

in

STITCHES

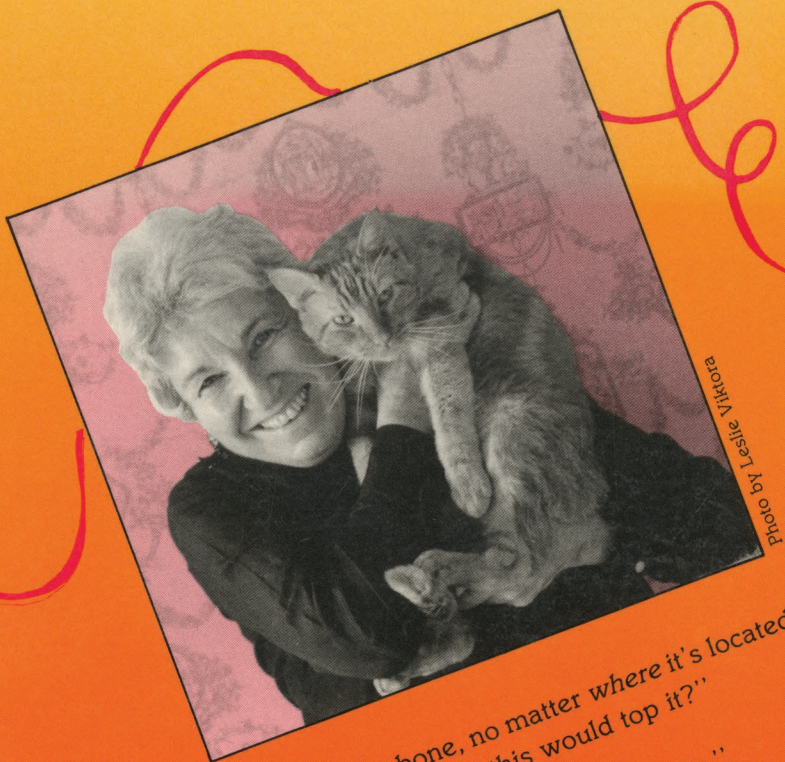

Edited By Gloria Kaufman

A PATCHWORK OF FEMINIST HUMOR
AND SATIRE

Humor by

Margaret Atwood
Toní Cade Bambara
Dave Barry
Alison Bechdel
Mary Kay Blakely
Berke Breathed
Kate Clinton
Barbara Ehrenreich
Jules Feiffer
Ellen Goodman
Guerilla Girls
Nicole Hollander
Zora Neale Hurston
Lynn Johnston
Alice Kahn
Alison Lurie
Marge Piercy
Jane Wagner
and many, many more

"In Stitches will tickle your funny bone, no matter where it's located! The first collection was so clever, who would have thought this would top it?"
—Flo Kennedy

—Rita Mae Brown

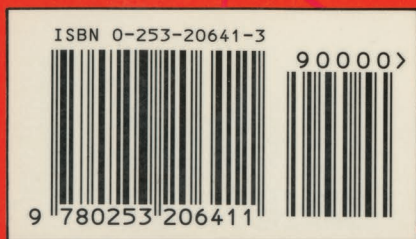

—Dale Spender

"Notice to the consumer: major giggles contained herein."
"It is fantastic. I fell out of bed laughing!"

"It's a well-known fact that sexists have no sense of humor. So indulge in this feast of feminist wit. It will empower and delight you; also, you will roll on the floor a lot."
—Robin Morgan

"For those of us who are lifers in the women's movement, In Stitches is the best cure for burnout I've found so far. Read a few pages daily, share a laugh with a friend, and keep this volume handy if you're prone to headaches after the evening news."
—Mary Kay Blakely

GLORIA KAUFMAN, Director of Women's Studies at Indiana University, South Bend, has published poetry and fiction (under pseudonyms) and was editor (with Mary Kay Blakely) of the first collection of feminist humor, Pulling Our Own Strings. She is an energetic supporter of peace, environmental, and feminist causes, a music-lover, and a dolphin fan (the aquatic variety, that is).

Also available in a clothbound edition ISBN 0-253-33141-2
Indiana University Press

Bloomington and Indianapolis

PRINTED IN U.S.A.