"Falling Out" - Millie Young, Omaha Nebraska

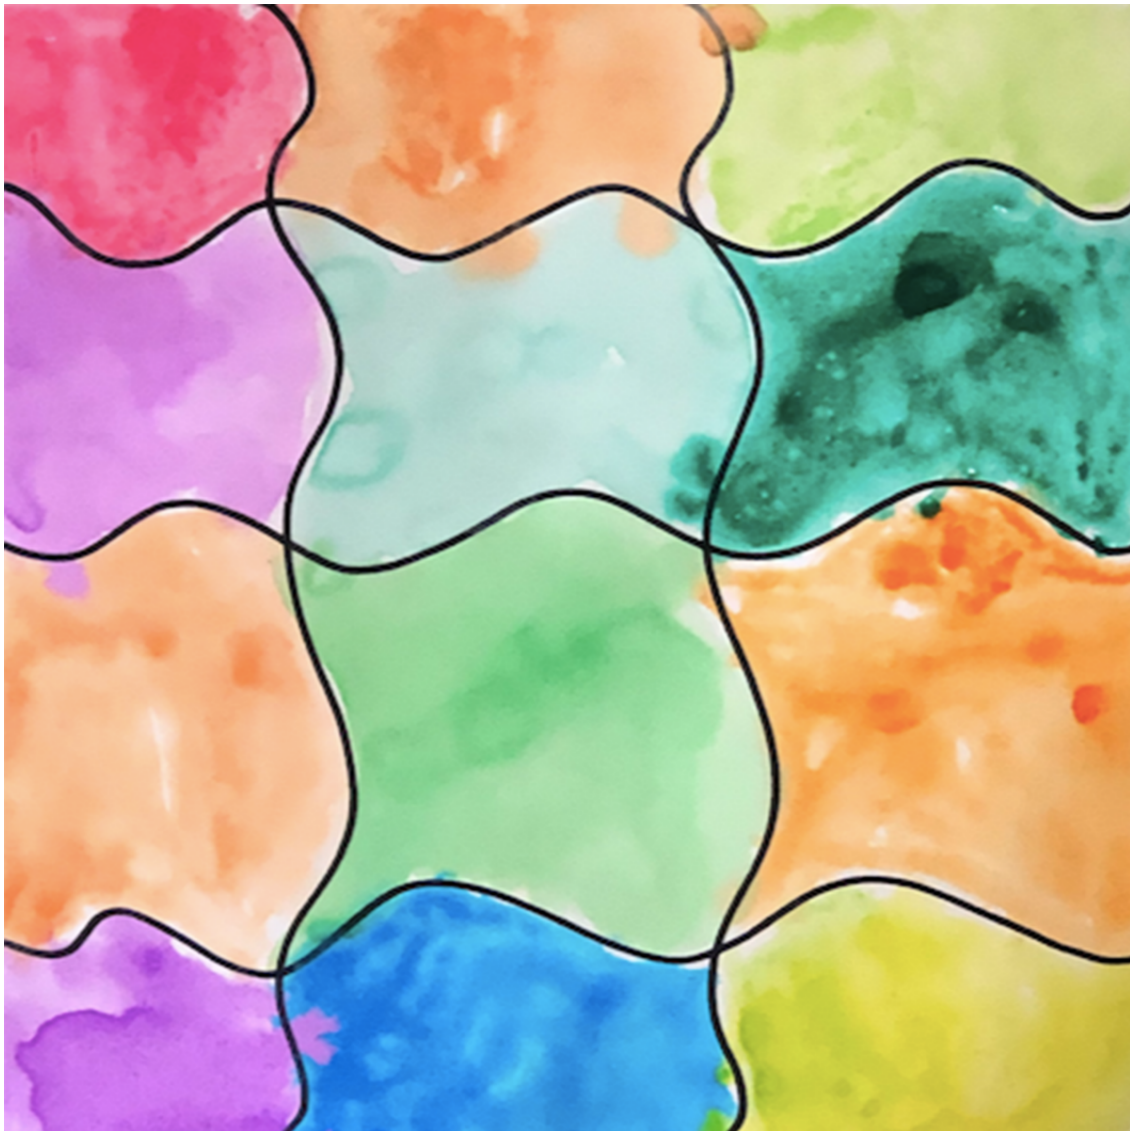

Let's do something together.

Join us for a large-scale community installation project at KANEKO.

We ask you, our creative community, to join us in making a communal artistic expression during this time of physical seclusion and social disruption. As we protect our bodies from contact with the virus, we can use our senses, our artistic natures, and our technological conduits to create something beautiful together. The goal of this project is to make a massive communal work of art that combines our unique space, content, and artistic natures to interact and engage, giving inspiration to you and your families isolated at home.

Below are a few recent submissions to the "Tessellation Project" thus far, each with an amazing story.

Brooklyn Buchholz, Omaha, NE

"Thank you for this project. My daughter is in a special needs classroom and I didn't think she would be able to do this when I saw the assignment. After I broke it down into smaller pieces of an activity we were able to manage it well. They aren't spectacular- but it was a successful morning of art for us! Thank you!"

"Containing Chaos"

Found items on the balcony in planters suspended in epoxy

"This represents us trying to contain the chaos from this illness. The rocks around the edge are our bonds with family and friends and our routines. Everything in the middle is the change and problems of the illness trying to break our stability."

- Dori Primer

Tim Guthrie & Tim Kiefer Collaboration

"The Doors of Utrecht"

"Tim Guthrie (Omaha, NE) brought the Tessellation Project to my attention, and I'm thrilled to submit something. I'm also happy to collaborate with Tim from another country. My family moved from Omaha to the Netherlands in January 2020, we are doubly isolated in our new home. Tim's public offer to collaborate not only provided support and an impetus to create something, but it also provided a connection to “home”.

Alone

"Abstract painting that describes the overwhelming confusion and lack of clarity, that one feels when dealing with a crisis alone. There are days when all of the issues turn into a spaghetti like mess of inarticulate thoughts. "
