

In May 2023 I contacted the Lock Museum in Terryville Connecticut HOME | Lock Museum of America | Terryville, Connecticut . Tom Hennessey replied with a picture of a Trinity doorknob found in his museum. I do not know if anyone at Trinity was aware of its location since our class had returned 3 knobs in 2020-2021.

In 2022 I found a picture of a Trinity doorknob on Etsy. The knob had been sold and I tried to get the address of the buyer but there was no record of the sale. I sent a picture of the knob to Eric Stoykovitch in my attempt to locate the unidentified person contributing the third doorknob in 2021. Eric pointed out the defect on the top of the Etsy knob.

This defect is not present on the third knob, so the Etsy knob is still in an unknown location, perhaps not even in the United States since the Etsy website was in Australia.
