Candidates Listed For July 11 Primary Election In City and Counties

Several key contests for political office will be decided when local citizens go to the polls to vote in the Democratic Primary Elections scheduled for Tuesday, July 11, in the City of Williamsburg, James City County and York County. Since so few of the candidates will be opposed in the General Election next November, this primary presents, in many cases, the only opportunity for Democratic electors to make a selection. All CWers who are eligible to vote are urged to do so.

Since the polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m., most employees will have an opportunity to cast a ballot either before or after work. In cases where this is impossible, time off from work will be given. If such a condition exists, you should notify your supervisor in advance so that necessary arrangements can be made.

In the race for Commonwealth's Attorney for Williamsburg and James City County, incumbent W. L. Person, Jr., is being challenged by Jess Jackson. Lois H. Morecock is running against incumbent Clerk of Circuit Court for the City, Juliette C. Clothier.

Running unopposed in the upcoming primary are Russell M. Carneal, member of the Virginia House of Delegates representing Williamsburg and the two neighboring counties; Archie M. Brenegan, sheriff of Williamsburg and James City County; William A. Morecock, treasurer of Williamsburg and James City County; W. Leonard Goff, commissioner of Revenue for James City County.

The results of the July 11 primary will determine who will fill three contested seats on the James City County Board of Supervisors. In Powhatan District, Charles W. Richards, the incumbent, faces a challenge from Howard C. Sawyer. In Berkeley District Junius H. Moody is running against incumbent Fred M. Flanary. In Jamestown District there are three contestants seeking the seat vacated by Murray Loring. The three are: William A. Molineux, Emma Mae Newcomb and Dudley L. S. Woods. William F. Pettengill is running unopposed for the Stonehouse District seat on the Board of Supervisors.

In the York County race for the State Senate, incumbent E. Almer Ames, Jr. is being challenged by William E. Fears and Herman "Hard-times" Hunt. In the contest for

Sons And Daughters Of Employees Win Many Awards In Local Schools

The children of CWers stood prominently among those who won awards for outstanding achievement in many fields in the local high schools at the close of the academic year.

James Cooke, Jr., who works as a casual bus boy at the Inn, and whose father is a shipping clerk and packer at Craft House, won the coveted Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Scholarship Award at Berkeley High School. The grant, worth $1,100 a year and renewable for four years upon maintenance of satisfactory grades, was begun in 1950 by John D. Rockefeller, III in memory of his mother. James was also given the student-athlete of the year award by the National Honor Society. He plans to enter Howard University in the fall and will major in engineering.

There were 17 other "CW" youngsters who received special recognition at Berkeley. Tiny Jackson, daughter of Inn head bus girl Tiny Jackson, won a dramatics award and an award for band service. Butcher John Wesley Morman's two sons both received citations; John, Jr. won the American Legion Medal and Donald received an art award.

Gregory Ferguson, son of Philip

Ferguson, assistant chef at the Inn, won an award for creative writing, and Ernestine Wallace, daughter of Lodge bellman Alton Wallace, won an award for band service. Sylvester Jackson, whose father is Inn bellman James Jackson, Jr., won a baseball scholarship to Hampton Institute. Iris and Shirlene Judkins, daughters of Inn room service headwaiter Thess Judkins, were each presented with National Honor Society Scholarships and, in addition, Iris won an award in world history.

Other winners of National Honor Society Scholarships include Thomas Street, whose mother, Doris Mae, is Lodge coffee shop captain; Robert L. Pritchett, Jr., whose father, Robert, Sr., is Williamsburg Theatre janitor; and Lester Lewis, Jr., whose father is a P&E warehouse clerk. In addition, Lester, Jr. won an award in world history. Doris Mae Street's son, Dwight, also received a world history award and Robert Pritchett's daughter, Sandra, won a citation in typing. Clarissa Parker, daughter of BM laborer Lit Parker, won a typing award and an award in world history.

Maxine Johnson, whose guardian is Inn dining room captain John Stansbury, received a mathematics award. Patricia Vines, whose mother, Audrey, is a bus girl at the Inn, won a band service award as did Terry Bowman, son of Russell Bowman, Craft House stockroom manager.

CW children who were award winners at James Blair High School all "belong" to the AC&M division. Susie Patrick, daughter of BM director Granville Patrick, won the Eunice L. Hall Scholarship, and James Best, son of MO&M serviceman John Best, was named the top Spanish student of the year and received the Exchange Club Scholarship.

Four children of CWers were elected to the National Honor Society at James Blair. They are: Christy Mayfield, daughter of MO&M assistant director Fred Mayfield; Randy Parker, son of Landscape architect Don Parker; Grace Ann Keyser, daughter of superintendent of Bus and Coach Operations Jake Keyser; and Linda Raynes, daughter of Everett Raynes, Landscape Maintenance superintendent.

At Walsingham Academy, Mary Jane Eaton, whose father, Alden, is director of LC&M, won honors for standing first scholastically in the junior class.

Three CW children received special honors at York High School.

"National Geographic" Plans In-Depth Study Of Colonial City

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC magazine is now working on an in-depth article about Williamsburg with a tentative publication date set for the spring of 1968.

GEOGRAPHIC photographer, Jim Amos, arrived in town June 11, and will be here for approximately one month to create a complete color portfolio of photographs for the article. Joseph R. Judge of the magazine's senior editorial staff has already made two trips to the colonial city and will visit here frequently in the coming months. The picture editor, David Arnold, also is planning several visits to Williamsburg to familiarize himself with the Historic Area.

Many CWers may remember the 49-page article, "Williamsburg: Its College and Its Cinderella City," which the NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC featured in its October, 1954 issue.

CWers Invited To Attend Special Preview Of "The Common Glory"

Every CWer and his or her guest has been invited to attend one of two preview performances of this year's Common Glory in the Lake Matoaka Amphitheatre. The special performances will be held Saturday, June 24, and Sunday, June 25, at 8:40 p.m. CWers must show their employee passes to gain admittance free of charge for themselves and their guests.

"The Common Glory" begins its twentieth season here with its first public performance for 1967 on Monday, June 26. The Pulitzer prize winning outdoor drama by Paul Green will be seen here nightly except Sundays through September 2.

This year, the cast of the "Glory" and the hundreds who travel miles to see it can for the first time be sure that "the show will go on" no matter what the weather. Plans have been made to move the performance to Phi Beta Kappa Hall at the College when the weather is inclement.

Patricia Colley, daughter of Costume Shop seamstress Alma Colley, received a national music award, the Yorktown Women's Club Scholarship and a four-year grant from Hampton Institute. Karen Morgan, whose

MULTILITH ROOM - Ruth Rowe

EMILY GARRETT and her husband, Tom, spent several days on the Eastern Shore celebrating their second wedding anniversary. We are glad to have CAPPIE ADAMS back with us. VALDA ANDERSON spent part of her vacation relaxing at home. Your reporter enjoyed a weekend visit from her niece from Richmond. We spent the weekend skiing and boating.

UPHOLSTERY SHOP - Anne Amos

NANCY SEALEY will travel to Chicago the week of the Fourth in order to visit her husband, who is presently stationed at Great Lakes, Ill. CLARA and JIM BURNETTE entertained weekend guests recently. We hope RUBY JONES'S husband will soon be well and out of the hospital. VIRGINIA ANDERSON left on June 16 for a week's vacation at Myrtle Beach.

ARCHAEOLOGY - Margo Mitchell

The department congratulates R. NEIL FRANK on his appointment to the position of archaeologist, and LYMAN L. PETERS, JR. on his promotion to Conservator. NORMA LINKOUS joined our staff as a clerk typist on May 8.

We welcome back into the department ALASTAIR MACDONALD, DANIEL LOUDEN, THOMAS BANKS, and DOUGLAS JOHNSON, as well as our new summer employees, MARY CARLISLE HUMELSINE, JOHN FRENCH, BENNIE BROWN, and MICHAEL PARKER, all of whom are working on the Geddy site excavation. We say good-bye to Janet Higdon and Glenn G. Kirk and wish them all good luck.

COSTUME SHOP - Kate Rock

A hearty welcome to our summer casuals: LUCILLE MILLER, VIRGINIA PAGE, LAURA HOGGE, JANET PORTER, MARGARET STONE and STEPHANIE GIANGRANDE. We were sorry to say goodbye to Christine May, whose husband has been transferred to Oakland, Calif.

Recent vacations were enjoyed by ODELL HOGGE, LYNN NEELY and EVELYN ANDERSON.

Congratulations to the daughters of Costume Shop personnel who are June graduates. They are: Patricia Colley, York High, daughter of ALMA COLLEY; Laura Hogge, Gloucester High, daughter of ODELL HOGGE; Pat Piland, James Blair High, daughter of EDITH PILAND; and Doris E. Parker, Virginia State College, daughter of DORIS EPPS.

AARFAC - Betty Wiggins

Our wishes for a speedy recovery go to DOUGLAS CANADY's mother who is in the hospital. We hope that she will soon be feeling fine again.

JEAN HILDRETH attended her class reunion in Washington, D. C., and had a good time renewing old friendships and striking up some new ones. After her glowing report, your reporter was sorry she hadn't attended her class reunion in Hampton.

TOM ARMSTRONG and PETER BROWN spent four days in Toronto attending the AAM Conference, where Peter participated in a panel discussion on history exhibits. Needless to say, a good time was had by all.

The staff of the Folk Art Collection has very much enjoyed putting up the new summer show, "Toys and Joys of Childhood."

BUILDING CONSTRUCTION - Cathia Nixon

We welcome our new employees L. G. LARSON, V. H. PAGE, W. R. EDWARDS, JOHN BROOKS, JR., ERNEST DAY, and J. A. TURNER. We are all happy to see JAMES BURNETTE back on the job after an extended illness.

Carlton Hardy, son of BRUCE HARDY, recently received his Master's Degree from William and Mary. Architect BILL PHILLIPS is "on loan" to the Construction department, acting as troubleshooter and gaining experience in the field.

LANDSCAPE - E. J. Raynes

We welcome the following men to the department: DeWITT ROGERS, RICHARD JONES, HYMAN RUFFIN, OBEDIAH GRESHAM, JOHANNES HEUVEL, DANIEL McREYNOLDS, ALBERT PIGGOTT, RICHARD DUNN, TIMOTHY BERRY, THOMAS ROANE, JR., and JAMES F. JONES.

"POP" JONES is working hard on his new home. Aurise Eaton, daughter of ALDEN and Irene EATON, visited with her family June 14th. BERT HARGRAVE is a proud grandfather to Gail Belinda Faris, born May 22. DICK MAHONE spoke to the Seaboard Medical Association Meeting at Nag's Head on "Williamsburg Gardens" June 16th. Max Hamrick, Jr., son of MAX HAMRICK, graduated from James Blair High School June 7.

Back from vacations are SHIRLEY DILLARD, ROBERT McGILVARY, DORA PERDUE, RUFUS SANDIDGE, LUCILLE ALLEN, NICK JOHNSON and SAM THOMAS. ROBERTA MINKINS spent her vacation in Norfolk visiting her sister.

Get well wishes go to ROBERT CANADY's mother, Lucille, who is in a Richmond hospital.

DORA PERDUE has as her house guest her son, Ronnie, who is in the Army Reserve and stationed in Texas.

PERSONNEL RELATIONS - Diane Rhodes

The warm weather finally arrived and Personnel has been out enjoying it: COATES CARTER returned this week from a relaxing vacation at the beach and at home in Martinsville; your reporter and husband recently enjoyed a pleasant weekend at her parents' home in Reston, Va.; MOLLY CONVERSE and husband have just started off on a camping trip to Expo '67 and will then go sailing in the Block Island Race off Rhode Island.

JIMMY FULLER is warned to stay away from further bareback horse-riding demonstrations - one broken ankle is enough for one year!

MO&M - Mildred Sprinkel

We extend a welcome to the following new employees in the MO&M department: COY E. NOBLES, ROBERT BARNETT, WILLIAM SMITH and WILLIAM BYRD, who are working with the field forces; GORDON MARTIN, with the Electronics section; and AL S. JOHNSON, who transferred from the Craft House to the Information Center Projection Booth.

ROYCE and Norma COTTINGHAM enjoyed a sight-seeing trip through the southern states, stopping off to visit their son, J. P., and wife in New Orleans. WARD RATCLIFFE, JR. visited his sister in Madison, Wis., on his vacation.

Our sympathy to FRANCIS HARPER on the death of his father, who lived in the Tappahannock area.

PURCHASING & ESTIMATING - Gloria Watkins

A belated but warm welcome to our two new employees. MADELINE FRANK has joined our office staff after working the past three years in Richmond, and LEON TUCKER has joined the warehouse staff after working in Newport News. We were sorry to have Mary Willard leave us, but know she will be happier working closer to home.

ED WATKINS traveled to Nashville, Tenn., to visit his mother. RANDY WILSON tried his talent at fishing, but we hear his luck was bad. TOMMY and Josephine BRUMMER left for a trip to Europe and the latest report was from Paris where they were enjoying good food and museums.

We are glad that CHARLES THOMPSON is out of the hospital and recuperating at home and we send wishes for his speedy recovery.

PUBLIC RELATIONS - Anne Campana

HUGH DeSAMPER completed two weeks Naval Reserve training in Washington. NORM BEATTY's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Beatty, came to Williamsburg for a short visit with their son. Your reporter's son, Ronald, graduated from Walsingham Academy and plans to enter Christopher Newport College in the fall.

INTERPRETATION - Frances Turney

ED and Alice ALEXANDER attended the joint meeting of the American Association of Museums and the Canadian Museums Association in Toronto recently. On their return trip they spent a day at Expo and reported favorably on the exhibits they saw there. JIM and Cathy SHORT also attended the Museums Association meeting in Toronto and paid a visit to Upper Canada Village Marine Museum located on Lake Ontario.

Cue Willis Tops
30th Year With CW

Cue Willis, Sr., bell captain at the Williamsburg Lodge, marked his thirtieth year of service here on June 16.

In 1937 Cue began working for Colonial Williamsburg as a bellman at the old Annex. In 1939 he transferred to the Lodge and was named to his current post there in 1948. As Lodge bell captain, Cue directs the staff of eight bellmen and is often the first person to greet guests staying there.

Cue and his wife, Viola, have three sons, one of whom, Lawrence, is a bellman at the Lodge with six years of service to his credit. Cue's sister, Carrie Butler, is a pantry helper at King's Arms Tavern with nearly 19 years of service with CW.

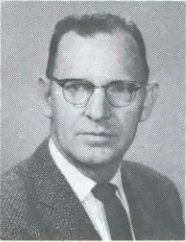

Active in First Baptist Church activities, Cue enjoys doing cabinet work, painting and drawing, and fishing.

O'Neal Takes On New Post In Addition To Paint Shop Responsibilities

John V. O'Neal, superintendent of CW's painting operations, has been named assistant to director of Building Maintenance Granville Patrick. John will divide his time between his Paint Shop duties and those of his new assignment.

He came to CW as a painter in 1949, was appointed Paint Shop foreman in 1951, became assistant superintendent of Painting in 1955 and superintendent in 1962 upon the retirement of Robert Webb.

He and his wife, Clara, who has been employed for more than ten years as the Goodwin Building switchboard operator, live in James City County. John is a past president of the Williamsburg Fire Department.

Bruce Hardy Marks
30th Anniversary Here

Construction superintendent Bruce Hardy celebrates his thirtieth service anniversary here on June 22.

Born in Hampton, Bruce worked in the construction field there and in Newport News and Richmond before joining CW as a carpenter. He progressed through various positions including those of carpenter overseer, carpenter foreman, and construction foreman, and was named to his current assignment as CW's construction superintendent in 1952.

In this position Bruce is responsible for the supervision of all construction projects including restoration, reconstruction and up-grading work. He directs CW's construction forces and coordinates activities with sub-contractors.

Bruce and his wife, Virginia, who works in the Reservation Office, live in a house which he built on Holly Road. They have two sons, Bruce, Jr., a West Point graduate living in Florida, and Carlton, who graduated from William and Mary and is now teaching in the York County school system.

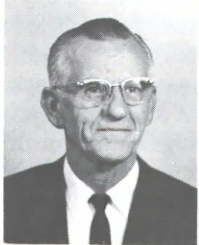

Bruce's hobbies include hunting, fishing and helping friends with the construction of their homes.

Archie White Tops
His 20th Anniversary

Archie M. White, Sr., maintenance carpenter in AC&M, topped his twentieth year of service here on June 9.

Since 1947, when he joined CW, Archie has been performing a variety of skilled carpentry tasks in the business areas, the restored and reconstructed residences, and in the exhibition buildings. A versatile craftsman, he may do everything from repairing a venetian blind, to building a door, and repairing antique wooden steps all in a day's time.

Archie and his wife, Evelyn, have a daughter and two sons, one of whom, Archie, Jr., has been employed in CW's Mechanical Operations and Maintenance department for 11 years. Archie is a member of Emmaus Baptist Church in Poquoson

Four CWers Celebrate
15 Years Of Service

but also celebrating service anniversaries recently were: Alfred Freeman, King's Arms Tavern cook, May 26; Goldie Thomas, dining room cashier, June 12.

Arthur Ward Becomes
Thirty-Year Man

Arthur P. Ward, Woodworking Shop foreman, celebrated his thirtieth service anniversary with Colonial Williamsburg on June 5.

"Dick," as he is known to his many friends and associates throughout the organization, came to CW in 1937 as a construction carpenter, a post he held until he took military leave from 1941 to 1946 to serve with the Army Air Force. When he returned to CW in 1946, he began his career with the Woodworking Shop and was named foreman of the operation in 1950.

Over the years, Dick has supervised and assisted with the building of the Landau, the cannon carriages, ox carts, and many of the rustic, hand-hewn wheelbarrows and farm tools.

He and his wife, Josephine, have a son, Chip, who attended VMI and a daughter, Inez Marie, who is attending James Blair High School. Dick's brother, Robert, is foreman of CW's Sheetmetal Shop with over 15 years of service here.

A member of Williamsburg Methodist Church, Dick is fond of all outdoor sports and particularly enjoys fishing.
