" MY HOPE FOR THIS year would be that the BVHS community would BECOME MORE PROUD OF who we are and what we can do together as we HONOR THE TRADITIONS THAT GOT US HERE, AND ENCOURAGE each other TO NEW HEIGHTS through innovation and problem-solving."

- Mr. Denton

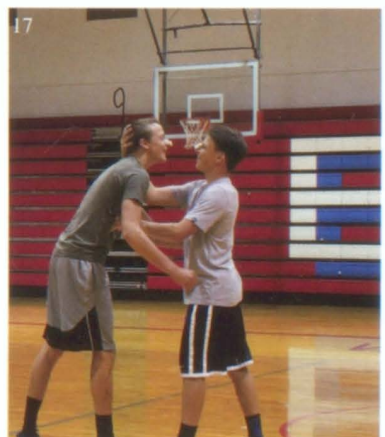

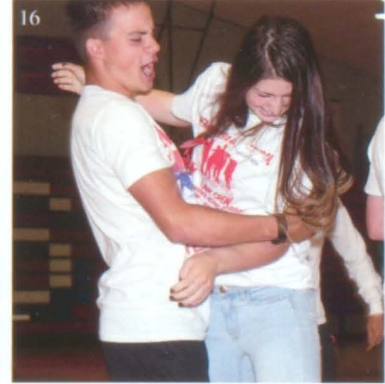

As summer came to an end, the students at BVHS got ready for the upcoming school year. At orientation some upperclassmen (Link Leaders) spent their last day of summer teaching freshmen and new students the ropes of highschool. Through a collection of teambuilding activities in big and small groups, students got to know each other and feel more confident about the upcoming year. The freshmen had a great time at the adventure course, ending summer on a high note. The next day, the seniors woke up while it was still dark to welcome the sunrise and set the stage for their last year, reminiscing about their history together. The first day was full of excitement, and a fun-filled pep rally rung in the year and got everyone thrilled for all the memories the 2017-2018 school year would hold in our small town.

Friday afternoon started with the band leading the school to the gym for a pep rally. Students followed the call of the fight song. In the gym, the cheerleaders showed off their routine for the upcoming football game. Students also tested their knowledge of the fall sports coaches in a teacher trivia game. Friday night commemorated the end of a spirit filled week and kicked off the long, eventful weekend ahead. Junior and Senior girls faced off in an intense powder puff football game after a week of preparation. After a long game, the victorious seniors winning with a score of 14-7, the homecoming court lit their torches and led the way to the bonfire. The anticipated fire is a tradition students always look forward to, and it was a blast once the wood began to burn. Students in every grade spent their night taking pictures and talking about plans for the exciting Saturday ahead.

Homecoming week was full of spirit and excitement. The week started off on Monday, with favorite hat day as a "hats off" to spirit week. Tuesday was beach day, full of fun in the crisp fall air. Wednesday was super hero day and the hallways were packed with marvelous costumes. On Thursday everyone was decked out in red, white and blue for America Day. As we rapped up spirit week on Friday, the students and faculty dressed up for red and white day, the hallways were flooded with a sea of demon pride.

There was an abundance of homecoming festivities throughout the week. Wednesday night was the fall sports shindig at Silver Cliff Ranch. All the fall sports athletes and coaches gathered for dinner and square dancing. Saturday the fall sports teams were recognized by the community and had the opportunity to sign posters, volleyballs and footballs for young demon fans. The optimist club provided a pancake breakfast for the athletes and families after the meet and greet.

During halftime of the Homecoming football game, the homecoming royalty walked onto the field waiting for the winners to be announced. Kassie Schell and Jeff Ludwig were announced Duke and Duchess. Gracie Johnson and Hayden McGinnis won Prince and Princess. Frank Zhang and Alli Dages were crowned King and Queen. "It was such an awesome surprise! I was happy to win, but even happier to be part of such a great group of royalty," said Alli Dages. Frank was also surprised, "I'm not very talented. I can't juggle balls, and other people were better than me. I hang out with them. . . football captains and real sweethearts. I won because of luckiness. Thanks to the people."

As fall is finally here, the town gathers on East Main Street for the fourth annual BV Strong Community Dinner. There were four rows of tables filling the street from beginning to end. Each table was filled with family, friends and neighbors. This year as the dinner rang, Mr. Ohara and all of the students in the dinner sang "Lean On Me," a song that represents the community bond and how everyone supports each other through good and bad. All fall sports teams took part in the event by setting up tables and chairs or serving food to each table. Every year more tables are added with more people showing up. This year the street hosted more community members than in years past. Atlanta Hargrove said, "I always look forward to going to the community dinner and seeing how many people show up. It makes me feel good knowing that all of these people support me and everyone else. I'm truly lucky to live in such an awesome small town." This special day will continue to get larger as the community continues to grow. Each year this event is highly anticipated and loved by everyone who is lucky enough to attend.

BIG HITS

The football team had a good season which resulted in four wins and five losses. The boys really stepped up towards the end of the season. They battled for the league championship and came up short in double overtime during a home game against Peyton. All of the coaches had nothing but great things to say about the team's effort and will-power throughout the season. Senior leader Jordan Yates said, "I had a great senior year, and my goal was to have as much fun as possible." Quarterback Parker Johnson lead the team with a total of 1,236 offensive yards and combined with Jordan Yates for 587 of those yards. Coach Flavin adds, "I am proud of this team and the GRIT they showed this year and becoming a good team in the end."

"Beach bods by Fuller is lies, but singing kid songs while doing it made it worth it."

The volleyball team had an historic season. From the very first game, they knew that they had something special. The team finished with a record of 21-5 overall and 12-0 in the Tri-Peaks League. Their league record earned them the League Championship for the first time since 2002. Along with the league title, the girls also upset the 11th seed, Bishop Machbeuff, to win the District Championship and earn their spot in the state tournament, which has never been done in the history of BVHS Volleyball. These accomplishments didn't come easy. Their victories came from pre-game inspirations, team dinners at Coach Fuller's, countless hours in the gym, and a bond that can't be put into words. Coach Page said, "It was an amazing journey with a fabulous group of young women. I'm so proud to be a part of all they accomplished this season." The team finished with a total of 193 aces, and Rachel Scott lead the team with 45. They also ended with 938 kills: Senior Brily Pence with 388, and Kassie Schell close behind with 205. Although the stats this season were great numbers, nothing compares to the heart and dedication the team showed on the court during each game. But none of that would have been possible without the support the girls received. From the crowd at each home game, to the fan bus cheering at regionals, the community was behind them at all times. Nothing compared to the support at the Denver Coliseum. The stands were filled with a sea of red. Two fan buses with over 100 volunteers, the team's families, and community members showed their Demon Pride during the last two games played on one of the five courts on the Coliseum floor. This historic season and the memories made along the way will be treasured not only by the players, but also by the community who supported them through their incredible journey.

The cross country team welcomed many new members this season along with lots of returning runners. The team worked really hard the whole season and all the athletes were constantly pushing each other. Aside from all the hard work, the team had lots of fun getting to know each other. The weekly pasta dinners and the long bus rides were full of laughter and songs. The team ran their best every weekend, almost consistently getting personal records race after race. The team was really nervous at regionals because they weren't sure if they were going to make it, but everyone ran an anxious race and jumped for joy when they heard the results. With an incredible 3rd place finish from the girls and a 4th place finish from the boys, both teams qualified for state. State was the perfect way to end the season with almost every runner once again getting personal bests and having an all around great race.

BIG ROUTINES

The gymnastics team had 10 meets during their regular season. There were 5 girls doing all-around routines, 2 girls doing floor routines, 3 on beam, 1 on vault, and 1 on bars. They sent all 9 girls to regionals, with 7 of them advancing to state.

The entire team enjoyed their season and can't wait until next year for it to happen again. It seems like the freshmen are especially excited for their next season. ShyAnne Tweddell said, "Next year will change so much with new students coming in and our seniors moving on. I look forward to leading and sharing what I've learned." Teammates learn to help each other out and enjoy each other's presence, especially in gymnastics. The gymnastics team is very supportive of each other and is extremely hard working.

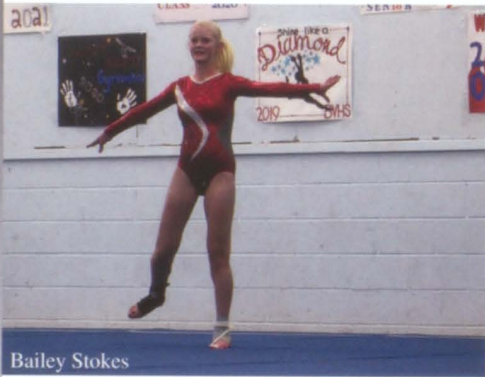

Scout McMurry said, "I am really glad that I was able to get closer to my teammates this year. I'm also excited for a chance to redeem myself at state."

SHREDDING TRAILS

The mountain biking team experienced many rough and inspiring events this season, including Gideon Cranor sliding off an icy bridge, but one of the best by far was an accident at the starting line in Nathrop.

The accident happened about 3 seconds after the gun went off. It involved all of the sophomore boys on our mountain biking team. . . and all the sophomore boys on every team. It looked like a big dog pile with bikes. Then, one by one, people got up and were off. Some of the first riders to escape the pile were BV boys. This accident definitely helped them place better.

Toby Galyean, sophomore, comments on the crash, "It was a pretty big pile up. When I got ran over all I could think about was getting back on my bike to get ahead." Toby and many others hoped they weren't hurt and that this crash could help them get a better place at the finish line. Toby also earned a new nick name this race, "Speedbump."

Time outside of racing is filled with joking and team bonding. Hannah Volpe remembers the race in Leadville, "Grady offered to take my bike back to the pit zone which I thought was kind, but he rode off with it because it's a really nice bike. So Toby gave me his popcorn."

This cheer season was different from any other. With growing numbers and new talent, the cheer squad was able to bring variety to the side line. Senior Captain, Rebecca Ortega, said, "This is the biggest squad we've had in two years. I'm pumped! It's so cool to watch everyone come together as a whole." Another new addition is that the girls traveled to every football game, carrying their roaring Demon pride to high schools across the state. The girls had a lot of laughs with their pregame ritual of singing children's songs. This season was one to remember, thanks to the shark song.

The boys finished the season with a record of 10 wins, 7 ties and 1 loss. "It was a lot of fun to finish my senior year with some really cool guys...Issa vibe," said Matthew Linza. The fall production performed by the high school drama department, The 39 Steps, by Alfred Hitchcock, was like nothing they have ever done before. "This play stood out from previous productions because Mr. Oharah specifically chose it to challenge us," said Theresa Doll. Most of the performers played multiple parts, which included switching outfits and even accents. In addition, there were over 150 sound and light cues, as well as special effects, which tested the tenacity of the tech crew as well. During the first night's performance, the actors were put to the test when the bed Dylan and Angel were sitting on snapped during the scene. It was surprising to the cast, but they pulled it off so well that the audience couldn't tell if it was a part of the play or not. "Thankfully, our improv skills came naturally and we were able to finish out the scene," said Angel Swanson. This play was so well performed the community can't wait to see what the drama department has in store for the years to come.

 7. Kylie Jennings, Jack Wiswell, & Meghan Anderson testing for dissolved oxygen in Cottonwood Creek.

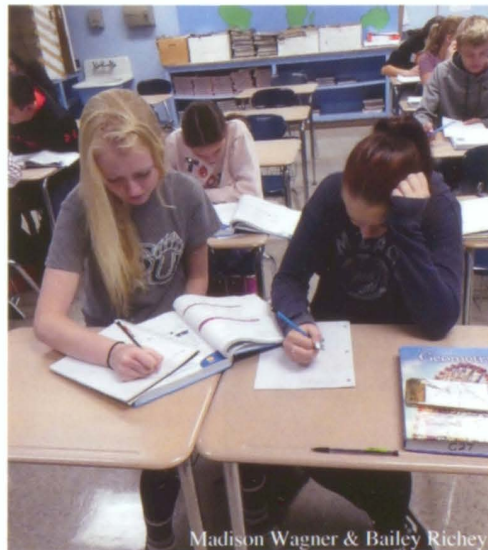

Academics aren't just limited to the classroom. From painting signs for a contest, to full days learning about our valley, to tracking a balloon in Chemistry, BVHS has a unique way of learning. When asked about education, Mr. Fuller said, "If it were easy, everyone would be successful. The difference between successful people and everyone else is everyday when successful people get up they know it's time to put in the work until the work is done." The academics focus on how to push students to be as successful as they can be. Learning outside of the classroom and through experience pushes students out of their comfort zones, and they strive for success. Senior Alli Dages said, "My favorite class is wood shops. I really enjoy working with my hands and creating something on my own. Mr. Burt is incredible, and this class is definitely a de-stressor." Our small school gives us amazing opportunities that help prepare us to work hard and strive for success in the future.

Every year, BVHS looks forward to an exciting evening of boys volleyball. These boys put on a fantastic show for students and families. Similar to powderpuff, where roles are reversed, peach fuzz is a fun way for the volleyball girls to coach selected high school boys. Each team is made up of boys representing their grade. A bracket system dictates the order of competition. "It was great to actually compete with the seniors this year and not get our butts kicked like last year," said Owen Hoal. The freshmen and sophomores were eliminated in the first rounds. They all gained experience, which could help them be victorious in the years to come. The senior team came out as champions this time, but the juniors put up a good fight, almost winning the game.

While the stress of finals week can be overwhelming, the annual low-net tournament is a great way to escape for both participants and spectators. With a new finals schedule (only two finals each morning), low net ended the school day for most of the students. Win or lose, everyone left low net with smiles on their faces. Matt Thompson said, "I like competing with my friends even though we suck. When we all wore stupid outfits to one of the games, it was by far my favorite part." The teams were composed of students from different grades, creating an opportunity for upper and lower classmen to work towards a common goal. After this welcomed distraction, students were given the afternoon to prepare for the next day, either at school or home.

Love was in the air at BVHS on Valentine's Day. Flowers, candy, and singing valedgrams were abundant. The Soundscapes Choir serenaded many students at the request of their admirers. The blushing recipients of the singing valedgrams and the surprising gift exchanges made an ordinary Wednesday at school more exciting. "I think that Valentine's Day is very heartwarming, and it reminds us to love everyone around us," said Mya Baldwin. NHS sold flowers with funny cards and sold chocolate to ensure everybody was in the spirit. Regardless of how people feel about Valentine's Day, this day provided smiles for staff and students alike.

Clubs and organizations are some of the excellent opportunities offered at BVHS. The Dance Team, which is new this year, is a great example of this; they entertained the crowds while performing at halftime during the boy's basketball games. Miss Jackson is so excited to be teaching, coaching, and connecting with these girls. Another club that grabs the attention of the town is Interact Club. Interact helps out around the community in many ways: changing exhibits at the Heritage Museum, highway trash pickup, and recycling are a few ways they serve our town. DECA prepares students for leadership and business and hold their State competition at the Broadmoor. Fancy! Chess Club gives students a chance to reign as masters of logic and strategy.

Band students must read music while playing an instrument, but they are also challenged to cooperate with those around them in order to create a magical sound for everyone to enjoy. The band members can participate in pep band, marching band, concert band and jazz band.

Izzy Warholoski says, "I enjoy band cause I like music a lot, and I like all the people in it. I really enjoy hanging out with them." Izzy made many friends through this experience. The band members all seem to get along together, which creates a fun and comfortable environment to play in.

Micah Rem mentions the fun things they get to do out of school, "My best memory from band is going down to see the symphony. It was fun. My favorite instrument was definitely the tuba, cause the tuba is cool, and it's better than all other instruments." Although other members may not agree with Micah's statement, they have built a bond with their own instrument, the people they work with, and the music they make. The band also takes every opportunity they get to travel and go see a more experienced band play. This helps them learn what to listen and strive for. It is also a fun social experience for those who attend. Whether it be concert music or the BVHS fight song, the band plays on with heart and dedication.

6. Emma Jordan in Women's Choir
7. Kimber Saewert and Laurn Cunningham singing carols
8. Soundscapes trying to hold the long note
9. Soundscapes singing in a stairwell, preparing for the CMEA performance
10. Hannah Volpe, Mr. Oharah, and Logan Trenkle creating a beat.

Choir at BVHS is as diverse as the many personalities that come together to sing. There are three different choirs for students to participate in: Soundscapes Choir, Men's Choir, and Women's Choir. Many students will join more than one for the chance to mentor younger students, combine efforts with other dedicated voices, or even just to get more singing in their day.

Emma Jordan says, "Singing makes me happy. It's relaxing and I enjoy it." Emma and so many others find the joy in singing. They look forward to class, because, although the music is challenging and requires much practice and dedication, bringing the balanced voices together is both an energizing and calming experience.

Even though choir is fun, it isn't a class to slack off in. Savannah Case states, "My favorite part about choir is that Mr. Oharah really cares and he expects the best out of us, and it's really amazing." With Mr. Oharah pushing them to do their best, they have lots of hard work cut out for them. Many hours are spent practicing in class every day, continuing independently at home, and preparing to perform in front of the community, so our choir ends up sounding amazing. This year, Soundscapes performed at Colorado Music Educator's Association conference at the Broadmoor and will also perform at Carnegie Hall in New York City.

The choir performs for our community often, and they always transfer their joy and love of music to the audience. The choir is a thriving part of our school and helps bring the community together.

BROAD IMPACT

If you walk through the halls of BVHS on any given day, at first glance you'll see what you would see in any high school. Students are working on math problems, science experiments, or listening to a history lecture. But when you get closer you see what sets each class apart from the same subject in other schools. You'll see hands on learning and lessons that inspire students in this small town to chase their big dreams. Whether a student wants to be an engineer, an artist, a teacher, a nurse or any other profession, they are in classes and shaping the future. Mrs. Volpe says, "I know as students struggle with Shakespeare and think, 'What's the point?' but it's important to engage in what's difficult. . . that is practice for the 'real world,' and who in high school doesn't want to be stung by the blind bow-boy's butt-shaft?" BVHS is unique because of motivated students who bring humor and focus to class.

The boys basketball teams had a good season this year with some great plays and even greater wins. The varsity team went 10-12 overall and 5-6 in league during the season. These boys strived to be the best in the league and would stop at nothing to reach that goal. Sometimes things didn't go as planned, but the boys pushed through and got multiple wins while being the so called "underdog." Tim Grover once said, "When you're tired and sore, and can't do any more, that is the time to do more," and that is exactly what they did. This season was a lot of fun to be a fan between dunks, unbelievable three pointers and unstoppable defense. The fans made the games fun with their endless spirit, including "silent six" and "beach out." The season was one to remember, and the talent of the senior class will be missed.

The Lady Demon basketball teams had a season full of exciting games and nothing but improvement. The teams ended the season with records of: C-team 5-6, JV 6-8, and Varsity 9-13. For most C-team players, it was their first time playing high school basketball. They had a slow start to their season this year but a strong finish after their win against Salida. With one win and six losses before Christmas, the JV team struggled to find their momentum. After break, the team came out strong, finishing their season with five wins and two losses. "My favorite part about basketball was finally starting to win games, because we started playing as a team," said Meghan Anderson. The Varsity team came into the season with trouble finding a balance. As the season went on, they found their footing and started playing together more and more every game. Gracie Johnson said, "My favorite part of the season was getting to play one last time with my favorite girls and even winning once in a while." All the teams had great seasons, because they kept working hard even through their struggles. For some girls, this was the beginning of their basketball careers, others will continue their career in college, and some participated in their last season, but they all have one thing in common-- their love for basketball.

Throughout the season, each wrestler showed his capabilities during some of the hardest matches of the year. Coach Todd prepared the wrestlers to compete their hardest in each match, and in the end everyone was happy with the results. They had one of the best seasons yet with six wrestlers winning 30 matches, 4 school records were broken or tied, and 6 finishers went to State. BVHS finished in the top 15 at State for the 10th year in a row. Anthony Quintana, a senior from CCHS, had the season record of 40-0, and Owen Berry, a sophomore, finished with the most pins of the season.

"We had a very productive season this year. Five kids wrestled at state on Saturday which is the first in program history. It was the hardest season of all classes. Our region was tough, but the boys still gave it their all," said Coach Todd. All of the tough practices, both in the morning and after school, paid off in the long run as the season is one that BVHS will never forget. Although senior Max Atha is summed to be done with his time on the mat, his parting words for Coach Todd say it all. . . "Thank you, not only for teaching me how to wrestle, but thank you for teaching me how to be a man." The life- lessons in wrestling outlast the mat.

After a long winter of hard work, it's time for some fun! The seniors put on a spirit week and rave to make sure everyone would get some laughs in the middle of a difficult semester. Monday was 80's day, Tuesday was impersonation day, Wednesday was pancakes and pajama day, Thursday was favorite band or party day, and Friday ended the week with rave day. To top of the week, the seniors planned advisory games that would help to decide the winning advisory from spirit week. MacKensy McFee was able to move her advisory into second place during the games. She says, "Eating the SPAM was salty and gross, and it smelled like cat food, but sometimes you just have to take one for the team!" MacKensy had to create a model with the SPAM, but then she got the opportunity to earn her team double points by eating her creation. Many students refused, but MacKensy's stomach was strong enough to take on the challenge. The big event, though, was the rave. Many students showed up and had an awesome time jamming to the music and dancing in the black lights. This spirit week was a well planned break for everyone as it created new bonds, and many laughs erupted while cheering on the advisories.

Maxwell BARONI

Maxwell! It has been a whirlwind of fun these past 18 years. Between all the hunting, fishing, camping, wrestling, football, baseball, youth group, and church camps, you have kept your dad and I very busy. We would not have had it any other way. We know that you are going to do great things in your life. Stay the course, stay focused, and stay tough. God has great plans for your life. You are an exceptional young man, and we are so very proud of you. Dream Big! "When you're screwing up and nobody says anything to you anymore that means they've given up on you...you may not want to hear it but your critics are often the ones telling you they still love you and care about you and want to make you better."
Randy Pausch, The Last Lecture

"Since Sam was born, he grew up around the fire station in Leadville with his father. To see him come full circle and be accepted into the Fire Sciences Program as a resident for the Leadville Fire Rescue makes me smile. I remember the day when he was little when I couldn't let him go along on the fire calls with his dad. Sam said, "But, Mom! I have to go with the guys!!" Sam has always had a heart for people, especially those not as strong as others and now he will use his sharp mind and athletic abilities to help many. His dad and I could not be more proud of him...Go get em' Sam!"

Samuel AUSTIN

Emma, We are so proud of you. You have amazed us with your special talents and smarts over the years such as mastering peeing in a bucket at age 3, making wild flower soup at age 8, and winning the messiest room at age 18. There was also the time you actually caught the softball, kicked the winning soccer goal, and could read 10 hard books a week. However, since you throw up when you gut pumpkins being a Master Carver will never happen and that's ok! Soon we will have towels without hair dye stains and that will make us miss you more. ECB "SUMPIN GOOD" is around the corner for you so keep using your smarts. Always remember it doesn't matter if your hands are clean the cake bakes at 350°. Love you, Dad & Mom

Cade CARROLL

Cade, May your dreams take you to the highest of your hopes and to the most special places your heart has ever known. We absolutely could not be more proud of the man you are today. We love you beyond measure and are so grateful and blessed God called us to be your parents. Forever in your court, Mom and Dad.

Riley CHUPP

Riley! We are so proud of the awesome young man you have become, and we can't wait to see all that God will do in and through you in the coming years! Remember the most important thing... breakfast, well, and family. You love and care for people so well in your quiet and undemanding way. You have the great gifts of wit, insight and wisdom. Use them and go out and change the world.

William,
We are so proud of the kind, young man you are becoming. You have persevered through your life challenges with patience and understanding. You make us feel so honored to be your parents, and we are so excited to see you grow into the best "you" you can be. "THE FORCE IS STRONG WITH THIS ONE"

Joshua 1:9
We love you,
Dad & Mom

William CUNNINGHAM

Alli,
We are tremendously blessed by your genuine heart and servant attitude, and we are so proud of how hard you work and persevere! Our future to you wherever your future leads is straight from Proverbs 3:5-6, "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and do not lean on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make straight your paths." We love you dearly! Mom and Dad

Lynzi DOKE

"What lies behind you and in front of you is nothing compared to what lies within you." So proud of you for staying true to who you are. You've overcome great obstacles in your short life. Never stop being more tomorrow than who you were today. As the saying goes, "Take the path less traveled," unless it's a path made by burros, then follow their path. Just watch out for the road apples. 10% chance of surviving, 0.5% chance of becoming a runner, 110% chance of making us proud!
-Love Mom and Dad

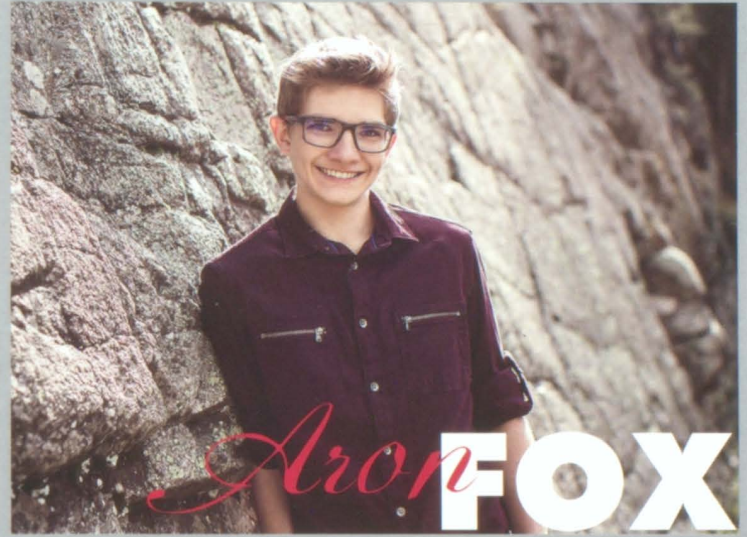

Reese,
 Your future does not lay in front of you, it lies deep inside you.
 Life is not about finding yourself, it's about creating yourself.
 When life becomes a rollercoaster, climb into the front seat, throw your arms in the air and enjoy the ride.
 When life gets crazy, do something normal... and if life gets too normal, do something crazy!
 Play with wild abandon no matter how old you get.
 Live for today, not for tomorrow and never be afraid to go after the things you want in life.
 Never forget... we will love you forever, no matter what!
 Love,
 Mom & Dad

Follow your dreams, always be sweet, and never forget I love you!

Anna, you are and have been a joyous delight and treasure to us. We are so thankful for you and all the gifts that you bring to our family—as a daughter, sister, and friend. We are so excited about your future. As we have loved watching you grow up, we expect to be perpetually amazed by you as you conquer college, cure cancer, fly to the moon, love God, and continue to blossom into THE BEST.

Dear Bailey,
We are so proud of the young lady you have become. Always remember the words of wisdom. Live life. Do a good job at everything you do and do the best job at everything that makes you so happy. See as much of the world as you can so your place in it. Respect the earth and above all respect other people. Support your community and honor your family and never, ever give up on anything you are passionate about. Keep an open mind and doors open for you that you never dreamed possible. You can do anything you want as long as you work hard and try new things.

Kyran!!
Little buddy, you have been such a blessing in my life! My hope for you is that you would live life to the fullest! Live in reckless abandon as you embrace this life in front of you! Drink deep of family, friends, romance, and the vision you have for life! Live out loud what is MOST true about you son! You are a gift: a gift to your mother and I, a gift to your friends, and a gift to whomever has the privilege of living life with you!
Pops!

Kyran, I know there are so many unanswered questions as you begin this new adventure. But I hope you remember that what lies behind you, and what lies before you is a small matter compared to what lies within you. And I think what lies within YOU is something the world NEEDS more of. Love you to infinity! Mom

To Frank,
 I have been blessed by you coming into my life. You are such a gentle, kind and caring individual who always has a great smile on your face, and you have an awesome attitude on life, and you show me how to enjoy more of what is around me. You have opened my eyes and for that I truly am grateful, and I truly feel blessed. Keep this great attitude around you and I believe that you will succeed in life with whatever you want to do. You are the greatest son that I could have ever hoped for. I thank you from the bottom of my heart. Your mother and I truly love you.

Jordan, may you always know you have what it takes and you are deeply loved. As you grow in wisdom and stature, may you never lose your playful and child-like heart that brings such joy to others. May you always lift up others as you live out your true self and lead others all in living with both more abandon and more focus. And may you always be humble and kind. I am better because of the gift of being your mom. I love you.

With each grade comes a full schedule of required and chosen classes that will propel students into their future careers. In one classroom, freshmen are reciting Shakespeare in a dramatic reenactment. Across the hall, Mr. Fritsch's sophomore class is diving into an assortment of literature from all around the world, reading, analyzing and reporting on various books. Some of them may pursue a future in writing or world literature. In another hallway, Mr. Kuennen's pre-calculus is in a competition to calculate the linear speed of a hula hoop rolling down the hallway.

In science, the Astronomy class is busy looking through a reflective telescope and modeling refractive telescopes. Sharing the lab, the college chemistry students are making cookies to demonstrate that reactants need the correct mass to yield the desired result. There are also students in an assortment of extracurricular classes that further their knowledge on subjects they are passionate about. The arts and shops classes are busy crafting their best work to showcase at the annual Creative Arts Fair. None of these students would be able to expand their knowledge and further their passions without the dedicated teachers in this school who give their all to helping students reach their full potential.

BVHS may be a small school, but we have great times throughout the year. With low-net tournaments, drama productions, spirit weeks, assemblies, sports, advisory competitions, and learning in the classroom, our nine months within these walls fly by.

The new principal, Mr. Denton, brought some new and outstanding changes, including a finals week with time for study in the afternoons. Some of our best athletes and students are off to college on well-earned scholarships; they had big aspirations and were able to succeed in making their dreams a reality. Teams, like girls volleyball making it to State for the first time in BVHS history, learned to make every person count. Others made personal accomplishments, like writing the Junior paper or being brave enough to submerge oneself in the icy waters of Cottonwood Creek for Biology. BVHS has so much to be proud of this year because even though we are small in numbers, we have great heart and big dreams.
