(Who's Who)

GEORGE DETMOLD(Director) has been active for over 20 years in all phases of theater work-directing, writing, acting, and television. Under his direction the College Theater at Gallaudet, where he is Dean, gained national recognition when the Garroway TV program "Today" presented the Gallaudet deaf actors' performance of scenes from Shakespeare. Dr. Detmold is currently working on the formation of a theater for the deaf, in which plays will be performed by deaf actors using sign language.

MAXINE BARRITT(Georgie Elgin) This "country girl" is scarcely a bucolic type, but funny things happen in casting! Now President of the Players, Maxine made her local debut several years ago as the Cockney maid in Ladies in Retirement, and has appeared since in a variety of roles in All My Sons, Heaven Forbid, The Fresh Season(as the aged crone with the cane, in case you didn't recognize her!)

Maxine's most recent play was Romanoff and Juliet. She's also done sets, publicity, etc

CHARLES OFENSTEIN(Frank Elgin) has the longest list of local productions to his credit: Suspect, Affairs of State, All My Sons, The Gypsy in Me, Heaven Forbid, Night Must Fall, and The Youngest Shall Ask. He was seen here most recently as the unforgettable Colonel Barstow in Not In The Book. He has directed All That Glitters, by Marty Borrer and Jim King, for the Mens Club of the Warner Memorial Church in Kensington, and he directs the Christmas Pageant at the Garrett Park School annually. In other words, he is willing, and able, to do almost anything on-, or back-, stage - as long as it doesn't interfere with his bowling schedule!

BERNARD MILLER(Bernie Dodd) a newcomer to the Players, is no newcomer to the stage. A veteran of the Hedgerow Theater in Philadelphia, the Curtain Time in Ridgewood, New Jersey, and Poets' Theater in Cambridge, Massachusetts, as well as the Mountain Playhouse in Montreal, he has done several plays with American University, where he is on the faculty, and was seen locally in Kensington's recent, highly successful, The Lark. MARIE MILLER (Nancy Stoddard), his wife, has also been active in most of the above enterprises. Welcome, Millers!

JOHN SCHLETER(Phil Cook) was seen as Lieutenant Brendel in Papa Is All and George Atlas in The Break of the String. He has been unseen in every play we've done in the past five or six years, running the light board backstage. Nice to have him out front for a change!

HARRY DUBINSKIS(Larry) is another old hand. Harry was in My Three Angels, Heaven Forbid, The Break of the String, Papa Is All, and Romanoff and Juliet. He directed The Mousetrap. Harry tours annually with the Latvian Theater in America, a professional group that presents Latvian plays for Latvian-speaking audiences all over the U.S.

RUSSELL PHINNEY(Paul Unger) is making his debut. Russell, who lives in Parkside, thinks it was inevitable sooner or later-it's in the blood! His father was a magician; his wife is a radio and TV script writer, and his daughter, (continued)

ROBERTA PHINNEY, is stage manager for The Country Girl.

JAN FODRAINE(Ralph), is a newcomer both to the Players and the U. S. (he came here four months ago) but not to the theater. Jan, who lives in Rockville, has acted in and directed plays by Chekhov, Pirandello, Girardoux, and Shakespeare.
