PREFACE.

We deem it unnecessary to say much in the way of a preface to the Directory, and should not add anything did we not feel it due to ourselves to say a few words. It is a fact apparent to all who have thought upon the subject that it is a very difficult task to collect and arrange the matter for a City Directory, especially the first issue, where there is not the convenience of regular numbers as a guide. But we have done the best we could under the circumstances. Although our book may not be such a one as we could desire ourselves, or such as we could publish after having once gone through with the work, we send it forth, hoping that our friends and the public will make due allowance for any omissions or errors that may occur in it. We have endeavored to represent the interests of all, and have bestowed upon it much time and labor.

We have inserted in the work a Post Office Directory, giving the name and location of every Post Office in the State. This is something not usually found in a Directory, and which alone constitutes it a useful book of reference.

ENTERED ACCORDING TO THE ACT OF CONGRESS IN 1856.

INTRODUCTION.

In presenting a CITY DIRECTORY it is usual to give a short sketch of the place for the information of new comers as well as for strangers and persons living at a distance, into whose hands the book may fall. This is not a matter of as much importance to the latter, as it is to the business man or property holder living in the city described, for it is customary to furnish all the principal Hotels, Halls, and Libraries, in the State and elsewhere, within reasonable range, with a copy of the book. We do not intend to depart from this custom in introducing our first Directory of the CITY OF NEW ALBANY, but shall do all in our power to bring the book under the notice of travelers at distant points, so that they may become acquainted with the local advantages, present business, and future prospects of our vigorous young City, at the foot of the "FALLS OF THE OHIO." We think this the more necessary because New Albany has been heretofore overlooked, owing to her proximity to a larger city, on the other side of the river. Besides, she is some distance outside of the range of the great Eastern and Western thoroughfares or lines of travel, into whose channel the moving tide of emigration seems to be drawn with unerring certainty. It is a matter of some importance to New Albany that her "Itinerary" be placed in Hotels, &c., where a portion, at least, of the vast crowd may chance to see and read it, so that whilst passing over those thoroughfares in quest of new homes or desirable locations, or for the purpose of making investment, they may obtain information as to the numerous advantages which cluster around this location. Those who are seeking good investments or business locations, avail themselves of all sources of information, and many such may be thus attracted here to look at the city and judge for themselves. By bringing this city more into notice, we may reasonably look for an accession of population, extension of our business relations, increased activity among our Merchants, Manufacturers, &c., additional capital, and general prosperity. If the proper means are taken to attract business to this point, the above fruits may be realized within a reasonable period of time, and as one of the proper MEANS to be used, a wide distribution of this DIRECTORY will recommend itself to the reflecting, and to the acute business man.

As regards the advantages of the Directory to persons living here, as well as to those having friends here, or trading at this point, we deem it unnecessary to mention them, as they are obvious to all. We shall, therefore, proceed at once, to give a succinct description of this locality, including a few hastily gathered statistics, showing its growth and present business, &c.

The City of New Albany is located on the Indiana side of the Ohio River, and at the foot of the "Falls," upon a high bench, above overflow, except by extreme high water, such as in 1832. Then, that portion forming the immediate bank of the river was inundated, but all the rest, forming the greater part of the City, was then, and always will be, entirely free from overflow. At the lower end of High street a spur of the Knobs overlooks the whole city and surrounding country, and would furnish a site for Water Works, of unsurpassed utility and general fitness. From this point the knobs recede in a north-easterly direction from the river, curving in the rear of the city, and gradually retiring, they leave a scope of country ample for all the wants of a large population. On the line of State street, these knobs are reached by a fine McAdamized road, at the distance of two and one half miles. The scenery from the points of these hills is grand and beautiful beyond description, and is well worthy the notice of travelers. The wide expanse of country, the winding Ohio, Jeffersonville on this side, at the head of the falls, the city of Louisville above and on the other side, the broad fields behind it, with the river hills in the distance, forming a magnificent back ground to this picture, the busy city of New Albany in the foreground, before us and under us the intervening slopes and fields, the densely wooded glens on either side, make the view one of rare and surpassing beauty, and of vast extent. But to be appreciated it must be seen. Forty years ago the site of New Albany was a dense forest, and the favorite camping ground of the Indian. About that time or a little before, Gen. George Rogers Clark held a talk with the red man, and arranged the preliminaries of a treaty at a noted Spring near where there is now a large foundry. No signs of that Spring are now to be seen, and far away in the West the remnant of that tribe must be sought, for they have left no traces here.

New Albany being at the foot of the falls, it was early seen that she possessed some natural advantages, in respect to the trade of the river below, which could not be held by her proud sister, four miles above, at the head of the falls, and on the other side of the river. And notwithstanding the many disadvantages incident to her close proximity to that wealthy and powerful city, whose shadow chilled, and perhaps stunted her growth for a time, yet she has gradually grown apace, gained strength, and developed her proportions. Whatever disparity and prejudice may have existed between them, in times past, there is now abundant evidence that, as the former gradually wears away, the latter also disappears, and the citizens are beginning to realize the fact that it is profitable to live neighborly, and that benefits to be lasting must be reciprocal. Such views are held by some, and they boldly proclaim that all the cities around the "FALLS" should be looked at as ONE GREAT COMMON CENTER OF BUSINESS AND HIVE OF INDUSTRY, and that each city will continue to expand until circling the falls and spanning the river, they will, in time, meet and embrace, like true sisters.

As a MANUFACTURING point, New Albany has many advantages over her sisters, peculiar to her location. In many branches, she has invested largely, sustained her reputation, and made them pay well. But there are other branches of manufacturing which would succeed here, that are yet waiting the advent of capital, in the hands of the skillful. To all such, we say, here is a field worthy of your attention.

As a SHIPPING point the advantages of New Albany have long been acknowledged, and since the completion of the New Albany and Salem Railroad to Lake Michigan, that branch of business has greatly increased. Most of her people are now anxiously looking forward to the completion of the shorter line of Railroad, now being made, from New Albany to Sandusky City, Ohio, deeming it a work of great moment. In view of the many valuable connections which this road is bound to make with other roads, East, West, and South, they think that its completion will open up a great thoroughfare for freight and passengers, and that it will insure the rapid growth and permanent welfare of the city.

But the future development of New Albany does not depend upon that, for there are now at work forces of sufficient magnitude to insure her steady growth without it, but a Railroad competition, such as the one in question, would undoubtedly greatly accelerate her growth, and make "insurance doubly sure." It would render her better able to secure her due share of the trade centering at the falls of the Ohio, and for these reasons such a road is very desirable.

In respect to religious, moral, and social advantages, New Albany can easily challenge the admiration of all who have ever sojourned within her borders. Those who have viewed her numerous and splendid Churches, commodious Schools, Houses, Public Halls, Engine Houses, Fire Companies and Apparatus, their completeness and great value, her Market Houses, paved Wharves and Streets, extensive and numerous SHIP YARDS, Foundries, Mills, Manufactories, her heavy wholesale houses and tasteful retail stores in every variety, her substantial business houses, splendid private residences and comfortable dwellings, in connection with her industrious and enterprising people, are sure to be favorably impressed, and they commonly express their surprise at finding such evidences of thrift and progress in a city so little talked about. Many strangers visiting here for the first time remark that they have heard a great deal about Louisville, but very little about New Albany. The truth is, no efforts have ever been made to call attention to her rise and progress, hence most persons expect to see in New Albany only a puny, sickly growth, struggling through a miserable existence, under the blighting shadow of Louisville. When they come here and see around the unmistakable signs of a healthy and vigorous growth, and that that growth is STEADILY and SURELY going on, they are led to express their surprise, and to question the correctness of their former opinions respecting this location.

The time may have been when the outstretched arms of our sister city prevented the warm rays of prosperity from reaching and cheering her young sister, but that time is happily passed, for the younger has raised her head above the shadow, and the rays can no longer be intercepted. Every day, now, adds to her height, every ray, now, quickens her pulse and gives additional strength. The storm and the cold, now, only toughen her sinews and give firmness to her constitution. In short, New Albany is now no longer to take care of herself, and it requires no "spirit of prophecy" to realize the fact that she has yet a brilliant and a prosperous career before her. Her citizens have the disposition to keep her in good trim for the race, and the day may come when she shall be able to outstrip her wealthy and proud sister at the head of the falls.

New Albany was platted by Joel, Nathaniel, and Abner Scribner, and became a Town, Nov. 13th, 1816; became a City, by act of General Assembly, July 14th, 1839, and adopted General Act of Incorporation, March 7th, 1853.

The Educational advantages of New Albany are surpassed by no other city in the State. And truly may she be proud of her well organized and efficient system of common schools. There are now within the city, in successful operation, three Colleges, viz: Anderson's Female College, New Albany Collegiate Institute, Indiana Asbury Female College; one Seminary, viz: New Albany Theological Seminary; one High School, and six Primary Schools. Value of Common School property alone, belonging to the City, $60,000. The location of College and School Buildings, and statistics of Schools, may be found in another part of the Directory.

Below we give a statement showing the number of Steam Boats built at the Port of New Albany, from Aug. 1840, to June 1856, which will give some idea of the amount of business done in this branch of trade:

PILLS

PREPARED BY A. S. BURLEIGH & BROTHER,
NEW ALBANY, INDIANA.

The Sovereign Balm Pills

Stand upon the Medical properties they possess as can be seen by the following instructions:

T O A G E N T S.

Agents will find it greatly to their interest, and are at full liberty on first introducing P. Childs & Co.'s Oriental or Sovereign Balm Pills to give back the money freely if those who purchase them, after a fair trial, are not satisfied, and may use them in their own families or give a few boxes to their friends, that they may test their great merits over all other remedies, and when once introduced they will find that they can sell large quantities of them. All agents write that when once introduced their sales are large. Families will keep them in their houses and will not be without them.

Were it necessary hundreds of certificates could be presented to the public.

All the genuine Oriental or Sovereign Balm Pills

Have on the wrapper of each box the representation of the manufactory.

NEW ALBANY
COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
NEW ALBANY, IND.
J. BLISS, PRINCIPAL.

At the New Albany Collegiate Institute

Students from abroad will be, as heretofore under the constant supervision of the teachers and will recite extra lessons out of school, eat with them at the same table—form together a part of the family of the principal who with his lady will take special care to make their residence a

HOME FOR THOSE YOUTH

who are sent to the school from other places. In addition to the facilities hitherto enjoyed by the pupils by means of the

LIBRARY, MAPS, &C.,

There will be a good

And the Principal will endeavor (as far as the progress of the scholar will admit) to make these facilities available to the benefit of the whole school. Particular attention will be paid to those who desire to acquire a or a preparation for College. The Academical year will commence the first Monday in September and close the last week in June. It is divided into two sessions of five months each, with a short vacation during the Christmas Holidays.

BUSINESS EDUCATION,

PRICE OF BOARD AND TUITION IN THE ORDINARY BRANCHES.

For session of five months	$75 00
German and French, each	10 00
Book Keeping by Double Entry	10 00
Fuel and lights per session	5 00
Washing per dozen	50

VOCAL MUSIC DAILY FREE OF CHARGE.

For breakage, etc., whatever may be the cost of repairs. Payment is required the session in ADVANCE and no deduction is made for absence except on account of protracted illness. But 30 pupils will be received into the Institution.

New Albany is a very eligible location for such a school. It is distinguished for health and good society, and is entirely free from those elements of agitation and discord which tend to foster sectional jealousies and disunion. It is accessible, both by river and railroad, from all points in the west and south and is so near to Louisville, Ky., that parents and guardians whose business or pleasure leads them to that city can educate their sons or wards in this school with the same convenience of intercourse as though the institution were located there.
