"The new tables were different. I don't really understand why we got them, but they are nice," Pope said.

Hallway Hustler

Sophomores Tyler Emmerson and Jason Lacey wait for the first bell to ring to begin the day. The hallways are always packed in between classes, but before school is a different story. Students try run into school as late as possible. Photo by Kehkashan Dadwani

"School is a bummer, but at least I get to hang out with my friends before it. Knowing that I have my friends here with me is a relief," Emmerson said.

Good Times

Seniors Stephanie Calame and Jake Cacioppo dance together at the after game dance. After game dances were the place to be on Friday nights. It is a safe environment to hang out with your friends and dance. Photo by Emily Usoff

"We were living it up that night. I know my friends and I will miss the after game dances," Cacioppo said.

Freshmen Chelsea Yaws, Kayla Haynes and Thereasa Bourque sit and gossip after school. Keeping friends close is a major part of high school life. A person should keep in mind, it is not the quantity, it is the quality. Photo by Chris LaFleur

"We've been friends since sixth grade. These girls are so much fun to hang out with," Haynes said.

Open Your Mind!

For Derek Johnson art class is a place to speak your mind through drawing. In normal classes, a student learns through text books, but in art class, it's all through the hand. Photo by Michelle Rezaie

"I like art class. It's very exciting and let's me express myself," Derek Johnson, freshman, said.

You're in a band?

"It's fun hanging out with your friends while making something that is appreciated by others. The feeling of a crowd of people moshing in front of you is too spiritual to define," Grimes said.

Set Me Free.

"A friend is someone who is always there for you and never lets you down."

-Elizabeth Genardi

As far back as they could remember, freshmen Kayla Neely and Lauren Graser have been friends. They were in Mrs. McGee's kindergarten class at Highland Park when they first met. Ever since that first day of school, the two have been inseparable. Through the years they have lost friends and made new ones, but their friendship never seems to fade.

"We've been friends for about ten years. We get along so well because we are interested in most of the same things," Graser said.

Neely and Graser really value their friendship. They are always at each others house. The girls like to go to the movies and are always spotted shopping at the mall.

"Lauren is such a great friend. We enjoy most of the same things. I can trust and depend on her all the time," Neely said.

She also says that a friend should be someone that you can relate to and compromise with.

"I like the fact that I can make fun of or joke around with Lauren, and she never takes me seriously," Neely said.

Even though they do not see each other as much this year during school, Neely and Graser have still maintained a strong friendship and hope they will continue to do so even after graduation.

Seniors Kristin Theriot and Mallory Sanches visit in the hall before school. Theriot and Sanches have been taking dancing together since the fifth grade, and they are both in Westernaires. "We share a lot of funny memories. Everyday we do stupid stuff, and we always like to goof around," Theriot said. Photo by Wendy Werner.

Juniors Ryan Thompson, Justin Walker and Brian Butler watch a playoff game from the sideline. They, along with junior Ryan Brauning, were part of the Deflators, a group of guys whose job was to set up the dog house for the football players to run through. Senior Heather Vernon definitely has a high sense for fashion. In her spare time, she likes to sew her own clothes and make crafts.

About four years ago, she made her first outfit, but she did not become really serious about design until two years ago.

"My grandmother taught me how to sew, and I guess everything else I learned on my own," Vernon said.

Vernon likes to shop at any place that she can find something cute. Her favorite stores are Torchy's and Urban Outfitters.

"I like to wear clothes with fun patterns or cuts. I love heels! I own tons of shoes. They are definately my favorite," Vernon said.

Besides making her own outfits, Vernon is also involved in FCCLA, French Honor Society, French Club and varsity tennis.

When Vernon graduates from high school, she would like to attend Otis College of Art and Design. She plans to study fashion design.

Joshua Miller, senior, plays left corner for the Bulldogs. His inspiration to play football was David, his brother. In order to get the football team pumped up for the district games, the school holds pep rallies. The entire student body attends the pep rallies.

"The pep rallies really get me ready for the game. The cheerleaders and students yelling gets a person in a great mood," Miller said.

Miller's favorite game was against Ozen. The score was 18-14 in favor of the Bulldogs.

"The team this year really got close, and we all hang out together," Miller said.

Miller's favorite pep rally was Homecoming. He said the elaborate decorations got him even more pumped up than the other pep rallies.

The most anticipated pep rallies were the PN-G & Homecoming pep rallies. In the PN-G pep rally, the teachers also participated.

"PN-G was a great game and the teachers were hilarious at the pep rally," Miller said.

Every year in the Homecoming parade the freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors submit a float in the hopes of winning the float competition. The juniors took their team to the tropics and won first place for this year.

"My friends and I had a lot of fun preparing the float and riding in the parade," Britney Nemeth, junior, said.

Nemeth is one of the many juniors who rode and helped prepare the float for this year's Homecoming parade. The theme is chosen by the Student Council delegates and is then perfected with their classmates.

"Decorating for the Hawaiian theme was a lot of fun. We threw lays to everyone to go along with the theme. Everyone on the float was excited that all our hard work payed off, and we received first place," Nemeth said.

-Ben Davis

Senior, Ben Davis, has been playing on varsity since his 10th grade year. This year his position was tailback.

"I play football because I enjoy it," Davis said.

His most memorable moment this season was when the Dogs had an awesome game against New Caney.

"I didn't let the bad things that happened in the first half bring me down. And in the second half I put my troubles behind me," Davis said.

His favorite game was against West-Orange Stark.

"They were talking trash all through the game and then the Dogs came back and beat them," Davis said.

Davis decided to play football on his own when he got to high school.

"Nobody really inspired me to play high school football. I've been playing since I was little," Davis said.

His favorite professional team is the Dallas Cowboys and his favorite professional player is Bo Jackson.

I was very excited to be picked. It was a great honor!
-Allie Crommett

Allie Crommett, senior, watched the Westernaires march into the traditional heart as the band loudly plays "Grandioso." She held on to her brother Micheal Crommett for support as she nervously walked into the center of the heart. Her heart was pounding. Her hands were shaking. "Whose name will be called?" she silently wondered. Suddenly, she heard her name.

Allie Crommett, senior, was voted Homecoming Queen by her peers. Her sophomore year Crommett moved here from Port Neches-Groves. Despite being a new student Crommett was still elected to Homecoming Court.

"[My most memorable experience was my sophomore year when I was elected on Homecoming Court. I was really excited, and it was an honor since I just moved here," Crommett said.

Crommett has been on court every year since her sophomore year.

"[I felt] honored, and I was so surprised and excited that I won," Crommett said.

Homecoming is a long time tradition with many different activities. Organizations such as the marching band, Westernaires, cheerleaders choir and many others are involved in the Homecoming events.

"I loved being a part of the Homecoming tradition not only in being on court and making Queen but by being a cheerleader," Crommett said.

With her cameras packed and her rescue gear in hand, Melissa Terracina, sophomore, rushes off to school to resuscitate the students with low school spirit. There is a lot of work to be done to get the Dogs ready for their game with PN-G.

"Spirit Week is my favorite week of the school year because I enjoy being able to take pictures of all my friends being decked out," Terracina said.

Terracina also enjoys Spirit Week because of its effect on the student body.

"It really gets everyone excited about the game and influences school spirit. The past two years have been so much fun to dress up," Terracina said.

Terracina takes as many pictures as possible so she can have several memories.

"I always allow myself to have at least two cameras to take pictures of my friends throughout the week," Terracina said.

On celebrity day, Terracina dressed as a rescue worker and Cody Clarke, sophomore, was her twin on twin day. Terracina also dressed up for PN-G Nerd Day, Black and Gold Day and, of course, she helped the Dogs go to war against their enemy on Camo Day.

Junior Dustin Hood was definitely one of the star players in the Nederland vs PN-G game. He was quarterback and offensive captain for the team.

Although the team lost 14-23, they still had a good game. They did not let the Indians have an easy win.

"I felt the team's overall performance was good. We played a very tough game, but, unfortunately, came up on the losing end," Hood said.

Hood helped score a touchdown when he threw a 16-yard pass to Trent Hanley, senior, in the end zone.

The Dogs practiced hard all year for this much anticipated game.

"To prepare for the game, I watch a film of the team we're playing and work hard in practice. When you play PN-G, you always have to do a little extra preparing," Hood said.

"Janna is a sweet girl that deserves everything she receives."
- Bryce Gregg

One Monday, before practice began, the senior football players gathered to make a final group decision. They had to decide which girl had shown the most support for the season. She had to have been to the games, helped the boys celebrate victories and given comfort when they were defeated. Only a girl with this kind of spirit can be chosen as football sweetheart. After a great deal of discussion, Janna Allport, senior, received the honor.

"It was very shocking, I really didn't expect it, but it was awesome. Thanks guys," Allport said.

Allport dedicated a lot of her time to making the season one to remember. Throughout the football season Allport and the other cheerleaders gave the team a great deal of support at each game.

"Janna is a great girl that is always doing things for the team and it is highly appreciated by everyone on the team," Bryce Gregg, senior, said.

Mallory Suire, senior, was definitely one of the star players in the Powder Puff game. Suire was a great asset to the senior team. She played as a quarterback during the game, although this was not her position at practice.

The seniors defeated the juniors 25-13, but the juniors did not let the seniors have an easy win.

"I think we [seniors] did really great! The juniors were a really tough competition though," Suire said.

The seniors practiced on Tuesdays and Thursdays for this extravagant event.

"I attended all of the practices, but I did not really prepare myself for the game. I just wanted to have fun," Suire said.

"Being with all of my friends at our last prom was the best thing."

- Bonnie Neuman

Taking his final walk down the center aisle, all eyes were focused on him. He could feel his hands start to tremble as his arms parted from his partner's. He stepped onto the stage. He was now anxiously waiting to hear the sound of the envelope open and for the Prom to be recognized. Silence filled the room. At last, David Lindsey, senior, was announced king.

"I was shocked and very excited," Lindsey said.

Maggie Baklik, junior, accompanied Lindsey to prom for his senior year. Lindsey, along with his date and a group of friends, gathered four hours prior to prom in order to allow enough time to take pictures and visit with one another. After pictures, the group rode to Papadeaux's for dinner.

Lindsey arrived at prom shortly after his dinner to enjoy his last prom with the people he enjoyed to be around the most, his friends.

"Dressing nice and being around all of my friends was the best part of the night," Lindsey said.

As a last minute decision, he rushes to find the proper attire. He becomes nervous as he realizes that the chances of a tuxedo being available is slim to none. As he sat on his couch thinking, an idea for an outfit came to mind. Although it may not have been too proper, it fit his personality perfectly. Ashton Cummings, senior, made a fashionable appearance in a hula skirt and coconut top to his senior prom.

"I thought of it at the last minute, no tux was around, and the outfit was handy at the time," Cummings said.

Everyone was stunned by his appearance, and there was no outfit at prom anything like his. Cummings danced and had a good time mingling with the crowd as the time went by.

"Everyone was dressed so nice, and it was a lot of fun," Cummings said.

After prom everyone had a good time celebrating the night away. People said their good-byes and departed to the beach or lake to finish off the rest of the special night.

"I went to a party with all of my friends afterwards and then home to get some sleep," Cummings said.

- Steven Creader

Waiting in anticipation for the announcement of your name. You close your eyes. Take a deep in a breath. Remember all the good times you had. Then it happens. They announce your name. You are finally a graduate.

For many seniors memories of high school and friends they made ran through their minds as they waited on their names to be called. One in particular was senior Steven Creader. For most seniors the best moment was when they received their diplomas.

"[Graduation was great because] I love to make my loved ones cry and getting the diploma felt good," Creader said.

Like many seniors, Creader will be leaving Nederland, but, unlike many seniors, he will be headed off to basic training for the Airborne Infantry. After training he will be stationed in Germany for about four years. Even with so much to look forward to, there are still certain things about NHS that he will miss.

"[I am going to miss] playing hacky sack in the band hall during lunch, being in drum line, Aundria Crossett and Mrs. Curl because she made learning fun!" Creader said.

Creader's plans for the future include being in the Airborne Infantry and, hopefully, someday becoming a state trooper.

After working hard for four years and doing enough homework to make you want to scream, you wait for the moment when they say that you are a cum laude graduate.

For graduating seniors like Tyler Childs, this is the moment they have been waiting for. It has been a long road to success. Graduating in the top five percent of his class and with honors, there are things Childs will miss.

"I will miss the percussion section," Childs said.

Childs is also leaving behind many memories made during his high school years.

"My favorite memories would have to be playing hacky sack in the band hall during lunch," Childs said.

Students have many different opinions about what is the best part of school.

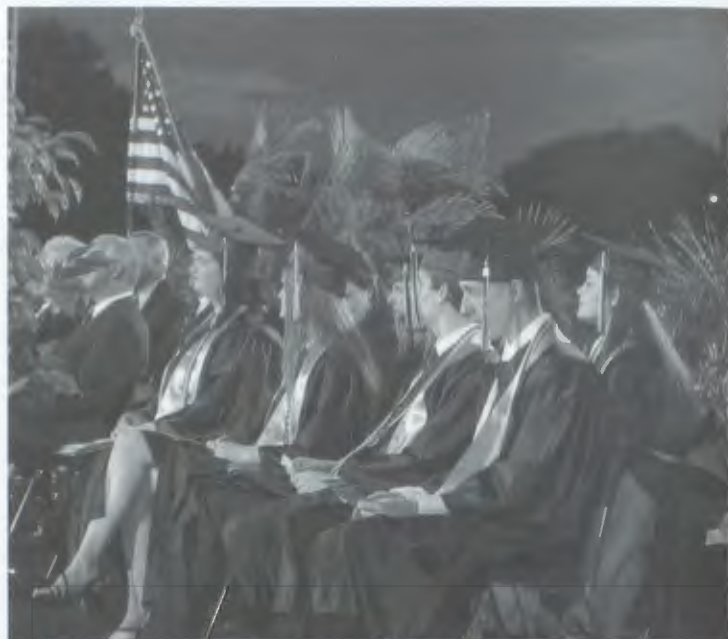

"The best things about NHS would have to be my friends and the cool teachers," Childs said.

Childs plans on attending Lamar Beaumont to earn a degree in electrical engineering and possibly try law school.

Assistant Principal Stuart Kieschnick helped out the school in chaperoning the senior class at project celebration. Kieschnick and other teachers, as well as the senior parents, worked hard in earning money and decorating the school for the class of 2004 on their graduation night.

Project celebration was an idea thought up by the faculty and parents for a way for the graduates to have a good time and to stay out of harms way.

Different activities took place within the school such as several games, massages, manicures and tons of food. The games that were played in teams or by individuals gave the students a chance to earn money for the auction at the end of the night.

The students were encouraged to stay until the end by a drawing of several grand prizes, such as a plasma screen TV and two full paid trips to Florida and New York. At 4:30 a.m. the students who still remained left with sixty dollars in cash as well as memories that will last them a life time.

It is hard work standing in front of hundreds of people and giving your all no matter what the weather is like. This is what a cheerleader goes through almost every day during football season. She is easily overlooked as a hard worker.

Bonnie Nueman, senior, has been in cheerleading since the eighth grade when she made the squad at Central Middle School. She has since pursued her dream of being an NHS cheerleader.

"I wanted to be in cheerleading so bad when I was little, and I just worked really hard to make it," Nueman said.

The responsibility of being in cheerleading these days is a little more than it used to be with competitions, long practices, and all of the dedication needed to be a part of the squad. Nueman is involved in Student Council, National Honor Society, B.P.A. (Business Professionals of America) and church related activities. She, along with the rest of the squad, still makes time for cheerleading. The week of Homecoming is difficult, but their hard work pays off at the homecoming game.

"Homecoming week is the hardest part of cheerleading because of the late and stressful practices and the pressure of carrying the Bulldog tradition," Nueman said.

She is sorry to say her cheerleading days will be over once she gets to college, but she will never forget the memories.

Stevie Brisendine, junior, was the head cheerleader for the junior varsity cheerleading squad. Brisendine has been a cheerleader for four years. When she was on the squad for the Central Canines in eighth grade, she was also voted head cheerleader.

"The hardest part about being head cheerleader is the responsibility. You have to make sure everything is taken care of for your squad," Brisendine said.

Her favorite part about cheerleading is the dancing. Brisendine enjoys learning and making up new dances. She has been taking tumbling and cheerleading classes for about seven years.

"My mom was a cheerleader, and I always played around in her uniform when I was a little kid. She was the person who inspired me to want to become a cheerleader. I wanted to be just like her," Brisendine said.

One of her favorite things to do besides cheerleading is scuba diving. Brisendine would like to attend Texas A&M University and the University of Delaware. She plans to be a veterinarian when she graduates from college.

To Peter Roberts, senior, being chosen as a Golden Guardian was a great accomplishment for his last year in high school. This was Roberts' second consecutive year to be a member.

"I enjoy it a lot, but I mainly joined because my friends were in it and I thought it might be fun," Roberts said.

As a Golden Guardian, Roberts, along with the other members, was held accountable for several things. They assisted the cheerleaders with stunts and performances, helped hang up signs, cheered on the football team and helped keep the fans in good spirits.

Roberts is an A honor roll student and is dedicated to making good grades to help keep him a Golden Guardian. He also enjoys spending time with his family as well as being a Golden Guardian.

"I like to go hang out with the guys and watch college football with my dad when I'm not practicing," Roberts said.

Roberts participated in many of the school activities to show his loyalty. He attended all of the football games, as well as some of the dances. As this is his last year as a Golden Guardian, he dedicated his time and effort to making his last year one to remember.

"I like pep rallies because you perform for people who normally wouldn't get to see it [the performance] at the game, like the football players and a bunch of the students who don't go to the games."- Courtney Reinstra

The sky is black. Stadium lights blind drum major Courtney Reinstra as she steps out onto the field. Excitement and anticipation fill her heart. This is why she spent all of those hours practicing. It is time to show the other team's fans everything she has.

"We're always doing something. We're either doing stand routines or we're putting make-up on for half time. I have to make sure that everybody's standing in their spot. The games go really fast because you're always doing something," Reinstra said.

Reinstra became a Goldenette as a sophomore. Through the years, she has made many lasting friendships.

"I have a lot of friends because of twirling. I'm still friends with a lot of the twirlers from C.O. [Wilson Middle School]. I have a lot of Port Neches friends and a lot of people who are in lower grades," Reinstra said.

Though she likes to hang out with her friends, Reinstra's favorite thing is performing.

"It's fun just when you're with all your friends and you can just goof off and stuff, but I really like to perform. It's fun whenever you're good at it. Whenever you start to get good, you can do a lot of more cool things," Reinstra said.

Standing on the side of the field, lights shining bright, this is what all the afterschool practices are for. You hear the whistle. Your heart is jumping. Marching out you close your eyes, take a deep breath and play the first note as you march down the field.

Victoria Villemetz, senior, has been in band since the sixth grade. She plays the alto saxophone and the clarinet. Villemetz has been in Honors band for four years and section leader for three years, Jazz band and Band Council president for one year.

Villemetz has gone to All-Region six times and gone to Area three times. She also teaches private lessons to students from Central and C.O. Wilson Middle schools.

[After I graduate I am going to miss] joking around with Courtney Rienstra every day in band for seven years," Villemetz said.

Along with band, Villemetz is involved in many different school activities including Key Club, Teen Team City, Terrific Nederland Teens, National Honor Society, German Club and German Honor Society.

"[One of my most memorable moments in band was] when I got to play my first solo in front of my parents," Villemetz said.

Looking out at the crowd, taking a deep breath, getting ready to sing her heart out. This is something Katie Rich, sophomore, gets to look forward to doing many times throughout the year. For Rich, her favorite time in choir is practicing.

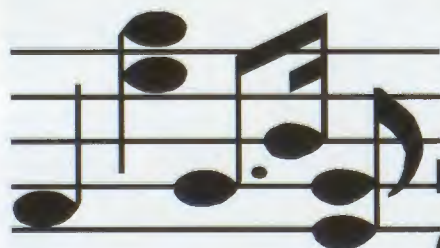

"I love spending time in class singing with out having to worry about being in front of a crowd and being able to just hang out with our friends," Rich said.

The choir spent a few months practicing for their spring performance. It was exciting for them because they actually liked the costumes and the characters they got to play.

"It was very exciting to get up there and sing for our parents and show them how hard we had been working," Rich said.

Choir can help you out with other aspects of your life.

"Once I got into choir, I became more confident as a person; you have to confront your fear of being in front of people and just enjoy being around people more," Rich said.

Sing-Along-Songs Notes alto

Every year choir competes in contests. The singers have had a lot of fun in these events. "We were all excited because the contest was about to be over when we finished singing and dancing that day," Julia Bean, sophomore said. Photo by Kaky Dadwani

At the performances the singers get to dress up according to the characters they are portraying. The costumes are said to be better each year. "I loved our costumes this year, and I loved being able to be someone else and still be able to sing and have a great time," Kayla Kimball, sophomore said. Photo by Kehkashan Dedwani

Solo and ensemble is a fun competition for these students to compete in every year. This has helped many students with their individual vocal skills. "When we are at solo and ensemble, I get to build my self-confidence more as a vocalist by myself instead of with a group," Amanda Bean, sophomore, said. Photo by Kaky Dadwani

Riding in the bus and chatting with friends is one of the fun parts about being in choir. Choir students often take trips to sing for different events. Standing behind the curtains, senior Gina Poppke takes a deep breath. She gets in her position for the first song. The curtains open and the music begins. Poppke and other Ned & Company members start their performance.

Poppke has been singing since she was a little girl. She has been in Ned & Company for two years.

"Ever since I was a little kid and I saw Ned & Company perform, I wanted to be in it," Poppke said.

Ned & Company does not really have a theme that they carry through out the whole year. They sing a variety of songs.

"I don't really have a favorite song. I enjoy doing them all," Poppke said.

All seniors are usually on the front row during performances, and all the other members fill up the middle or back row. Most of the seniors miss being on the back row.

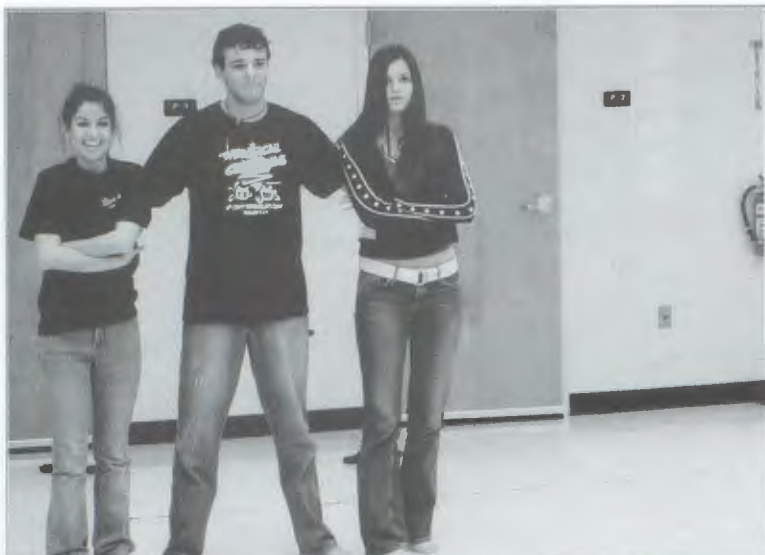

Poppke's most memorable moment this year was when Ned & Company was on tour and they were singing "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," and she went and picked a guy out of the audience.

"The guy said he really enjoyed it because he was in the Army," Poppke said.

The Academic Decathlon team won second place at regional competition and advanced to state competition for the third consecutive year. Senior Dawn Katz is a one year member of Academic Decathlon and a three-year-member and captain of the Debate team.

"Being in these clubs, I have acquired skills and other things that will help me in my future career," Katz said.

Aside from ACADEC and Debate practices, Katz is an A-B honor roll student and is a member of National Honor Society, Spanish Honor Society, Key Club and a four-year-member of the girls basketball team. Katz is currently the captain of the debate team, which she debates in competitions and helps others out on the team.

“I love being in the DECA program. It's a great learning experience.”
-Kasie Lemke

Now that she has gathered all of her teacher recommendations and filled out her application, Kasie Lemke, senior, waits eagerly to see if she will be selected to be in the DECA program for the following year. Lemke finally recieved her answer and was accepted into DECA her junior year.

Lemke got involved with DECA to be independent from her parents and to come to school for only half a day.

Working at Jiffy Trophy on Twin City Highway, Lemke does many things including filing and putting trophies together for different activities.

“[I joined Deca because] I wanted to show my parents that I was responsible and show them that I could support myself a little bit,” Lemke said.

Slapping her alarm clock off at six-thirty a.m. Lisa Phan, senior, rushes to get ready. Phan had to be at the school by 7:20 each morning so that her transportation to the hospital did not leave her.

Being involved in HOSA (Health Occupation Students of America), Phan had a full morning planned out for her everyday schedule. She, along with twelve other HOSA II members, made rounds at Mid-Jefferson Hospital as a part of their class.

The first six weeks of school, the students did class work in order to allow them to become familiar with the rules and regulations that were used at the hospital. They were then allowed to take a CNA (Certified Nurse Assistant) exam in which they could earn their certification.

"It was a really great opportunity for me to get a head start in the medical field, and it has really helped me a lot," Phan said.

Phan spent all of her extra time out side of school studying for the Area Leadership Conference in which she competed in Medical Math and the Kaiser Permanente Healthcare Issue Exam in Houston. She placed sixth in Medical Math and then went on to state for the Kaiser Exam.

"Meeting all the people at the convention was a lot of fun," Phan said.

Kim Spittler

Volleyball is a sport dominated by females like junior Kim Spittler.

Spittler has played volleyball for five years. Coming in as a freshman, she received the new-comer-of-the-year award. She started on the varsity team and has continued to play on the varsity level throughout her sophomore and junior year.

"It has meant a lot to me to be on varsity for three years now. I love the game, and I enjoy being able to play such good competition," Spittler said.

Spittler plays as a middle hitter. She is known for her hitting skills and has received first team all-district as a sophomore and as a junior.

As a junior, Spittler had 219 kills out of 658 attempts and blocked 171 balls.

"Being on varsity is a great experience, it helped me learn how to play as a team. It has been tons of fun," Spittler said.

Ginny Nutt

Senior

"I put my heart and soul into every game, and I'm going to miss everything about volleyball."

Erica Stevenson

Senior

"My senior year was a lot of fun. I will miss tons of things, most importantly volleyball."

Laurie Crawford

Senior

"It is great knowing that it's all almost over. Then again it's the scariest thing ever."

Toni Leach

Head-coach

"I feel like the team improved each game. They had to adjust to playing 3-5 games and played each team competitively."

Senior Erica Stevenson gets ready to receive the ball. This is Stevenson's first year on varsity, and she had 112 kills for this season. "It was fun while it lasted, but I'm going to miss everyone," Stevenson said. Photo by Michelle Rezaie

Ending the season, Josh Waite, senior, helped the dogs go out with a 7 - 10 district win. He plays as receiver, kicker, punter for the Bulldogs. The physical contact and the fast pace of the game made him want to play football.

"Brian Spell was a great coach, I loved playing for him, and he really inspired me to do my best," Waite said.

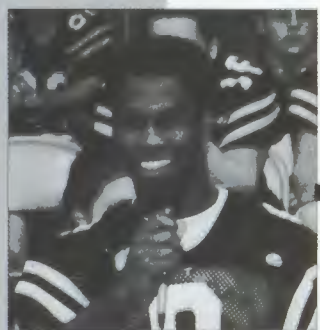

Waite also plays on the varsity baseball team. He has received many awards including all district receiver and gold team kicker award.

"We had a good season going three rounds deep in the playoffs. As a senior [I] had hoped for more but overall it was a great season," Waite said.

Weslee Weaver

James Daniel
Junior

"I feel proud to be a Nederland Bulldog because the coaches and teachers are great."

Feeling the wind go through your helmet as you catch the ball for the winning touchdown is one of the greatest things about being in football.

Ever since eighth grade at C.O. Wilson Middle School, sophomore Jesse Keffer has been playing football. He joined because his dad wanted him to play a sport, and he had always dreamed of being a football player.

"I have always wanted to play football since I was a little boy," Keffer said.

Keffer gets most of his practice from playing football with family and neighborhood friends.

"I loved playing with my family because it was great to spend quality time with them," Keffer said.

When playing football many players have a special memory or a game that stands out from the rest.

"The game against LC-M was my favorite game. I played the whole game as linebacker. The defense was great, the offense was good and there was an adrenaline rush throughout the whole game," Keffer said.

Keffer plans on playing football for the rest of his high school years.

At the trainer tries to cool the team down, the coach talks to them after they play their first game. Trainers went to all the games to help keep the players in good shape. "We all had a great first game, and we were trying to recover from the fight we had just put up with," Adam Westbrook, freshman, said. Photo by Emily DeRoche

Sophomore T.J. Middleton listens to the coach for advice about the game. This advice helped the players figure out what they needed to do. "I was listening to the coach give us a pep talk. We did awesome that game so it had to have worked. I played third guard. Me and the other linemen blocked well for the backfield, who did well also," Middleton said. Photo by Emily Usoff

Sophomore Gabe Mcleod runs the ball during a game against Silsbee. It took high endurance and great coordination to get a catch like that. "That was one of the several catches I made at tight end this year, we also won that game," Mcleod said. Photo by Emily Usoff

Tavis Dabel, freshman, is tackled after a long run from the Silsbee team. This is something that can be expected to happen when playing football. "Even though it wasn't my best game, I still did well. It was a very intense game," Dabel said. Photo by Brittany Walker

Sophomore Cody Thompson walks away with the trainer at his side after a hard hit from another player. Many injuries are acquired throughout the season. "When I was about to sack the quarterback someone came up and missed the tackle and hit me," Thompson said. Photo by Emily Usoff

CHELSEA YAWS

Chelsea Yaws is a freshman runner on the varsity Cross Country team. Yaws has been running long distance since the fourth grade. At Central Middle School, she ran on the track team in seventh and eighth grade.

At the district Cross Country meet held at Doornbos Park, Yaws placed first.

"I've only come in first place in one other meet, but that was when I was on the JV team," Yaws said.

After her huge success in her first meet, she was moved up to varsity for the remaining meets.

Running is one of Yaw's favorite hobbies.

"I love to run because it's fun, and I like to stay in shape," Yaws said.

Other than running, she participates in Student Council activities and other sports.

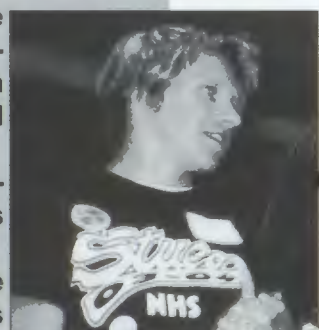

On average, Yaws and the rest of the team runs about four or five miles a day depending on whether or not they have a hard or easy workout.

Yaws plans to continue running throughout her years at NHS.

Clay Freeman

"My favorite meet was at A&M because the college ladies were digging me."

Colby Bedwell
freshman

"I like running long distances because you have such an advantage having been trained in Nederland with teammates that help you out."

senior

"My main focus is track. Cross country is for getting me physically and mentally ready for the upcoming track season."

Eric Saurwein

"Swimming is awesome and is a great sport to get into. It's a great exercise as well as a great rush."

- Whitney Sonnier

Cody Hall, junior, has been on the swim team for three years. Many people on the swim team start out swimming their freshman year.

"I started swimming when I was a freshman, and it has been a great ride since," Hall said.

Hall has been to many meets, and he has had his moments of glory. Many of the swimmers have most of their fun at the swim meets, but the others have more fun after, when they are just blowing off steam.

"When we would go to regional swim meets, it would be fun when we got to hang out at the mall and just walk around and act stupid," Hall said.

There are many advantages and disadvantages to being on the swim team. Some of the swimmers just like the advantages of being on the team.

"I like some of the advantages that you get like good exercise, get to go to new places, have fun and become pretty close to everybody else on the team. Disadvantages, on the other hand, is having to commit most of your time and life into it, and you can't drink carbonated water," Hall said.

Dribbling the ball down the court, Brittney Nemeth, junior, hears the screams of the fans. She knows time is running out. At the basket, she jumps and shoots the ball. She closes her eyes and hopes the ball makes it in the hoop in time. Suddenly, she hears a soft swoosh of the ball going in the net just as the buzzer sounds. She has won the game!

Nemeth has been in basketball since her freshman year.

"I love being in basketball, and I loved being able to play," Nemeth said.

Nemeth was on the JV team her freshman year and on varsity team her sophomore and junior year.

"Being on varsity is a great experience. I love representing my school. I love the game," Nemeth said.

Sam Grubbs Freshman

It's the fourth quarter. Lady Dogs are down by two. The point guard looks up; she makes a quick pass to her teammate. Elizabeth Genurdi, junior, jumps, shoots and scores. The girls are now back in the game.

Genurdi, nicknamed E.B., has been playing high school basketball since her freshmen year.

Genurdi plays point guard for the JV team and averages six points a game.

"I play basketball because it is a lot of fun," Genurdi said.

Her most memorable moment was when the JV scrimmaged the varsity, and she shot a 3-pointer with three seconds left in the game. Her favorite game was the PN-G game.

"Rebecca Ferguson inspired me to play basketball. She inspired me because she is a great player," Genurdi said.

Her favorite basketball team is the Houston Comets, and her favorite basketball player is Lisa Leslie of the Los Angeles Sparks.

Sophomore Kevin Reavis catches the ball with seconds left on the clock. He looks around at his teammates and knows what he must do. He glares into the eyes of his opponent and fakes right. He flies down the court and throws the ball with all of his might. The air is still as the crowd and the players hold their breath, watching the ball. Reavis breathes a sigh of relief as the ball falls through the hoop and the crowd screams.

Reavis began playing basketball ten years ago for "the love of the game."

"I just liked it," he said.

Reavis enjoyed the 2003-2004 season the most when his team won.

"[This season, we had] more teamwork, and we won more than three games," Reavis said.

He liked it even more when the players won a game by working together.

"I like it when we all work together to win as a team instead of one person scoring all the points," Reavis said.

His favorite game this season was against rival Port Neches-Groves.

"We beat them, and I scored a lot of points," Reavis said.

His favorite thing to do in basketball is to dunk the ball, and he loves home games.

"We had the crowd to support us, not against us," he said.

Reavis does not plan to continue playing basketball in college, but he does intend to play soccer.

"I enjoy all the running around and the aggressiveness this game demands," Thompson said.

Thompson is involved in JV baseball and varsity football. Thompson is a fan of the Los Angeles Lakers, Kobe Bryant, but his favorite team is the Houston Rockets. Watching basketball throughout the years is what inspired Thompson to play.

Powerlifting Toughens It Up

Powerlifting is a sport that requires mental and physical strength.

Freshman Mandy Dowden has been in powerlifting for only one year, but ever since she started she can not quit.

"Everyone has always told me I have a lot of strength and could do anything I put my mind to," Dowden said.

Dowden's strongest event was squats. Even though this was her strongest event, it was not easy for her to get to the point she was towards the end of the season.

"I was up at school every morning at 6:30 and did a routine workout. At the beginning of the year, my max was 165 lbs. By the end of the year, my max was 265 lbs," Dowden said.

Because she was a new comer to the team, she looked up to her older teammates. One in particular was Daniel Tompkins.

"Daniel Tompkins was so determined to reach his goals and always did his best, that is why I admired him," Dowden said.

Dowden plans to be part of the powerlifting team for the next three years.

"I had a lot of fun, and I have more goals that I would like to reach next year," Dowden said.

Holly Lawton Freshman

T.J. Middleton Sophomore

Jordan Rash Junior

The origin of the game of golf has never been clearly established, but golf as we know it today originated from a game played on the eastern coast of Scotland in the Kingdom of Fife during the 15th century. Players would hit a pebble around a natural course of sand dunes, rabbit runs, and tracks using a stick or primitive club.

If the earliest days of golf on the eastern coast of Scotland, players used primitive equipment to play the game in a rather haphazard and casual manner. While players initially carved their own clubs and balls from wood, they soon turned to skilled craftsmen to produce competitive equipment.

Many other cultures also played a game closely related to golf. Romans during the reign of Caesar played a game that required striking a feather-stuffed ball with club-shaped branches. The Dutch played a game on their frozen canals in the 15th century. Cross-Country variations were popular in France and Belgium.

In 1456 golf was banned in Scotland because it interfered with the practice of archery which was vital to the defense effort. Nevertheless the Scots continued to brave the opposition of both Parliament and church by playing the game on the seaside courses called links.

Scotland is the home of the world's oldest golf course, St. Andrews, which was used as early as the 16th century. The first 18-hole course in the United States, the Chicago Golf Club, was founded near Wheaton, Ill., in 1893

Fawn Turk, sophomore, runs down the black paved run way at Nederland's high jumping pit. Running as fast as she can, she throws her poll up and plants it into the ground. With all her strength, she lifts her body up and over the bar, landing with a soft thud on the mat.

"I want to be a trendsetter. Not very many girls do this sport, and I knew that I could do anything that I put my mind to," Turk said.

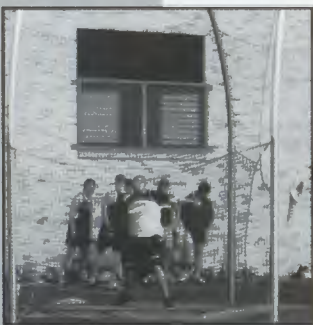

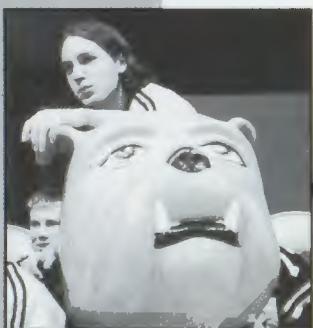

Turk participates in volleyball, basketball, club soccer and cross country, but she excels in one particular sport, track. Her highest pole vaulting jump was nine feet which she made during practice.

"I've won a countless number of meets, but my favorite was the regional meet when I was a freshman because not many ninth graders make it to regionals," Turk said.

She placed sixth place at the regional meet her freshman year. This year she failed to qualify for regionals in this event, but instead qualified in the 300-meter low hurdles.

"Pole vaulting might seem easy, but every little move counts. You have to be very persistent," Turk said.

Her ultimate goal in track is to go to state and break the record. Turk wants to go to Louisiana State University when she graduates because they have been the number one track team in the nation for six years running.

What a Season

Practice makes perfect.

It is the last game of the season. There are two outs. Bases are loaded and freshman Michelle Murff is in the batter's box with a full count. This is Murff's first year playing softball for the high school, but she has been playing for nine years.

"Playing high school softball was fun. We had a great season, and I enjoyed getting to know all the girls on the team," Murff said.

Murff is the first baseman on the JV team and was moved up for a couple of games on varsity.

First base is one of the most important positions on the field. The first baseman needs to be ball smart and pay attention to what is going on in the field.

"Our defense this year was really good, although we could have worked a little more on certain areas," Murff said.

Michelle Murff Freshman

"We had a great season. It was a lot of fun."

Ashleigh Williams Freshman

"We practiced hard, but we had a lot of fun."

Christina Rogers Sophomore

Kristen Botello Sophomore

"As a team we gave it one hundred percent on and off the field, in practice or at a game."

Joellen Locke, freshman, rounds first base after being thrown out by a member of the LC-M Lady Bears. The Lady Dogs worked on their batting skills every day in practice. "Our batting this season was pretty good. We had a lot of good hits, and we improved every game," Locke said. Photo by Shatique Metoyer

Left fielder Lori Sturdivant, freshman, backs up the base as the play is being made in case an over throw is made. When the ball is hit and a throw is being made to first base, the outfielder is responsible for backing up the baseman. "In practice the outfielders worked everyday backing up throws made by the infielders," Sturdivant said. Photo by Shatique Metoyer throws. Slide. Steal. Make good throws. Have fun.

Sophomore Brittney Tompkins rounds first and heads towards second for a double. The team works on their base running skills at the end of practice every day in order to make sure they have enough speed and skill to get where they are going, but, most importantly, making sure they keep their eyes on the third base coach the whole time after passing first base. "We really advanced this year with our base running. We had a good coach to teach us the skill," Tompkins said. Photo by Shatique Metoyer

Freshman Amanda Crim heads towards second base for a play. When the ball is hit towards second base, either the short stop or the second baseman covers the base depending on what side of the field the ball is hit. "I enjoyed playing second base this year, but it's a position that you have to know what you're doing on the field," Crim said. Photo by Shatique Metoyer

It's the bottom of the ninth. The bases are loaded. There are two outs. You have two strikes against you. The pitcher winds up. The ball is coming at you. You swing. The ball flies far into left field, over the fence. You have just won the game for the team.

Jake Daughtry, senior, has played baseball since he was six years old. He started playing baseball for fun and has continued to play all through high school where he played as a third baseman during the season.

"My most memorable moment was when I hit the home run last year on the junior varsity team," Daughtry said.

Daughtry's favorite baseball player is Kevin Millar because he came out of this area and went to play for the Red Socks in the World Series. Daughtry has also considered playing pro ball.

"My dad influences me to keep playing ball because he never gives up on me," Daughtry said.

Daughtry plans to attend Texas A&M University and major in business.

Junior Craig Harris has been playing baseball for twelve years. He started playing because he liked the uniforms that the team got to wear.

"[I have continued to play baseball because] my father is always on my back, and if he wouldn't, I wouldn't have keep my focus " Harris said.

Like many players Harris hopes to play in the major leagues someday. Harris helped the junior varsity team to a second place finish in district play.

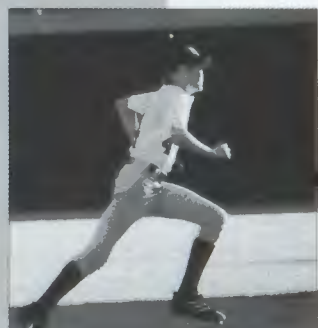

"I think there was a sense of unity in the dugout that we haven't had in the past," Harris said.

Harris continues to play thanks to encouragement from his family. He would like to attend Texas A&M University and play college ball.

THE HISTORY OF TENNIS

Although the origins of tennis are not clear, many experts believe tennis, then called lawn tennis, was invented in 1873 by Major Walter Clopton Wingfield, a British army officer.

Although Wingfield claimed that he modeled the game, which he called Sphairistiké (Greek for "playing at ball") after an ancient Greek game, many authorities believe that he adapted the principles of the popular English games of court tennis, squash racquets and badminton for outdoor play.

Early players preferred to call Wingfield's game tennis-on-the-lawn or lawn tennis.

The game was introduced to Bermuda in 1873 and from Bermuda was brought to the United States by Mary Ewing Outerbridge of Staten Island, New York.

The first game of lawn tennis in the United States was probably played in 1874 on the grounds of the Staten Island Cricket and Baseball Club.

The new sport soon caught the attention of the people and was a frequently played game. Tennis soon turned into a professional game and has become a favorite for many.

COCOA BROWNIES

Soft butter, for greasing the pan
Flour, for dusting the buttered pan
4 large eggs
1 cup sugar, sifted
1 cup brown sugar, sifted

8 ounces melted butter
1 1/4 cups cocoa, sifted
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1/2 cup flour, sifted
1/2 teaspoon kosher salt

Preheat the oven to 300 degrees F. Butter and flour an 8-inch square pan.

In a mixer fitted with a whisk attachment, beat the eggs at medium speed until fluffy and light yellow. Add both sugars. Add remaining ingredients and mix to combine.

Pour the batter into a greased and floured 8-inch square pan and bake for 45 minutes. Check for doneness with the tried-and-true toothpick method: a toothpick inserted into the center of the pan should come out clean. When it's done, remove to a rack to cool. Resist the temptation to cut into it until it's mostly cool.

-Micah Distefano

Cameron Boudreaux, sophomore, has enjoyed being in the sun since he was little. By the age of seven he was working in the garden with his grandfather. Because of this, Horticulture class was a great elective for him to take.

“I like to hunt, fish and be outdoors,” Boudreaux said.

Mowing grass, pulling weeds, planting gardens and eating vegetables are just a few things you do in the horticultural planting class.

The class works outside as much as possible, and according to Julie Wagner, teacher, the students are often the first to get a tan.

Boudreaux is rarely inside the classroom doing book work. There are many things to do and tend to in the garden. He is graded by how much he helps in the class and puts into making the gardens successful.

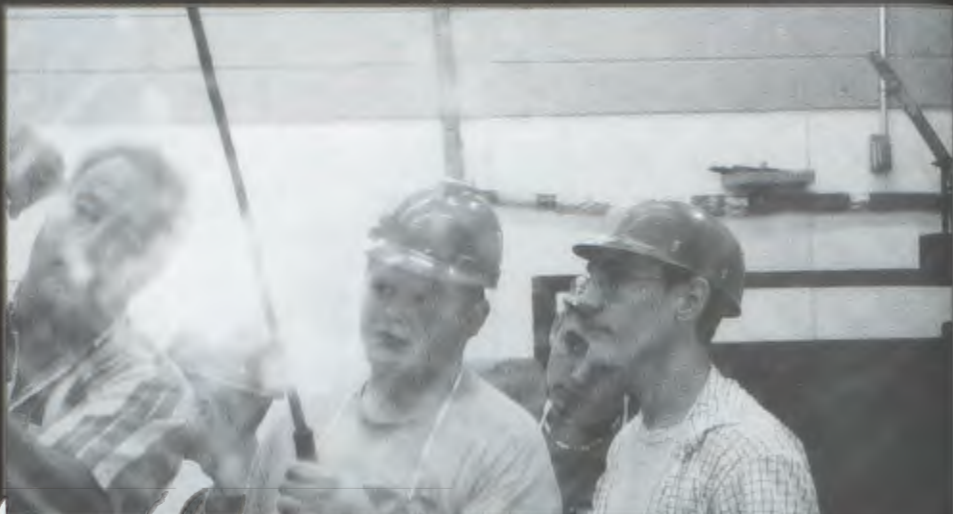

But do not think that it is all work and no play in the class. For all the students hard work, they are rewarded. After the students work in the vegetable garden, they actually get to take their vegetables and make a soup.

“My favorite memory after we started growing the gardens is when we actually got to cook and eat what we grew,” Boudreaux said.

Rae Spell

At NHS there are many clubs and organizations that students can be in. There is only one where a student can stop violence and try to make the school a better place. That organization is Criminal Justice.

The Criminal Justice club is an organization that specializes in helping keep the school safe. The club does many things that helps out the school. For instance, they work at the football games and at many other sporting events, they also help out officer Hanks by standing guard by the parking lots during pep rallies.

During the year the club also helps with the Crime Stoppers. They also learn how to do detective work as well as learn how to arrest people. Many of the students continue on for all four years of high school.

If you decide to be in criminal justice, you have to have completed the course Crime in America and Intro to Criminal Justice. The sponsor of the club is also the teacher of the class. Many people who take Criminal Justice are interested in a police field or some kind of police work.

The lights dim in the audience, but on stage they shine bright in your eyes, his palms are sweaty. Does he remember his lines? Yes, of course he does. The curtains open. His heart is racing. He looks out into the audiences. And finally begins his lines.

For freshman Joey Nortman being on stage is what he loves best. Nortman has been in theater since the seventh grade. Now in high school, he has been in four plays.

"Theater is really fun because I get to participate in all the plays. I like it a lot, and it's like a big family. You don't get that in many other clubs," Nortman said.

Nortman has been in You Can't Take It With You, All Out, Anything Goes, and the ONE ACT play Ash Girl.

"Ms. Hancock chose me to be head photographer because I have been in photography for over three years, and she trusts me with all the responsibilities that a head photographer has," Emily Usoff, senior, said.

In photography, Usoff learned how to use a professional camera and how to develop film in a dark room.

"I decided to get into photography because I thought it would be neat to learn how to take action pictures and develop film," Usoff said.

Also in photography, you are responsible for taking pictures for the yearbook and for the newspaper staffs.

"I enjoy taking pictures for the other staffs and getting recognized for taking them," Usoff said.

Usoff is also involved in many other school activities including TNT, Symphonic Band, Teen Team City, German Club and Journalism Club.

Usoff would like to attend Lamar University and enter a career in speech pathology.

On Friday nights some of the photography staff can be seen along the sidelines. The photographers had boundaries on the sidelines that they must follow in order to get the pictures that they needed. "The best part about taking football pictures is that I really enjoy football and watching it close up is awesome. I just enjoy taking pictures. It's something I do for fun," Wendy Werner, senior, said. Photo by Lauren Bush

Kerrie Judice Editors

Seniors Kerrie Judice and Kayla Pipkins, co-editors of The Bulldog Beat, are not only responsible for writing stories but for helping lay out pages and picking up any late breaking stories too.

"Most people are so caught up in their own lives they don't realize what is going on in the rest of the world. Being in newspaper is a good way to make sure that I keep up with activities that I don't necessarily hear about otherwise," Pipkins said.

Despite the stress level in the journalism room, members of the staff have formed a close bond of friendship.

"Luckily, this year, I've had a great staff that has made things easier. Don't get me wrong, the stress is still there, but I always look forward to coming to this class. I feel like I can bond with everybody. Nobody is exclusive; nobody tries to overpower anybody. Everybody just gets along," Judice said.

Judice says that this staff is different not only in how well everyone gets along, but also in the different personalities of its members.

"Everybody thinks differently. I mean, it's kind of boring if everybody writes the same way. Everybody has different ideas. I figure everybody's minds together work really well," Judice said.

Senior Kayla Pipkins writes a story assignment on the board.

Stories, reporters names and deadlines were written on the dry-erase board to keep the staff organized. "There is no rhyme or reason to the way anything is written on the budget board. There is always so many stories, reporters, deadlines and reminders on it, I'm surprised anyone can understand it," Pipkins said. Photo by Emily DeRoche

Junior Hannah Schroeder and seniors Kerrie Judice, Wendy Werner and Jennifer Mullin massage each other's shoulders on a stressful day. The laid-back atmosphere of the class made the journalism room a welcoming place for the staff. "Our staff this year is amazing. We're kind of like a family because everyone really pulls together for support, and there are always lots of hugs! Getting through my other classes was much easier knowing that I had newspaper to look forward to at the end of the day," Mullin said. Photo by Lauren Bush

Seniors Wendy Werner, Kerrie Judice and Jennifer Mullin and junior Hannah Schroeder scream behind the girls' gym to relieve some stress. "To relieve stress, I sing songs, find new vocabulary words, make up words, dance around the room and talk about food," Schroeder said. Photo by Katie Monk

Kerri Hancock, journalism advisor, and sophomore Lindsey Redding discuss a current event with the staff. Hancock often guided students through difficult subjects and provoked their ideas. "I really love our discussions in journalism. It's a great way to learn more about the people you spend so much time with," Redding said. Photo by Jennifer Mullin

Senior Ashton Cummings researches a news story on the internet. If information about a national event was unobtainable locally, reporters often referred to credible news sites including CNN, MSNBC and FOX. "The internet is a very useful tool, but to be credible, you have to look it up on one or two web sites," Cummings said. Photo by Jennifer Mullin

Junior Hannah Schroeder and sophomore Jessica Byrd discuss potential news stories. Staff members had budget meetings to brainstorm story ideas for the upcoming issues and had work days after school to put the last minute finishing touches on the Bulldog Beat. "They're kind of fun, but it's hard coming up with ideas because I don't watch the news much," Byrd said. Photo by Jennifer Mullin

Senior Wendy Werner types up a story to meet her deadline. To Werner, newspaper had become much more than mere stories. "We have had a lot of memorable times in journalism. For instance, while on the way to pick up our newspaper, Kerrie and I got lost in Vidor. Our staff will also remember the day we stacked up about fifteen packages of paper to support our radio to receive a clearer signal so that we could enjoy listening to oldies," Werner said. "Who knew that this class would end up being my favorite class," LaFleur said.

According to LaFleur, the greatest part of being in US2U was meeting new people. US2U let him talk to people that before he would never have talked to.

"US2U is an awesome experience. It teaches you editing and video skills that you could use in the future," LaFleur said.

Students were able to be hands-on with editing their own stories. LaFleur plans to go into the communication career and is thankful for everything US2U has taught him.

"The shark dissection was my favorite because it was the most interesting," Baklik said.

Baklik decided to take GMO because she is interested in learning about the earth and its surrounding and because she had Mrs. Bordelon once before and knew what a good teacher she was.

"I love learning about the earth and all of its inhabitants; it is really interesting." Baklik said.

GMO has helped Baklik with her future plans by teaching her some of the basics that she will need for college.

"When I get out of college I would like to pursue a career in Marine Biology," Baklik said.

Baklik credits Mrs. Bordelon for helping her learn about important aspects of Marine Biology.

Irony, The Scarlet Letter, The Lord of the Flies, Rome

"Mrs. Parish has to be my favorite English teacher because we laugh everyday in her class, and she is an awesome teacher"

Aundria Crossett
junior

Junior Aundria Crossett spent hours huddled over the red letter. After much hard work, some nerves and a little help, it was finished. She had earned her "A."

Students in teacher Linda Parish's class created physical symbols of the "A" worn by Hester Prynne in The Scarlet Letter.

"The 'A' stands for adultery. The book was centered around the sin of adultery," Crossett said. While studying the novel, students had to think of creative ways to make their "A" and their knowledge stand out.

"It was a red 'A' with gold accents, a string of pearls on the edge, along with leaves and twigs on the bottom," Crossett said.

Students also had to present their work before the class and explain what their "A" symbolized.

"The 'A' was for adultery, the gold accents were for the thread on the body of Hester's dress, the pearls symbolized Hester's daughter, Pearl, and the leaves and twigs stood for nature. Presenting was my least favorite part. I do not like having all eyes on me," Crossett said.

Some students in the past have asked a sibling or parent to assist them with the work, but Crossett got her friends to help.

"My friends Lauren Bush and Craig Harris helped me put it together," Crossett said.

Even after all of the hard work, Crossett has enjoyed this creative form of education.

"Making the 'A' was the best part. It is a way of expressing myself," Crossett said.

This is not the only fun project that Parish's class has done this year.

"The poetry presentation we had to do was the best one; learning about the poems and putting it all together was a great learning experience," Crossett said.

The Rest

As the senior class of 2004, there are many characteristics and traits that make this class unique and different. Ever since kindergarten, relationships were built between students. Years go by and new relationships were built as new students came to Nederland and as we, the class, moved to middle school and, eventually, to high school. As the class of 2004 closes this chapter in their lives and begins the next, they will always remember the decisions, relationships and characteristics that made their class different from all the rest.

What Ryan might say to all of us whom he loved and who loved him:

To My Dearest Family

Author Unknown

Some things I'd like to say but first of all to let you know that I arrived okay I'm writing this from Heaven where I dwell with God above where there's no more tears or sadness there is just eternal love. Please do not be unhappy just because I'm out of sight remember that I'm with you every morning, noon and night. That day I had to leave you when my life on Earth was through. God picked me up and hugged me and He said I welcome you. It's good to have you back again you were missed while you were gone, as for your dearest family, they'll be here later on. I need you here so badly as part of My big plan. There's so much that we have to do to help our mortal man. Then God gave me a list of things He wished for me to do and foremost on that list of mine is to watch and care for you. And I will be beside you every day and week and year and when you're sad I'm standing there to wipe away the tear. And when you lie in bed at night the days chores put to flight. God and I are closest to you in the middle of the night. When you think of my life on Earth and all those loving years because you're only human they are bound to bring you tears But do not be afraid to cry it does relieve the pain remember there would be no flowers unless there was some rain. I wish that I could tell you of all that God has planned but if I were to tell you, you wouldn't understand. But one thing is for certain though my life on Earth is o're, I am closer to you now than I ever was before And to my very many friends, trust God knows what is best. I'm still not far away from you. I'm just beyond the crest. There are rocky roads ahead of you and many hills to climb, but together we can do it taking one day at a time. It was always my philosophy and I'd like it for you too that as you give unto the World so the World will give to you. If you can help somebody who is in sorrow or in pain then you can say to God at night my day was not in vain. And now I am contented that my life it was worthwhile knowing as I passed along the way I made somebody smile. So if you meet somebody who is down and feeling low, just lend a hand to pick him up as on your way you go. When you are walking down the street and you've got me on your mind, I'm walking in your footsteps only half a step behind. When you feel the gentle breeze or the wind upon your face, that's me giving you a great big hug or just a soft embrace. When it's time for you to go from that body to be free, remember you're not going you are coming here to me. And I will always love you from that land way up above. We'll be in touch again soon.

P.S. God sends His Love

always

THIS HAS BEEN A WONDERFUL YEAR FILLED WITH MEMORIES. OUR HEARTS OVERFLOWED WITH PRIDE AND JOY EVERYTIME YOU PERFORMED. WE HAVE WATCHED YOU DANCE AND GROW FROM BABY BALLET THROUGH YOUR SENIOR YEARS AS OFFICERS. WHERE ONCE YOU DANCED AS INDIVIDUALS, YOU NOW DANCE AS ONE. WE ARE PROUD TO CALL YOU OUR DAUGHTERS!

Andrew Michael Cessac

We are so proud of you. When you first made cheerleader, you accepted the adversity as your friend. We were in awe of your guts and determination. It has earned you respect and acquired you great friendships. May God bless and keep you as you embark on your future. You have our admiration, respect, and our hearts.

We love you,
Mom & Dad

Stephen Jannise

It's hard to believe you'll be going off to Baylor in the fall. You're the best son any parent could've prayed for, and we wish you success in whatever you pursue and a joyful life. All our love,

7/25/1986 - 1/22/2003

This was to be your Senior Year. You had so many plans. You were going to California with your buddy Ian and y'all were going to have a band. You were going to be a famous actor, setting LA on its end. I always told you that I knew how Jim Carey's mom felt when he was young. You had so much talent and such a beautiful smile, I wish I could hear that guitar play and see the sparkle in your eyes. The world is not the same since that awful day last year, we miss you and remember you and wish that you were here. We are all putting on our strong faces as you would not appreciate all the fuss, but our hearts lie in pieces when we think about our loss. Each day the memories go through our minds, every person you touched a private show, your legacy of love and unselfishness helps the light of hope to grow. We miss you and we love you.

Chelsea Fletcher

Congratulations Chelsea!

We wish you all the love, Happiness, and success in your life. Follow your dreams and keep God in your heart. We are so proud of you.

Candice Marie Long

To everyone who has influenced me and encouraged me to do my best:

Jason: You are not only my best friend but my companion. You are a wonderful person with lots of great qualities. Thank you for always being here for me and believing in me. I love you with all of my heart. You are my everything!

My family: Thanks for everything all of you have done and all of the love you have given to me. You have made me the person that I am today and have helped me reach my goals in life. I promise to make you proud. I love you!

The Galloways: I don't think that any other family has been more accepting than yours. Thank you for everything you have done for me and all the memories that we have made. You have made a tremendous impact on my life and hold a special place in my heart.

My Yearbook Staff: I could not have done this all by myself. You guys were awesome and a blast to work with. I know I may not have been very nice at times, sorry, but at least we got the book finished! You are all great people with tremendous talent, keep up the good work and good luck next year!

Mrs. Hancock: Thank you for the three great years I spent in your class. You are a wonderful teacher as well as a friend. You have taught me so much and helped me make progress in life. Thanks for all of the help this year and good luck next year...I will miss you!

Mrs. Grant and the HOSA class: Y'all are awesome! I had a blast this year with all of you, and I know that I have made friends that I will never forget. This class has taught me a lot and allowed me to see what the real world is like. Thanks so much for all of the fun times in the class, on the bus, at the hospital and on all of our field trips! I will never forget you!

All of my friends: (You know who you are) I love you guys and will miss you! I will always remember the good times we had just hanging out and never forget the memories we have made. I love y'all!

The class of 2004: Good luck on your journeys in life! Remember to always reach for your goals and to hold your head high. You all have great potential within you and will succeed in anything you do. Thanks for all of the fun times!

To everyone who is not listed above: You know I love you!

*As we walk our path of life,
We meet people everyday.
Most are simply met by chance.
But, some are sent our way.*

*These become special friends
Whose bond we can't explain:
The ones who understand us
And share our joy and pain.*

*Their love contains no boundaries.
So, even we are apart.
Their presence enhances us
with a warmth left in the heart.*

*This love becomes a passage-
way,
When even the miles disappear.
And so, these friends,
God sends our way,
Remain forever near.

Shelby Firmin

Hi, I'm Shelby Firmin, one of the editors for the yearbook. I'm guessing I was given this page to thank the people who helped on the yearbook and give shout-outs. So, thanks to everyone that helped. Now here's some eye-candy.

Lauren Bush

MOM AND DAD: There is so much I want to thank you for. But most of all THANK YOU for just being there whenever I needed you. I could never thank you enough. I love you!!

TODD: I just wanted to say thank you for letting me talk to you and for listening to me even though I know you weren't. We have had good times and bad, but, in the end, always remember that I love my BOO!!

MS. HANCOCK: WOW! It's been a long year! Thank you for believing we could pull it off even when we had our doubts. Also thanks for staying after school, way after summer school and even when you really didn't want to. You are probably the only person who sometimes wishes I was shy and quite again! But most of all thanks for pushing us to make this book great!!

CANDICE: Thank you for being such a good leader. You have taught me to do so many things. I know sometimes you wanted to scream, but I am glad you never gave up. THANKS!

SHELBY: You are probably the weirdest person that I know(next to me)! But you fit in just right with the rest of us on staff. This year was great being an editor with you. Although I am still mad that you chose US2U over yearbook I will get over it!!

EMMA: THANK YOU! you must have taken a billion pictures for me this year. Being a part of journalism dirt will never be the same without you. I will always think of you as my BIG SIS! Do not forget to come visit me sometime.

EMILY: Group shot QUEEN! Thank you so much for taking over group shots. They would have never gotten done. I can't wait until next year when BushEm will be in charge!

AUNDRIA: We have been best friends to each other since sixth grade. I couldn't even imagine being best friends with someone else. We have been through thick and thin but through all the fights, crushes and everything else, we have been there for each other. Many people think we are sisters, and I think of you as my sister. Just remember CLASS OF 05 is the KEWLEST CUZ LIKE YEAH!!

YOU'RE MY FRIEND, MY COMPANION, THROUGH GOOD TIMES AND BAD, MY FRIEND, MY BUDDY, THROUGH HAPPY AND SAD, BESIDE ME YOU STAND, BESIDE ME YOU WALK, YOU'RE THERE TO LISTEN, YOU'RE THERE TO TALK WITH HAPPINESS, WITH SMILES, WITH PAIN AND TEARS, I KNOW YOU'LL BE THERE, THROUGHOUT THE YEARS!

On behalf of the 2003-2004 pilot staff, we would like to give a special thanks to everyone for being such a tremendous help in the creation of this year's book. A lot of time and effort was put into the book with the help of many people. A special thanks goes to Kerri Hancock, the journalism advisor, and to the yearbook staff for putting their effort and time into gathering information for each page. To the photographers, we thank you for attending every school event in order to capture the memories that have been placed in this book. Also, thanks to the faculty and student body for being so patient and allowing us to interrupt their classes in order to get the students' input by either giving us quotes or just letting us take pictures. We would also like to thank all of the parents for providing us with pictures, along with Gayletta's Photography for being such a great companion with our school in attending school events and providing us with her service. A special thanks is extended to Cheryl Hancock for all of her help with the grammar so that reaching our goal of perfection is as close as possible. Finally, Lee Briggs for being our yearbook representative and coming to see us as much as he did. We hope that you will enjoy this book for years to come and enjoy this years theme as "Making a Statement."
