

H. Mebane Turner Appointed As Provost

Guide To Rate Courses And Faculty

'Student Press' Will Serialize Entire Report

"An unofficial guide to the courses and instructors at the University of Baltimore's School of Business, Industry and Management and College of Liberal Arts" has been compiled by a committee of interested students and will be published in serial form beginning in the next issue of the Student Press.

In the introduction of the report the committee says, "this 'Course Guide' consists of summaries of student opinion of the courses and instructors at the University of Baltimore."

In a further description of their efforts the committee said, "the primary purpose of the 'Course Guide' is to provide students with specific information they cannot obtain elsewhere about the course offerings and instructors. The new pre-registration system has enabled most students to register before the publication of this report, but it may be helpful in future semester registration. As a secondary objective, we (the committee) hope to provoke discussions about the course offerings and instructional methods."

The introduction to the report explains that the committee's "information was obtained from questionnaires sent to 1968 graduating seniors (with a response of slightly over one-third), random interviewing of undergraduates supplemented by similar question sheets, and occasional discussions with instructors."

The committee concluded the introduction by saying, "we want to point out that as a student project we need student cooperation. Next year's 'Course Guide' can be bigger and better only if you work to make it so."

The committee was made up of alumni and undergraduate students and the "Course Guide" was edited by Miss Joyce Miller. The other members of the staff are as follows: Robert Black, Nancy Dietz, William Grove, Bruce Miller, Eugene Ruckle, William Saltiak, James Schneider, Douglas Skeen, and Richard Zinkhan.

School Newspaper Renamed By Editor-in-Chief A. Levy

The student newspaper of the University of Baltimore, formerly The Baloo, has been renamed the Student Press. The decision to change the name was made by Andrew H. Levy, Editor-in-Chief, in conjunction with his editorial board.

A general confusion and numerous outside criticism was cited by Mr. Levy as the main reason for the change. Mr. Levy also noted that this was not the first time the name of the newspaper has been

Brazilian Pianist And Vocalist Display Talent In Auditorium

A concert by Brazilian pianist Lais De Souza Brasil and vocalist Lia Salgado will be held on Thursday, October 3 at 8:00 p.m. in the University's library auditorium.

Pianist Brasil was six years old when she first played as a soloist in a symphonic concert and was nine when she obtained the first prize in two other contests.

Following her graduation from Brazil's National School of Music in 1954, Miss Brasil received a scholarship to study in Europe. There, she perfected her techniques under Bruno Seidlhofer in Austria and Arger Andolfi in Italy.

After being awarded first prize in Italy's Vioti International Competition the pianist signed for an extended tour of Italian cities. She has been applauded by critics throughout South America.

Vocalist Lia Salgado, a native of Rio de Janeiro, was recently acclaimed "the best Brazilian singer of chamber music" by the Association of Brazilian critics.

The University of Baltimore was selected over other surrounding institutions as the site of the concert by the Brazilian Consulate, according to Mr. E. Richard Simms, Director of Student Activities.

There will be no admission charge for University students and their guests at the performance.

Formerly a part-time faculty member, Stephen Horblitt will teach full-time this semester as an cert by the Brazilian Consulate, according to Mr. E. Richard Simms, Director of Student Activities.

There will be no admission charge for University students and their guests at the performance.

New Appointments

Faculty Increased By Fifteen

Fifteen full-time faculty members have been added to the staff of the University's day division and will begin instruction this semester. Eight of the new members will teach in the School of Liberal Art while the remaining seven will labor in the School of Business, Industry and Management.

Liberal Arts
Mr. William Donahoo, former President of Baltimore College of Commerce, will be an Associate Professor in the Departments of History, Education and Administration. He is currently working towards his Ph.D. at Johns Hopkins. In addition he holds an A.B. in History and an M.A. in Education.

In the Department of History and Political Science, Mr. Robert Fudge has been hired as an Instructor. He has taught in two colleges in the state of California. He holds a B.A. and a M.A.

President of Bowie State College from 1942 to 1967, Dr. William Henry joins the University as a Professor and Chairman of the Education Department. He holds an A.B. in Science and an M.A. and Ed.D. in Education and Administration from the University of Pennsylvania.

Bridgeham Now Dean Of LA; J. Nicholson To Head Library

Mr. H. Mebane Turner has succeeded Dr. Caroom, former Dean of the University College, but with the title of Provost and Professor of History. In two other Administration appointments Dr. Lawrence D. Bridgeham will become Acting Dean of Liberal Arts and Mr. John B. Nicholson has been named Chief Librarian.

Mr. Turner is the former Dean of Students, Registrar, and Associate Professor of Religious Education at George Mason College, a branch of the University of Virginia at Fairfax, Virginia. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia, holds a B.D. degree from Union Theological Seminary and the M.A. degree from Columbia University, and has met all the requirements for the doctorate at American University except for the writing of a dissertation. Mr. Turner was also a national intercollegiate wrestling champion some years ago.

In a letter to administration personnel and full-time faculty members Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr. said that, "the purpose of the change in title (from Dean of University Colleges to Provost) is to make clearer the functions of this particular office. Under the President, Mr. Turner is in charge of administrative affairs of the University, which means that the divisions of the University report directly to him in matters affecting the administration of the institution."

Dr. Lawrence D. Bridgeham replaces the retiring Dr. Robert Lisle as Acting Dean of Liberal Arts. Dr. Bridgeham, who was a member of the University's History Department, holds a B.S. degree from Gorham Teachers College and a Ed.M., M.A. and Ph.D. from Boston University. He was also Chairman of the University's Library Committee.

Mr. John B. Nicholson comes to the University as a Professor of Library Science and Chief Librarian of the Langsdale Library replacing Mrs. Shelton. He holds an A.B. and A.M. from Washington and Lee University and a library science degree from Columbia. Mr. Nicholson was the Librarian at Kent State University in Ohio where he developed and directed one of the only regionally accredited library schools in that section of the country. He recently directed the training of library technicians at Catonsville Community College.

In another administration appointment Mrs. Catherine Gira assumed the chairmanship of the Accreditation Steering Committee when Dr. Caroom vacated that position.

Instructor of Sociology. He is working toward his doctorate at American University and has a B.A. and M.A. from Hofstra University in Political Science.

John Laudenslager will be an Associate Professor and the Acting Head of the Psychology Department. He holds a B.A. and an M.S.

The Chairman of the English Department this semester will be Dr. Carol Peirce. The former Assistant Director of Admissions at Goucher College, Dr. Peirce will hold the rank of Professor. She received an A.B. and M.A. in English and obtained a Ph.D. at Radcliffe.

Mrs. Caroline Perkins has been hired as an Instructor in the Mathematical Department this fall. She holds an A.B. and a M.S. in Math.

Joining Mrs. Perkins as an Instructor in the Math Department will be Mr. Roland Steiner. He holds a B.S. and a M.S. in Civil Engineering.

B.I.M.
Dr. Samuel Cooper, a former part-time instructor, becomes the newest member of the Accounting Division. He holds two B.S. degrees, one in Education and one in Accounting. At St. Johns University, Dr. Cooper received the degrees of LL.B., J.D., J.S.D.

Dr. John Schulz comes to the University as a Professor of Economics and Finance. He holds the degrees of M.B.A. and J.U.D. from the University of Vienna.

Joining the Business Management Staff will be Charles Possick, an Associate Professor. He has received a B.S. in Accounting and M.B.A. from the University of Colorado.

Mr. William Vogel becomes a full-time member of the Industrial Management faculty when classes begin this September. He has obtained a B.S. degree in Industrial Management from the University of Baltimore and a M.S. in Personnel Administration from George Washington University.

Dr. Jules Medwin, formerly a part-time instructor, will join the University as Professor of Industrial and Labor Relations and Department chairmen. He holds an A.B., M.Ed., and Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina.

In the Marketing Division, Mr. John Shackelford will fill the post of Assistant Professor. He holds a B.S. and M.B.A. from Murray State University and the University of Maryland respectively.

Assistant Professor George Stepanovich will begin teaching at the University this semester. He holds a B.A. from Ohio State University and an M.A. from Johns Hopkins.

Editorial

Education---- A Must

Many of us have failed to realize that we are living in a critical period in the development of our civilization. Ideologies concerning the nature and meaning of human society are clashing. Our domestic way of life is meeting a most crucial test.

As a college student in a country dedicated to the principles of democracy in human life, you are presented with an opportunity denied many throughout the world. But, along with this opportunity comes the responsibility to use these privileges wisely so that entrance into a college or university is not only a rewarding one but an exciting experience.

College enrollments have been on the increase now for the past few years. But, despite this increase, many young men and women who want to attend college and who are able to benefit from college training are not able to attend.

Since you are today a member of a relatively small minority receiving college training, it is your responsibility as students, to yourself, and society to understand the expressed purposes and goals of higher education and to do your best in achieving them.

Education has many purposes but primarily it attempts to promote reason, widespread interests, and self-discipline. A graduate who has benefited from all of these aspects throughout his college years will be able to find satisfaction in many things beyond the purely material.

As students, you are the cornerstones of our national and international society. If a student is uninformed, stale, and apathetic, our society will not continue to rise but will crumble as the Roman Empire did in the gripping hands of changing times. We as students must become precise durable instruments for the achievement of world peace through the evolution of the student mind.

Forged by hard study and a concern for the people of our society, tempered by the realistic threat of total atomic destruction, and sharpened on the grindstone of experience, this will prevail.

Welcome Frosh

On behalf of the entire Baloo staff I would like to take this opportunity to welcome all Freshmen and returning upperclassmen and extend our utmost hope for the achievement of your academic goals.

You are now part of an increasingly fast growing institution which has made tremendous academic strides within the past few years. This continuing progress will afford you an excellent opportunity for a higher education.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I SIGNED UP FOR A YEAR BOOK—JOINED THE SOCIETY FOR A BETTER CAMPUS—BOUGHT TICKETS FOR A DANCE—SUBSCRIBED TO THE ALUMNI MAGAZINE—GOT A CHEST XRAY—ENROLLED IN THE FUN & GAMES CLUB, BUT I COULDN'T GET IN ANY CLASSES."

Unique Location Of University Culturally Enriches Students

To the greater majority of University students, the University of Baltimore campus is four buildings and one underdeveloped athletic field.

However, we here at UB are honored to possess one of the most unique campuses in this state or any other state, by the very virtue of the unique location in downtown Baltimore.

From Charles Hall or Howard Hall, the student can venture forth in any compass direction to either the best in entertainment, culture, or food, and expense need not hamper ones' enjoyment.

In the field of entertainment, the student can go to Baltimore's newest legitimate stage theatre, the Morris Mechanic Theatre, located in the Charles Center complex. A few blocks from here at the corner of Baltimore St. and Hopkins Pl., is the new Baltimore Civic Center. Aside from housing Baltimore's professional ice hockey and basketball teams, the center runs the gamut from Broadway musicals to rodeos. For those students who are more inclined for the absurd, classical, modern and "mod" they can go four blocks up Charles St. to North Ave. and attend Baltimore's professional repertory theatre, Center Stage. For those with the more "AVANT GARDE" flair, they can go to the many art theatres in the area, more notably the 5 West and 7 East.

For those that seek culture, they only have to proceed down Charles St. to Mount Vernon Place and Washington Place. Here the cultural lover will find the first major monument to be erected to the first President of the United States, George Washington. While in this noted area the student may avail himself of the Peabody Institute, with their Conservatory of Music, Music Library, and Preparatory Department. Further up Charles St. the student can stop in the Walters Art Gallery, which houses one of the key collections of art from all periods. For those students who seek reference material on Maryland History they can obtain this type of material from the Maryland Historical Society at Monument and Park Ave. and supplement their material at the Enoch Pratt Free Library's Central Branch, a few blocks away. Past Charles Hall and further up Charles St. to Wyman Park, the student will come to another museum, The Baltimore Museum of Art, which features changing exhibits and permanent collections of old master paintings and sculpture.

For those raconteurs that consider themselves gourmets they can avail themselves of Gino's and Harley's on North Ave. and the Little Tavern Shop (Club L-T) on Mt. Royal Ave. If the student wishes, he can go to the Foolary for dancing and later to the Schoolary for snacks and drinks. These two places are located at the Park Plaza, near Mount Vernon Place. Down the street from Charles Hall is the renowned Chesapeake Restaurant, which is considered one of the top thirty restaurants in the Country. But the ultimate eating place for the University of Baltimore student is Ceaser's, located behind Charles Hall.

This then is the University of Baltimore's expansive campus. It is your campus and you as freshmen are in the best position available to reap all the benefits of it. Use it wisely, for the recompense is great.

President's Message

To the Student Body:

Let us begin the new school year with thankfulness that we have an opportunity to learn, happiness that we have a new day ahead of us, and hope that we shall make the most of the advantages that have been given to us.

Let us work together for our intellectual and spiritual improvement and to bring honor upon and respect for our University.

Sincerely yours,
Thomas G. Pullen, Jr.
President

University's History Spans Four Decades

The University of Baltimore was founded in 1925 by a group of professional and businessmen interested in providing greater educational opportunities for employed men and women in the Baltimore area. It is a nonstock, nonprofit, nonsectarian, coeducational institution.

In keeping with its aims to provide higher educational opportunities for residents of Baltimore and nearby suburbia, the University is centrally located. Within easy walking or riding distance are business, financial, and industrial organizations known throughout the world. Museums, libraries, art galleries and churches may be reached quickly and conveniently.

A School of Law and a College of Business Administration were organized in 1925. Although the University was originally planned as an evening professional school, a day division of the business college was started in 1926.

By 1929 the growth of the University made it necessary to secure more adequate quarters. The home of the Baltimore Dental College was purchased and occupied. A junior college was organized in 1937. In 1945 the College of Business Administration was reorganized as the School of Business, Industry and Management.

The increase in enrollment following the end of World War II again made necessary an expansion of facilities. Accordingly, in the spring of 1947 the large building at 1420 North Charles Street, formerly occupied by the Baltimore Athletic Club, was purchased and completely remodeled for college use.

The continued growth of the institution made it desirable to provide campus facilities for varsity athletics and other undergraduate activities. In the spring of 1952 the University purchased a forty-five acre tract of land in Mount Washington on West Rogers Avenue, which had formerly been occupied by St. Paul's, thereby making provision not only for immediate but also probable future needs of the institution. On this campus are located the office of the Director of Athletics, the athletic fields, and the gymnasium.

By 1959 still more classrooms were needed. The property on the corner of Charles and Oliver Streets was acquired and a new four-story building, connected by corridors with the old building, was erected and occupied in the fall of 1961. At the same time the increasing desire of high school graduates to obtain a liberal arts education at a relatively low cost led the University to expand its two-year junior college into a four-year Bachelor of Arts degree program. The liberal arts program is given primarily in the day school, but some courses are offered in the evening. The first B.A. degrees were awarded in 1965.

Howard Hall is now a classroom building. Charles Hall houses the administration offices; faculty offices; the Placement Office; classrooms of the College of Liberal Arts, the School of Business, Industry and Management, and the School of Law; the offices of the Student Government Association, the student newspaper, and other student activities; the Student Lounge; the Bookstore; and the Cafeteria.

Construction was begun early in 1965 on a new library building. The Langsdale Library, located at the corner of Maryland Avenue and Oliver Street, has four floors and a basement and houses the general library collection and the Law Library. It has a capacity of 125,000 volumes, seating for 600 readers and an auditorium with continental seating for 449. It was opened for student use on April 13, 1966.

Student Receives Seth Trophy For His Outstanding Defense

Sideline Sports

Are you the average University student, interested in college sports? Will you tire from long hours of study, and therefore wish to relieve this feeling? Are you going to "run home" everyday after class? Or are you looking for a time consuming interest? If you fall into any of the above categories I suggest you look into the University's new intramural sports program.

Upperclassmen, as well as the incoming freshmen, have the opportunity to participate in sports and to support their school's teams. It has been said that freshmen are the nucleus of strong varsity teams. This nucleus still needs its outer shell of upperclassmen. The University of Baltimore offers a variety of sports which includes soccer, wrestling, basketball, baseball, and lacrosse.

This list, however, does not limit students to participation in varsity athletics only. Those students who are not chosen to represent the school may participate in the new intramural programs in football, baseball and volleyball.

Fraternities also offer a large variety of sports for their members. Fall will start the football season; winter, basketball; and spring, softball.

Sports Writer Gears Column To Pro Ball

Something new and hopefully exciting will be appearing on the sports page for the first time. This will be a column focussing on professional sports, covering all aspects involved in bringing about the game such as announcing, management, and events not seen by the average fan.

It will be geared to the interest of the college student by incorporating college and professional sports.

Any questions or suggestions on specific topics will be greatly appreciated. This column is for the students of the University with their specific interests in mind.

This new innovation in college writing should greatly enhance the popularity of the sports page and encourage greater response and participation on the part of University students.

You're a college grad, or going to evening school. You may be working and going for your Master's. But how do you get the job where you can develop and advance your chosen career?

How do you find the time to knock on a lot of doors, only to get answers like "come back when . . .?"

Make your first stop Sales Consultants and save all that time, trouble and confusion.

As Sales Consultants we believe you should use all your energy on your first job. Not looking for it.

Varsity Soccer Team Returns With Ten Starting Lettermen

This Fall the University of Baltimore soccer team will see the return of ten outstanding lettermen. The returning lettermen are Goalie Joe Manfre, Halfbacks; Larry Graff, Ed Matzek, Bill Lahey, Bob Willasch, and Wayne Reichenberg. The fullbacks consist of Tom Wisniewski, and Neil Wells. The line is composed of Diego Moure and Tom Reams.

Because the Bees will not have the services of several top players from last year's squad, coach Ron Luetete feels that this season will be a rebuilding one. The Bees will miss the services of Bud Matczuk at the halfback position and Fred Cumo at the outside left position.

Coach Luetete feels that Navy will give the team its toughest competition in the Mason-Dixon Conference. Loyola College, last year's Northern Division Champ, should also be hard to handle. Major non-conference games will include West Chester State and Elizabethtown College. The Bee kickers will be out to avenge losses to these teams last year.

The 1968 Bee soccer roster will probably be broken down as follows: In front of the goal protecting the net will be Joe Manfre.

The halfback positions will be Don Christ, Charles Buzzy Glowacki, Larry Graff, and Ed Matzek. In the back-up positions will be Bill Lehey, Bob Willasch, and Wayne Reichenberg. The fullbacks will be Tom Wisniewski, Neil Wells, and Dave Konig. The line will consist of Ed Smith, Tom Lucox, Diego Moure, John Elightheriou, John Michols and Tom Reams.

The Bees soccer schedule for 1968 is as follows:

September—
21—Alumni		H 2:00
28—George Washington		A 2:00
October—
1—Gallaudet College		A 3:00

Robert Frantz, a 1968 University of Baltimore graduate and a former Bee Lacrosse star, has recently been named a recipient of the Richard H. Seth award from the United States Naval Academy. Along with Bob Frantz, Navy's Carl Tamulevich was picked for the William C. Schmeisser Memorial Trophy, which annually goes to the top defenseman in the nation.

Navy lacrosse skipper Bill Bilderback considered Frantz, a second team All-American selection, the second best defenseman in the country.

Frantz is the first defenseman ever to win the Richard H. Seth Memorial Trophy. The prize is presented each spring by the Navy team to the most outstanding opponent the Midshipmen faced during the year.

Frantz is the thirteenth recipient of this award, which last year went to Johns Hopkins' attackman Joe Cowan. The Seth Trophy was established in 1966 to honor the memory of the late Richard H. Seth, an All-American goalie at Navy (1948-49), who was killed in a 1954 plane crash.

Frantz's name will be inscribed on the trophy and he will receive a plaque in recognition of his selection.

Touch Football To Be Started As Intramural

This year will prove to be a big one for University's intramural football. Sign-up time for all teams will be Monday thru Friday at 12 noon in the Student Press newspaper office. Dead-line for signing up teams will be the 8th of October.

Any student who is registered at the University is eligible to play. All Varsity athletes participating in a sport during intramural season are not eligible to play.

Each team will have a 12-man roster, which cannot be altered at anytime. All participants must wear sneakers or tennis shoes while playing in the games. There will be a meeting of all team captains on the 11th of October.

Each team will play a series of games against the opposing teams. The time of the games will be determined by the amount of teams formed and the schedule of games.

Jockey Shorts

According to Mr. Arthur Bosley, Athletic Director of the University of Baltimore, there are still openings for those interested students who wish to compete in soccer. Those students that are interested should immediately contact Mr. Bosley by calling the athletic office (547-5747).

Any student desiring to participate in wrestling or basketball will have to take a physical examination by the first week of October.
