Everything Has Its Time

To everything there is a season,
A time for every purpose under heaven:

A time to be born,
And a time to die;
A time to plant,
And a time to pluck what is planted;
A time to kill,
And a time to heal;
A time to break down,
And a time to build up;
A time to weep,
And a time to laugh;
A time to mourn,
And a time to dance;
A time to cast away stones,
And a time to gather stones;
A time to embrace,
And a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to gain,
And a time to lose;
A time to keep,
And a time to throw away;
A time to tear,
And a time to sew;
A time to keep silence,
And a time to speak;
A time to love,
And a time to hate;
A time of war,
And a time of peace.

Ecclesiastes 3:3 - 3:8

The times are changing

by Suzy Robinson

All over the world things are changing, some for the better and some for the worse, but even here in Nederland, Texas, things do not stay the same forever. We, the Pilot Staff, wanted to show just what kinds of changes are happening around us and explain some of the past examples.

In each time period there is given a name for that specific era. For instance, the '60s was labeled a time of rebellion. With the hippy cults just forming and so much experimenting with drugs going on, it's no wonder why people called it a rebellion. The '70s was called a time of liberation. During this time, women were beginning to speak out about wanting more freedom. Everyone wanted to be liberated. The '80s was called a time of indulgence, or also the "me generation". With all the spending that went on it's no wonder. Everyone wanted something at all times and would spend anything to get it. Now we come to the '90s. The '90s has been called a time of change. Everywhere around us things are changing. For example, you can look in the news and see many changes occurring every day. But you can also look around your hometown and high school and see many changes occurring.

Some such changes are the fact that we have a new assistant principal, Mrs. Harrell. She started a new tradition of having a big Christmas dinner for all of the student body. We also have a new head coach, Larry Neumann, who lead our football team to the playoffs for the first time in five years.

But also, and more importantly, the attitudes towards more controversial issues, such as AIDS, Homosexuals, and violence in our towns, are changing. People are becoming more aware of the problems that surround these issues. Maybe, for the first time in history, people won't be treated like outcasts for something they can not control.

A Time For... Spirit rocks the dome

by Erin Taylor

Spirit was alive every Friday at 2:45 during the 1993 Football season. Not only did the Cheerleaders, Flags, Twirlers, Westernaires, and Band perform with their usual dazzling spirit the Bucketheads came back with a bang and brought with them a contagious spirit that spread over the teachers and student body. The teachers and student body participated in various skits which consisted of tricycle races, pop-the-balloon contests, and as a final skit and pep rally memory the seniors re-in-acted all of the wonderful memories for the 1993 winning football season.

A Time For... Fire ignites excitement

by Erin Taylor &
Suzy Robinson

The spirit was alive at NHS as the bonfire of '93 was lit. The bonfire began the 1993 Homecoming festivities. Everyone felt the excitement as the cheerleaders cheered and the band played for the westerners, twirlers, and flags. "It was great to see all the students excited with school spirit," said senior Kristi Brooks. The air was filled with excitement as the bulldog supporters banged pots and pans and rang cowbells in the annual Pot and Pan Parade. The parade began in front of the police station on Boston Ave. and went to the site of the bonfire. The wood from the bonfire was gathered by NHS students and piled up in the parking lot at the stadium. The wood came from a house that NHS students tore down by accident. Way to go guys!

Bulldogs burn the Reservation

by Brad Peyres & Corey Metts

"Whoof, Dey it is!" That's what 8,000 cold Bulldog fans were yelling throughout this Mid-County war. For the first time in five years, the Indians were the underdogs, and first year head coach Larry Neumann would take his dogs to the Reservation and hopefully break the five year losing streak started in 1988 by the Indians at Bulldog Stadium.

The first quarter was scoreless and looked to be a very close game. With 8:05 left in the second quarter, Nederland answered first when junior quarterback Bryan Spell handed the ball over to senior tailback Ryan Menchaca who then trampled his way to the endzone to start the scoring attack. Just as the Bulldog fans sat back down, junior linebacker Chris Cadena intercepted a pass and ran in for another touchdown. Before halftime, the high powered Nederland offense would answer again when Brian Spell, the leading passer in district 24-4A, connected to senior receiver Greg Fleming. By halftime, the score was 20-0, and many of the Indian fans were leaving town.

The dogs scored the last touchdown during the third quarter to make the final score of 28-14. The final seconds were counted down by the Bulldog fans who went wild when the score board ran out of time. All of the players met in the middle of the field to celebrate their win. The varsity Bulldogs would eventually earn the title of 24-4A bi-district champs and would advance to the 4A play-offs to once again face the Silsbee Tigers.

Students want improvements

by Holly Johnston

Lights flashing, music blaring, and bodies swaying to the beat of the music set the scene for after game dances. The combination considered successful by many, fell flat for some.

"The dances were fun because there were lots of people there," said Junior Mikal Weaver. He was among many students who felt that the best thing about the dances was the chance to socialize with their friends.

"I think the after game dances were fun because many of my friends were there," said Sophomore Melissa Fletcher. Although getting together with friends is a blast, some students said the dances need improvements for next year.

"They need more decorations," said Junior Brian Nunnally.

Also, the students want a wider variety of music.

"They need to play more country music," said Sophomore Ricky Strickland. Junior Sommer Guidry said that the D.J.'s need to play more funky music.

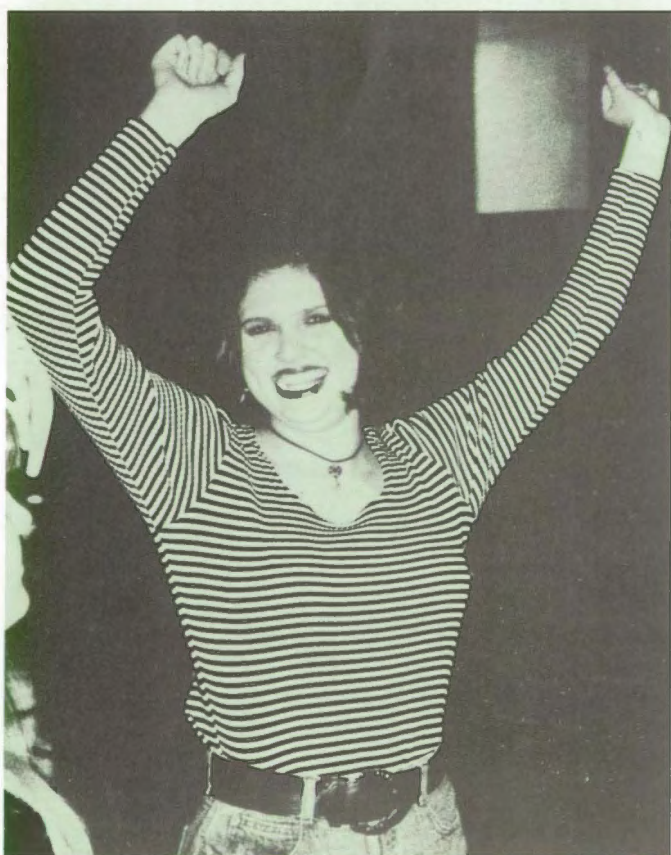

Some come to dance, some to watch, but others are there to entertain. There are several people who seem to be the most amusing dancers at the dances, but the one person who was mentioned most was Senior Jason Williams.

"Jason Williams is so hilarious to watch," said Junior Jamie Hartzog. Juniors Steve Singleton, Crystal Welch, and Senior Chris Meyer also had fans.

One thing is for sure, some dances were better than others.

"When we won our games people were in a better mood and had more fun," said Sophomore Shanna Teinert.

Powder puff was a big score

by Erin Taylor

The Powder Puff game was held on December 6, 1993, which turned out to be a cold, and wet Monday. Although the weather turned out to be less than pleasing the seniors were victorious as they won by a touchdown. The score was juniors 6, and seniors 13.

"The most memorable thing about Powder Puff was we finally won" said Senior The game was an imitation of a real football game so to make it complete James Martin, a senior was crowned Powder Puff Queen. "I was surprised," said James Martin, senior when he was chosen as the "lucky one."

Christmas spirit filled the air

by Erin Taylor

The 1993 Christmas parade took place on a cold and dreary Tuesday in December. The parade began at 4:30, December 7, on Boston Avenue. As the floats drifted, participants were concentrating on winning the float award. "As I was riding in the parade, my mind was on winning the award," said senior, Ryan Boudreaux. The large crowd of onlookers were waiting for candy to be thrown by clowns on motor bikes. Various organizations rode in trucks or on elaborate floats while others chose to walk or march to the music played by the Central and C.O. Middle School and Nederland High School bands.

A Time for TWIRP

Roles reversed at TWIRP

by Holly Johnston

As the sun set on this cool February night, the shy, dark-haired girl slowly walked up the path to her date's house, so that she could pick him up and their evening together could begin. Dates like this one, where the traditional male and female roles are reversed, were common on February 12. The woman is required to pay for her date's night out on this special occasion we all have come to know as TWIRP. The dance was sponsored by Key Club this year.

Some students felt the best thing about the dance was that the girls had to ask the guys out.

"I like it when girls ask the guys out because most likely the girls are going to have a date and they will be able to prepare for it ahead of time instead of at the last minute when the guys ask the girls out," said Senior Jennifer Voss.

Senior Daniel Turner agrees with Voss that it is best when the girls ask the guys out, but his reasons were a little different.

"I like it when the girls ask the guys out because the date is free and the girls have to decide where we are going," said Turner.

Times are changing

by Erin Taylor

The world is always changing around us, and there is little or nothing that we can do to stop the changes whether they are good or bad.

As the years pass by Americans seem to be shocking their fellow neighbors by the heinous unusual crimes that they commit. Lorena Bobbit, The Menendez brothers, and Tonya Harding were all thought to be the average citizen until something snapped inside them. Whether it was driven by desire to be the best, fear of ongoing abuse, a need to be free from those who hurt them, or greed. Lorena Bobbit does not seem to gather much sympathy from either sex. The general consensus seems to be that Lorena Bobbit was abused, but the measures she took were uncivilized.

"I think Lorena Bobbit deserved to be sent to a mental institution rather than jail because anyone who would do something that sick needs help," said Sophomore Stephanie Stafford. Even though the opinions varied on how she should be punished most believed she was however sexually abused.

"I believe Lorena Bobbit was sexually abused because no one would be that sick unless something had happened to them," said Senior Jennifer Henslee. Abuse seems to be the topic of most newspapers, radio, and television programs. The Menendez brothers were another questioned case of abuse. The boys were accused of killing their parents for their inheritance; however, the brothers yelled abuse and perhaps that hollered loud enough because there has already been two hung juries.

"I believe the Menendez brothers were abused, but not to the extent that they say they were," said Freshman Melissa Lee.

Michael Jackson who moonwalked through the hearts of Americans and their children in the 80's has been accused of molesting children and paying their parents "hush money." Many remain faithful to the star.

"I do not believe he is guilty because he always sings about children and helps them," said Sophomore Dacia Landry.

As 1993 wound up President Clinton finished his first year in presidency and this raised the question "Did he have a successful first year?". Again the opinions vary.

"I do not think his first year was successful because he has not accomplished what he said he would," said Senior Cindy Lee.

America experienced heartache during 1993 with the Midwest floods, a deadly train wreck, and plundering snowstorms, as well as, earthquakes, and the trouble with giving aid in Somalia and Bosnia.

Stephanie Stafford

Dacia Landry

Jennifer Henslee

In the summer of 1993 the Midwest was hit by the worst flood in American history. As an example of how bad it was, Des Moines logged more than 32 inches by the end of July compare to a normal 18.7 inches.

Judge Ruth Bader Ginsburg became the 107th Supreme Court Justice on August 10, 1993. She is the second woman to be confirmed to the Supreme Court and declared in her acceptance speech that, "the times are changing."

The floods in the Midwest did not end in the summer of 1993, but they continued into the winter. During the winter, when unusually heavy snow fell, there were no midwinter thaws. So, the snow melted rapidly as spring arrived, enough to cause scattered record flooding.

Sheik Omar Abdel-Rahman was charged on August 25, 1993 with being the mastermind in the plot to blow up the World Trade Center, which was bombed on February 26.

Because of the two-year Civil War in Bosnia, as many as 200,000 people are dead or missing. A north Bosnian town was described as "a shattered town of battered people," by a U.N. observer.

Pictures of starving children and a captured American serviceman along with many others symbolizes the difficulty that the United Nations has had with coping with Somalia which has descended into feudalism.

An Amtrak train hurtled off a bridge into a bayou in Alabama after a barge had previously struck and weakened the bridge. The incident caused the death of 47 people, but there were 159 survivors.

Seniors Party at Pleasure Island

by Erin Taylor

There was sand, volleyball, swimming, mud wrestling, and tons of food! Where you ask? The Bahama Beach Club - Pleasure Island. The Parents of the graduating Senior, Class of 1994 threw a party in their honor. It was a day of all-you-could relax, swim, and eat for free. The day's activities began at 11:00 and ended about 6:00. The memorable occasion took place on May 14, 1994, a hot and sunny day. Many Seniors chose to swim, while others preferred to play volleyball, layout, or wrestle around in the mud.

Tonight a curtain closes,

And we take a final bow,

To the four years we have spent

Which are slowly ending now.

But let time stop this evening,

For just an hour or two

As we recall the memories

That seem, right now, too few.

And gathered all together,

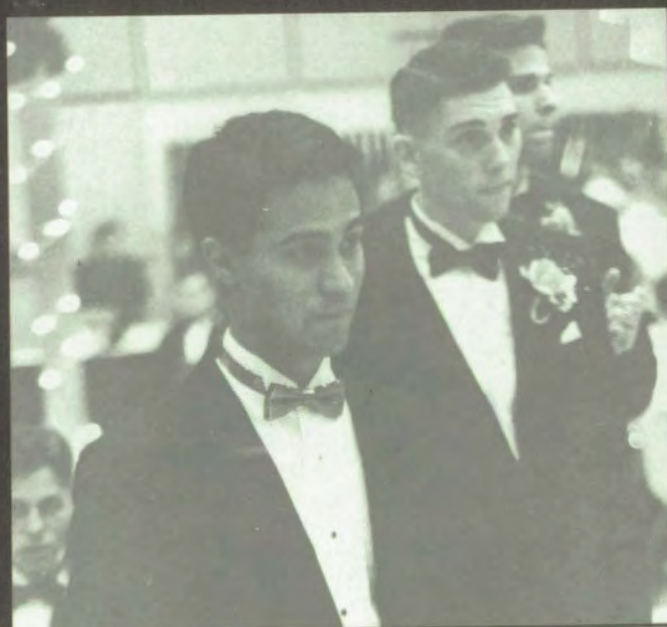

For thoughts that will prevail

With us of you, will never die.

We will not say "goodbye."

Westernaires Say Good Bye

by Erin Taylor

The annual Westernaire Spring Revue was held May 6th and 7th in Central auditorium. The dances ranged from Blues to Country dancing. Spring Revue is the final performance for the Seniors and usually the first for the newly selected Westernaires.

On the last night of Spring Revue there are mixed emotions because it is the last performance for the 1993-94 Westernaires together as a team. There is a lot of practice put into this show, the girls give up a lot time as well as sleep. The main emotion pumping through their bodies is pride. With that in mind it is understandable to see sad, tear-stricken faces as the seniors and their parents close a very important chapter in their lives.

A Time for... Moving On

by Amber Armand

A gentle breeze blew as the class of '94 filed in double rows into Bulldog Stadium dressed in the black robes of the Wise owl. With their smiles and somber looks they marched towards their future, dressed alike as they headed towards their different destinies. The sky was lavender and threatened rain.

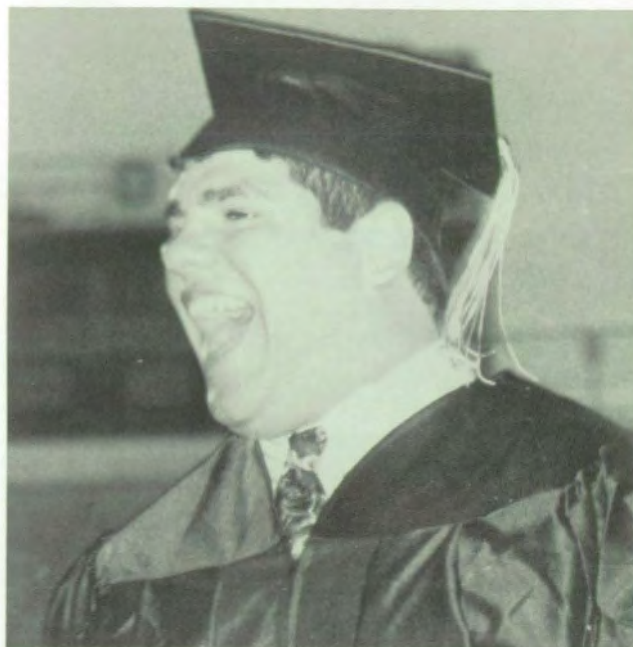

Salutatorian Haley Nguyen began her speech in her native tongue, fighting off tears as she spoke. There were many wipings of eyes by the graduates.

Micheal Espiratu gave the Valedictory address. He reminded his class to dream big and to "Freeze this moment. It is special."

The stands were full and a sea of color was made bright by the flash of cameras as family and friends got the perfect shot of that special graduate. One by one, they took the walk; they gave out a little white card printed with their full formal name in exchange for a diploma. The rest gave a single clap for each. From somewhere within the group, bubbles floated out into the night.

The graduation exercises were held on the same grass where many high school football games had been played, where many band marches and Westernaire game performances had taken place. The stands were those where countless students have sat to watch the Bulldogs. Air horns and cowbells from the audience punctuated the procession of names and faces. Tassels twirled like miniature helicopter blades.

In the end, hats flew into the air to the accompniment of those magic words, "We're otta' here!"

Valedictorian

by Michael Espiritu

A Time to be Top Dog

Mr. Steve Fleming, Members of the School Board and Administration, Faculty Members, Counselors, Fellow Graduates and Students, Parents, and Friends:

As we gather here today, we, the Nederland High School graduating class of 1994, get ready to say good-bye to a significant time in our lives, a time that many have wished would never end, and for some, especially as graduation neared, the end couldn't have come any sooner. But no matter how we feel about the time we spent here, that time has helped to define who we are today. The classes we took, the extracurricular activities we participated in, the friends we did things with - all of these, to a lesser or greater degree, have had a positive effect on us all. If only for this reason, we owe much to Nederland High School.

At this point, I would like to publicly acknowledge all of the people who helped me make it through these long but fruitful years. Many of my accomplishments I owe to my parents whom I could never thank enough, but nevertheless I will try. They instilled in me a strong set of values and a love of learning. Their unwavering, unconditional love and support helped mold me into the kind of person I am today. I would also like to acknowledge my brother, John Paul, for all his encouragement. Next I would like to thank all of my teachers and counselors not only for teaching me most of what I know, but more importantly, for showing me how to learn and how to keep on learning. Special mention must be made of Mrs. Forey, Mrs. Noel, Mrs. Morman, and Mrs. Parish for being unselfish with their time in writing letters of reference that went out with my college applications and for believing in me as a person. And last but not the least, I would like to acknowledge Miss Childress for all her invaluable help. Finally, I would like to thank my fellow students and classmates who helped me to see that there are other important pursuits in life besides studying. All of you have touched my life in some way, and I would like all of you to know that I am grateful.

When we leave here today, we will be leaving behind the adolescent world of high school, where most of our decisions were influenced mainly by adults. Starting tomorrow, we will be entering the adult world ourselves, where we will have to make our own decisions and be responsible for them. Therefore, we should give more thought than ever before about the actions that we decide to undertake from this point forward because we have to live with the consequences, whatever they might be. Also, we must never stop learning because, as the future leaders of this nation, we must stay well-informed. I firmly believe that we can make this world a better place through our actions, which is why we must get involved in the communities in which we finally decide to live and give back to society what it has given to us. Remember that what we can accomplish is limited only by the amount of effort we are willing to put forth. And lastly, although we have become adults, we must never lose our capacity to dream big as when we were children. For it is that unlimited child-like imagination, that can't-fail attitude, that will serve as the fountain of creativity to which we will have to return from time to time.

As an observant fellow classmate said in English class just a few days ago, "We will never again be together in a group like this." So I invite everybody to savor this moment, to freeze it in time with your mind's eye, if you will, for this moment is special and when we leave we will all go our separate ways, perhaps never to meet again. That is why I hope that even when we are physically hundreds of miles apart, our memories of each other and our times together will help hold us together in a very special way for the rest of our lives. Fellow students, our time has come and gone. It's time to say good-bye and move on.

Thank you.

Salutatorian

by Hayley Nguyen

A Time to Begin

Representing the Nederland High School Class of 1994 as salutatorian is an honor to which I owe God, my parents and family, my teachers and counselors, and my many friends. I have been blessed with the opportunity of growing up amid two diverse cultures - both of which have molded me into the individual I am today. Since 1975 when my parents immigrated to the United States from Vietnam, they have adopted many American ways; however, they have also insisted on keeping many important Vietnamese traditions, such as, of course, speaking the Vietnamese language. In fact, my mother often recalls my first day of kindergarten. The only two English words I knew were "bathroom" and "please." Looking back, I am not sure whether the situation was worse for me or for my kindergarten teacher. I am glad, however, that I can speak both English and Vietnamese because I can communicate with more people, and I hope to help more people with my bilingual skills. Moreover, my parents have also instilled in me the qualities of perseverance, curiosity, and pride. I have had to learn that success is achieved only with hard work and persistence and that opportunities await us but do not wait on us. As for curiosity, I had always been curious, but I used to be scared of asking questions. I realized, however, that questions are the only way to learn, and without learning there would be no progress. Finally, possessing pride for my heritage, for myself, and for who I am has been a personal trait that has helped me keep my identity. Only when we possess respect for ourselves can we be fulfilled and realize happiness. Although I sometimes take for granted how lucky I really am, I am thankful for reaping the best of both worlds. I have grown up in a rich American society but have also kept a rich Vietnamese culture.

My parents have been the most important people in helping me by guiding and caring for me; therefore, to them I will be forever grateful. I am also grateful to the many others who have helped me, but in particular I would like to thank Coach Wagner, Mrs. Parish, Mrs. Morman, and Mrs. Noel for their help and encouragement. And I would especially like to thank Mrs. Willis for her support and understanding in my times of need. I also owe thanks to my counselors - Ms. Childress, Mr. Jones, and Mr. Shields - all of whom have helped me tremendously throughout my high school years. Finally, I would like to recognize my younger brother Vincent for putting up with me even during my mood swings, my best friend Jerri Bo for her continuous support, and all of my wonderful friends who have stood behind me.

Although each of us has experienced our own difficulties, we have triumphed over them to reach this momentous event. And now as we take our first steps into the real world, let us treasure our wonderful high school memories but look to our bright futures with eagerness. For as our class motto reminds us,

In our hands
we hold today

In our dreams we hold tomorrow

In our faith
we hold forever.

Seniors Celebrate Graduation

by Amber Armand

"I like my women just a little on the trashy side," lip synced Mr. Fleming in the NHS cafeteria at 11:30 P.M. on the night of May 26, 1994. This was sung to the cheers and applause of the senior class of '94. Fleming's co-performers were Mrs. Cobb, Mrs. Bordelon, Mrs. Johnson, and Mrs. Sims, and they were all dressed for the part. The encore song was "Love Shack."

After that, the music became a sing-along, and many seniors moved on to other forms of entertainment. For one magic night, the hallowed halls of NHS became a strange cross between a casino, a television soundstage, a battle zone, and the beach.

Surrounded by giant dice and pinups of aces, seniors amassed monopoly fortunes at games such as craps, black jack, roulette and chuck-a-luck. Parents were transformed into casino employees. When the casino became tiring, some chose to participate in the volleyball tournament. Others choose to play Wheel of Fortune in the drama area where the game-show set had been recreated.

The food was free and plentiful. One could have pizza in Italy, eat crawfish while surrounded by flying sea-gulls, or have hamburgers in a '50s diner.

Around 3:00 A.M., everyone migrated to the gym for the infamous Anything Goes games. There, They divided into teams to do such things as passing eggs with spoons and wheelbarrow races.

He's a hypnotist of ladies, and it would appear of gentleman as well, for the next form of diversion was indeed a hypnotist. He put volunteers through trials ranging from the ridiculous-- "Okay, now you are drunk and all the school officials are watching"--to the impossible--(to someone lying stiff with only the support of a stepladder under the neck and another under the ankles) "Lift your right arm and your left leg." Todd McElwee may have reason to fear balloons for many months to come.

The mood became somber when the lights dimmed for a slide show composed of pictures of all the seniors. The mood became lighter and a bit competitive at the ending auction for prizes where all those hard won Doggie Dollars could be spent.

top to bottom, left to right: Anneliesa Glynn is one of the hypnotist's first victims of the night; Eloise Parchmont, Callie Rhodes, and Crystal King compete against each other on the Wheel of Fortune; Ryan Reed wins big at blackjack; and Andy Peveto finishes first in the sack race.

Time to Grow Up

Juniors face the SAT and many other new obstacles

by Michael Kerr

Taking the SAT has been a horror for many students as well as a breeze for others. Many students are afraid that they will not be accepted into the college of their choice because they simply break down at the sight of those enigmatic questions on the test.

"I'll just take the SAT as many times as I have to until I get into the college I want to go to. I think I'll get at least 900 which is good enough for SFA," junior Jayson Baker said.

As far as academics go, the SAT is just as much of a concern to juniors as to taking on Honors classes such as Pre-Calculus, Biology II, Chemistry II, Physics, or AP History. They help students to make the transition from high school to college easier, both emotionally and physically.

"I have named my honors courses 'self torture classes'. They require numerous hours of studying, but you still have time to have a social life," junior Catherine Sedtal said.

With new privileges, new attitudes, and the anticipation of the Senior year and graduation coming soon, the Junior class has many things to boggle their minds.

Science teacher Mrs. Self Explains the facts of life to eager Freshman.

The Big Change

Going from Top Dogs To Under Dogs.

by Nikki Johnson

As they roamed through the school scared of the new day ahead, the young freshmen began to remember times when they were the head dogs on campus!

The transition from middle school to high school is often a frightening experience. However, all freshmen do not always have the same conflicts. For some, adjusting to new teachers and classes is difficult, while others find it hardest making new friends.

"I was worried about going in the wrong classroom," said freshman Scott Seymour. With the school constantly growing, that is a big fear for most people.

"I was very afraid I was going to be initiated by upperclassmen," said Kristi Bergstrom. For many years initiation could not be escaped by the newcomers no matter how hard they tried. Fortunately for them, initiation or "hazing" as some call it has been banned due to the heartfelt complaints of the embarrassed initiates.

No matter how scared or confused freshmen start off to be, before long they are considered to be, "just one of the dawgs...."

"Nederland had a successful year as far as academics, sports, and other U.I.L. activities. Many students received awards throughout the year which brought attention and pride to our school. We were successful academically, and we had a successful athletic year with a number of teams going into post-season playoffs. Money was spent improving facilities. We were able — through the help of a number of students — work through vandalism problems. We must give credit to the students for not wanting that type of behavior at this school and trying to stop things that were going on that shouldn't have been. We had an excellent senior class to lead us through the year that provided younger students with role models to identify with. We felt like a result of the great leadership from the senior class, there will be a great carryover effect to the senior class of '95. NHS is a great place to go to school. The positive things far outweigh the negative things we had to deal with during the year."-Jerry Mallory

Teaching Lessons

by Johnny Simpson

As we have walked through these halls we call high school, we have seen many changes which have shape our lives. From the first nervous feeling of attending a new school as freshman to the last thought expressed during our senior year, teachers have cared, protected, and taught us not only important lessons from books, but also the lessons of reality. This unique blend is what makes Nederland High School what it is, a place of scholarly learning which prepares us, the pupils, to advance in the classroom call life.

A Time for Sports

Sports was one explosion after another

This year was in sports was one explosion after another. From football to cross-country, there was nothing but fulfilled expectations.

On October 29, 1993, Varstiy Football's victory over LCM put them in the play-offs for the first time since 1988. They had their first winning season in years. The front office of the school was overloaded with fans buying tickets for the play-offs game. Shirts were sold by the PTA and were worn all throughout the year.

In Cross-country, the team finished off an incredible season with freshman Shantel Lee placing twentieth out of 100 girls from all over the state. Freshmen and JV volleyball lost only two games in district.

This only scratches the surface of all the successes in the 1993-1994 season.

Boys' Varsity Basketball lose four leading players

by Michael Kerr

Several of the leading players of the Boys' Varsity Basketball team - Kevin Bennett, Ben Barlow, Mike Navarro, and Matt Knowles - have been playing basketball together since the eighth grade at C.O. Wilson Middle School, and now their teamwork inside the Doggie Dome must all come to an end.

"That's the hardest thing about it, Senior Mike Navarro said. "That's what I'll miss the most after graduation."

When the men began their court battles in the eighth grade, they had a coach that was very motivating and inspiring, according to Senior Ben Barlow.

"Coach Lynch was a strong motivator and kept telling us to never give up," Barlow said.

Barlow also has many memories that will stick out in his mind for years to come.

"When we beat PNG, we were down in the fourth quarter but came back up and beat them," Barlow said.

Even though these four guys have to say goodbye to one of their greatest loves (basketball) they have developed friendships and memories on the court, school buses, and parties that will last for a lifetime.

Girls hold title for district champions

by Heather Sullivan

Freshman and JV girls Basketball finished up the year with another great season. The Freshman overall record was 8-6 and finished third in district. The JV girls overall record was 21-3 and they were district champions.

Although the Freshman girls had a very small team of only seven players, they played very well. "As a team they worked hard and never gave up in some very close games" said Coach Oliver.

The JV girls had a very successful year. They worked hard and improved tremendously from the first of the year on their offensive and defensive skills. "They played well as a team. When one player had an off night the others came through. Every win was a total team effort" said coach Wilson.

by Heather Sullivan

The Boys Freshman and JV Basketball team finished up their season with a great year.

The Freshman boys finished with an overall record of 19-6 and won first place in the PN-G tournament. "They played very well together even after several key players were moved up to JV," said coach Tom Umphrey. "They are definitely a team of the future."

The JV boys basketball team finished with an overall record of 15-9 and finished second place in district. "I think the team played to the best of their ability each game. Season Record 12-15 District Record 3-7

by Kerri Hancock

The girls' varsity basketball team, made up primarily of juniors and seniors, ended their rocky season with a 12-15 record.

"This season was a little disappointing. I really felt we would do better than we did. We had some injuries and we were young. I think that is probably why we were inconsistent," Carol Simms, girls' varsity basketball coach, said.

Although the team had a rocky season, three players were recognized for All-district. Amy Hillin made the first team All-district for the second year; Carrie Brennan made second team All-district; and Amy Tran made honorable mention second team All-district.

Girls Varsity Soccer become area champs

story by Amber Armand

Coach Julie Johnson was head banging to Guns and Roses on the sidelines after NHS Girls Varsity Soccer trounced the Elkins Knights. It was a very special game for the Lady Doggies when they won it. They became district, bi-district, and area champs.

"It was a total team effort. Everybody from the goal man to the last player on the bench made a difference," Johnson said.

On the field, it was player to player precision as they shot the ball back and forth like bumpers in a pin-ball machine. The very vocal fans and teammates sitting on the bench shouted encouragement to whichever player had just made a good shot or save. They screamed the names of all the players, not just one or two, because all the players were making good plays. According to Johnson, there were no stand-outs—they were all stand outs.

"I told you before the game that I had a great feeling, and it happened," Amy Tran, senior, said.

Shannon Tinsley, assisted by Kim LaFleur, scored first blood in the first half. At halftime, there were random bursts of physical activity as players sprinted back and forth down the field. After that, there was a quick consultation.

"The word is dominate," said Johnson, and it rose as a chant from the huddle.

They kept the one to zip lead throughout the second half, playing hard on defense down to the last seconds of the game. The fans counted down the seconds-five, four, three, two, one, then broke into wild cheering.

"With two minutes left, the other team was busting their tails to get a goal, but no way," Johnson said.

Michelle Glover, goalie, kept thwarting the Knight's efforts, making save after save.

The game was made even more memorable because it was senior rose night. Amy Tran, Carrie Huber, Michelle Glover, and Kate Auld had to climb the fence to give roses to their parents. The parents of eight players drove all the way to Sugarland just to see their kids play.

"Some people think you are just kicking a ball around, but it's more than that," Alecia Belaire, junior, said.

"If you take a foot ball player and take off his pads, then you get a soccer player," Auld said.

BOYS' VARSITY SOCCER IS SECTIONAL CHAMPS IN PLAYOFFS

BY JESSICA REEVE

ONLY TRUE CHAMPIONS WOULD BE DISAPPOINTED IN A VICTORY, OR THIS IS HOW IT SEEMED WHEN THE NHS BOYS' VARSITY SOCCER TEAM DEFEATED DULLES ON TUESDAY MARCH 22 WITH A 3-2 VICTORY MAKING THEIR ALMOST PERFECT RECORD 20-1. NOT ONLY ARE OUR DOGS' SIX-TIME CONSECUTIVE DISTRICT CHAMPS, BUT THIS WIN MADE THEM BACK-TO-BACK AREA CHAMPS AS WELL.

HOWEVER, EVEN THEIR WIN COULDN'T COVER THE TEAM'S DISAPPOINTMENT IN THEIR PERFORMANCE.

"THE PERFORMANCE OF THE PLAYERS WAS VERY POOR," JORGE LOPEZ, BOYS' VARSITY SOCCER COACH, SAID, "HOWEVER, WE GOT THE JOB DONE."

SENIOR STARTER BRIAN LAFLEUR ALSO THOUGHT THE TEAM DIDN'T PLAY ITS BEST. "TEAMWORK AND EFFORT PULLED US THROUGH A MEDIOCRE GAME," LAFLEUR SAID.

ACCORDING TO WADE BREAUX, JUNIOR, THE TEAM DID WHAT THEY HAD TO DO TO WIN.

THE DOGS HAD A TOUGH FIRST HALF WITH THE ONLY GOAL MADE BY BREAUX, WHO CLEARLY HAD AN EXCEPTIONAL NIGHT BEING THE SOLE SCORER OF ALL THREE GOALS FOR NHS IN THE GAME.

JARED NEWTON, SOPHOMORE GOALIE, INJURED HIS LEG IN A COLLISION WITH A DULLES PLAYER RESULTING IN A YELLOW

CARD FOR THE OPPOSING TEAM. NEWTON WAS UNABLE TO PLAY FOR THE REMAINDER OF THE FIRST HALF WITH DUSTIN GUIDRY, SENIOR, REPLACING HIM.

ON THE SECOND HALF, DULLES COUNTERED WITH TWO GOALS; HOWEVER, BREAUX EVENED UP THE SCORE WITH HIS SECOND GOAL OF THE GAME, WHICH HE MADE BY HEADING THE BALL INTO THE GOAL.

"I HAD A GOOD FEELING GOING INTO THE GAME," BREAUX SAID, "IT FELT GOOD TO BE ABLE TO HELP OUT THE TEAM WHEN WE NEEDED IT."

ON ONE OF NEWTON'S SAVES, HE SEEMED TO PULL OUT OF THE AIR WHEN HE LEAPED UP TO SAVE A HIGH BALL WITH AN ALMOST BASKETBALL-STYLE HOOK SHOT MANEUVER. MOYE SHOWED HIS SKILL IN THE GAME WHEN HE HELPED KEEP THE SCORE AT 2-2.

FINALLY, SCORING THE THIRD AND WINNING GOAL OF THE GAME, BREAUX BROUGHT THE FANS TO THEIR FEET WITH HOARSE SCREAMS OF EXCITEMENT AS HE PUT THE DOGS ON THE TOP FOR THE REMAINDER OF THE GAME.

THE TEAM ALSO DEFEATED CLEMENTS 3-0 WHICH ADVANCED THEM TO SECTIONAL PLAYOFFS. THEY DEFEATED CLEARLAKE WHICH MADE THEM REGIONAL QUARTER FINALIST.

Cross Country moves mountains from regionals to state

by Dusty Rodgers

The NHS girls and boys cross country teams qualified for districts, regionals, and some members qualified for state. The top two teams in the district are able to continue on to regionals, and the top five people from the district compete at regionals. The top five teams from regionals go to state, and the top ten performers also competed at state.

The boys came in third in districts, only three points away from second place against Bridge City. Steven Jacobs came in second out of 37 boys in the Varsity Division, and Chris Lowder won in the J.V. Division.

Girls came in second in districts, and only five points behind Lincoln from first place. Three girls who placed in the top ten, were Shantel Lee, freshman, first place; Kara Schion, junior, fourth place; and Cheree' Lensing, freshman, placing eighth. These three girls were placed out of thirty-two girls.

Steven Jacobs and the girl's team went to regionals. Steven came in 21 out of 117 runners. Shantel Lee placed fifth out of 202 runners. Lee qualified for state which would be held in Georgetown. Lee placed 20 out of 100 girls from all around the state.

Boys' Varsity Track's Horn is third best runner in state

by Michael Kerr

Junior Cason Horn is on the track at the University of Texas at Austin after qualifying for state at the regional meet at the magnificent school of Sam Houston State University, and has never felt so nervous in his life. But with the support of his friend Mikal Weaver, Cason Horn was able to calm down somewhat for he placed third out of all the runners.

"It was the most nervous I ever was in my life. It was an awesome feeling," Horn said. "I couldn't have done it without all three of the coaches." Mikal Weaver gave me a lot of support".

Junior Mikal Weaver said he tried to do his best to pump Horn up and help him not to worry about things.

"On the way out to the field, we were talking about next year to calm him. We also told him to run his best," Weaver said.

Coach Steven Beagle was very proud of the team's success throughout the season. They won the Bulldog Relays for the first time in eleven years. They placed second in the PNG, Cardinal, and District relays.

"Great attitude, great effort, and unity carried the team throughout the season," Beagle said.

Girls' Track sends three runners to regionals

To sum up the many accomplishments of the Girls' Track Team, would be difficult. Freshmen Kristin Carter, Shantel Lee, and senior Jennifer Voss qualified for regional meets. Shantel Lee was champion in the 1600 m dash. She also qualified for region in 3200 meter dash and the triple jump. She also received the outstanding track award at the All Sports Banquet.

"I was surprised, really, because I thought the seniors would get it. I guess I worked hard and that's what you get," freshman Shantel Lee said.

Senior Jennifer Voss was runner up for district in the high jump. Freshman Kristin Carter qualified for region in the 100 meter dash.

"I was very scared because all of these girls were older than me. They had more experience," freshman Kristin Carter said. "I was scared that I would come in last," Carter said.

Girls' Track coach was very pleased with the successes of her team. She will have some of the team members to work with for years to come.

"The kids were outstanding. We brought home lots of medals this year. We're still young. We're mostly made up of freshmen and sophomores," coach Ashley Massey said.

Girl's Varsity Soccer dominates district

by Amy Touns

For the first time in six years the girls' varsity soccer team won district. But this year not only did they win district and bi-district, they also held the title for area champs. It was team effort that took them to their victory. "Since it was my last year, it was satisfying to win district and advance into the playoffs," Huber said.

Their practice began in January at 5:30 every week-day and remained until the end of May. Their overall record in district was 8-1. The team's defense kept the opposing teams to one goal in district, while the offense scored 58 goals overall. Since there was a lot of new people on the team, the girls had to be dedicated because they learned a new offense and the team had to get use to playing with one another. "Last year the people had bad attitudes and were not willing to work together, but this year we finally formed a real team," LaFleur said.

First team players were Kim LaFleur, Jamie Wehner, Kate Auld, Melissa Owsley, Michelle Glover. Second team: Carrie Huber, Heather Cammack, Shannon Tinsley. Kate Auld played in the Regional III All Star Team.

Boys' Varsity Soccer has best season ever

by Michael Kerr

Boys' Varsity Soccer has been a huge success ever since soccer was instituted here in 1988. But this year the team has gone farther than any previous soccer team has gone before with an overall record of 21 - 2 and a district record of 14 - 0. Of course, qualifying as regional quarter finalists is what really stood out this year because it is the farthest the team has ever gone in the playoffs.

"Many of us have been playing since we were four. All of that experience helps out," senior Brock Badger said. "Plus, we had a bunch of good athletes.

There wasn't one weak player on the team."

Whether it was on the field or off the field, the team still had fun and enjoyed the ensemble of teamwork.

"Most of all, we just had fun and always had a positive attitude," Badger said.

Among other successes this year, seven people qualified for all - district team including Dustin Guidry, Jeremy Gallagher, Brock Badger, Brian Lafleur, Ashley Gomez, and Jared Newton. Senior Jeremy Gallagher also qualified for the all star team.

Girls' and Boys' J.V. Soccer lose only one game

by Micheal Kerr
For the J.V. girls' soccer team, practice started in September from 2:30 to 5:00 pm every weekday until the end of March. They held the first place title during the Nederland Tournament.

The J.V. soccer team's overall record was 10-1. The Lady Bulldog kickers wiped out all the competition in the Kick Classic Tournament on the weekend of January 14-15. On January 18, they defeated West Brook 3-1.

The J.V. girls' soccer team also consists of a "B" team. The team is mostly freshmen. They put up a strong fight against their opponents in the Kick Classic. According to Coach Julie Johnson, the "B" team label does not effect the players' esteem. "They would rather be playing than sitting on the bench," Johnson said.

Nederland Boy's J.V. Soccer Team had its best season yet winning every game in district and predistrict. They only faced one loss when they went into final shoot out against Kelly High School in the Nederland J.V. Soccer Tournament at which they received second place.

"The Lumberton game was probably the most exciting game, not the most important, but the most exciting because we went into over-time," junior fullback Tom Jordan said.

According to Jordan this year's team seemed to be much stronger than last year's team. J.V. Soccer has kept with the Nederland tradition of representing the best in district and revealing the qualities of a terrific team.

Senior, Eric Cammack, getting ready to fire one against Livingston. The Bulldogs won 9-1.

The Nederland Bulldog varsity baseball team made it to the playoffs with pitching and defense.

In the area playoff game against Friendswood, the No. 8 state ranked Bulldog defense failed for one inning, but that was enough as the Mustangs beat the Bulldogs, 3-1, to end their playoff trek at the Deer Park Baseball Complex.

"It hurts like heck. We're going to try to keep our heads up. We had a great year. I'm proud of the guys," said head baseball coach Delbert Spell.

Neither team could get anything going after the first as both pitchers, Nederland's Eric Cammack and Friendswood's Scott Williamsom, wreaked havoc on opposing batters.

Cammack, a senior righthander, was outstanding after the first, striking out nine and giving up just two singles. He finished the season at 10-2, while the Dogs fell to 23-9.

The team's first season was very successful as they finished with a 10-3-1 record. "The foundation for a quality program has been laid and we have six returning starters for next year," Coach Kevin Cline said. The district race ended on a disappointing note as the girls finished a half game behind for a playoff spot. "We had the talent to go further. We had the physical talent, but mentally we were not there," Jaclyn Lee said. For some, the disappointment was not just the loss, many senior players lost their only chance to go to district. "We should have won against T.J. and PNG but, the tie is what really hurt us from going to the playoffs," third basemen Misty Bush said. "We learned a lot from our first year and are ready to continue on to better things," Coach Cline said.

Five players made the all district team. Carre Huber was named Most Valuable Player, Tiffany Barker and Kristin Carter made first team outfield, Misty Bush made second team infield, and Jaclyn Lee was named honorable mention infield.

The NHS Tennis team finished 12th in the state of Texas. "Jacob Veron reached state during the fall in team tennis and during the springing individual tennis. Also sophomores Karyn Batson and Alisya Ramirez got second place in district and went to regionals," said Coach Jorge Lopez.

Jacob Vernon, a senior at NHS, came in 2nd in the regional tournament and will continue on to state on May 13 and 14. There were sixteen competitors from the regional tournament. Two from this area qualified for states. Placing first was a foreign exchange student from Germany that plays for Clear Brook. Second place was Vernon.

"I had been working for four years to get where I am now. I'm excited, it'll be a tough tournament," Vernon said. There will be eight competitors from all over Texas in the state tournament.

"Tiffany Haley came back from a bad ankle injury during the fall. She worked hard to get back to her best and help the team. Reagan Green was the best newcomer in boys and girls," Lopez said.

Power lifting and golf swing for another season

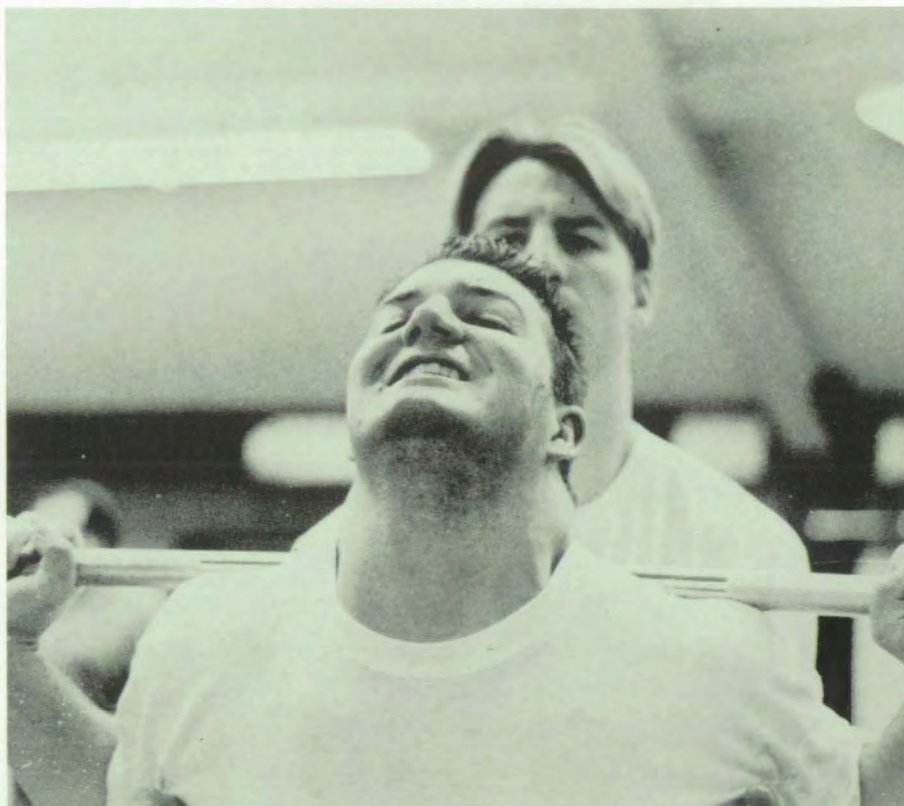

by Amy Toups

The training of power lifting started during late December at 6:30 to 7:45 am and lasted through February. The team consisted of five members and attend one meet at Livingston that began at 7:00 am to 6:00 pm. "There was a lot of pressure on the whole team to do well because it was our only meet we could attend, due to the fact that the area schools either did not invite us or they stopped holding their meets," said Mallory. The rules for lifting were strict for all three lifts. While lifting there would be three judges on different sides. They would watch to see if the lifter stepped forward on squat; on bench the lifter had to have their feet flat on the ground, could not lift head or back, and the bar needed to be level while lifting; and on dead lift, the lifter had to arch the back. If the lifter did any of the steps wrong, they would get a red light. If the competitor received more than one red light, then he/she would be disqualified.

Golf season began in January and lasted until April. The team would practice every weekday from 2:30 until 5:30. The tournaments were held on Mondays, Tuesdays, and sometimes Fridays that would begin at 8:30 am and did not finish until 3:00 pm. Out of eight tournaments, both teams placed first in the DERA Tournament, that was held in West Orange-Stark, and tied for second place in the Wildwood tournament. The teams placed fourth overall in district. "This year the district was more competitive. It was a disappointing season because we did not do as well as the team felt we should have. I think our coach was not happy from the way we played, maybe next year will be more successful," Ben Heubach, senior, said.

Eric Cammack and Christy Thrower were chosen as ideal athletes.

"Eric is a multi-talented young man. He played football and was all-district for three years. He received a scholarship in baseball to Lamar and also ran track. He had a great attitude and was a good student," athletic director Larry Neumann said.

A Time For Clubbin

Time to Belong

by Stacey Tyler and Bradley Gaugh

Imagine school with nothing to do but work, work, and more work. All work and no play would surely make for an uninteresting year. Have no fear, Nederland High School has many clubs and organizations available to the student body. There are so many to choose from that you are sure to be able to find one to your liking. Not only do you get to meet many new friends in a club, but you also feel a sense of belonging. It also helps the year go by much faster, and we all know the faster the better. The more involved you are in your school the easier it is to feel comfortable with your school atmosphere. "Being on the Powder Puff team was the only time that I have seen so many people in this school get along at one time," Jennifer Stewart, senior, said. So, if you have to be here, make it fun, enjoyable, and very active.

Ned & Company produced thirty-nine performances for the 1993-94 school year. During the year they performed for the Bob Hope School at the Huguen Center in the spring and fall. They also toured the Nederland Independent School District as well as the San Antonio area schools with ten performances in three days. Not only did they perform for schools but they also performed for churches and various organizations. For their performances they received a superior rating in UIL Solo and Ensemble competition for experimental ensemble. All together they executed thirty-nine performances throughout the entire school year. Pam Austin, Mrs. Nau's assistant, adapted very well to this organization for it being her first year in Ned & Company. The alliance would like to express their thanks and gratitude to her dedication and devotion to the entire Choral department.

A Time For Music...

The Golden Pride of the Golden Triangle.
by Stacey Tyler

"Band Ten-Hut," commands drum major Amy Babineaux. Upon hearing these three words, rag doll babies are transformed into United States Marines.

The Nederland High School Marching Band has 212 members, the biggest it has ever been. The band performs at football games, pep rallies, parades, marching contest, and has a very busy marching season. The band was rated a first division by the University Interscholastic League 32 years out of 33.

Over the years bands have copied the style of the drum and bugle corps, but the Nederland band has continued in the traditional style of the American military marching. The military style features uniformity, precision, and dignity. This results in the alignment of ranks, files, and diagonals.

Throughout the year the band plays a wide range of music. Everything from "Land of a Thousand Dances" to traditional march music. The band members practice one-half hour every Monday through Thursday in marching season, and memorize around fifteen songs one right after another. Then there is the learning of the school song, "National Anthem", and the "Fight Song".

This year the NHS Goldenettes had an exciting year. They started out the season with nine new sophomores, three juniors, and only two seniors. They performed to songs such as "Money", "Rockin' Robin", "Salsa...", "Give My Regards to Broadway", and a glow in the dark routine to "Batman".

Golden Silks

Not only are you an active band member, but you are a role model for all the underclassmen. That pressure is just one of many jobs when you take the position as a leader in the Nederland High School Band.

The Golden Silks and Drum Majors start learning routine in early summer, and also come to the August band practice. They also must help by teaching Freshman how to march with the band, and making sure they are doing everything right. The 1993-1994 Golden Silks are: Captain, Jessica Reeve, Lieutenant, Toni Watjus, Lisa Duren, Angel Foxworth, Melanie Hardy, Lisa Haynes, Amy Jackson, Katy Jones, LaDixie Lackey, Lisa Mackenroth, Misty Meaux, Angie Orta, Suzanne Pujol, Stephanie Sanders, Catherine Sedtal, Kimmi Taylor, Laura Thornell.

There is an individual competition called Jump Off in which sponsors of each squad chose one girl to compete and try out for. They all got in a line before the Universal Cheerleading Association and did their jumps.

"It was my first time to jump off and I'd do it again because it was a good experience. I was excited to make it to finals, I think it's an honor to be chosen for Jump Off," said Joli Ritchey.

During the summer, cheerleading camp was from June 21-25, and approximately 75-100 squads attended. During these few days, all three cheerleading squads were awarded Leadership Awards and competed for Camp Champion and won!

Spirit in the Sky

by Mandy Copeland
and Bradley Gaugh

Jeremy Landry raced up and down the gym floor revving up the amused crowd. Part clown, part cheerleader, part role model, Landry is all of this and more.

"It was a blast to act stupid and know that it's your job. I love the little kids. To top it all off, our team did excellent this year and made it a lot more fun. Sweaty or not, the job of Bulldog Spirit was definitely a great experience," Landry said.

During camp, Landry received a superior trophy, superior excellent evaluations, and the spirit stick. Whether it's his job or not, Landry had a great experience being 1993-94 Bulldog Spirit.

When trying out for Spirit, Landry didn't think of the competitive side of things, he just looks at it as being the "spirit of high school."

"I tried out for Bulldog Spirit because I never played football or sports in school and I wanted to contribute to the whole "spirit" of high school. It's really neat to have those kids look up to you. I simply decided to run and then hoped for the best," Landry said.

Landry had quite a bit to say to next year's Bulldog Spirit.

"The suit is hot so drink a lot of Gatorade. Wear a lot of deodorant and if the Golden Guardians toss you, pray that they remember to catch you." Landry said.

Best in the West

by Amber Armand

At half time, during any given Nederland High football game, the band can key into music and the Westernaires will come to attention. They march onto the field with precision, and with equal precision, they perform a series of routines. Westernaires spend many hours practicing for their mid-game exhibition. As well as performing at games, they march in parades, dance at pep-rallies, and put together the most spectacular Spring Review. The Westernaires, a close knit group, participate in many Nederland traditions, such as adopting a Big and Little Sis and decorating each others lockers with paper, lettering, artwork, and shiny, curly ribbons in black and gold. The Westernairs also attended kick-a-thons, camps, and attended contests in Galveston, New Orleans, Dallas, and Fort Bend. At camp, the Westernaires received awards including Most Admired Drill Team, Sweepstakes, Best Novelty, and Best Choreography. A few Westernaires like Nikie Burns and Laura Maldonado took a trip to California, and Tish Trimble and Lori McClenan will go to Hawaii over the summer.

Helping Hughen

by Tracey Smith

The 93-94 Criminal Justice Club has been helping the community. The club has given a number of dances for Hughen, a school for disabled children.

The first dance given was a Christmas dance. The others were given as a result of how happy the kids were.

Other than dances, the Nederland High School Criminal Justice Club participated in a sock drive that was headed by the United Board of Missions. The club went to each elementary school and asked the children to donate socks. The class in each grade who brought the most items recieved a cookie party. As a result well over nine hundred and fifty items were collected.

The Nederland High School Choirs work hard to earn honors.

by Stacey Tyler

Do Re Me Fa So La Ti Do, are many of the wonderful sounds you will hear as you enter the choir room. You will also hear the voices of students working hard to prepare for contest. Not only do the choirs prepare for contest they also perform at three different concerts during the year. Which can make for a very busy year full of events. The choir went through some changes of their own: NHS has a new choir director, Pam Austin. Along with Mrs. Twyla Nau the choirs have earned many honors. Nederland High School had two choir students in the All-State Choir: Dayle Thornall and Micheal DeRoche.

Caring

Key Club shows how much they care.
by Crystal Holland

It's a new year and there are so many new faces to see and people to meet.

They joined together meeting new people from different places, cleaning campuses, and visiting nursing homes. These were only part of the things that the Key Club were involved in doing this year. The Club worked extra hard to achieve many new goals. They were a part of many benefits for serious health disorders for example: they participated in a bakesale for Nicole Henson, a freshman with Cancer and they sold duckies for the Rubber Ducky Derby that benefited people with Cerebral Palsy. Key Club also cleaned up the NHS school campus as well as cleaning up the football stadium after games. Their convention was held in Tulsa, Oklahoma. They rode on the bus with Lincoln High School which brought two schools together and saved gas fumes. The year was basically wrapped up with an end of the year banquet. Matt Blanchard and Ricky Knoles received $500.00 scholarship from Mid-County Kiwanis.

U.I.L. one-act play brings luck to Drama Students

by Nikki Johnson

Nikki Johnson graces the stage as "Best Actress" in Nederland High School's one-act play "Dancing at Lughnasa."

Senior Nikki Johnson won best actress for a U.I.L. District competition with her portrayal of "Maggie" in the award winning play.

Johnson said, "I was very surprised considering the tremendous amount of talent that our play had, but I will never forget the feeling of excitement I felt when they called my name."

Other outstanding performance awards were presented to Seniors Amanda McLauchlin, Erin Penn, Monica Verdine, and Junior Kristin Korbini, all receiving all-star cast and honorable mention.

McLauchlin said, "Getting an award made all the hard work pay off and the learning experience helped me grow as an actress."

The play was directed by Kim Williams, who worked for three long years on the award winning play.

Williams said, "We took a chance performing such a challenging piece of literature, and to this date it is the best work that the Nederland High School drama has ever produced."

Being Terrific

by Stacey Tyler

Terrific Nederland Teens Talk to elementary students about how to have clean fun. Just say No! Are one of the things that are taught to student at a very young age. The people who teach this must be true and faithful. They must also believe in what they teach. These chosen few are the Terrific Nederland Teens, and their one goal is to keep kids off of drugs.

This Club was designed for elementary students that look up and admire the older high school students. This influence is spread by TNT members going to each class to talk to the elementary students about what drug can do to the body. With any luck the TNT program will make a "terrific" change for the better.

NHS Council Goes the Extra Mile

Student Council Puts the "Extra" in Extracurricular

by Nikki Johnson

Girls battle girls in the powder puff game for possession of a football. At homecoming an enormous chain link graced the fences. Prom transported juniors and seniors into a Gothic world. But being the scenes, pulling all the strings, was student council.

The Gothic decoration satisfied the sponsor.

I want to thank everybody that helped with prom. We had fun and everything turned out beautiful," Vicky Hartt, the student council sponsor, said.

Some of the many activities taken on by Nederland's student council include: Prom decorations, working the football and basketball concession stands, homecoming- chain link, dance, and court, Powder Puff, Red Ribbon Week, and the ozone conscious- recycling contest.

"Being on student council was a great experience for any student of NHS, plus you got to meet many new people," said Kristin Carter.

By the end of the year they can look back on the many activities that they have organized, and be proud of the fact that without them there would no creativity and fun at Spirit Week, State Convention, summer workshop, Christmas dance, Freshmen picnic, or the special adult basketball game.

"I'm kind of glad it's over with for now because it is was a lot of work getting ready for all the dances. But it was a fun year. I'm really looking forward to next year because I'll be an officer," freshman Mandy Jeanis said.

Hercules or Clint??

Senior Clint Christopher proves his strength by holding the weight of the world on his shoulders.

Memories

by Bradley Gaugh

As the clock ticked closer and closer to the deadline hour, a select group of Nederland High students scurried around trying to get their pages in on time. This was the usual sight in the journalism room first period almost every morning. Aside from meeting and missing deadlines and assembling the Pilot, the staff also attended workshops and seminars such as the ILPC-Press Conference at the University of Texas in Austin where the 92-93 Pilot was awarded the Award of Honor. "Going to Austin was great. We paid a street man to wash the bus windows and gave money to the poor. We also ate at Ninfas and had a pie fight in the restaurant," Mrs. Cowles, Pilot adviser, said.

Bulldog Beat Beats the Odds

The Bulldog Beat staff continually go beyond the call of duty
by Jessica Reeves

It's been real. It's been fun. I'd even say it's been real fun. The 1993-1994 Bulldog Beat staff had to deal with a lot of complications this year, but we made it through even with broken computers, lazy printers, and cats in the darkroom.

A lot of blood (from the Exacto knife), sweat (from Saturday work days without air conditioning), and tears (after late nights up at the school) went into each of the six issues consisting of 20 pages each with an average of 40 stories per issue. Sometimes we got a little crazy around deadline time. We always knew we had crossed the line when we saw Amber standing on the table reading poetry and Adam running around with a box on his head. Of course, you also have to realize that 14 continuous hours at school could push anyone over the edge.

This was a year of change for the Bulldog Beat. Not only did the staff redesign the paper, create new sections, and invent new story ideas, but we also took home an Award of Honor at the ILPC journalism conference in Austin. However, even with screaming for pictures, screaming for stories, and screaming for layouts, our staff managed to keep a bit of sanity and remain friends throughout the year.

And the winner is...

by Amber Armand

Amazing: Top, Reenie Abraham and someone demonstrate that a bed of nails really doesn't hurt you.

Nervous- Above, Angle Foxworth cautiously lies on the bed of nails and is reassured that it is safe.

The boy laid down on the bed of nails, carefully, carefully. Slowly, he relaxed. There was no mysticism involved, no fakery, no incense, no chants. There was only hard cold science, the science of physics. The test of courage represented by the bed of nails was transformed into just another experiment in the more hands-on part of learning in the physics class.

Physics student also built miniature war implements out of wood and string — catapults that had to actually hit a target. They swung a bowling ball hanging from a wire, not flinching as it swung back, coming bare inches from their faces. They sent eggs on kamikaze journeys off the stairs outside the gym in inventive containers that weighted less than five grams. They saw a gas can collapsed by the awesome power of hot water.

"I think that the hands-on approach to learning is better because the students remember more. They learn better by doing," Dwana VanMarion said.

Other classes also took the hands-on approach. Biology II students undertook the annual cat dissection. The smell permeated the entire science wing.

The geology class took chicken wire and paper mache, added assorted chemicals, and created volcanos that actually exploded. The volcanos were models of the different types which the class was studying.

"Building projects stimulates the kids to want to better understand the subject matter, Cindy Bordelon said.

Cats: Under, The Biology II class carefully studies the muscles in the cats body to better understand life.

Study: Brock Badger has to study the catapult to determine the distance that it may go.

Becoming a parent between the ages of 16 or 18 could be a scary thought. Especially when all of the sudden, approximately 150 Nederland High School students become moms and dads. This is what happened in all of Mrs. Gayla DeRouen's Parent Child Development classes.

The two-week flour baby project "is a very important 'hands on' project that enables the Parent Child Development textbook to 'come to life'. The Parent Child Development students learn that parenting skills fall into three areas: physical care, nurturing, and guidance," DeRouen said. To some of the students, nurturing wasn't in their vocabulary.

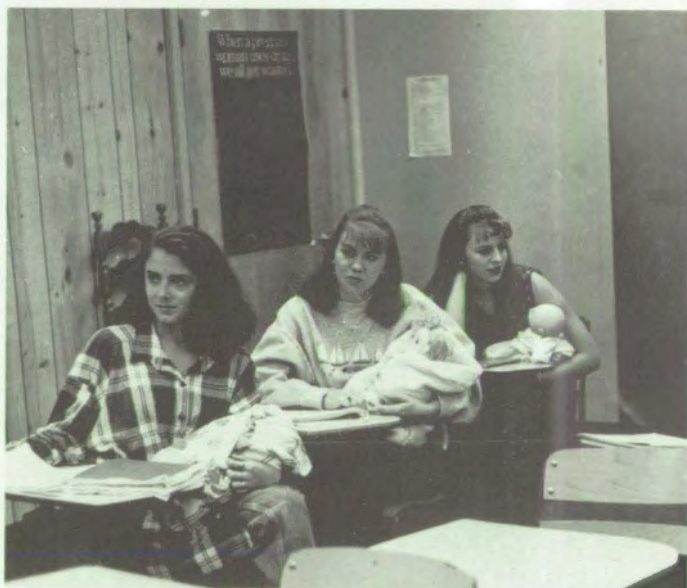

"I didn't take my flour baby anywhere; it always sat at home...with a baby-sitter! I got written up a lot for a lot of different things such as calling others' 'flour babies ugly and 'a thing!' I also got written up for slapping my kid," Chris Mayer, senior, said.

The flour babies the students adopted were healthy and weighed five pounds or more. By the end of this two week period, who knows what the "baby" flour bag looked like. These junior and senior students

"We need a bed bath in room 104 stat," "Have you checked the water containers on station two," and "Are all of the beds in the vacant rooms made?" are all things that many Health Occupation Students listen to every-day.

The students go to hospitals to help in labor and delivery, nursery, and even give bed baths. They also do various things at school throughout the year. One such things is the blood drive they sponsored December 3, 1993.

"We are progressing our study," said Greg Rodania, HOSA President.

The key to learning lies in unlocking a sense of awe for the world around us. Because it's that awe, that fiery curiosity, that helps satisfy our hunger for heroes, turns us into armchair philosophers, and takes us places we've never been before.

First Interstate Bank salutes the teachers who open up young minds to the beauty, complexity and potential of life. And we congratulate the students, young and old, who thrive on the wonder of it all—the lucky ones who understand that living means that learning never stops.

They said "you'll never make it," And they thought that they were right, But I kept on plodding onward, Because I hoped I might, And they shook their heads in wonder, That I lacked the sense to quit, But I held my chin up higher, And I didn't mind a bit. They said "you'll never make it," As the problems multiplied, but I had to make an effort,
And to know at least I tried. So I dug my heels in deeper, Though sometimes my spirits lagged, And I shouldered what was lightest, And the rest I sort of dragged.

And I found to my amazement, At the ending of the day, That what they said I couldn't, I had managed anyway. It only took three little words, "Lord help me," and I rid Myself of doubt, and all they said I'd never do...I did.

Friends are special

Friends are what make high school special. Memories of good friends and good times, these are just as important as the academic knowledge that we take away. Our friends are the people whose shoulder we have cried on, the ones who have cheered our successes and helped us bandage the emotional scrapes. We must keep them close.

Our friends help us to define who we ourselves are. They accept us as we are and do not demand that we change into some ideal that they wish we were. When we let them down, sometimes they forgive us. Even if it means that we must bend, we must keep them close.

However, it is the nature of high school that each year, some of our friends go away, out into the big bad world to become who they must be. Those of us left behind will miss them, and they will miss us. But none of us will forget. Even when distance separates us from our friends, we must keep them close.

The world moves on, changing always. We cannot freeze ourselves in time, however much we might wish to, nor would it be good if we could. However, close your eyes and return to the place you thought you had lost. Keep your friends in your memory. We must keep them close.

We've got SPIRIT

by Amber Armand

Go Big Ned! School Spirit abounds at Netherland High. From the fashion abandon of spirit week to the dedication of football and basketball and soccer players, people are involved. Pep rallies and school dances worked to raise morale throughout the year.

The good old PNG rivalry brought out the bulldog in many NHS students. The screaming at that pep-rallies was deafening as the Bulldog Spirit brought victory over several pseudo-indians. The spirit was strong this year, stronger than in several years past.

A Time to Say Good-bye

The Explorer

Somehow to find a still spot in the noise
Was the frayed inner want, the winding, the frayed hope
Whose tatters he kept hunting through the din
A satin peace somewhere
A wily hush somewhere within.

So tipping down the scrambled halls he set Vague hands on throbbing knobs. There were behind
Only spiraling, high human voices,
The scream nervous affairs,
Wee griefs. And choices.

He feared most of all the choices, that cried to be taken.
There were no bourns.

There were no
quiet rooms.-

Dustin Guldry was hoping for a state-ranked team but it just was not in the stars. He would later sign on with McNeese University where he would major in education. Dustin Guldry was asked what was the most important personal event of the year.

"When I received the MVP award because it was a dream come true. I have worked for that all my life."

Ryan Menchaca, part of the number eight state-ranked baseball team, strikes out. The Bulldogs were the 24-A District Champions.

Quinton Guilbeau, defensive tackle, shut down offenses throughout the district.

Jeremy Burgess, defensive tackle, had many triumphs, including signing with Morningside College in Sioux City, Iowa. But how could he know how it would all turn out at that moment when the season ended.

Phylis Belanger, yearbook photographer, and Jeremy Landry, Bulldog Spirit, catch one of the last pep rallies.

"I think that our senior class has turned a losing tradition at Nederland High School around in everything, not only sports, and has started a tradition that Nederland is the best school in this area. I hope that classes to follow will continue the tradition that we have started."- Greg Fleming

NHS Will Miss Joe Prather

by Marie Prather

Joe Prather was born in Rayne, CA, on July 30, 1937. When he was a year old, the family moved to Texas and settled in the Fannett area where his dad was a rice farmer.

After graduating from high school he served in the United States Marine Corps. In April 1959, he was discharged from the service, and on June 11, 1959, he married Marie Verrett of Orange, TX.

He farmed briefly with his father and then went to work at Great Lakes Carbon Corps. in Port Arthur, TX. During this time, he attended Broussard's Welding School and upon completion went to work at Stilwell Technical Center in Port Arthur in the welding department. Prather obtained his vocational teaching certificate from Texas A&M.

He worked at Stilwell for six years, then came to Nederland High School when the welding program opened where he remained until his death, June 14, 1993.

Prather has two daughters: Juli Poppke and Jennifer Degeyter. He also has five grandchildren: Sarah Balton, Matthew Degeyter, Gina Poppke, Trevor Poppke, and Taylor Degeyter.

Joe's favorite thin was to trawl to the Southwest,

Arizona in particular. This Zuni Indian prayer was read at his wake.

An Old Zuni Indian Prayer

When I am dead, cry for me a little.

Think of me sometimes, but then not too much,

for it is not good for you or your wife or husband or children to dwell too long on the dead.

Think of me now and then as I was in life, and at some moment that is pleasant for you to recall, but then not too long.

For I am at peace,

Let your thoughts be mostly with the living.

Kerr's Commentary

Exciting yearbook edition

I want to first say "Hello" to all my fellow Nederlanders out there. To the Seniors who are struggling to have to enter NHS three months after they have graduated to pick up this book, I give you my sincerest condolences and I'll see ya'll at the reunion.

Some of you, perhaps many of you, are thinking "What's Kerr doing in the yearbook, I kept seeing this 'Kerr's Commentary' in the newspaper last year!" Well, for all ya'll's information, I was the sports editor for both the yearbook and newspaper and I felt like glamorizing myself. Do you have a problem with that?

Well, to wrap this up, I want to thank all of my friends from both the Pilot and Bulldog Beat staffs for a job well done. To Mrs. Regina Cowles, thanks for your teaching, interesting anecdotes, and countless numbers of stories about your life. (The stories we've hard, I'd have to see to believe, though!) To the class of '94 and NHS, I hope you like the sports section. It's the biggest part of the book and we did our best.

Many thanks to the hard working and dedicated people who make this book possible. When the bell rang at two o'clock on Thursday, May 26, school was over for the year for everyone except for the few people who came in for the first two weeks of the summer to finish the last 178 pages of this book. I would like to personally thank Mandy Copeland who came up and worked on every page of this book. If weren't for Mandy's help, we would have numerous grammatical mistakes and tons of half finished pages. Also, I would like to thank Brad Gaugh and Stacey Tyler for coming up for 10 entire days to finish the clubs section (Thanks for fixing the Crime Stoppers' picture). Johnny Simpson and Nicole Aleksandrowicz are two more people whose work and efficiency I really appreciated (Even if we did spend one whole day looking for Nicole's disk and pictures that Johnny lost -- I'm just teasing you Johnny). Another person who helped with every page was Amber Armand who wrote 1/4 of all the yearbook stories in less than a week's time. Also, we wouldn't have been able to meet our deadline if it hadn't have been for the help that we received from next years staff. Lacye Boudreaux, Amber Welch, Mandy Clayton, Brian Forey, Brad Eisenmann, Rebecca Casio, Rachel Dombrosky, Allison Powell, and Stephanie Stafford, thank's a so much for running off pages, punching holes, and pasting up pages. My special thanks go out to Stephanie Bear who entertained us all with her bright hair and tremendous help. Then there were people like Tracey Smith, Michael Kerr, Melissa Lawless, and Jennifer Stewart who stayed here until the bitter end and helped us even though they weren't forced too. Finally, I would like to thank our advisor Mrs. Cowles who kept us calm and entertained with her humorous tales until June 10 (today) which is when we are mailing the book!!

Thanks Again Everyone for being so dedicated and committed, and I'm looking forward to being your editor next year!!! If it hadn't been for all of your help, we wouldn't have gotten the book back until sometime in March!!

Well my friends, I want to thank you for all of your hard work & effort to make this year fun. Through all of the hard work and all of our "gripe sessions" (mostly me griping at you) you have stuck by me and worked to the end. Thank you! This has been a very rough year for most of us on the staff. For instance, the computers crashed and we could not do a #!@% thing! Thanks to all of you we pulled together & got through that little crisis. I owe a special thanks to a few of you just for your ideas on the Senior section. Thank you Corey, Ertn. & Brad for sticking those awful stickers on the backs of the pictures. Thank you Nikki and Tracey for sitting beside me and working on the computer for the section. I also owe our photographers an extra special thanks. Tony and Brandi, you worked under an extreme amount of stress. Even though I pulled you aside to fuss, you still printed out & retook picture after picture. Thank you!, you were probably the two most needed people in this class (except for Suzy and me-Ha, Ha). Suzy, you and I had a really hard job this year. Fortunately we made it through! Good luck to the 1995 staff. You have a real job ahead of you! I hope everything is better for you. Mrs. Cowles, we really had a bad year, didn't we? I hope you don't ever again have the problems we had!! I hope you can find an editor that will be great enough to fill two people's shoes. That will be quite an accomplishment for you to achieve. Good luck to you too. We've all seen this before, but

This is the end, my friend!

All my love and luck.

Well, this is it! To the yearbook staff of 1993-94, it's been a long, hard year, but we finally made it! I've loved working with everyone on the staff this year and I hope that next year it will be just as much fun for the editor. Holly, good luck next year, I know you'll be a great editor, just don't let the rough times get to you! Thanks for all the great memories I have. I know I'll never forget the four years I've spent at NHS and all the friends I've made. I want to thank all of the staff for making this the best year ever! I know it was hard in the beginning, learning how things went, and trying to meet all our deadlines, but we finally did it! To my friends that stood by me no matter what, Nikie and Cherese, thanks for being the best friends I have. I've really loved being at NHS and I know I'll miss it, but for now I would just like to say good luck to next year's staff and to Mrs. Cowles, thanks for this year and I'll miss you!
