

REAL DISUNIONISM.—Gov. Wallace is a member of the real disunion party of the country. The original leaders of his party are the men who, above all others in the United States, have labored most steadily for thirty years to dismember the Government. Their cry of "Union" now, is a mere party shibboleth, to catch the attention of the people and induce them to support their party in its present purposes and the coming election. To prove this, let us look at the Record:

HORACE GREELEY is the acknowledged organ of Republicanism. His paper, the Tribune, is the Delphic oracle for the President. Whatever the Tribune says, Mr. Lincoln does. It plans—he carries out the project. It proposes—he disposes. It is in that paper then that we can get an insight into the purposes of the man who declared, in his inaugural, "that in future he would be governed by circumstances," and in that paper we find the following:

"But, nevertheless, we mean to conquer them, (the South.)—not merely to defeat, but to conquer, to subjugate them—and we shall do this the more mercifully, the more speedily we do it. But when the rebellious traitors are overwhelmed in the field, and scattered like leaves before an angry wind, it must not be to return to peaceful and contented homes. They must find poverty at their fire-sides, and see privation in the anxious eyes of mothers and the rags of children. It is little enough the slaves will do when masters are at the wars, and to be idle and wasteful is the least harmful thing in which they are likely to engage themselves."

And again:—

"Whatever may be said by the eager enemies of republican institutions at the present day, one thing at least is certain, and that is that history will record that the great Southern rebellion in this country was not a result of either the principles or the practice of democracy, but of that which is most hostile to democracy, which is in fact the utter negation of everything democratic, namely Slavery."

These two little paragraphs unmask the real purposes of Republicanism. Conquer, subjugate ten, twelve, fourteen or fifteen States of the Union, and do it speedily, effectually and most barbarously. Then slavery, the great cause of these troubles, and the darling object of Republicanism, can be easily managed.

Does the loyal and Union-loving people of Washington Territory subscribe to such doctrines? We think not, as the coming election will prove.
