We Already Miss You!

With students moving off-campus in the coming days and transitioning to remote learning, we've provided information below addressing questions and concerns you may have regarding textbook buyback and rental returns. We also have a list of packing materials available for purchase at the Brown Bookstore.

Stay in touch and up-to-date on what's happening at the Brown Bookstore over the coming weeks. We highly recommend you follow our social media for updates.

Textbook Buyback and Rental Return Now Open

Keep any textbooks you need for classes this semester.

We will email a call tag* to you so rentals can be returned at the end of the semester. Please ensure the contact information you provided when you rented your textbooks is up-to-date.

If it is no longer accurate, please fill out this form to update your contact information:

<https://forms.gle/CjqCWMrJqrwLmbKm7>

Please return your rental materials as soon as feasible after your final exams have been administered.

If you no longer need your course materials, please feel free to return rentals or sell back books before you leave campus.

Call tags can only be used in the continental United States. Students outside of the continental United States should contact us to make alternate arrangements.*
