foreword.

The life of Portland High School is simply a mirror of the lives of its students. We see the development of character, the forming of personalities, and the growth of leadership. All of these factors and more make Portland High School what it is.

As we look into the mirror of the life at Portland High, we see how our own lives are influenced and how we influence others. Aside from the studies, extracurricular activities do much in forming character, personalities, and leadership.

This annual is a pictorial record of our triumphs and failures and the forces that make us what we are—the beginning that will progress into what we shall become.

Principal's Message •

As man traverses the span of his life, he notes his progress by certain outstanding events. You have earned the right to participate in one such event, the graduation exercises of Portland High School.

As you leave the phase of your life that has been largely centered about public education, may your recollection of Portland High be most enjoyable. As you prepare to enter the next epoch of progress, may the changes wrought by us in you be sufficient to carry you to even greater heights of success and prosperity than was your original ambition.

As a true measure of success, I offer to you who are departing and also to you who are left, this criteria: Where I have been is better by my having been there.

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Club, along with their sponsor, Miss Elisabeth Burnett, is doing a very good job of keeping an orderly library. The members work one hundred hours each year, for which they receive a pin and membership in the Middle Tennessee Student Library Assistants Organization, and for which they earn a trip to the annual convention. By first-hand experience the members learn a great deal about the library that they would not otherwise have the opportunity to know.

PURPLE HERALD STAFF

This year's Purple Herald has been more interesting because of the extra articles. The school paper keeps the students informed of the events that have happened in the different clubs. The sponsor in charge of the Typing II class, which prints the paper, is Mrs. Jack Pruett.
