

'73 Wahina

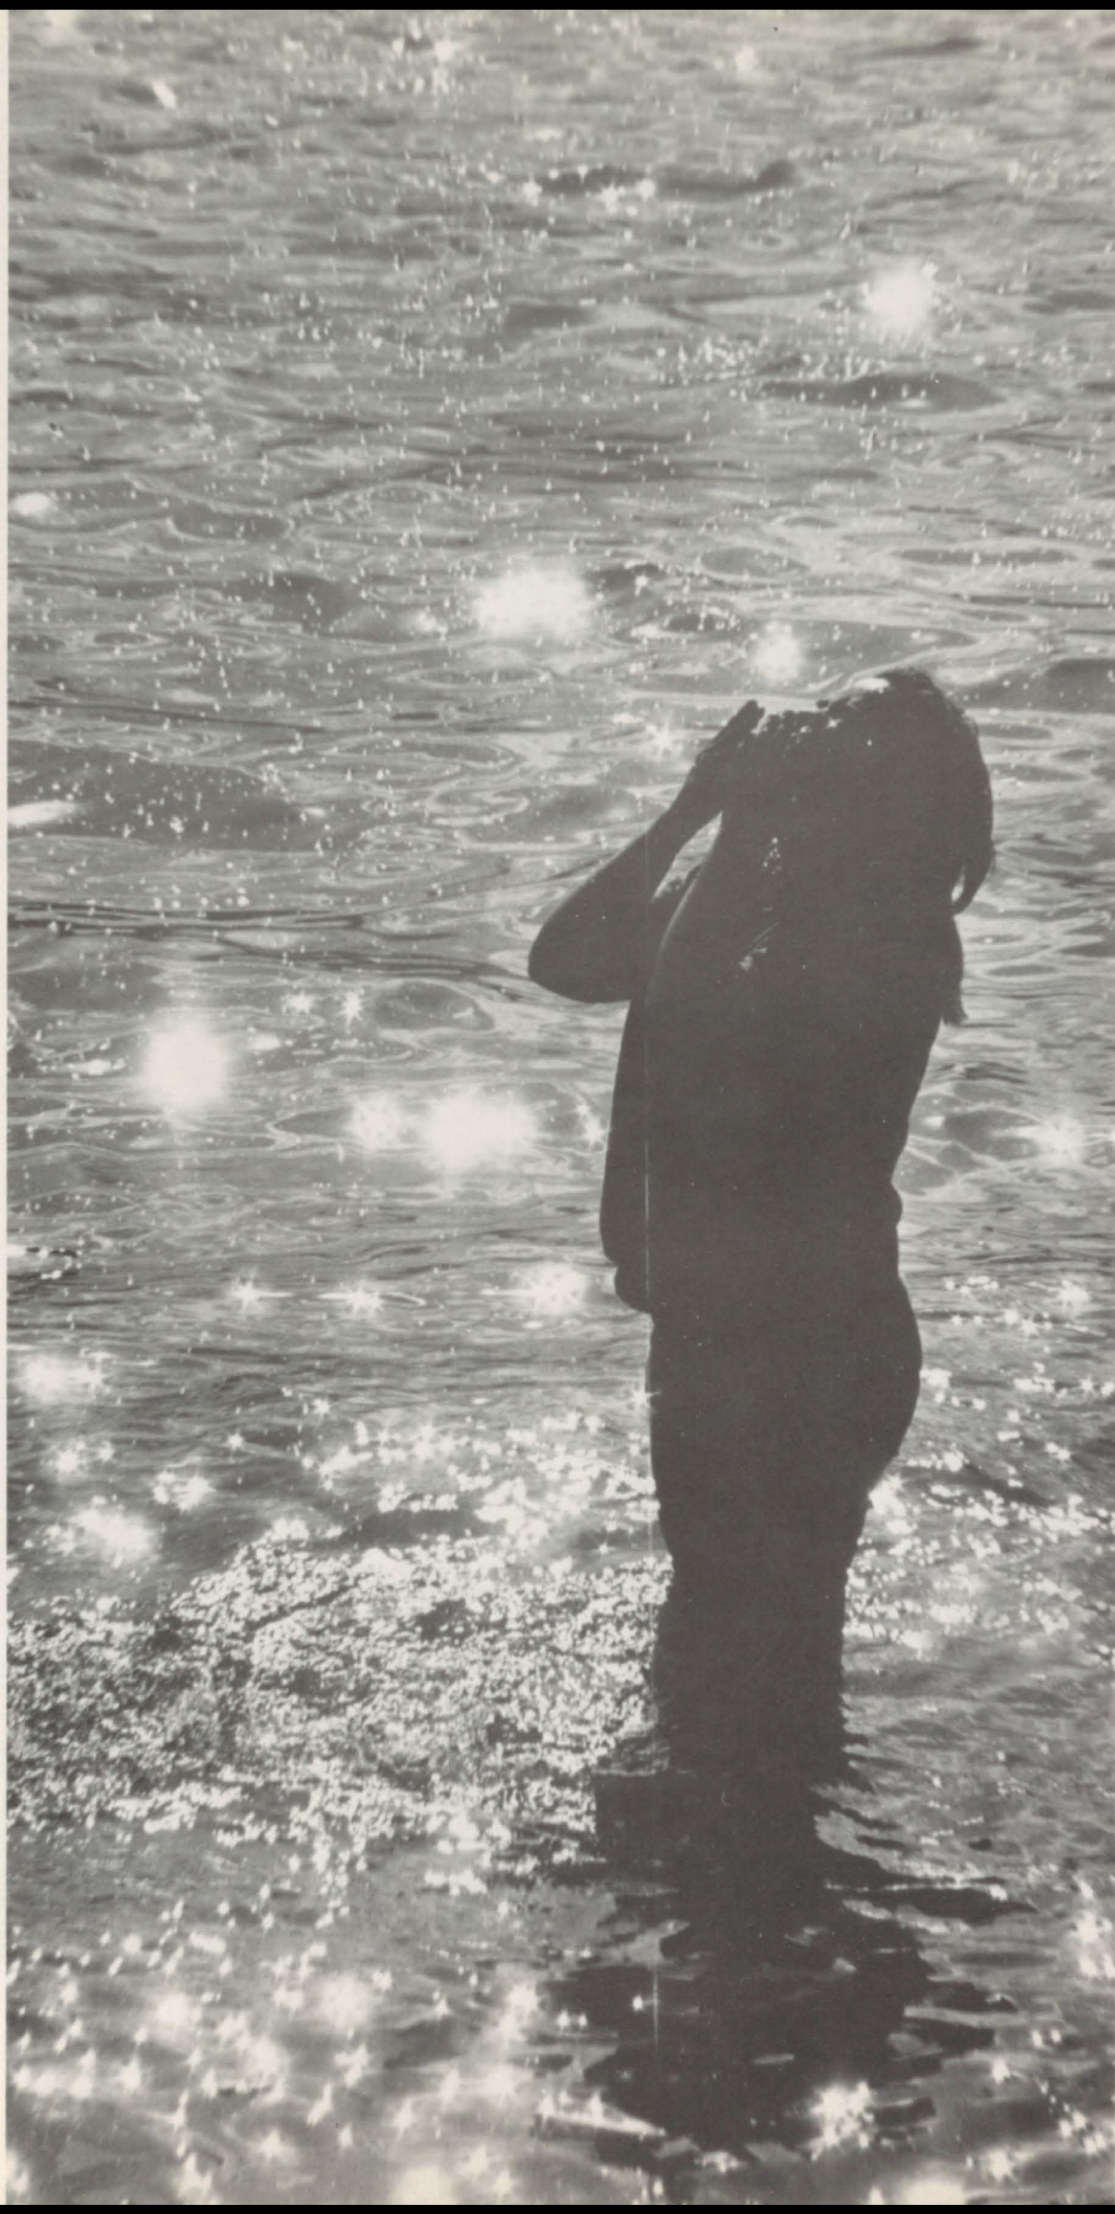

As the earth was held gently in the heavens, neatly unfolding into seasons . . .

Long after the creation of the universe

Came

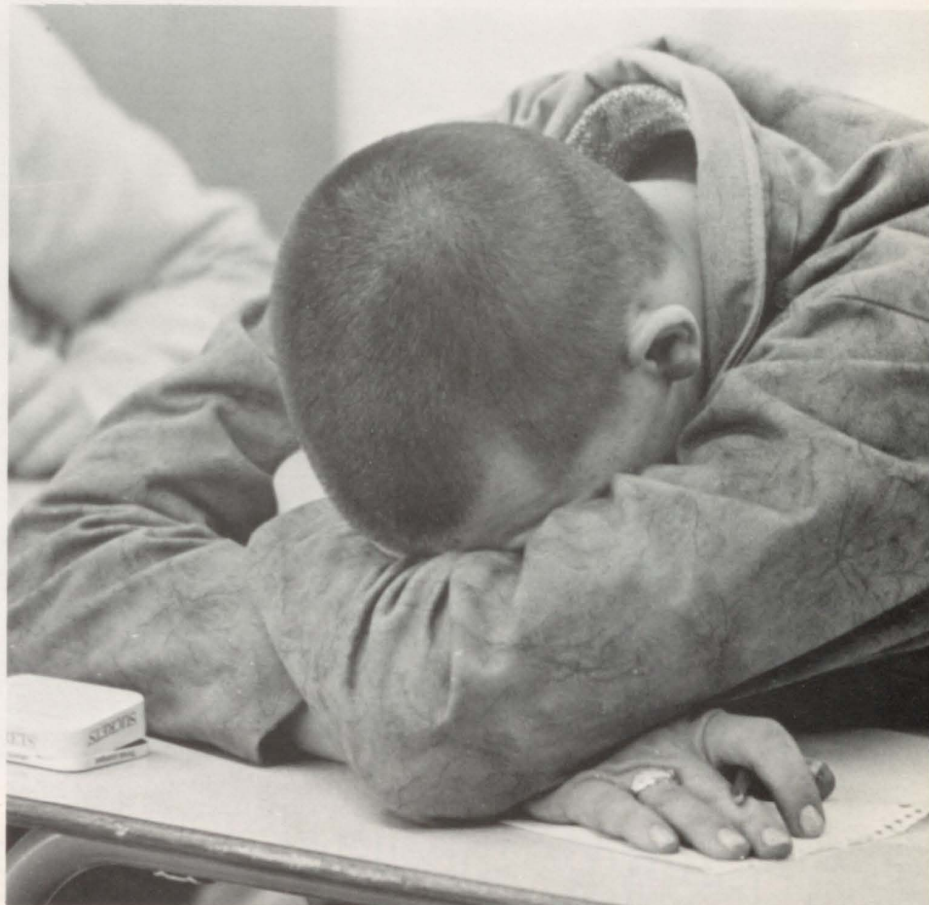

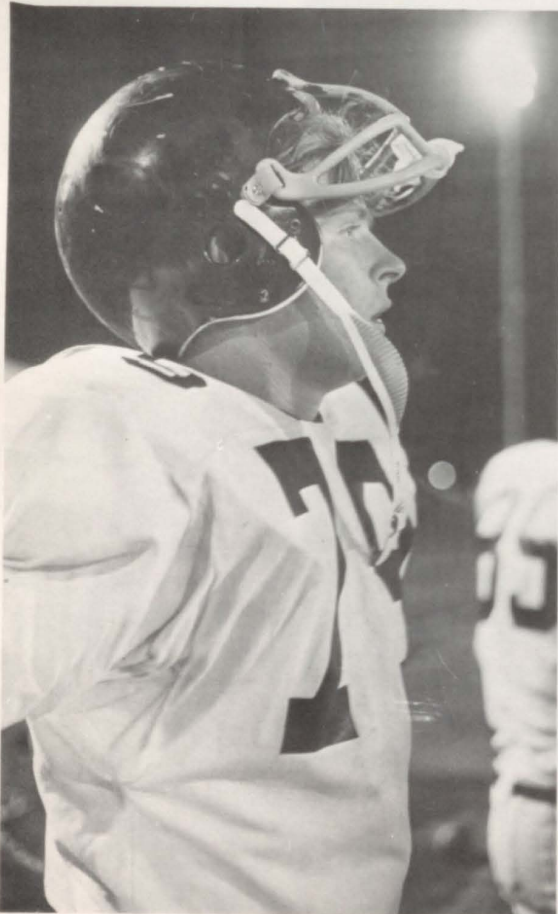

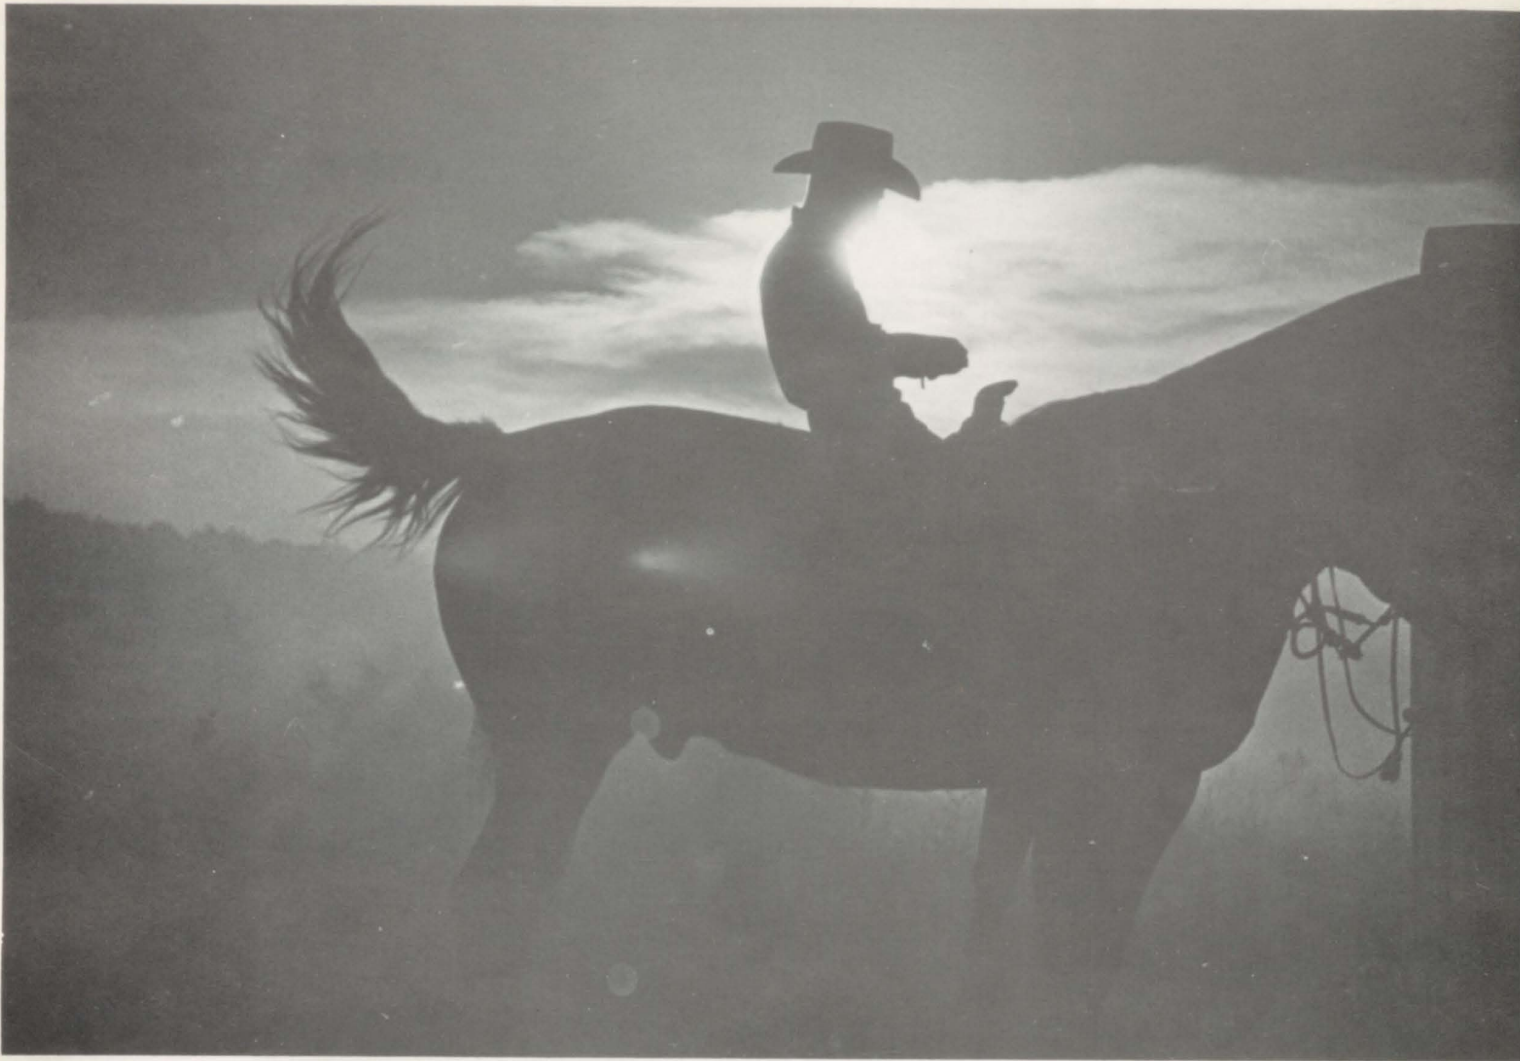

MAN

To reflect the roots of what we've been. . .

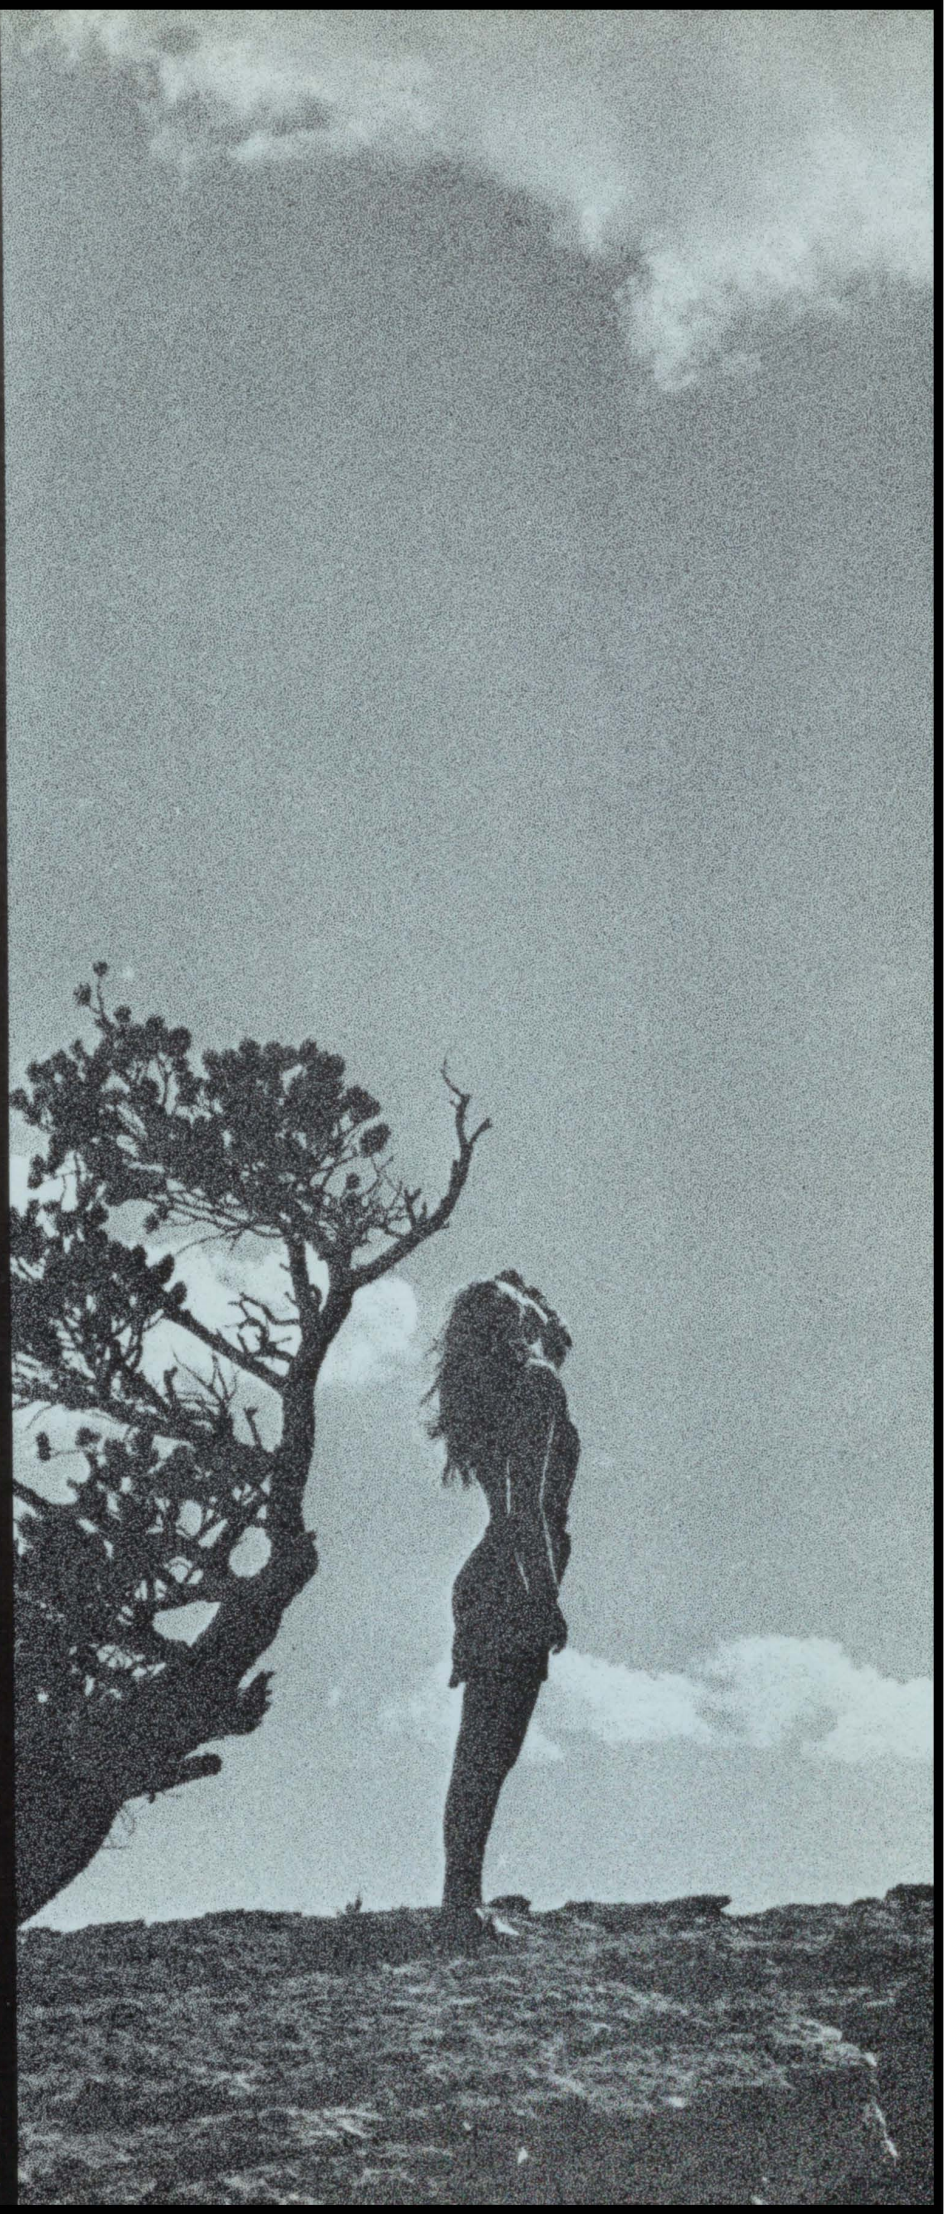

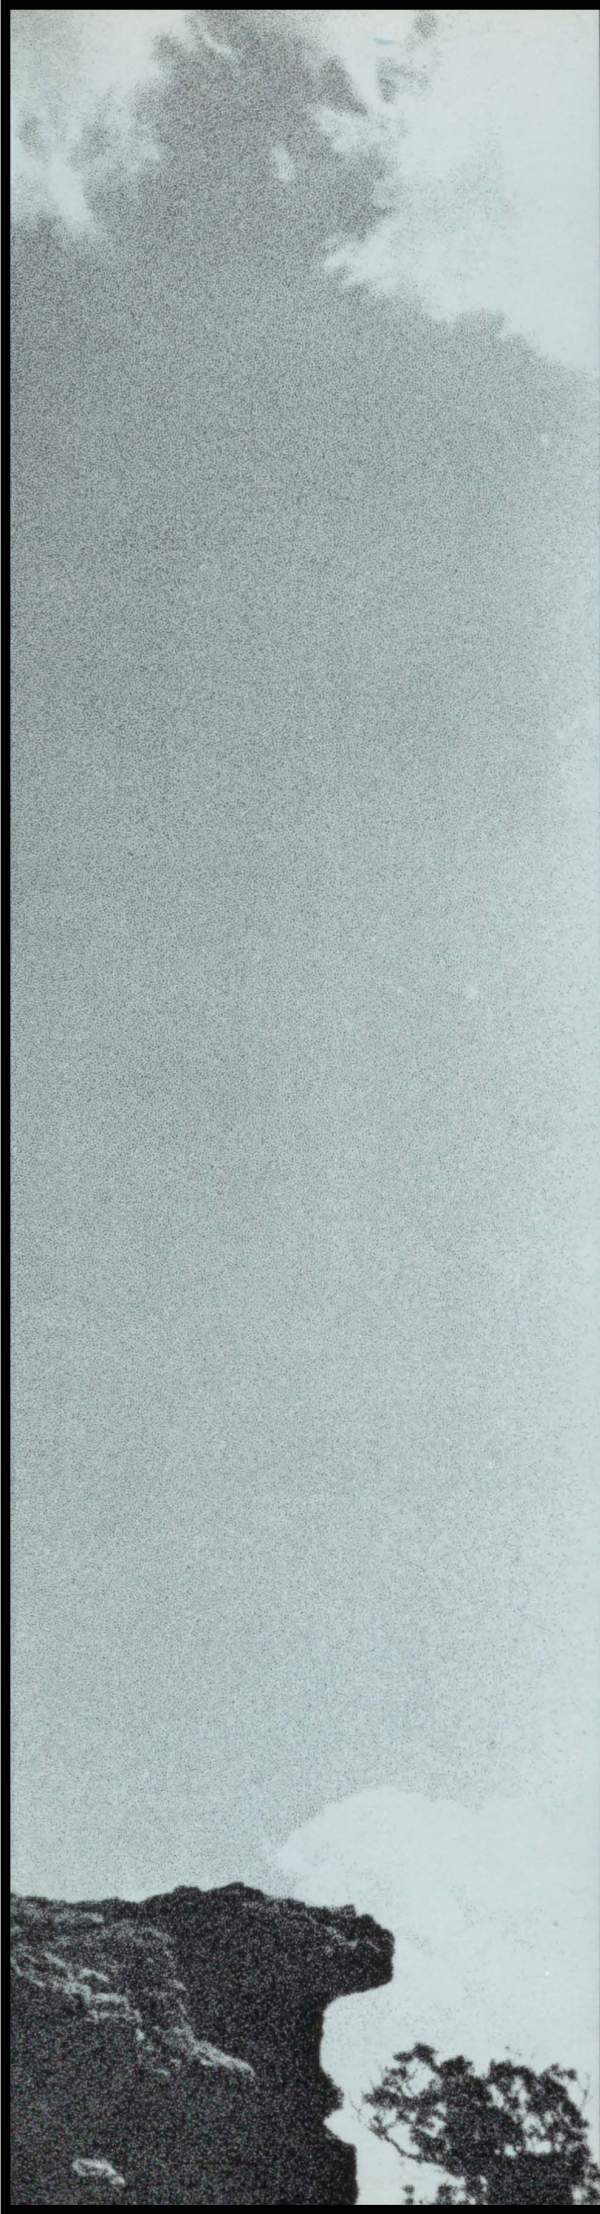

and mirror the images of what we are

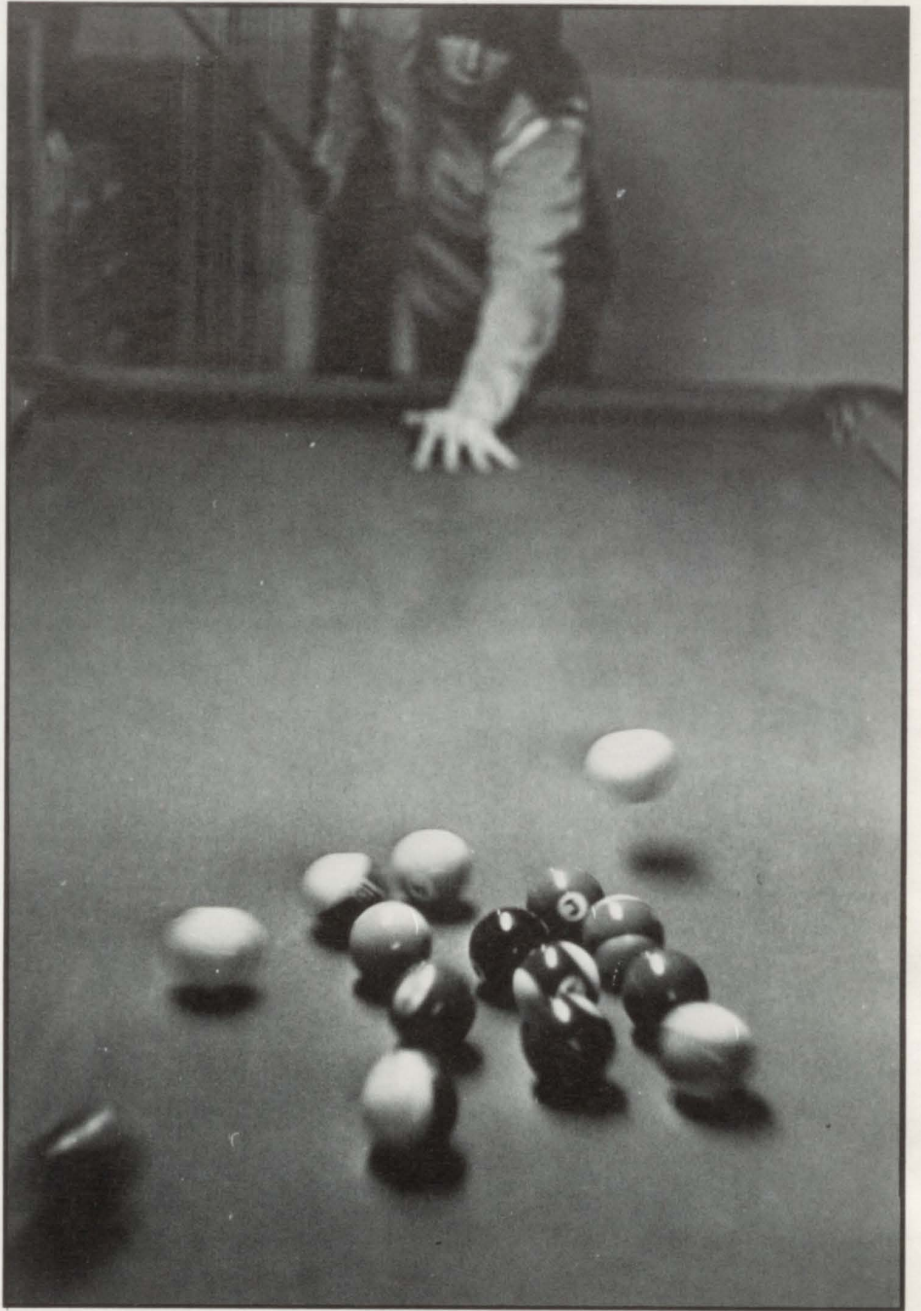

From fragments in time
we capture a sense of completeness

We observe a change in the universe,
the world,
ourselves .

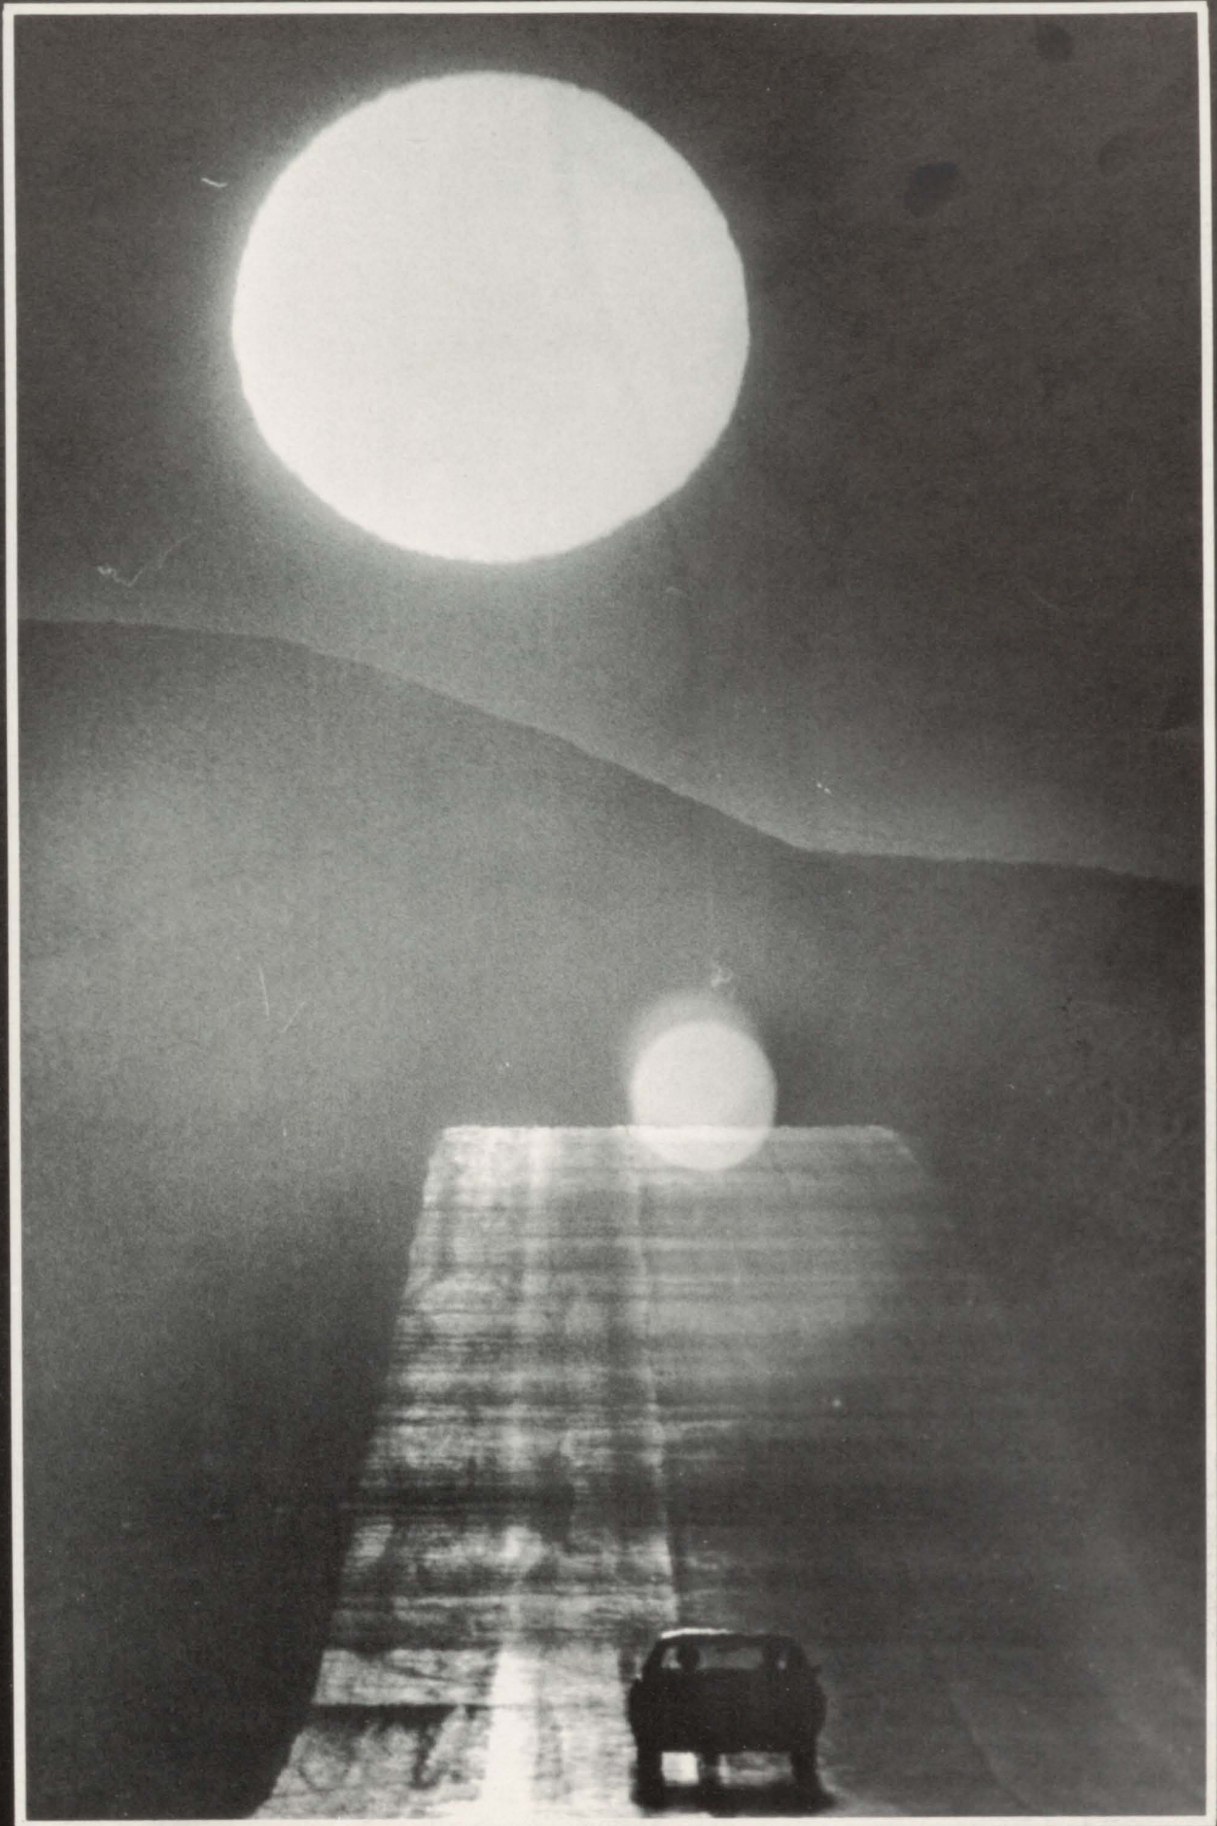

We no longer plan life by weekends . . .

. . . But for eternity

Faculty

Administration

The three coordinators, Frank Sanders (lower right), Jack Iver-son (above), and Carl Wisroth (upper right), are in charge of most of the "dirty work", but can't be pushed around too much, because when we see them in the hall they usually manage to force a smile or an understanding frown, except on Mondays, when they usually just stay in their offices and drink coffee.

This has been a year of new faces, or at least old faces in new places for East High. The most important new face is (pictured below) Mr. Roy Troyer, our new principal. His jovial "Joe Garagiolia" face, and his easy-going, sympathetic, and understanding manner are welcome additions to East's fine tradition.

Mr. Troyer is also the initiator of a new, more individualized and efficient administrative system, consisting of a coordinator and a counselor for each grade level. Even the assistant principal, Mr. Glenn Phillips, (pictured left), who has been in public school education for twenty-eight years, has welcomed the change enthusiastically.

(Upper left photo) Ms. Helen Harper, (left) takes care of all financial affairs at East. Ms. Bettie Duthie (center) takes care of all the students aches and pains. Ms. Josie Humphrey (right) has dutifully served Mr. Troyer as his personal secretary.

Counselors

The three guidance counselors, Beverley Cowing, (left) Mick Micek, (below) and Jack Bryant, (lower left), are East's token examples proving we show absolutely no discrimination against a person for his/her (or her/his) race, creed, sex, or national origin. If we did, we could not have the highly diversified group of individuals we now have.

Language Arts

“Speak your truth quietly and clearly and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story.”

—from Desiderata

The language arts department attempts to give each student a variety of experiences with language, chosen to enrich his life and increase his ability to select and attain worthy goals for himself. Through the use of language, the student's exploration includes the imaginative, the career-oriented and practical, the personal, the academic, and the foreign study. The Foreign Language section includes both classical and modern languages. All languages that are taught were selected after considering their educational value, the cultural insights to be gained from them, where applicable, and the extent of their use by the peoples of the world. Courses available include speech, journalism, drama, composition, Spanish, French, and German as well as the required courses in general English.

“Shall we remembering, forget; or shall we, forgetting, remember?”

"A wise man once said, 'There is no adequate defense, except stupidity, against the impact of a new idea! Isn't that what school is all about?'" With that philosophy, the social science department studied man's social relationships in all their different forms, both past and present. Social Science drew its substance from the theories of anthropology, economics, geography, government, history, sociology, and social psychology. The primary objective of the social studies program was to teach students to think for themselves and to provide the concepts and modes of inquiry of the social sciences and history. The social studies classroom provided an atmosphere in which the students could question man's behavior, in an atmosphere in which the search for truth assumed primary importance.

I just can't seem to get ahead!

The words of wisdom

"It is what you learn after you know it all that counts!"

Milton Bittinger

"To paraphrase a great philosopher, 'those who do not know their history are doomed to repeat it.'"

Malcolm Cook

"Students who watch TV night after night will no doubt go down in history, not to mention science, math, etc."

C. Wayne Croker

"Success comes in cans. Failure comes in can't."

Donald Morris

"The classroom should be a place where the student can critically evaluate the data which make up the historical processes. The atmosphere should be relaxed. Chair throwing, however, is forbidden."

Donald Morris

"School is a place where students learn to love their country. Therefore, school should be run in such a way that students will love the school."

Emphasis in the science course is placed on the process of scientific inquiry by students so that they can discover and interpret scientific knowledge, develop interests and understandings of science, and recognize that science can be applied to the solution of current and future problems. Inquiry is encouraged in various ways, using the laboratory as the main instrument of learning. An advantage that the East High Science Department had was the inclusion of a photography class in the curriculum.

. . . the origins of an intellect

This chick really measures up.

The East High Math Department stressed the individual's desire and ability to use the problem-solving method in all situations. The classes offered were designed to contribute common and specialized knowledge for use both in the present and later in life. Students learned to develop skill and ability in mathematical expression and scientific thinking. The department offered the following courses: Algebra I and II, Geometry, Trigonometry, and Math Analysis I and II.

Fine Arts

The influence of the Fine Arts program is felt by the entire student body. The program is to be thought of as more than courses and activities confined to the classroom. It helped students develop a keener awareness of artistic values; develop an ability to express ideas, feelings, and moods; to explore personal interests; and to acquire a knowledge of man's artistic heritage for the purpose of building an understanding of our society. The courses included in the Fine Arts program were: orchestra, chorus, band, and art.

and the body

Physical Education

The Physical Education program has more to offer than "blood, sweat, toil, and tears." It consists of courses and activities designed to help the students meet their physical and recreational needs. The program consists of not only the required class instruction, but has been known throughout the state for its excellent intramural and interscholastic programs. The goals of the department are to emphasize the development of coordination, strength, skill, and endurance.

Business Education

Planning for the future

Because of the influence of business in our everyday economy, it is important that as many students as possible have some background in Business Education. Therefore, the Business Education curriculum is designed to fit the general and vocational needs of the students.

The intent and purpose of the business Education Department at East High is twofold: First it is designed to give the occupational student those marketable skills sufficient to acquire and retain his first job position. Secondly, it is designed to provide a student with those business understandings which will be useful in his everyday living regardless of his occupation.

Students find this course relevant to the society we live in today.

Boy's State

Boy's State and Girl's State were designed to give students an opportunity to study, understand, and preserve their government. It is sponsored by the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary. Boy's State was held in Douglas, Wyoming, June 11-17.

Receiving the honor of being chosen Governor was Gregg Federer. Gregg was also chosen to represent Boy's State at Boy's Nation in Washington D. C. Only two boys from every state qualify for this honor.

Recommendations by faculty was the procedure used for selecting Boy's Staters.

Girl's State

Girl's State was held this last summer in Laramie, Wyoming, June 4-10. Delegates stayed on campus and conducted mock sessions of Senate, House and Court. Resolutions were presented concerning abortion, age of consent, and rights and responsibilities. Among the laws passed was a resolution for an eighteen year old drinking statute. Those passed were submitted to the Honorable Governor Stan Hathaway for consideration.

To become a Girl's Stater, the members of the American Legion Auxiliary sent letters to eligible girls. They were asked to write a letter informing the committee why they would like to attend and their interests. The selected girls attended a tea for the final selection.

What is a WAHINA? WAHINA is an Indian word meaning Thunderbird, but for staff members, the term meant much more. WAHINA meant numerous nights of burning midnight oil in an attempt to meet deadlines. It meant choosing the staff, raising money, running elections, confronting so called members of clubs, and bearing much criticism. It meant a few dedicated staff members that were willing to abandon boyfriends and homework to devote hours of creativity and sometimes boredom to complete the layouts. WAHINA meant learning a new vocabulary of journalistic terms, and learning how to read instructions. But above all, WAHINA meant a sense of pride and achievement to the staff and the school.

Garmon said, "but they all have big ideas. I think by the end of the year, we can make this paper No. 1 in the state."

"I have a very fine sports editor, Dwayne Zobell, that knows what he is talking about when he writes a story. He himself is involved in the sports program here at East. My three newsmen, Bob Campbell, Joe Braly and Becky all look to be good writers," Garmon added.

Garmon then spoke of THUNDERBOLT business manager Randy Child.

"He will probably be the best business manager in the history of the THUNDERBOLT. I got him started kind of late but once he got going he was selling ads like mad. Without him, I doubt that the staff and I could put out an eight page paper this first issue."

Garmon added that the THUNDERBOLT was probably the only high school paper in Wyoming to publish only a week-and-a-half after school started.

Virginia Allen is sponsor of the THUNDERBOLT for her 12th consecutive year.

Both editors agreed that it will be because of the changes in format that really decides whether or not their medias are well received by the students.

Miss Sanchez is keeping secret about most of the annual in hopes of surprising the students and presenting them with a respectable yearbook.

The 17-year-old editor said she hopes to depict the student life both at East High and in the community and that the book will cover everybody not just the popular students.

A change that Miss Sanchez says will help the yearbook a great deal has been a change in companies.

The Wahina is now being published by Walsworth.

Garmon says he hopes that his experience at working on both the Wyoming State Tribune and Wyoming Eagle staffs will help him to put out good newspapers. Garmon, at the present, is sports editor for the Wyoming State Tribune and student page editor for the Wyoming Eagle. He also takes pictures for both papers.

Both Sandy Sanchez and Mike Garmon are thinking No. 1 and there's a good chance that both are likely to see their respective medias reach the No. 1 spot in Wyoming.

Miss Sanchez, editor of the 1972-73 Wahina, and Garmon, this year's editor of the THUNDERBOLT, are looking forward to what may be the best year for East High concerning the yearbook and the newspaper and both agree that they have the best staffs ever at the 11-year-old school.

Miss Sanchez says that her staff of 17 is "willing to work. They all seem enthused about it."

"I don't think they are in the class for a grade," Miss Sanchez said. "They're devoted. They go out of their way to keep busy. Sometimes they get me mad, but that's typical."

Although Garmon has a small staff of four or five to help put out the 15 issues of the THUNDERBOLT that are expected this year, he says that through the help of club reporters and other outside assistance, the students can expect a top-notch paper.

"I have a very small staff,"

Coordinator System Installed at East High

by BOB CAMPBELL

Starting this year, there will be three counselors and three coordinators, one for each respective grade level, as opposed to previous years when there were just two counselors at East High to take care of the problems of some 1,450 students.

The coordinators hope to create a more personal atmosphere for the school by coming in contact with as many students, faculty members and parents as possible.

Directive in scope as well as supervision, the coordinators are available to help the students in scheduling and guidance. They are directing the student offices and are accountable for attendance of students and extracurricular activities.

Students having aspirations or problems should try to see his or her coordinator about them; an appointment is not necessary.

Frank Sanders, the senior coordinator, is located in rooms 112-113. Sanders, previously an industrial arts instructor at Carey Jr. High School, has 14 years experience in the educational field.

Jack Iverson, a civics teacher from Johnson Jr. High School, is the junior coordinator. Iverson can be located in the junior offices in rooms 124-126.

Carl Wisroth has had eight years experience in the Cheyenne school system and is serving as the sophomore coordinator. He is located in the office complex near the lobby.

These coordinators will be working hand in hand with the three counselors: Mike Micek, seniors; Beverly Cowing, juniors and Jack Bryant, sophomores.

The coordinators said they all enjoy working at East and with both faculty and students. They said they feel this new system is working out well and will try to improve on it as the need arises.

November 20

I spoke to her
 the words were all wrong
 they always are
 I've got to look deeper before they surface through my mouth
 and pause among her soul
 for harbor
 I've got to search where I have not written across my mind and use the words to my meaning
 Only as a sunrise I must find my words and raise them through the morning clouds to sound hymns
 of beauty and truth
 Lord knows what it means to say the words of wisdom, but to know them . . .
 These times you've got to understand words
 It's so easy to get lost in appearances better to disappear whispering so long to dawn and waiting till dark to find the shadows across my eyes looking to black
 Sometimes I can see more than I've got to reach down to the center of my soul and mold the clay into statues and forms of expression
 Words, got to be born as slow
 as their conception
 Time to calm down to mellow

—Jeffrey Margetts

SURELY

Surely you know how I stand on the question of my loving you Haven't I proved it in so many ways?
 More surely than my words can say

I see you stand and accuse me of no longer wanting you
 Misunderstanding what others have seen
 Surely you won't let idle people with nothing else to rely on Tear down all our hopes and dreams

Tell me, does the rain fall? (surely, surely)
 And does the summer always follow spring?
 How does a turtle go? (slowly, surely)
 That's how my love grows, surely, surely, surely

One of the outstanding honors a student at East may receive is election to the National Honor Society. To be considered for membership a student must exhibit scholarship, leadership and character. Only 5% of the junior class and 15% of the senior class is eligible.

A banquet honoring initiates was held in the spring of '72. This year, through the efforts of concerned faculty, senior members for 1973 were chosen during the fall. The new policy enabled new members to be able to include NHS on their college transcripts.

NFL, considered one of the most active clubs at East, is made up of prominent speech students. Speaking skills have taken such members as Charlie Johnson to Carolina for national competition and Sandy Sanchez to New York for the U. N. Pilgrimage for Youth.

Students compete in six different categories: debate, extemporaneous, original oratory, dramatic interpretation, humorous interpretation, and poetry. Since membership is based on the number of points earned, the club has become a select group of speakers. The group has many activities throughout the year, including the annual Cheyenne Invitational Speech Tournament. The team was assembled in hopes of gaining points in more than one area. For a new fund raising technique, NFL members hosted basketball games against local radio stations. Speakers dribbled with the hands and the drama was in the fiery debate of whether the jocks or jockeys would win.

NFL is closely affiliated with East's Radio Club. Radio Club gained experience in audio-journalism by taking over a local station for a day.

Known for their hard-selling tactics, the club raised money by bake sales, and selling hard candy. Social activities included Christmas skating and an exchange party. Sponsors are J. Corbin and E. Planning for tomorrow today

The HERO Club is a new organization formed by the Home Economics Department. The members of HERO try to find jobs in the food services and to work for 450 hours in food occupations. HERO sold popcorn at lunch to raise money for a field trip to Denver. The field trip was taken to acquaint members with how to manage a restaurant. HERO stands for Home Economics Related Occupations.

A special interest club with numerous fascinating projects was Future Homemakers of America. Activities included the Mother-Daughter Tea and the Senior Surprise. During the summer FHA worked at Hell on Wheels sponsoring a booth called "The Little Squirt Saloon". Money-making ideas consisted of selling lemonade, candy, homemade peanut brittle and fudge.

The largest Future Farmers of America chapter in Wyoming is found at East. The purpose of FFA is to prepare young men and women to lead a happy and successful life. Their busy schedule included a national FFA convention, a hayride, hog raffle, the Eaton livestock show, chili supper, basketball game, and cleaning up Tent City. Through effective classroom instruction and field trip study, FFA's goals and philosophies are accomplished.

The International Relations Club was formed with the intent of furthering students' understanding of foreign countries. The students appreciation was also increased through a wide variety of activities. These ranged from eating tacos to singing German beer-drinking songs. These, coupled with more serious projects, made the International Relations Club an educational and enjoyable club.

President Jeff Scheurman and his committee chairmen served as the necessary spark to save the smoldering Senate that last year plunged dangerously into apathy, leading to disbanding of the Senate.

For the first time, student representatives were appointed to the Faculty-Advisory Committee. They served to make proposals that would affect students in the area of attendance and tardies.

Replacing the dormant tradition of the Homecoming Bonfire was the Wienie Roast. Senate also hosted a Christmas Bash with live music, free refreshments and a volleyball game.

Modern Choir consists of outstanding vocal music students. Members gain admission in this honorary music group by auditioning in the spring. Modern Choir serves as a public relations group by making several appearances throughout Cheyenne.

The All-City Orchestra combined top musicians from Central and East working in harmony as a performing group. The orchestra entertained at the Christmas Concert and Baccalaureate exercises.

Select musicians performed at the All-District concert in Laramie and the district Music Festival in Cheyenne. Outstanding musicians entered tape auditions for the All-State and All-Northwest orchestras. The orchestra was directed by the experienced and respected Mr. Anthony Perrella.

The Wind Ensemble's purpose is to perform superior quality with college insight. The group's highlighted performance is the Spring Music Festival.

Neither rain, nor snow, nor heat of day prevents East's Marching Band from performing. During the football season the band is out on the field for drill and practice by 7:00 a.m. every morning. A total of at least ten hours a week is spent perfecting the shows. A trip is planned in July 1973 to Calgary, Canada.

Football kicks off fall sports

Despite having the talent of two all-staters, not to mention all-round depth, Art Kissack's gridders could not put it together in '72. East suffered a humiliating 2-5-1 season.

This is not to say the games were dull. 1972 saw some of the most exciting play in T-Bird history. Most of this was due to the razzle-dazzle antics of quarterback Mike Rafferty and halfback Gregg Federer. It was a pass from Rafferty to Federer that provided the most reliable scoring combination for the T-Birds. At times, the all-state pair was truly unbelievable, especially since Federer was often double-teamed and Rafferty was often running away from his own protection. Nevertheless, Gregg and Mike pulled off their act three times alone in the opening game. These were only two of the more interesting members of the team. There were others.

Mark McCord made some fair catches and ripped off some fine runs. There was sophomore Tom Wertz out there plugging away at halfback. There was Karen Whitehead, the first female football manager. There was Jeff Margetts, the end who nobody threw to, even though it seemed he was always open . . . in the end zone.

That was about how '72 shaped up. It was a team struggling with itself and at the same time trying to rebuild. Several members were suspended for partying. By coincidence, we won our first game that week. It was that kind of season. Through all of this, we should look for winning ways next year.

Pain. Pain and frustration. There are no two words that so accurately describe the 1972 cross country season.

One of those hardest hit by the feeling of frustration was coach LeRoy Sprague. In 1971 he coached the state championship team. He then lost most of it through graduation. A highly respected coach, Sprague was then challenged with the task of whipping his inexperienced squad into peak condition and form. Out of regard for his runners, in addition to all the miles out on "the mountain," Sprague accomplished this.

Everyone knew he would. The runners especially. It was they who experienced the pain of running. The pain of running is pushing yourself for miles in the heat with a sweatsuit on. The pain of running is feeling your lungs burn and your entire body ache. "You sweat blood." It was also the runners who felt the frustration of always losing to Central, of annoying little aches and pains, and of sometimes poor performances.

But when the season ended in October, no one regretted a minute of it. The '72 harriers were a united and happy team. They ended the season with a third place finish at state. No one complained. An all-state runner Jeff Scheurman once contemplated, "It is a seldom felt feeling to finish, regardless of where and be able to say 'I couldn't have done better.'"

'73 nothing but frustration

Basketball- the sport of kings and Meadowlark Lemon, was the object of furtive whispering by everyone concerned. When the season began, one could still encounter fans, ten or twelve people at a time, all of whom could still pronounce the magic word "win". People could be seen shamefacedly moving from place to place, mere shadows of people, hunted, afraid for their lives. These were the players. Nothing personal, boys, but what happened?

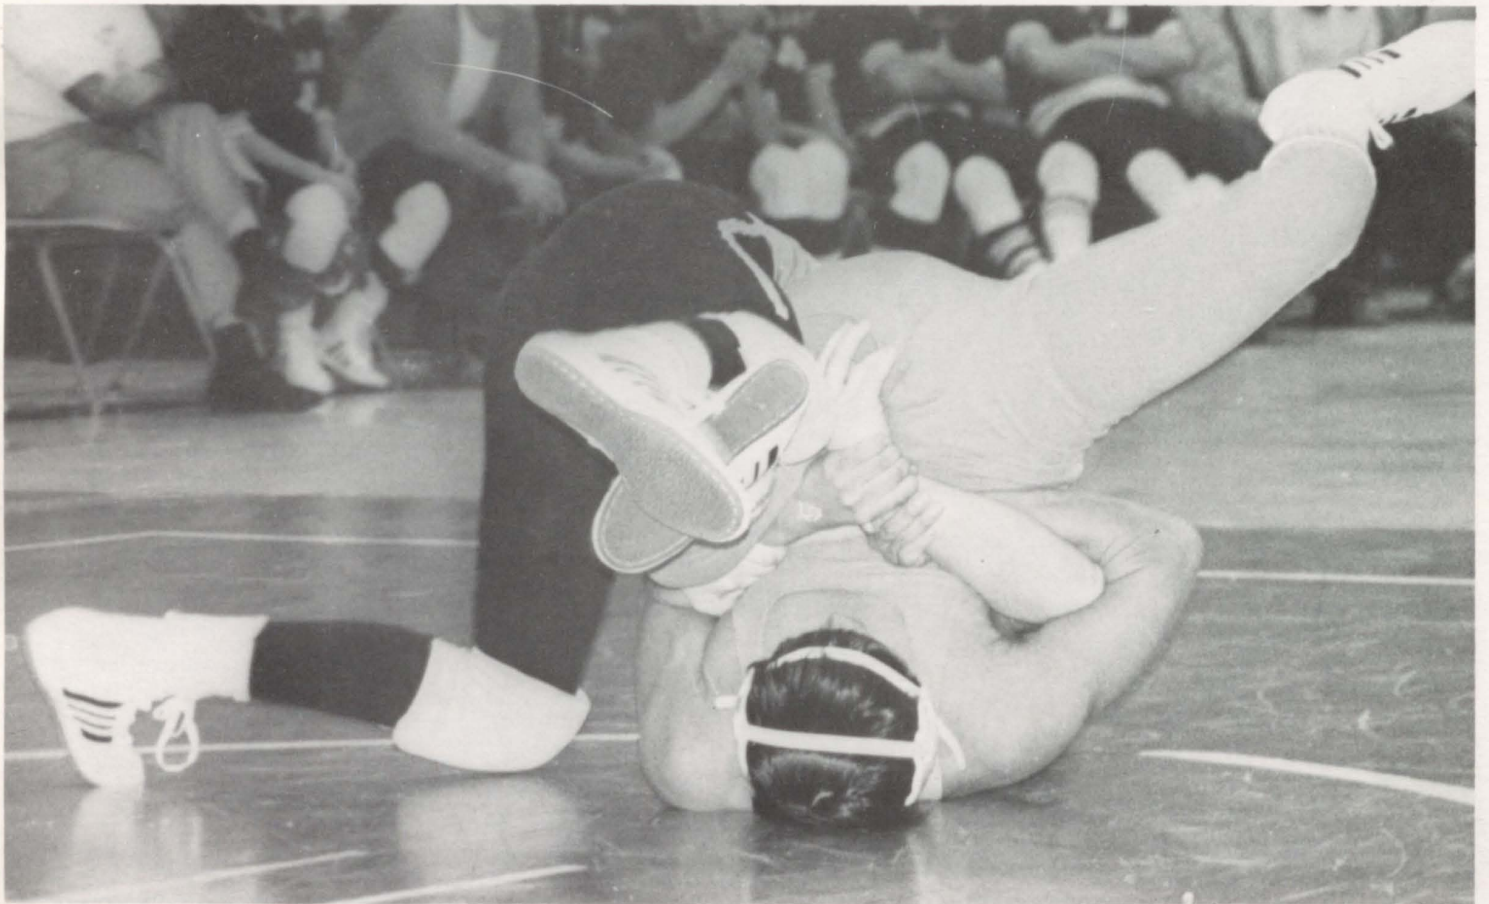

What did happen? The T-Birds were favored with great ability and speed. It seemed Mark McCord and Jon Cox could hit from anywhere. Gregg Federer and Dave Wilde were natural leaders. Then there was the all-round ability of people like Irwin, Pilch, Nelson and Cameron. These and others were coached, drilled, and conditioned under the watchful eyes of Jack Bryant and LeRoy Sprague.

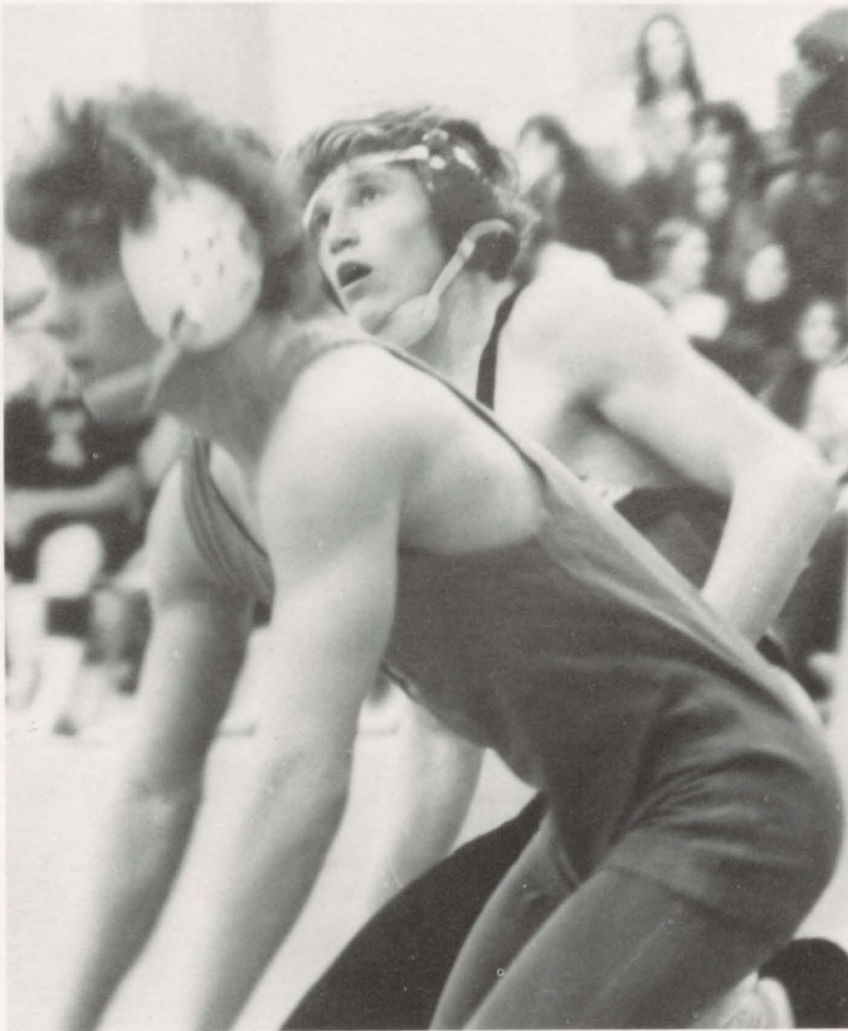

Apparently they just couldn't get it together. Personality conflicts caused some hard feelings. There were injuries. Players quit. Fans began to diminish. Friday the 13th came almost every weekend.

Looking back, the season record is misleading. Sure, East played some pretty sad games, but they also had more than their share of bad luck. Through this experience, we should look for better things next year.

To the team—it's not whether you won or lost . . .

Wrestlers wrap up great season

It seems that every year East develops an outstanding squad of grapplers; 1973 was no exception. The varsity was virtually undefeated and the JV's haven't lost for three years. Wrestling was by far the winningest sport around East.

Coach Art Phillips was the engineer behind all this winning. Indeed, Phillips has had a winning tradition at East for the past ten years.

However, a lot of credit must go to the wrestlers themselves. It was they who worked for two and three hours at a time in 90 degree heat to lose weight. Another reason for their success was their own team spirit. They were a very proud and close-knit group.

There were many outstanding individuals in '73. Ray Fernandez was scheduled to win the state. Dawson, Schleyer, Karney, and Wertz were also expected to win or at least place highly in their respective weights.

The T-Birds had outstanding lightweights and good all-round depth. Whether they win state depends on their performance at regionals and a little bit of luck.

Fish finish fantastically

Being one of the most fun-loving groups around school was the job of the E.H.S. swimmers. They continued to carry on the five year winning tradition of coach John Arciniega. Highlighted by several talented sophomores, they won most of their dual meets and placed highly in large competitions.

As an added feature this year, the yearbook has decided to present special awards to people who made the swimming team what it was.

The Art Phillips mathematics award went to the two veteran managers, who after a year of coaching and a session of summer school, learned how to count to sixty and read a stopwatch.

The Jessie Owens Jumping Jock award went to every swimmer who could leap from the retaining wall into the pool.

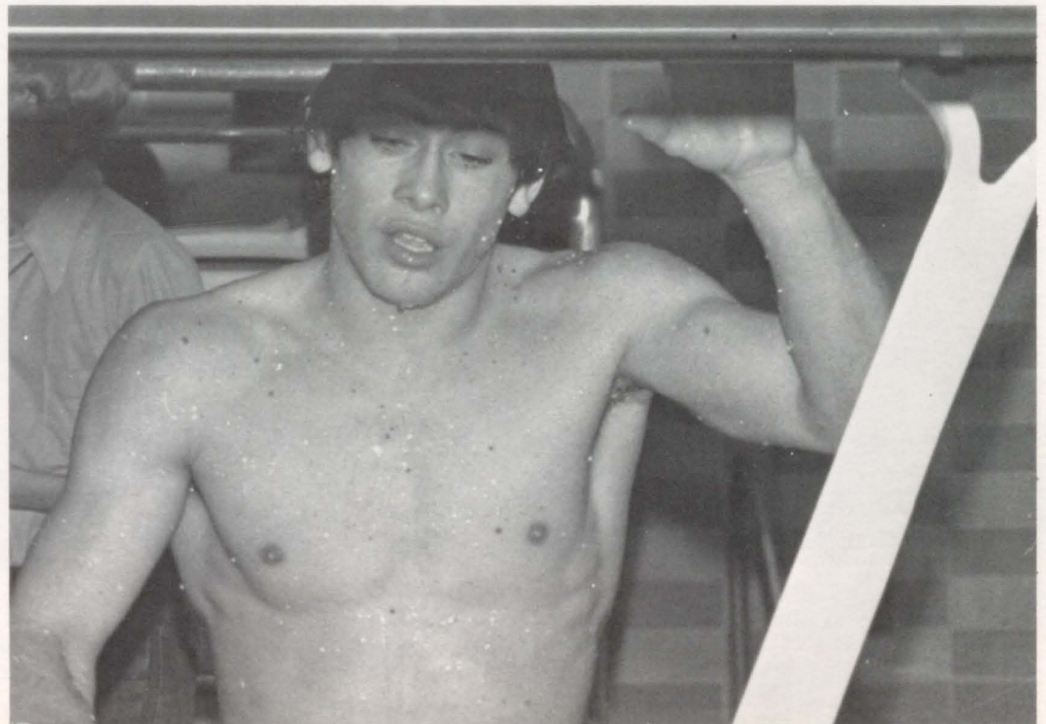

For disrupting diving competition with her wild screaming, cheerleader Cathy Quintana received the Miss Spirit of Swimming award for 1973.

Dave Karney was recipient of the Mr. Spirit of Swimming award, even though he was a wrestler. Dave often sneaked out of practice to root for the swimmers and coach the divers. Besides being a great grappler, he was an asset to the swimmers.

The winner of the St. Louis Zoo Fellowship was the sophomore manager. It was he who was charged with the responsibility of caring for the team mascot, Mortimer the seal.

The final award is that of "Most Original Start." Dale Woods was this years winner with his infamous "Breast-Stroke Bash." At the sound of the gun, Dale would dive directly from the blocks directly onto the diving board, flip off backwards and light on a lane rope, face first. Nice going, Dale.

The '73 swimming cheerleaders, (upper right), were Diane Spires, Sunny Lindsay, Cathy Quintana, Kathy Rodekohr, and Jeanene Langley. (At right), Frank Silva contemplates a freestyle win.

The 1973 East High fish consisted of Steve Hammock, Merrill Jensen, and Rick Thamer, (managers), Dale Woods, Dave Stoner, Bill DeBrey, George Cussins, Bill Cathcart, coach Arciniega, Danny Ostermiller, Mark McCaslin, Dickie Gley, Mike Bonds, John Langley, Paul Whalen, Frank Mockler, Wally Reiman, Byron Cork, Scott Nelson, Frank Silva, Mortimer, and Bill Ellis.

Female fish finish third

The E.H.S. racketeers, (right), were John Langley, Dwayne Zobell, Ken Havens, Steve Kroupa, Dave Wilde (4th in state), Dave Kroupa, and coach John Arciniega.

'73 T-Bird golfers were Marty Carroll, Vic Spencer, Mike McCord, Mark Norman, Mitch Osborn, and Randy Brunk.

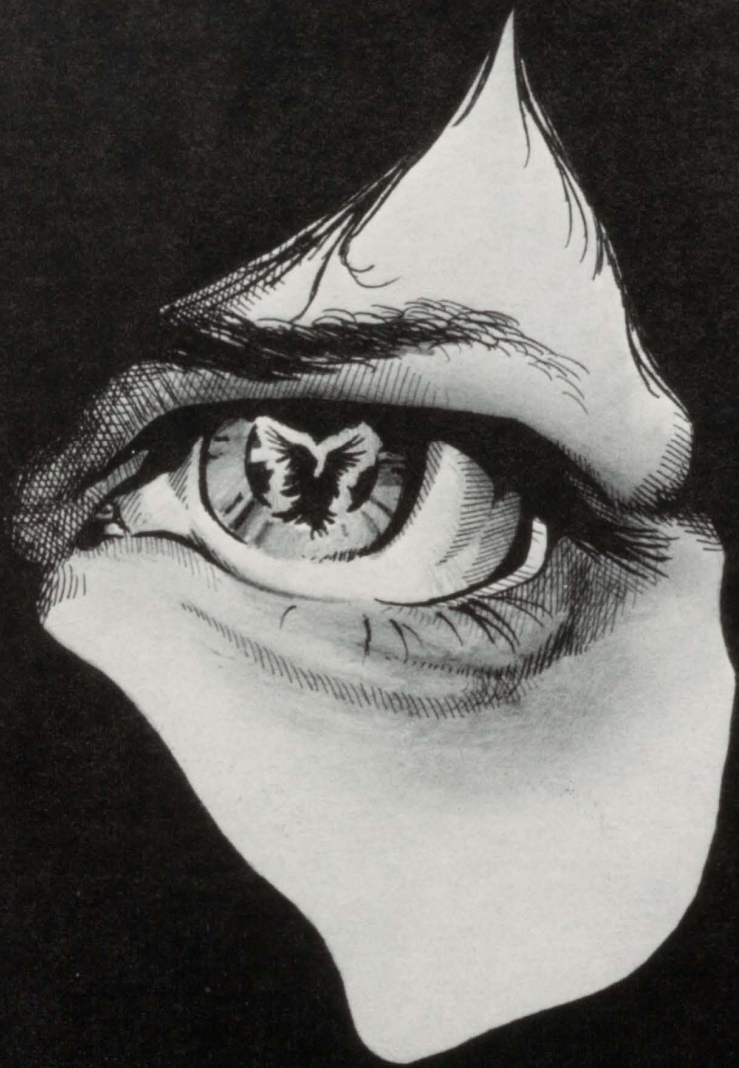

Volleyball second in state

One of the more outstanding teams at East this year was volleyball. Under the direction of Sue Shirk, the spikers won regionals and placed second at state. They consisted of Kathy Merklin, Linda Gilpin, Jean Rose, Miss Shirk, Debbie Vosler, Peggy Lewis, Gay Weston, and team captain Melissa Trowbridge.

Student life

The Wahina staff took a few moments out of the lives of some of the busy seniors and asked them questions concerning different aspects of student life. The following are answers we received and are not necessarily the sentiments of our staff.

WHAT DO YOU DO ON WEEKENDS?

On weekends I become myself, untangled by the pressures wrought by the week. Weekends are the recovery days to think the thoughts I need to sort out.

On weekends I practice to become a semi-professional drunk.

On weekends I go fishing or clean up the barnyard.

I spend half of the weekend at parties—the other half recuperating.

On weekends I am a wall surveyor. By the time weekends roll around, it becomes very soul-satisfying to merely stare at walls.

I like to watch girls, drink anything alcoholic, ride horses, break horses, and teach girls to ride, horses I mean.

WHAT ARE YOUR PLANS AFTER GRADUATION?

My plans after graduation are to enjoy the summer as much as I possibly can with the threat of college looming over my head like a Damocles' Sword. After that I will surrender myself to voluntary servitude at the University of Wyoming.

I have no positive plans for my life work after graduation.

My plans after graduation are to be a semi-professional drunk.

I'm going to get a job so I can get out of my house.

My plans in the near future are that I hope to enjoy life. My ultimate quest, death.

I'm going to work until I'm sure of what I want to do for the rest of my life.

After graduation I want to continue what I'm doing—being happy.

WHAT DO YOU LOOK FOR IN A FRIEND?

I look for understanding and sympathy in a friend; someone who will accept me for what I am.

I find great legs an acceptable qualification for a friend.

In a friend I look for trust, reliability, and if he can fight.

In a friend I look for money.

I look for in a friend sincerity, Christian fellowship, a deep trust, and a genuine love for others.

Well, I want her to have a nice body and good personality and likes to kiss.

HOW WOULD YOU EVALUATE YOUR EDUCATION?

East High School is 8 hours which separates breakfast and dinner. Seriously, I believe that the education students get at E.H.S. is possibly the best in the country.

The curriculum of East is comparable to a pornographic book—the actual event isn't always as it is written.

My education suffered because I didn't learn the spiritual essences needed to nourish my soul.

My education is not what I wish it could of been.

High school should be used as a preparation for life, but should also have a separate life in itself. There is too much emphasis on "serious" school work and learning situations. High school should further your enjoyment of learning (not deter it) and spur you on, motivate you to always look for something new, different, and profitable.

Homecoming: cartoons, celebration . . .

Homecoming 1972 was an unforgettable mixture of laughter, beauty, spirit, and honor. This year's version of the annual functions was the most unusual and successful in recent T-Bird history.

Thursday really started the Homecoming ball rolling with the traditional "East Beast" and Homecoming Queen assembly. The hilarious humor exhibited by the Beast candidates, as well as the undeniable beauty of the Queen nominees made the assembly a huge success.

1972 marked the first time that East High did not hold a Homecoming bonfire. Instead, the social activities committee came up with a new alternative, a Homecoming Wienie Roast. A festive crowd was on hand to eat, yell, dance, and watch the coronation ceremonies for the Homecoming Royalty.

Friday was the climax of a hectic Homecoming week. A pep assembly set the mood for the downtown parade that followed. With all the colorful floats, cars and bands, the parade also turned out very well.

After only a few hours rest, the East student body again turned out en masse for the Homecoming football game, dedicated to the returning East High alumni. Although the outcome of the game wasn't too favorable, the spirit of the student body seemed undying for the Homecoming dance, which featured Bold Lightning, a Rapid City band making its first appearance in Cheyenne.

All of us will remember that Homecoming 1972 was a well-planned, well-run series of fabulous experiences that showed how fine the East High student body really was.

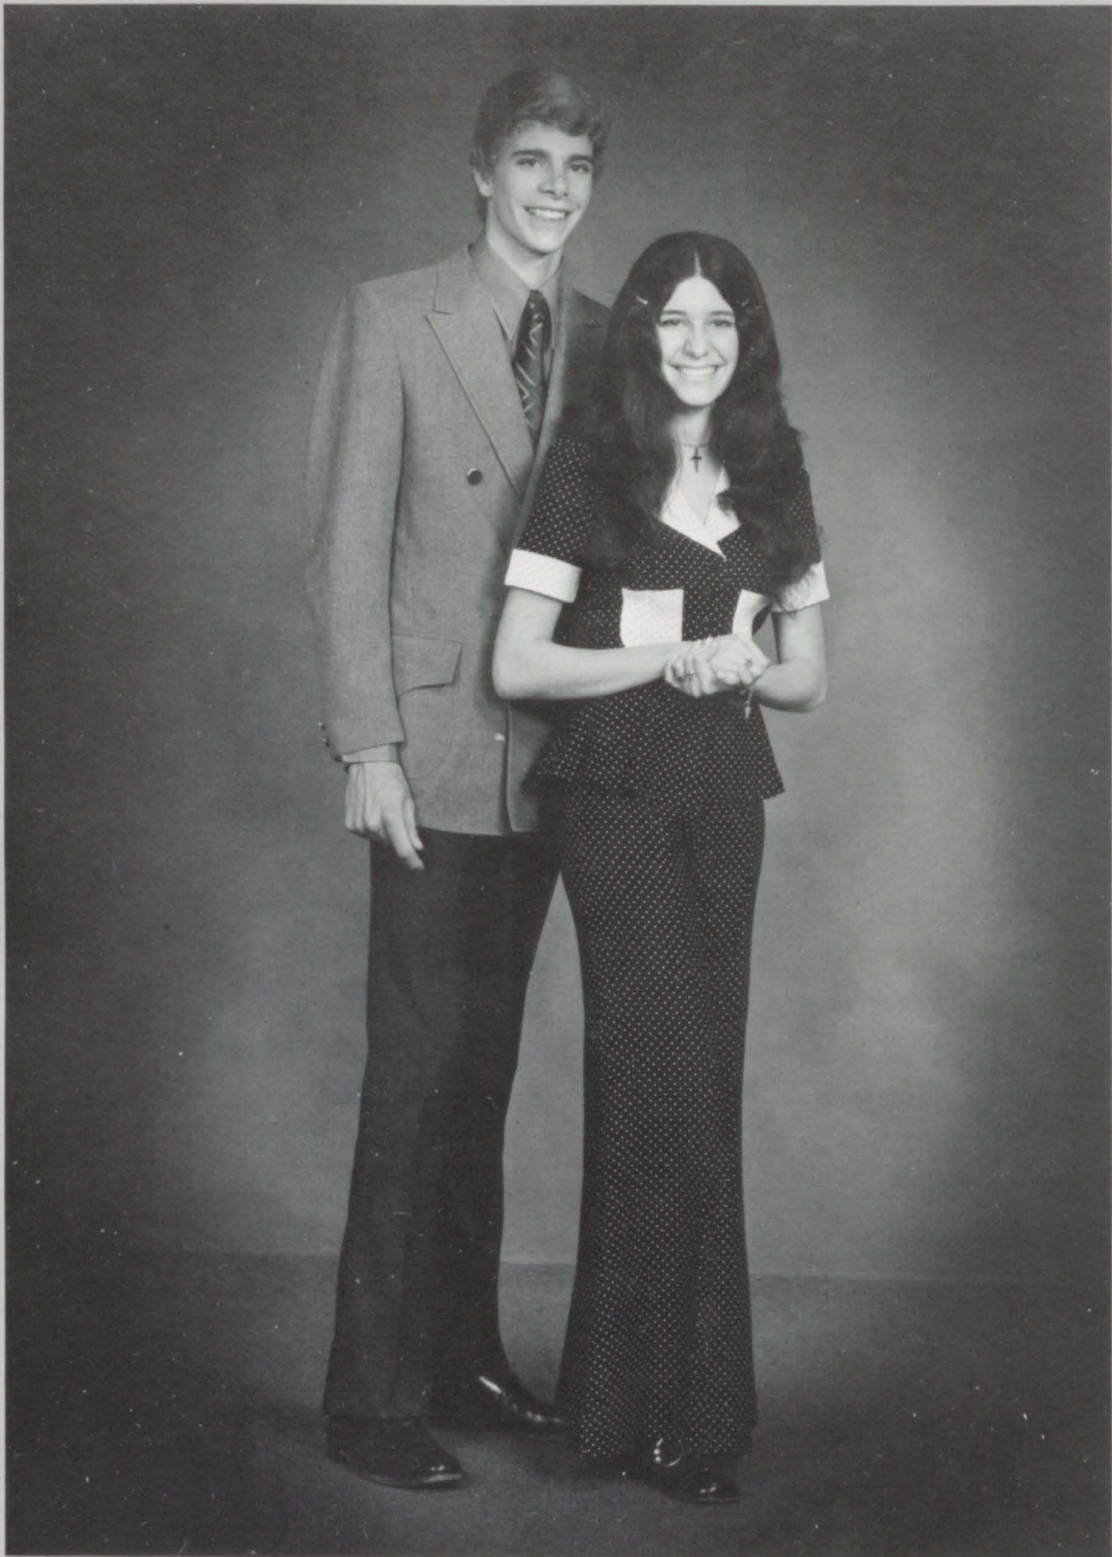

Merritt Jensen, former principal of East (also a confirmed jaywalker), was finally apprehended and hauled in by the V.I.C.A. Vigilantes.

WAHINA — What do you think?

IF YOU COULD RE-LIVE HIGH SCHOOL, WHAT WOULD YOU DO DIFFERENTLY?

If I could re-live high school, I'd do it all the same. Fools never learn.

In reliving high school, I would not get involved.

I don't think I would do anything different if I could relive my high school days. I lived them in a way that was best for me.

In reliving high school, I'd start with a better attitude toward education.

I would probably try to assume more responsibility for a change.

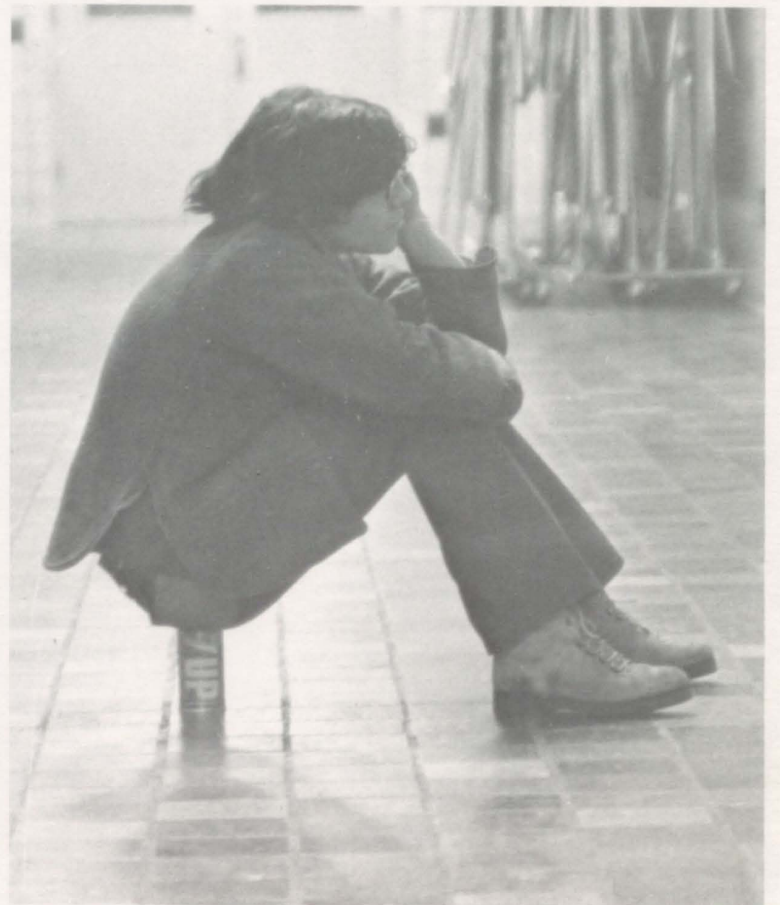

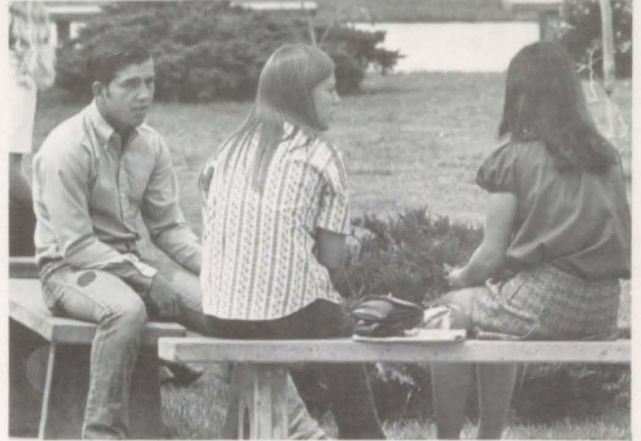

I would pay absolutely no attention to anything Mr. Micek ever said.

In reliving high school, I would become more interested in school activities and organizations.

I'd take the high school out of my life.

If I could relive high school, I would apply myself more.

The one thing I would do differently is realize each day only comes once, and take advantage of it.

AS A SENIOR, WHAT SUGGESTIONS WOULD YOU LEAVE FOR IMPROVEMENT OF EAST HIGH?

A gumball machine in the lobby.

I would like to see non-mandatory classes for seniors. The conception a student learns something by being in a class one hour every day is illogical and stupid.

I wouldn't improve East. I think it's great the way it is. The improvements come with the students and faculty as they get to know each other better on an educational and personal level.

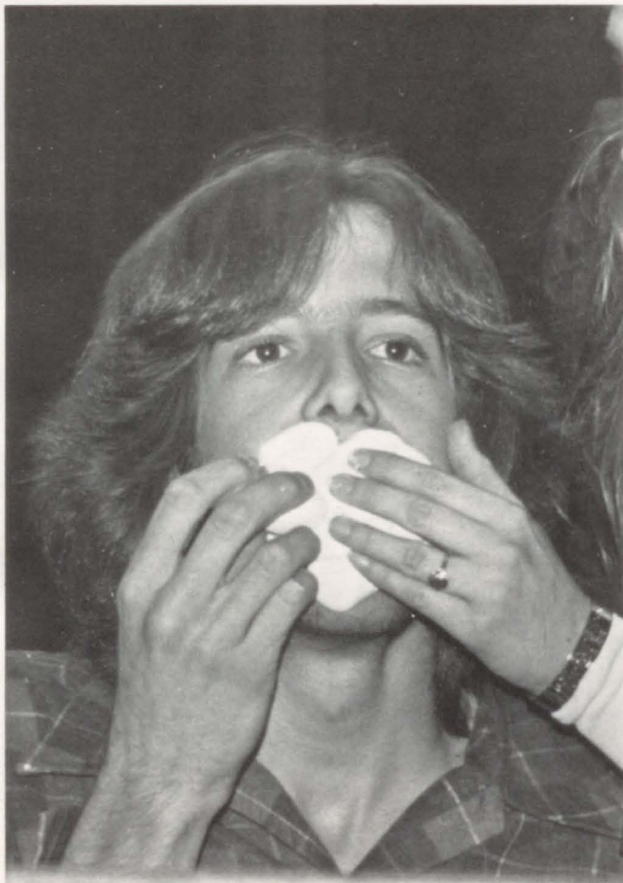

To improve East High, I think they ought to have a room in the building or a place outside the building where students can smoke. All the years that students have smoked in the bathrooms and hiding outside, you figure they might as well make it legal to smoke on school ground. There is no way you are going to stop them. They haven't caught the school on fire yet.

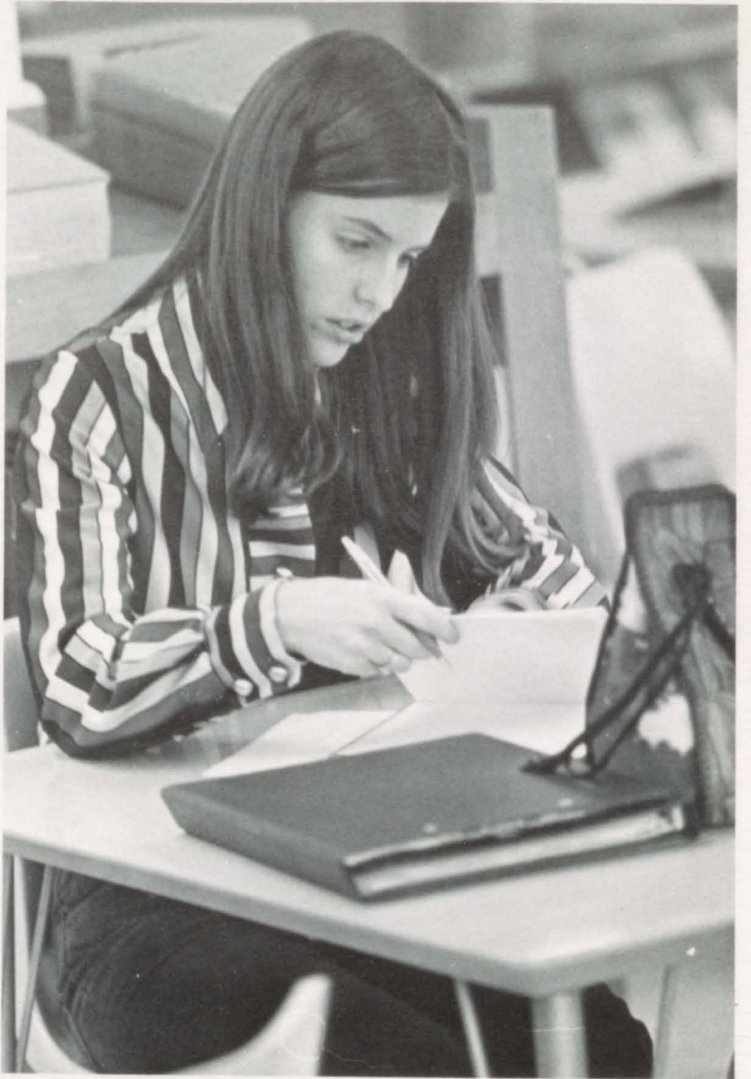

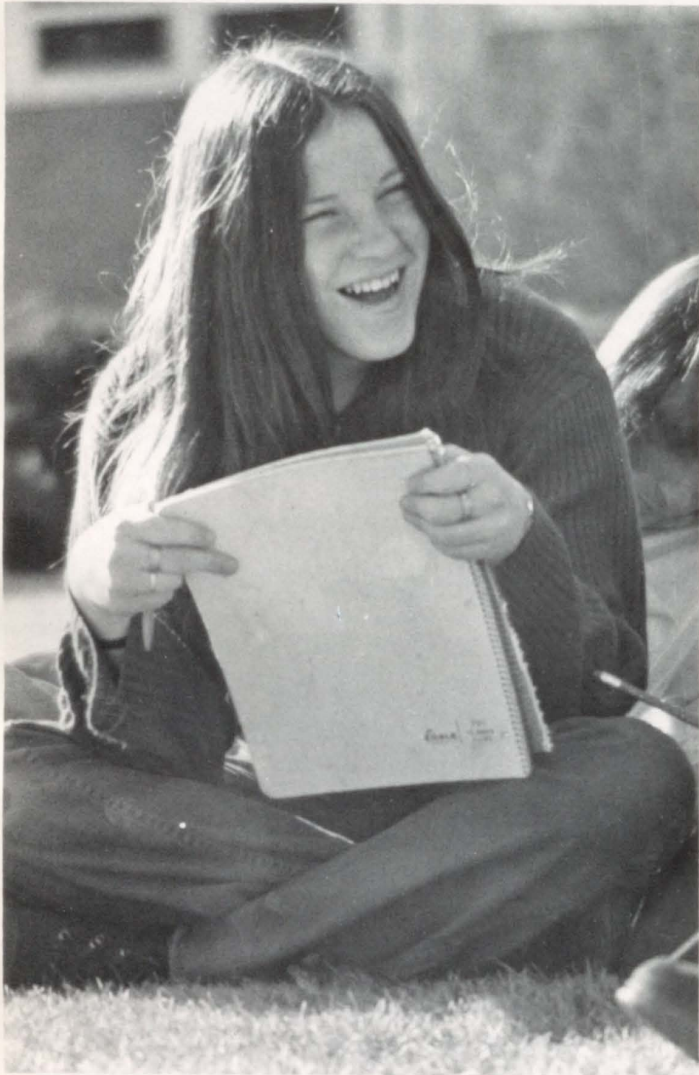

In order to improve some of the facilities, I feel this school could use some extra money. Since we have local talent, I feel we should enter in the "JOE GARRAGIOLA LOOK-ALIKE CONTEST", our own Mr. Troyer.

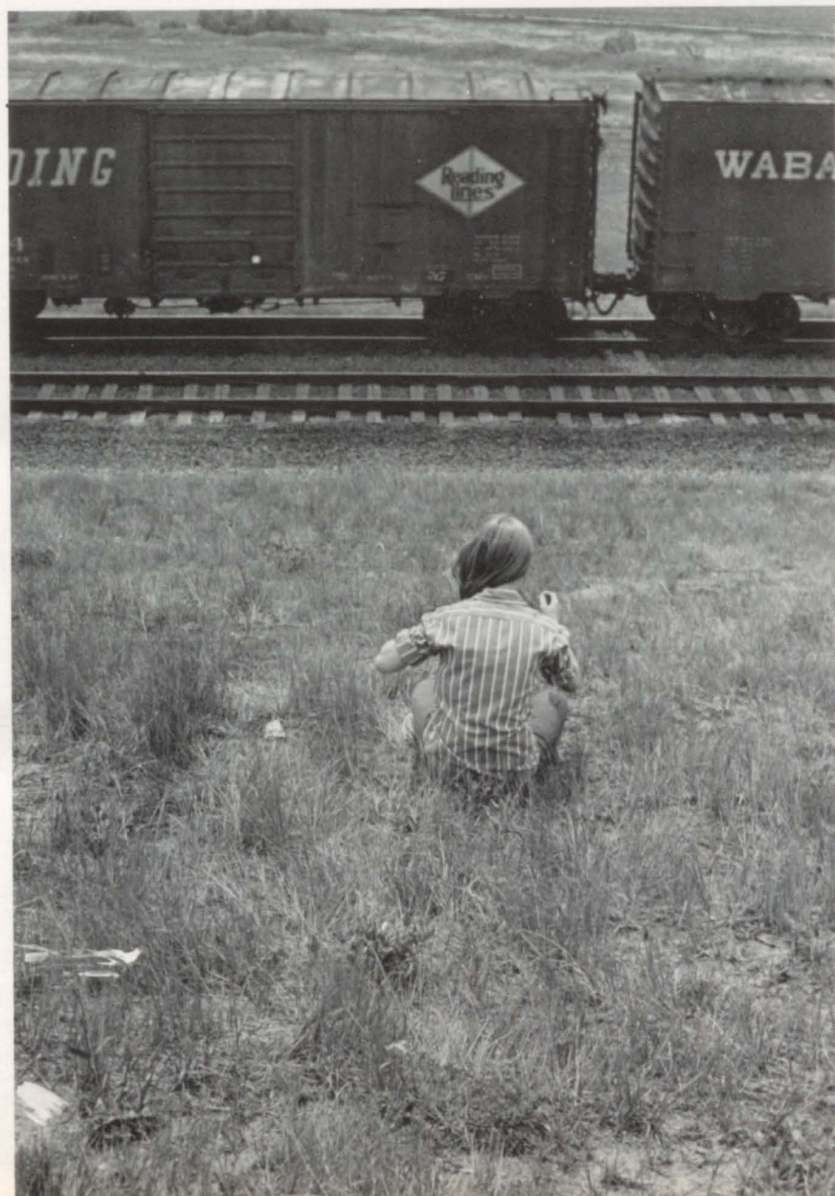

As a senior, and feeling no responsibility to East when I leave, I offer no suggestions. I will work to improve my future, and the situations I will confront.

As a senior, I suggest to forget half of what the assistant principal tells you to do, and ignore the rest.

I feel that probably the greatest improvement of East High is inevitable and, in fact, already upon us . . . my graduation.

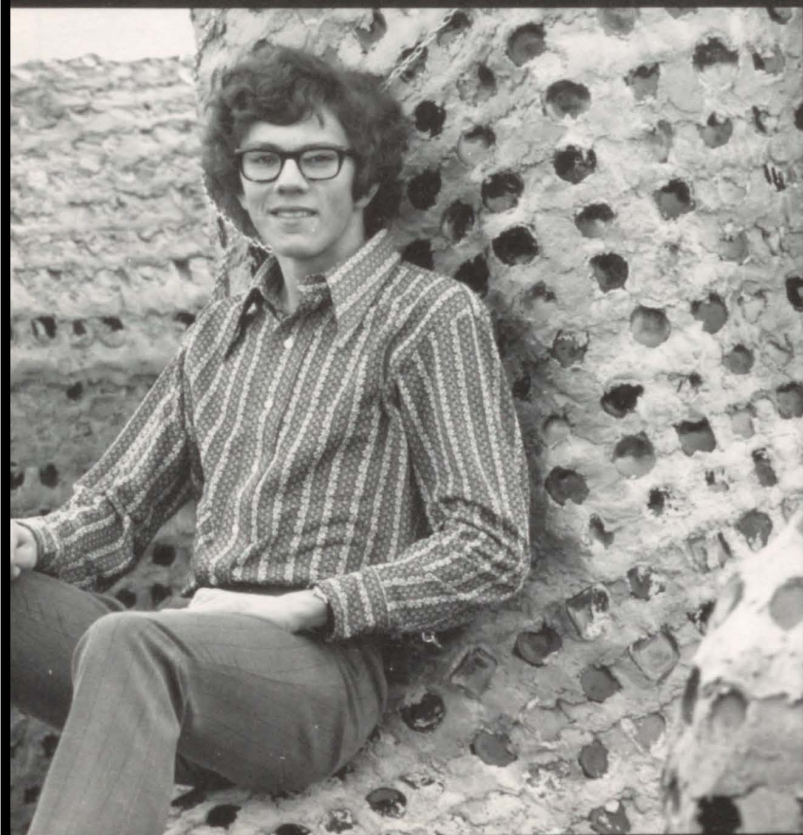

Taenda turnabout

Polly Popularity nervously dialed His number. Would he accept? Or would he reject? This was her opportunity to score with Andy Athletic at the Taenda Turnabout Dance, March 24. So many things to be done . . . car . . . corsage . . . reservations . . .

Summary of '73

AUGUST

The 1972-73 school year began on Friday, August 25. Sophomores were not only the new faces around East High School; Mr. Roy Troyer, principal, was also an addition. Several changes had been made with the administration. Each class had its own office, coordinator, and counselor. This was the year school began at 8:00 and the students were released for an hour lunch. The sophomores were not allowed to pick their teachers at registration; but were given first choice of classes, to the dismay of some seniors.

SEPTEMBER

The school year got well underway with the first football game on September 8, against Douglas County. Jeff Scheurmann, president of Student Senate held the first meeting on September 23.

OCTOBER

The first big social event of the year was Homecoming, October 13. Something new added was the wienie roast, held at Lions Park. This function was initiated to replace the bonfire held in previous years. Other events of the occasion were an assembly, a parade, a football game and a dance. "Cartoons" was the theme. The year 1972-73 was also the year that cheerleaders were elected for the different sports, allowing 15 girls the opportunity to cheer. On October 16th, the first cheerleader elections were held for wrestling, swimming and basketball. Breaking the monotony of classes, Planning Days were held on October 17. This day was set aside to help familiarize the juniors and seniors with the colleges and universities in the area. An assembly was provided by the Navy Glee Club on October 18. The last football game was against Central on October 31. Thus, the month of October passed ending the football season and cross country. The cross country team finished with second in state.

NOVEMBER

Girls' sports started going full speed ahead with the Girls' Volleyball Team. On November 4, the team won the district tournament and continued on to state on November 11th. Key Club Ball, one of the two formal events of the year was held at Little America on November 10th. The theme was "King Henry the Eighth." The senior class play, Dark of the Moon was held November 18-19. The play was a fantasy dealing with witches and the occult. The week of November 12-19, the Exchange Club journeyed to the wilds of Kiel, Wisconsin. Traveling by bus, the group consisted of juniors and seniors. This group was spurred on by their valiant leader (?), Bob Strasheim. Chaperoning the club were Judy Enquist and Don Morris. It would not be until April 23-27 that Kiel students would discover Cheyenne, Wyoming truly does exist. November was broken intermittently with vacations. First was IOTA which was followed by Thanksgiving. November was well enjoyed.

DECEMBER

December 1 was the date the wrestling and swimming teams began their well-founded attempt at victory. The East High Speech officially began their competition with the Harrison High Invitational Speech Meet at Colorado Springs. This was the first of approximately 12 meets throughout the school year. Coached by the illustrious Jim Albro, the team sought after and found success at many Colorado and Wyoming meets. As the season to be jolly approached, Taendas set up a tree in the lobby and many rooms were bright with festive cheer. To send off the holidays and end the 1972 school year East High saw its first Christmas "Bash". The event was co-sponsored by Student Senate and the Senior Class. Student Senate provided the idea and the muscle, while the Senior Class provided the money. Presumably, it replaced the sophomore reception which was not held. Thus, ended the 1972 school year.

JANUARY

School resumed on Tuesday, January 2. The beginning of the end for the seniors occurred when they were measured for caps and gowns on January 9. Orders for announcements soon followed. Mid-January found many students cramming for semester tests and trying desperately to complete term papers as the first semester drew to a close, on January 20. January 27 was the end of the war in Vietnam. After 12 years of fighting, the U.S. involvement was ended, and peace was no longer a dream, but a reality.

FEBRUARY

After 16 swim meets the East High Fins ventured forth to Casper on February 23 for the state swim meet. The wrestlers were also in Casper for the state wrestling meet. (Casper is a very popular place.) Even though the weather fluctuated between spring and winter, Winter Sports Festival was celebrated on February 17 with a dance as the main event.

MARCH

A bit of variety was experienced during the mini-fair held on March 15. Courses such as hobbies and crafts were offered to students, by teachers and people of the community. State Basketball Tournament commenced March 15, in Laramie and continued through March 17. The Future Farmers of America Convention was held in Cheyenne on March 22-24. The East High Speech Team proceeded to Greeley on March 23 for the NFL District Tournament. With the theme of "Alice in Wonderland", Taendas held their annual turnabout dance on March 24. Another giant step for women's lib (?). Monday, March 24, was the first meet for the track team.

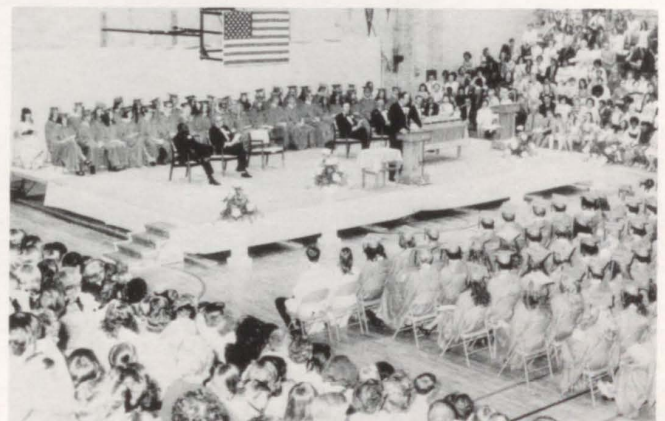

APRIL

As the school year began to wane, it seemed that East High would still continue next year, the nominating convention for school offices was held on April 11. The elections were held April 18. The final speech fling of the year was the State Meet held at Casper College. Math students "set" out to win when they participated faithfully in the state Math Contest on April 17. With the coming of Easter was also the coming of vacation. School was out from April 19 until April 23. The tone of April 26 and 27 was that of the Music Festival. April 28 was the date chosen for the first AF-ROTC Military Ball. Finishing off girls' sports for the year was the Girls' State Track Meet at Lander.

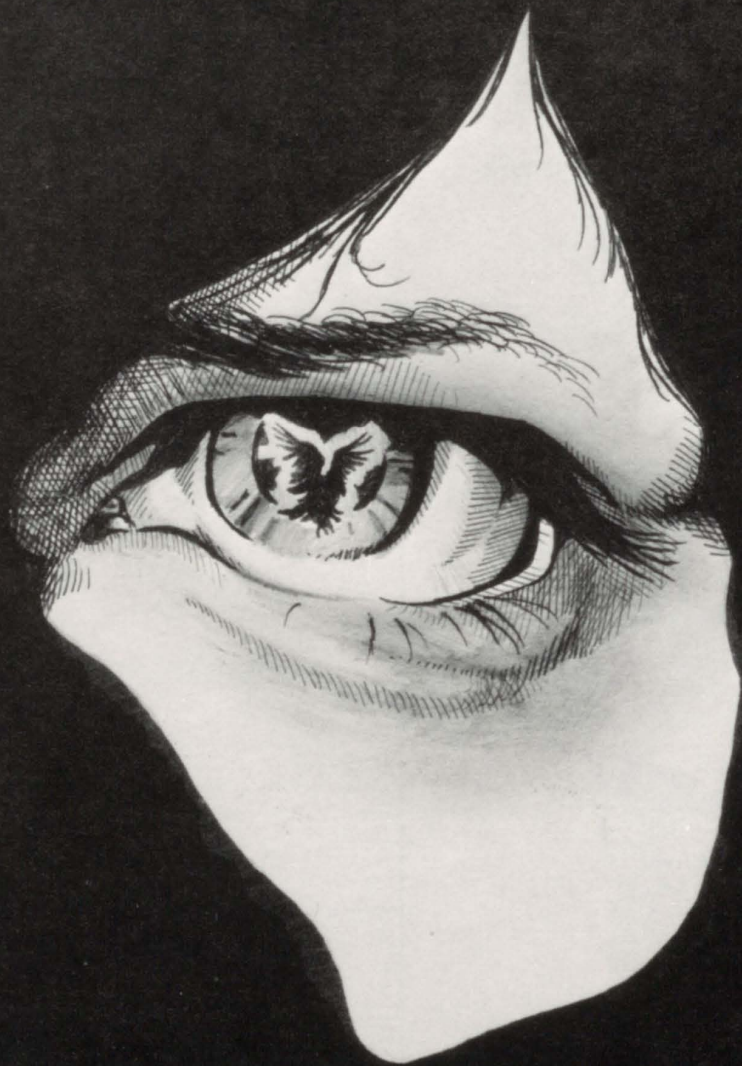

MAY

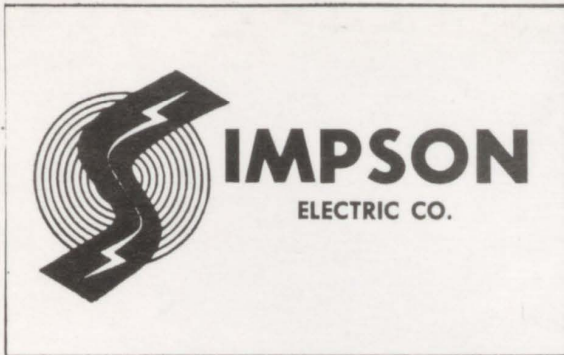

The last major social event of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom held on May 12, at the Hitching Post. For a final run to victory, the East High Track team ventured to state on May 18-19. With mixed emotions, the seniors' last official school day was May 18, 1973. Baccalaureate was held on May 20. Thursday, May 24 the class of 1973 stepped up to receive their diplomas. Three years at East High School was now something to be marked a memory. That night the traditional Senior All-Night Party was held. For junior and sophomores, the 1972-1973 school year ended May 31.

CULTURAL REVOLUTION

Music meets technology. An upheaval in music instruction. Down with short-tempered, long-winded teachers. Down with hours of oppressive practice. Down with years of lessons. Roger Williams International Music Centers is putting the simple joy back into music for men, women and children. Learn guitar, piano or organ. The teacher is a computer; the method's rapid and rewarding. You'll play from the first lesson. After 26 weeks you'll play, read and enjoy music as though you had toiled under the pre-revolutionary methods for 3 years. And all this learning takes place with far less redistribution of your capital than the old guard approach. Come in and be won over by a free mini-lesson.

I live in high country in Rocky cathedrals that reach to the sky . . .
And all those who see me and all who believe in me share in the freedom I feel when I fly.

Come dance with the west wind and touch on the mountain tops, sail o'er the canyons and up to the stars.
And reach for the heavens and hope for the future
And all that we can be and not what we are.

adapted from the "Eagle and the Hawk"
by John Denver and Mike Taylor
