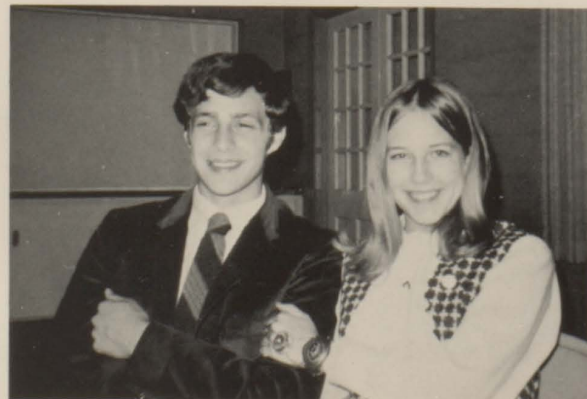

—gregory john scheurman

Come on you crummy mouse—stick your head out once more.

What do you mean, "The game's over?"

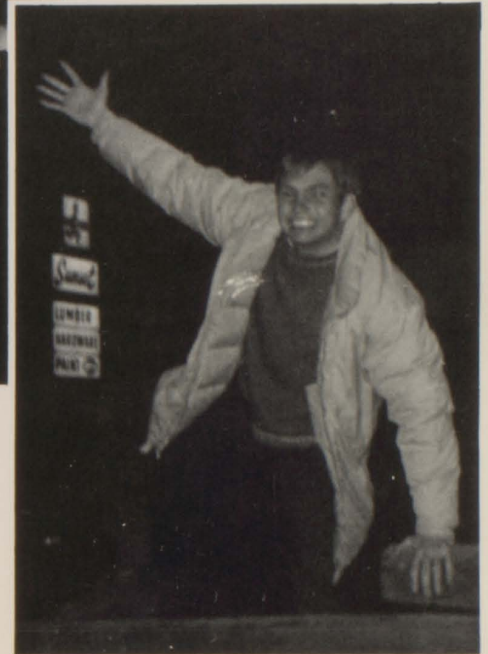

riverton, usa

We've heard about the back of the bus, but . . .

I came back!

Guess who's coming
to dinner?

What happens if it crawls off
the plate?

ode to riverton, usa
to be sung in four-part harmony

- one day twenty-two kids
- boarded a yellow dog
- bound for the fine town of riverton, usa.
- they rode ten long hours through
- ice, sleet, wind, and snow—
- and a bus driver who yelled obscenities every 2³/₄ miles.
- they rolled into the booming metropolis
- of riverton, usa,
- with heavy beards and
- ears ringing with the sounds of led zeppelin
- (and kent margetts' harmonica solo).
- three fun-filled days were spent
- doing such wild and groovy things as
- attending classes, attending meetings,
- and attending banquets—
- knowing deep in their hearts that mr. finnerty
- was lying in a bed, watching color tv, and
- eating a seven-course meal.
- then twenty two kids
- boarded a yellow dog
- bound for the fine town of cheyenne, usa . . .

—christine corbin

Hostage Found in Time to Save Guatemalan Minister

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — Guatemalan police arrested a man yesterday who is believed to be the kidnaper of the Guatemalan minister of foreign affairs, a man who was held captive for several days.

The international kidnapping trade and ransom business is a major source of income for the Guatemalan government, and the Guatemalan minister of foreign affairs is believed to be the most prominent of the country's ministers.

The minister was held captive for several days in a small town in Guatemala. He was released yesterday after a ransom of $100,000 was paid to the kidnaper.
