

“Holy Ghost Procession”

Lowell Connector - Back Central Street Community

Artist: Tom Gill (Collectable Postcard - July 2003)

Dear Friend:

Enterprise Bank commissioned local artist, Tom Gill to paint a scene capturing the essence of the "Holy Ghost Procession" in an area in Lowell very near and dear to George Duncan, our Chairman/CEO's heart. His depiction is characterized through the intensity of color via vigorous brushwork and a bold mass of execution. The original artwork is in the bank lobby at 430 Gorham Street in Lowell, and brightens the day of those in the neighborhood who experience a "Bank with a View." Our painting is a permanent display, and the general public is welcome to view the Gill Exhibit during regular banking hours. Please stop by and share in the spirit of this special event honoring the lives of the Lowell Connector-Back Central Street community.
