

Roxanne's a friend to United Way

Roxanne Norman, administrative assistant in custodial maintenance, firmly believes it is better to give than to receive. Though she has faced medical and financial challenges this year, she's not discouraged from increasing her gift to United Way.

"I try to increase every year because I get a raise, too!" she said. "United Way agencies help one out of every three people in the Williamsburg area. I benefited by the ambulatory services and my husband attended Rita Welsh Adult Skills.

"I'm a patriot donor but my goal is to eventually be a burgess donor." Patriot donors give more than $250 per year and burgess donors give $500 or more.

You can be a patriot donor, too. Giving is easy through payroll deduction...that comes to almost $10 per pay period or $5 per week. Or, you can choose to give in one lump sum.

More than friends, more than ever, the United Way needs you.

Moving up, moving in

Mary Keeling has been named manager of the audiovisual library. For eight years she was architectural librarian.

John Hallowell will assume general management responsibility for the Williamsburg Lodge, in addition to his duties as vice president and general manager of the Williamsburg Inn.

John came to Colonial Williamsburg in 1984 as resident manager of the Inn. He was promoted to general manager in 1988 and became a vice president of CWHPI that year.

"Felicity" introduction, tea parties to bring 10,000 to Lodge

"Felicity's Elegant Tea Party," an event created by the Pleasant Company of Middleton, Wis., will bring 10,800 people—mostly girls and their families—to the Williamsburg Lodge this month.

The guests will take part in a tea party in the Virginia Room, watch an historical fashion show and see the play, "Tea For Felicity." Each part of the Pleasant Company program will teach the girls something about Williamsburg life in 1774.

It will be presented for 450 guests, three times a day, August 15-18 and 22-25. The performances are sold out.

"Felicity's Elegant Tea Party" introduces Pleasant Company's newest doll, Felicity Merriman. She is the fourth in Pleasant's "American Girls Collection®."

Each is set in a different historical time period and location. Felicity is a fictional girl from the Williamsburg of 1774.

Pleasant creates a series of story books, a doll and appropriate clothing and accessories for each character. The books are sold nationally in retail bookstores. Other items in the line are available through Pleasant Company's catalog.

Follow the Yellow Brick Road to Health & Safety Fair

What do Dorothy, the Cowardly Lion, the Scarecrow, the Tin Man and Toto have in common with you? Imagination, courage, compassion, intelligence, and loyalty are traits desired and admired everywhere.

Use your imagination when you come to the Health & Safety Fair October 17, 2 - 7 p.m. at Commonwealth Hall.

Do you see the "Yellow Brick Road?" Use your intelligence—take advantage of the FREE screenings and tests offered to make your life healthier. It takes courage to face the unknown, so ask those questions you've wondered about and have your finger pricked so your blood can be screened for cholesterol and diabetes.

Show interest in and compassion for your co-workers; remind them of the Fair and bring them along! Be loyal to your family; bring them and encourage their participation. Come to the Health & Safety Fair—take care of you and yours.
