Hello,

I am reaching out to share the work that some of your students are participating in, through BroadStreet's COVID-19 Data Project Internship. BroadStreet provides public good tools that allow professionals to spend their time and resources on improving community health.

BroadStreet's COVID-19 Data Project is a collaboration of approximately 200 students, statisticians, epidemiologists, healthcare experts, data scientists and other passionate professionals who are committed to having the most accurate, community level data about the COVID-19 positive tests and fatality rates.

We have been humbled by the outpouring of support, especially from the collegiate community. We know that right now students have a unique set of challenges trying to navigate these difficult times, maintaining their studies, most who are away from home and while adapting to their new normal. Despite this, we wanted to recognize your students who have graciously donated their time and talent to our project.

You can learn more about BroadStreet here: <https://learn.broadstreet.io>

You can see the data your students help collect here: <http://covid19dataport.org>

Below is a list of the students who have participated by tracking historical data, collecting daily data, as well participating in special interest team projects that include computer based automation, data visualization, infectious disease, policy, social media and fundraising.

We know that during this time, good news can be more meaningful than ever, and we welcome you to share these student's participation in any department or college-wide publications or emailing's. We are glad to be in touch if you have any questions, or want to discuss further opportunities for your students. Once again, we thank you as well as your students for the commitment to public health research and a better tomorrow.

Thank you,

BroadStreet's COVID-19 Data Project
