

Baltimore University On The Move; Langsdale Pleased With Progress

R. Loren Langsdale

Charles Hall—September 19—Mr. and Mrs. R. Loran Langdale visited the Baltimore campus today and made several observations. Mr. Langdale, who is the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, made these comments about the new, as well as the old, buildings: "The new building which is modern in design is going to add greatly to the advancement of the educational standards of the University. The modern building, which is supposed to be completed by September 1, 1961, will have administrative offices on the first floor, an up-to-date business and law library on the second floor, and classrooms on the third and fourth floors."

Mrs. Langdale expressed her enthusiasm by stating, "The new building will mean a great deal to the school by attracting more and better students to the University of Baltimore. Furthermore, this would tend to improve the educational standards of this institution."

With a record enrollment of approximately 800 students in the day classes, including 400 Freshmen, and 2500 students in the evening division, Mr. Langdale feels "The additional facilities will be a great aid in accommodating the students. Our main concern is to get the present night school students out of Western High School and into both buildings comprising the University of Baltimore. In conclusion, the next foreseeable move can be to only one place—Mount Washington!"

Site being cleared for new building.

Homecoming Weekend

Big news for everybody, the biggest event of the year, a Homecoming weekend.

For the first time we are going to have not only a Homecoming dance, but a whole weekend full of activities. The highlights of this even will be the dinner and the dance, which will be held on Saturday, November 5th at the Emerson Hotel. Start now and buy your tickets. For the schedule on the whole program watch for the issue of the Baloo.

Buy your tickets at the desk in Charles Hall, or from Al Shahade student council President, Jerry German, Jack Gilmore or Siham Shahade.

See You There!

WORK FOR THE BALOO

There will be a special organizational meeting tonight at The Baloo Office at 7:30 p.m. All persons wishing to join the staff please plan to attend.

teams, join the many clubs and organizations but above all study. Study diligently because after all this is what we are primarily here for.

If at any time you have any suggestions or criticism please feel free to express them and drop me a line by leaving it at the mail box in Charles Hall. So good luck to all and I hope I will be seeing you around.

FRESHMEN FACULTY GUIDE

Three New Professors Join Freshmen Program

President Wilson has announced that the full-time faculty has been increased by the addition of three new members this fall. Because of the increased number of applicants for the day freshman class, a new instructor has been necessary in each of three departments, English, history and mathematics.

The new English instructor is Laurence Vincent Short. He received his School Certificate at St. Bonifaces College, Plymouth, Devon, and his Licentiate (M.A.) at Louvain, Belgium. He has pursued post graduate work at Issoire and at Lyons, France. His teaching experience has been at Tervuren, Belgium, and Dijon and Le Harve, France. From 1945 to 1950, he was in the British Civil Service. And from 1950 to 1960, he was Liaison Attache with the British Transport Commission. Early this year, he brought his wife and two children to Baltimore.

Valentine E. Sherring will teach Contemporary World Affairs. He received his B.A. degree at Lucknow University, India; his M.A. degree and Licentiate of Teaching degree at the Government Training College, India; his B.D. degree at Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Illinois. He has completed all residence requirements for the Ph.D. degree at The American University, Washington, D. C., and is working on his doctorate dissertation. His teaching experience has been as Lecturer at Christ Church College, Kanpur, India; and at The American University, Washington, D. C. And he has been employed at the District of Columbia Public Library. He and his wife and two children expect to move from Washington to Baltimore.

James Fenn Sullivan will teach mathematics. He attended the University of Santa Clara, California, for two years; received his A.B. degree at the University of Gonzaga, Spokane, Washington; and has pursued graduate studies toward the M.A. degree and Licentiate at the University of Gonzaga. He has taught mathematics at Saint Ignatius High School, San Francisco for four and a half years. He is unmarried and is living in Baltimore.

BALOO STAFF

The deadline for our next issue is this Tuesday, October 4th, at 12 noon. Be sure your articles are in.

Welcome To The University of Baltimore

by Al Shahade

In this first issue of the BALOO and during our first week of school, I would like to take this opportunity in formally welcoming you to another school year. To some it will be the last while for others it will be the beginning of your college career, which if treated wisely will prove to be one of the richest and most maturing experience of your life.

I hope you all have had a pleasant and productive summer and are now prepared to embark on your college program. Chances are you will be in the same position as I am in now "A Little Bit Rusty", but we can all strive and struggle along. S.A.A. this year plans, as in past to be an effective part of your life and will work for you and betterment of the institution of which we are all so proud, however, to be effective your support and participation is necessary. This support should not be of a passive nature, but rather that of a vigorously active type, because without that type of support your student government cannot possibly achieve the ends for which it was elected.

It is up to you as a student to be an integral part of your university, participate in student activities, encourage your sport

Editorially Speaking:

Welcome From The President

by Dr. T. H. Wilson

A hearty welcome to each incoming freshman! The Trustees, the Faculty, the Administration, the Upperclassmen, and the Alumni hope that you will find here a spirit of friendliness, a spirit of inquisitiveness, and a spirit of thoughtfulness. For that is what makes four years at college worthwhile—friends, mental stimulation, and creative thinking.

It is as true at college as it is in business,—“to have friends, you must be a friend.” So, start making friends at once by being a friend to everyone here. In making friends, be prodigal; but in selecting intimates, be miserly.

College is like a quiz show,—it is a place where questions are asked. How? Why? When? What? Who? Where? But, unlike a quiz show, college is a place where everyone asks questions,—students as well as faculty members. So start asking questions as soon as you hear a lecture, or read a paragraph, or write a paper. Is it the truth? Is it fair to all concerned? How can I use it at home? How can I use it in my work? Will it help preserve honor and freedom for myself and others? Will it help make and keep America great? In the world of the mind, college helps you keep young by making you as inquisitive as a five-year old child.

But college is not a place for children,—it is a place for youth who desire to become adults. And at the University of Baltimore in 1960, as at the Rabbinical School of Tarsus in '60,—there is one way in which to become an adult:—“When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.”

College is not a cribbery. It is not a place where one emotes,—it is a place where one thinks. College is not an elementary school. It is not a place where one memorizes,—it is a place where one thinks. So start thinking for yourself at once. When you go to class, go with your mind full of questions concerning the subject to be considered. Listen to your instructor to discover what answers he gives to your questions and what new questions he raises in your mind. Go to your textbook and find what answers it gives to your questions and what new questions it raises in your mind. Go to the library and discover what answers others writers give to your questions and what questions they raise in your mind. Compare and contrast all these answers. And do your own thinking so as to discover what answers you find to all these questions.

This is what college is,—a place where you make friends, a place where you ask questions, a place where you think out answers to make questions.

I welcome you to college.

FOREIGN SERVICE

The United States Department of State will hold its next written Foreign Service Officer Examination on December 10, 1960, in approximately 65 cities throughout the United States and at Foreign Service posts abroad. In announcing the examination the Department is seeking to interest undergraduate and graduate students who have studied in such fields as economics, public and business administration, language and area studies, history and political science.

To be eligible to take this examination, candidates must be at least 21 and under 31 years of age as of October 24, 1960. Persons 20 years of age may also apply if a college graduate or a senior in college. They must be American citizens of at least 9 years' standing. Although a candidate's spouse need not be a citizen on the date of the examination, citizenship must have been obtained prior to the date of appointment.

Candidates who are successful in the one-day written examination, which tests their facility in English expression, general ability and background, will be given oral examinations within nine months by panels which will meet in regional centers throughout the United States. Fluency in a language, while not an examination requirement, must be attained before an officer can advance in the Service. Those candidates who pass the oral tests will then be given a physical examination and a background investigation. If found qualified in all respects, candidates will be placed on a register and appointments will be made therefrom as needed, in the order of examination scores. The names of candidates failing to receive appointments within 30 months from the date of the written examination will be removed from this register. Upon appointment, the candidate will receive three commissions from the President—as Foreign Service Officer Class 8, as Secretary in the Diplomatic Service, and as Vice Consul of Career.

A newly appointed Foreign Service Officer may serve his first tour of duty either in the Department's headquarters in Washington, D.C., or at one of the 289 American Embassies, Legations, and Consulates abroad. The new officer may be assigned to several functions to give him varied training and experience in consular work, in administrative assignments, including ones in the accounting and management fields, and in political economic, international finance and commercial reporting.

Application forms and other information may be obtained immediately by writing to the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service, Department of State, Washington 25, D. C. The closing date for filing the application is October 24th.

FULBRIGHT SCHOLARSHIP

Only two months remain to apply for some 800 Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or research in 30 countries, the Institute of International Education reminded prospective applicants today. Applications are being accepted until November 1.

Inter-American Cultural Convention awards for study in 17 Latin American countries have the same filing deadline.

Recipients of Fulbright awards for study in Europe, Latin America, and the Asia-Pacific area receive tuition, maintenance and round-trip travel. IACC scholarships cover transportation, tuition, and partial maintenance costs. IIE administers both of these student programs for the U.S. Department of State.

General eligibility requirements for both categories of awards are: 1) U. S. citizenship at time of application; 2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by 1961; 3) knowledge of the language of the host country; and 4) good health. A demonstrated capacity for independent study and a good academic record are also expected. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Applicants will be required to submit a plan of proposed study that can be carried out profitably within the year abroad. Successful candidates are required to be affiliated with approved institutions of higher learning abroad.

Enrolled students at a college or university should consult Mr. Steihm, the campus Fulbright advisor for information and applications.

CIVIL SERVICE

The opportunity to enter public service in the Federal government is again being made available to Seniors. The U.S. Civil Service Commission reports that the starting salaries of the positions range from $4,345 to $5,355 per year, depending on the qualifications of the applicant. Appointments to these positions are made through the Federal Service Entrance Examination which, according to the Civil Service Commission, is being reannounced in September.

Students attending colleges in the States of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia apply to the Commission's Third Regional Office, with headquarters in Philadelphia. The examinations are given at a number of locations throughout the four state area. Application forms and other information about the Federal Service Entrance Examination may be obtained from the Placement Office located on the second floor, Charles Hall.

S. P. Ryder, Director of the Third Civil Service Region, explains that a series of tests will be conducted on Saturdays throughout the year. The first two tests will be held on October 15, and November 19, 1960.

Mr. Ryder points out that the Federal Service Entrance Examination is used to fill a wide variety of positions requiring advanced training and ability, and is open to all college graduates regardless of their major field. “The Federal service”, said Mr. Ryder, “is reserving many important positions to be filled by members of this year's graduating class.” According to Mr. Ryder career planning make it possible for the government to provide for a steady annual intake of well qualified young men and women. “The positions filled through the Federal Service Entrance Examination”, he added, “are responsible jobs that in nearly all instances quickly lead to salaries well in excess of the starting rates of pay.”

Applicants with a grade average of “B” or better, or who graduate in the upper 25% of their class, as well as those who qualify in the Management Intern portion of the test, are eligible for appointment at the starting salary of $5,355. As an example of the opportunities available, the Commission states that most Management Interns are promoted to positions paying $6,435 at the completion of one year's service, with further advancement possible at the completion of the second year.

The Civil Service Commission urges that all interested students take the written examination on the test dates scheduled during the first half of the academic year so that they will be in a position to consider job offers in advance of graduation.

Medical Insurance Plan Available

The University has recently announced the availability of group hospitalization and Major Medical Expense Insurance for all full time day school students.

Serious concern has been evidenced over the rising cost of hospitalization insurance. Students can ill afford heavy medical expenses and the increasing cost of individual plans are a constant problem to students and their parents. Another factor of extreme importance is, upon reaching age 19, a student is no longer eligible for family coverage under Blue Cross and Blue Shield and most other group plans. He must then transfer to an individual plan at a substantial increase in cost.

Realizing this problem, the University of Baltimore, like many other colleges and universities throughout the country, has adopted a plan of Hospitalization and Surgical Expense Insurance specifically designed for the students of the University of Baltimore. This plan is offered at an estimated saving of 50 per cent of the cost of Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

If necessary, the plan will pay for each accident or sickness, benefits in excess of $5,000. Another extremely liberal benefit is that payment will be made toward the cost of visits to the family doctor.

The coverage is for a full 12 month period, twenty-four hours a day, anywhere in the world. All students will be accepted regardless of physical condition.

Enrollment forms and a descriptive brochure outlining the plan have been mailed to each student. Those students who did not receive the mailing may obtain a copy at the office.

Students or parents who desire additional information may call the administrator of the plan—Donald W. Doyle or Mu 5-2335.

Your Student Council

by David Geisz

Each year the students of the University of Baltimore elect representatives to the offices of the Student Activities Association, and class officers. The four S.A.A. officers and the Presidents and Vice-Presidents of the four classes are members of the Student Council. Each club and organization elects one representative to the Student Council, and these students along with the S.A.A. officers and class officers comprise what is known as the council.

The Student Council meets once every two weeks, or when some matter needs immediate attention, and formulates student policy. The issues are debated, and passed or vetoed according to Roberts Rules of Order. After an issue has been passed, the S.A.A. President meets with the Administration who pass final judgement on the motion.

Any student through his or her S.A.A. officers, class officers, or club representatives may make suggestions, or bring up an issue that is vitally important to the school. The council welcomes visitors, and wishes that more students would take an interest in school affairs by attending some of the meetings.

The officers of the S.A.A. elected last Spring to serve for this year are as follows:

Al Shahade, President; Pete Gargano, Vice-President; Dave Geisz, Secretary; Dennis Cox, Treasurer.

The last two meetings of the Student Council, of the Spring term, were mostly concerned with upcoming budgets. Many of the budgets were trimmed and voted upon. President Al Shahade stated that he hoped that the coming school year will be as successful or even more successful than last year.

A LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING

by David H. Geisz

I never thought I would be glad to get back to school. Now that school has started, I can safely say that I am glad to get back to the old grind of mixers, S.A.A. meetings, the editor screaming,

"Where's the copy I am supposed to have," working part time, bull sessions, and weekend dates. Oh yes, I almost forgot—studying. (That does go with college.)

It seems as if our newly purchased building has been razed almost overnight. When it's finished it should be a welcome addition to the school.

I hope our newly elected class officers are on the ball this year. Last year we witnessed a number of projects that never were completed.

If a student is looking for something to do on his weekends, then the various mixers that the women's colleges and hospitals in the area sponsor are just the thing for him. Most of the mixers require a coat and tie, but the State Teachers jam-sessions are usually informal. It is surprising how many different coeds a person can meet at a mixer.

We are going to publish, in later issues a schedule of the mixers and jam sessions, held at the various hospitals and colleges.

Student Activities

Did you know that there are eight clubs and organization, and seven inter-collegiate sports that a student can participate in—that's right—fifteen in all. Social balance means two things; studying and participating in extra activities during and after school. A student doesn't really belong or attain a true feeling of school spirit until he participates in school activities.

OPEN LETTER FROM HONEY BEE

Dear Girls,

On behalf of the Women's Association I welcome you to the University of Baltimore. The organization which was first formed in 1936 was primarily established to form a closer and binding relationship between female students. During the coming weeks, invitations will be mailed out to you as to when we will hold our first tea. The full history of this club will then be explained to you.

Sincerely yours,
Honeybee

Checkmate

The ancient game of chess, has been dead at the University of Baltimore since 1948, when the Chess Club disbanded. Last spring, under the leadership of Dave Geisz, several students decided to reorganize the Chess Club. The main idea was to organize the club and interest more students in becoming members. It was realized that the meetings would be used to draft a constitution, and set up a general plan for the fall. A constitution was presented to the Student Council and was accepted. The Constitution and budget were approved by the administration, and plans were mulled over in the minds of the members for the fall.

The club plans to hold a round-robin tournament, as soon as school get under way, to determine the students who will represent the University of Baltimore in chess matches and tournaments with other schools. Several matches are now being arranged with the various colleges in the area.

If any student desires to join the club, or would like more information, he or she may contact one of the following: Dave Geisz, President; Wess Stock, Vice-President and Treasurer; Kay Rodney Turner, Secretary; or Dr. Blake, Advisor of the Political Science Department.

Library News

The library staff welcomes you to the University of Baltimore and hopes you will spend part of each day in one of our libraries. After you have filled out a registration card at the circulation desk, you may borrow books for study and for pleasure.

Charles Hall Library is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 p.m., and a librarian is always available to assist you. We have a wealth of material, which it is your privilege to learn how to use. Arrangements are being made to give you a tour of the library during the first week of classes to introduce you to our resources. You will receive a copy of the Charles Hall Library Manual so that you may understand our policies and procedures.

Our collection has been chosen specifically for your needs and we want you to feel that this is YOUR library. As Arthur Brisbane has said, "Good books are to the mind what the bones of the skeleton are to the body. They hold it up, enable it to go forward."

Bulletin board and display case exhibits are changed frequently to keep you informed on what's new, what's going on, what's helpful, what's interesting. Suggestions for displays are invited from both faculty and students. Our exhibit this week features books on the list GUIDE TO ENJOYMENT OF YOUR COLLEGE CAREER. These books may be borrowed.

Howard Hall

The Law Library, located on the fourth floor of Howard Hall, is one of the libraries of our University. Its 10,000 volumes consist exclusively of law books, except a few general reference books like dictionaries and encyclopedias. It serves the faculty and students of our Law School, but it is also open to students from the School of Business, Industry, and Management whenever they want to use the Maryland Reports, Prentice-Hall tax service or to consult other legal materials. Call Mr. J.Ki, Librarian, if you want further information.

New Magazines

An attractive magazine rack has been placed in Charles Hall Library as a gift from the Class of 1959 to the University. The Library is pleased to have additional display space for new magazines. bench strength. This year Coach Beck is urging all eligible freshmen to try out for the squad.

Basketball Team Loses Walters and Kissner

It won't be long before the BU basketball team starts practice. This year Coach Dan Newbery has added two freshmen Riley Whorton, Calvert Hall, and Jimmy Smith, Loyola. Lost to the team for 1960 are Phil Walters and Mel Kissner.

Last years hoopsters won 10 while losing 11, but ranked very high in the M-D standings.

Wrestling Squad Tries For Comeback

Last year the BU wrestlers lost the championship for the first time in four years.

This season Coach Bill Owens has lost both Captains Dick Kohlfelder and Bob Staab from the 1959 squad. Two additions who look promising are Nick Jacobson, Milford Mill, and Steve Pelekakis.

Eckman Joins Baseball Team

The baseball "9", which ended its season with a solid win over Navy, lost only one player from last year. Freshman addition Charles Eckman (familiar name) should add spark to an exciting young team.

Stickers Lose All-Americans

Besides losing such All-Americans as Ed Nippard, Tim Albrecht, and Kenny Johnson, the BU Lacrosse team have lost Randy Walker, and Mike Walsh because of ineligibility.

However, many outstanding freshmen are waiting in the wings to take over where the veterans left off.

Look for an exciting year from all of the U. of B. squads. Freshmen and upperclassmen, make an effort to support your colleges athletic teams. You won't be disappointed.

Baltimore University's Rogers Ave. gym is buzzing with activity as the 1960-61 athletic season gets underway.

Boosters Must Rebuild

Coach Bill Beck's soccer team is already practicing for the season opener in a couple of weeks. Last year the booters lost only to champion Lynchburg in the Mason-Dixon ranks.

Because of ineligibility and graduation Coach Beck will lose such outstanding players as Ed Nippard, John Neubert, Kenny Johnson, Joe Cosgrove (All-American in 1959), Henry Witowski, Fred Brocklander, and Bob Launslager.

Among those returning this year are Howard Beck, another "All-American" selection; Marty Pustilnik, and George Politz. Promising freshmen include Allan and Austin McBee, graduates of Anne Arundal County High, who will join their third brother Gordon on the team. George Barger, of the Parkville County Championship squad. Joe Pruscella of Calvert Hall, and Charles Eckman, of Glen Bernie.

A big factor in the poor start of the 1959 squad was the lack of

BEEES GET ASSISTANT BASKETBALL COACH

Coach Don Newbery has announced that Paul Baker, who assisted Ed Athey at Washington College last winter, will fill the same role at the U. of B. during the 1960-61 basketball campaign.

The 25-year-old Baker, a graduate of Calvert Hall, who will also serve as chief scout, formerly tutored Towson Catholic High School's junior varsity quintet in 1954-1955 and again in 1956-57. He is also a graduate of Washington College.

A teacher in the city school system, Baker spent the summer as a counselor at Bob Cousy's New England summer camp. Newbery plans to have Baker work with individual members during Baltimore practice sessions when not off on scouting missions.

Gym Facilities

In the spring of 1952 the University purchased the forty-five acre tract of land bounded by Belvedere Avenue, Green Spring Avenue, and Rogers Avenue, which had formerly been occupied by St. Paul's School.

The building consists of dressing rooms for the players, shower rooms, the office of the Athletic Director (Donald Newbery), and an equipment room.

Fields are laid out for lacrosse, soccer, and baseball.

There is also a full length basketball floor.

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH, DEAR FRIENDS

Today, if I am a little misty, who can blame me? For today I begin my seventh year of writing columns for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes.

Seven years! Can it be possible? It seems only yesterday I walked into the Marlboro offices, my knickers freshly pressed, my cowlick wetted down, my oilcloth pencil box clutched in my tiny hand. "Sirs," I said to the makers of Marlboro—as handsome an aggregation of men as you will find in a month of Sundays, as agreeable as the cigarettes they make—mild yet hearty, robust yet gentle, flip-top yet soft pack—"Sirs," I said to this assemblage of honest tobaccoists, "I have come to write a column for Marlboro Cigarettes in college newspapers across the length and breadth of this great free land of America."

We shook hands then—silently, not trusting ourselves to speak—and one of the makers whipped out a harmonica and we sang sea chanties and bobbed for apples and played "Run, Sheep, Run," and smoked good Marlboro Cigarettes until the campfire had turned to embers.

"What will you write about in your column?" asked one of the makers whose name is Trueblood Strongheart.

"Should co-ed's go out for football?"

"About the burning issues that occupy the lively minds of college America," I replied. "About such vital questions as: Should the Student Council have the power to levy taxes? Should proctors be armed? Should coeds go out for football?"

"And will you say a kind word from time to time about Marlboro Cigarettes," asked one of the makers whose name is Honor Bright.

"Why, bless you, sirs," I replied, chuckling silverly, "there is no other kind of word except a kind word to say about Marlboro Cigarettes—the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste—that happy combination of delicious tobacco and exclusive secrete filter—that loyal companion in fair weather or foul—that joy of the purest ray serene."

There was another round of handshakes then and the makers squeezed my shoulders and I squeezed theirs and then we each squeezed our own. And then I hid me to my typewriter and began the first of seven years of columning for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes.

And today as I find myself once more at my typewriter, once more ready to begin a new series of columns, perhaps it would be well to explain my writing methods. I use the term "writing methods" advisedly because I am, above all things a methodical writer. I do not wait for the muse; I work every single day of the year, Sundays and holidays included. I set myself a daily quota and I don't let anything prevent me from achieving it. My quota, to be sure, is not terribly difficult to attain (it is, in fact, one word per day) but the important thing is that I do it every single day. This may seem to you a grueling schedule but you must remember that some days are relatively easy—for example, the days on which I write "the" or "a". On these days I can usually finish my work by noon and can devote the rest of the day to happy pursuits like bird-walking, monopoly, and smoking Marlboro Cigarettes.

The makers of Marlboro are happy to bring you another year of Max Shulman's free-wheeling, uncensored column—and are also happy to bring Marlboro Cigarettes, and for non-filter smokers—mild, flavorful Philip Morris.

Three-month course leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant. If you are graduating this June, you may be eligible for admission to the new Air Force Officer Training School. Successful completion of the three-month course wins you a commission, and a head-start on a bright, rewarding future in the Aerospace Age.

The School is open to men and women college graduates with certain technological and administrative skills. If you are selected for the School, you will receive Staff Sergeant pay while a trainee. Graduated officers may later apply for advanced training and graduate study at government expense. Male officers may also apply for flight training as pilots or navigators.

For the career-minded young officer, the Air Force way of life can be stimulating, exciting and full of meaning. He will be serving himself, his family and his nation. This is the Aerospace Age. It is a time when a career in Air Force blue has so much to offer the young man or woman who qualifies.

The Air Force is seeking only a select group of college graduates for admission into Officer Training School. However, we'd be happy to send detailed information to any senior who is interested. Just write: Officer Training School Information, Dept. SCL04, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.
