WAGNER RADIO STATION TO BECOME REALITY

by Laurie D. Vogel

A rapidly growing organization on campus is becoming a focal point of interest for the Wagner College community. The student-directed Radio Club is building momentum at a frantic pace.

Two years ago, only the pipe dream of a few motivated undergrads, the Radio station will soon become a reality. Station Manager, Chip Sellarole; Program Director Ed Garlock; and Engineers Doug Nolan and Rich Gipner are only four of the students who are spending much of their free time and pocket money in the planning and organizing of the future radio

As a result of being awarded $5,200 by the student government budget committee this year, the radio club was able to purchase much of the necessary equipment to begin operating. At this time they are still in need of a transmitter and cables.

According to Mr. Garlock, "When we get the 10-watt transmitter we will be able to serve a large area of Staten Island and maybe eventually Brooklyn.

"Originally we were going to be electrically wired to the dorms," Garlock said, "and then we were going to use carrier-current but then we found out that for only five hundred dollars more we could get a transmitter. This will be better for the students because commuters will be able to benefit from the radio station as well.

In order to become operational, law requires that one person bearing an F.C.C. license be present during broadcasting. Currently two staff members have their F.C.C. licenses and they will work as disc jockeys.

When asked about the type of radio program they are planning, Mr. Garlock said, "We plan not to play any one type of music all the time.

We will have some jazz, rock, disco, and anything else. Basically it will be up to the D.J.'s".

Until the Radio Club has the finances to develop a record library, each staff member will be required to supply their own albums "so the music will vary according to personal taste" Garlock added.

The Radio program will also have a brief newscast for five minutes covering news, sports, and weather.

As a final comment, Garlock stated, "I've put in at least $25 or $30 into this radio station and so has everyone else. We really believe in it."

Nimbus, Radio Find Solution to Occupancy Problem

by Laurie D. Vogel

The student-run Radio Club at Wagner College has been a source for controversy the past few months.

Having dispossessed Union Room 225 from the Nimbus organization, both the Radio Club and Nimbus have been in a turmoil over the matter.

Elyssa Alkoff, Editor-in-Chief of the Nimbus Magazine, claims her main objection to the Radio Club's recent possession of the Nimbus Office is the lack of prior notice concerning the situations.

First informed of the matter on January 30, at a meeting with Mr. William Mahr, Financial Director at Wagner; Dr. Leesburg, Vice President of Wagner; Tim Murphy, Student Government President; and Chip Sellarole, Station Manager of the Radio Club; Ms. Alkoff found the Nimbus office being reconstructed only eleven days later. Workmen were drilling a hole in the wall and the furniture and supplies were totally rearranged. Ms. Alkoff had not been notified when work was to begin in the Nimbus office. According to Ms. Alkoff, if she had been properly notified she would have made certain arrangements regarding staff meetings and office equipment and, therefore, would not have objected to the eviction.

"I knew two years ago that I would eventually have to leave this office in the Union. We were only there on a temporary basis because the room was designated for the Radio Club, but I wish I had been told when."

Nimbus now occupies the open lobby between the Kallista and the Wagnerian offices.

According to Ms. Alkoff she feels she is losing security because, "all the Nimbus supplies are out in the open and are subject to the possibility of theft." Her primary concern is that she had "trusted with submissions to Nimbus which are the creations of Wagner College Students and I'm very worried about the lack of security now."

To help guard against the problem of theft, Nimbus has been given locked cabinets and a locked desk by Theodore Mangione, Union Director.

According to Ed Garlock, Program Director of the Radio Station, "We just want to get this thing started and we want to avoid any political battles between departments because that's how these things get killed. We have to be careful what the radio club gets involved in."

It is interesting to note that at the time of construction of the Science Building, a soundproof room was built for the purpose of a future campus radio station. It is now utilized by a Ham Radio Club operating at Wagner College. Disregarding the original designation of that room for the radio club, the administration insists that all communications be together in one area of the union to be recognized as the communications area.

Due to the seeming lack of communication between the publications, the radio club, and administration which has led to a great deal of unnecessary anguish for all parties concerned, it was proposed at a February 24th meeting that the Radio Club would be represented in the Board of Publications to avoid future lack of communication.

The Board of Publications has previously consisted of representatives from Nimbus, the Wagnerian, and Kallista as well as their respective advisors. However, if the proposal is approved, the Board of Publications will be renamed the Board of Communications.

PHOTOGRAPHY SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST

Undergraduate college students who are photographers or picture editors are invited to compete in the annual Joseph Ehrenreich-National Press Photographers Association Scholarship for 1978, in which two $500 scholarship prizes will be awarded.

Applicants in the competition need not be journalism majors but must show aptitude and potential in the making of or the use of photographs in communication and must intend to pursue a career in journalism. Deadline for the competition is April 1, 1978.

The selection of two winners and two alternates will be made in May by a committee that will include a working news photographer, a picture editor and a photojournalism instructor. Should the two winners not qualify or not enroll for the following school year, the award will go to the first alternate. Checks will be deposited with the registrar of the student's school to be credited to the winner at the time of reenrollment.

This scholarship prize that honors Joseph Ehrenreich, founder of Ehrenreich Photo-Optical Industries, Inc., Garden City, N.Y., has been provided by his widow, Amelia Ehrenreich.

Her late husband had early recognized the potential of 35mm photography and the Nikon camera in particular, for which his firm became the exclusive American distributor. His enthusiasm for Nikon propelled it into a leadership position by making it a standard for photojournalists.

Ehrenreich was known for stressing quality and fine engineering. In 1962, the Japanese government gave him a citation for outstanding promotion of Japanese-American trade.

Entries for the competition are available by writing Mr. John Anhauser NPPA Scholarship Chairman, 111 Meadowbrook, Bloomington, In. 47401.

BETA BETA BETA CHAPTER INDUCTION

On Friday December 1st, 1977 the Eta Upsilon Chapter of Beta Beta Beta at Wagner College inducted new members into the honor society.

Beta Beta Beta formally defines itself as "an honorary and professional society for students of the biological sciences". It is a national organization. Its time of birth (1922) accounts for both its Greek letter name and its original emphasis as an honorary. However, it has never been a secret society and, from its beginning, many of its activities have been those of a professional society.

Active membership is open to majors in biology or bacteriology and is based upon academic achievement in the biological sciences.

Dr. Dale A. Yarns, advisor, Mary Lynn Nierodzick, President, and all officers and members of the Eta Upsilon Chapter are pleased to announce the names of the new inductees.

The following students were inducted during a candle light ceremony in the Wagner Union on Friday December 1st, 1977:

Marinella Cardello
Vincent Dolce
Annette Dworzanski
Richard Ericksen

Letter to the Editor

February 23, 1978

To the Editor of the Wagnerian

This letter is in reference to an article in the Wag's last issue titled "Fire in C-Towers." In this article I was said to not be available during the entire incident of the fire and I left no message as to where to be found. Well in rebuttal to your reporters article I would like to clear myself.

- 1) I was on duty on that weekend.
- 2) I was in the building and was sleeping at the time of the incident.
- 3) I could not be reached at my room by phone because your newspaper, "The Wagnerian," printed up the wrong phone number for B-3 on the papers telephone listing, which was produced early in the Fall Semester. As a result of the misprint of 3225 instead of 3325 I could not be reached.

4) No one came to my door and tried to notify me of the situation. In this case, your reporter assumed I was not in and could not be found. A total assumption on her part, for I was never questioned on the incident. A flaw in her efforts as a reporter.

In conclusion, I would like to say that since the fire alarms never rang in B Towers, I could not be held as irresponsible in my job and as a final note, if your newspaper shall ever like to print my name again I would greatly appreciate it if my name could be printed correctly. The correct spelling is MELENDEZ not HELENDEZ.

Thank You,
Augie Melendez

As of January 1, 1978, there has been a new face at Wagner College. The face belongs to 24 year old Roger Solberg, and he is the new Associate Union Director.

A native Staten Islander, Solberg did his undergraduate work at UP-SALA College in Orange, New Jersey, and then went on to Indiana University, where he received his M.S. in Education.

Along with Ted Mangione, who is the director of the Union, and Debbie Vasqualez, who is assistant to the Director, there will be more ideas that will lead to better planning.

Before coming to Wagner, Solberg was the Student Night Manager at Indiana University.

Solberg has many plans for organization at Wagner. He hopes to make BOSACA 'a total campus organization', and he feels Student

'The Union is a vital educational facility,' explains Solberg, 'it should allow faculty, students and administration to come together on a common ground.'

While all of the above goals are achievable, Solberg feels that they will not be immediate.

Solberg's duties include:

1. advising BOSACA
2. activities programming
3. advising and planning for Songfest
4. advising Student Government

Preview: Twelfth Night

By Karen Larsen

'Call it whatever you like.' So its name is 'Twelfth Night', or 'What You Will' written by one of the greatest playwrights of dramatic literature - William Shakespeare. The spirited Wagner College theater wishes to present a comedy in the light of romantic love. You will view scenes where there is excessive love of self, love of being in love, love of attitude, love between friends and lastly, love between the sexes. All of this delicious sentiment will occur on a dreamy island called Illyria, a limitless and immortal world of indulgence, full of food, drink, love, play, disguises and music. Although this play contradicts the strictly romantic formula of a happy ending by commencing in a state of merriment, you will soon discover that the characters are anything but carefree.

The director, Randy Alderson states, 'I need to enjoy myself.' Consequently, 'Twelfth Night' contains all the essential elements of theatrical knowledge, performance, and skill. In his opinion, the well-cast performers must also share the same enthusiasm and indeed they do. The personal interactions between the director and the actors will expose the best of creative imaginations and ideas.

Inevitably there are conflicts, but the outcome is better understanding with constructive solutions and ultimately, a fine production.

'Twelfth Night' delivers an overwhelming amount of charm through the use of poetry and music.

The language is a vehicle which transports the absolute beauty of words and powerful feelings. The primary force in this delightful presentation is credited to Dr. Ronald Cross and his Collegium Musicum Wagneriensis. Their mastery of authentic renaissance instruments is well demonstrated in the musical compositions. To describe the technical aspects, the setting revolves around starlight, rainbows, blossoming gardens, the entire aura of springtime. Now, isn't that delightful? The brightly colored, luxuriant costumes are simply gorgeous to look at and additionally, support the characters' attitudes throughout the play.

'Twelfth Night', to be shown March 1st - March 5th promises a most entertaining and educational evening. If you desire a performance which evokes laughter, tears and perhaps even a bit of inspiration, you must come. Shakespeare's genius brings together the human heart and mind in all ages. His works did not pass away with his time. On the contrary, they are as real now as they were then.

Shehawks: A Hopeful Team

By Charles Vetter

'I'm more than satisfied with the season we've had so far,' said Wagner women's basketball coach Cathy Andruzzi. 'The difference between this year and last year is like night and day.'

Boasting a record of 12-11 the Shehawks are no longer being thought of as easy prey by their opponents. Those who have looked for an easy game have been rudely surprised.

'The girls are definitely more dedicated this year - they seem to want the same thing I want,' said Andruzzi who is hoping for an invitation to the Eastern Regional women's basketball tournament at the end of the season. 'If we win our two remaining games, I think we have a shot,' she said. However, Wagner's many close losses could prove critical for a tournament bid. The Shehawks have lost five games by four or less points this season.

Besides having an improved record this year, Wagner also has individual players having banner years.

Co-captain, Tricia Hoff scored her 1000th point February 18 against Mercy College. Tricia became the first woman ever at Wagner to score 1000 points. A junior forward, Ms. Hoff is now the fifth leading scorer in the Eastern Women's Basketball Association with an average of 22.1 points per game. Tricia is also third in the association in free throw percentage carrying an 82.6.

Point guard Karen Lynch has made tremendous improvements in the last year. A sophomore, Ms. Lynch is the play-maker of the team. She is now first in the conference in assists with a 10.0 average. Ms. Hoff gives Karen much credit for her own success, 'she doesn't score that many points so she doesn't get the recognition she deserves,' she said.

Freshman Heidi Owen is sixth in the conference in free-throw shooting with 79.5 average. Ms. Owen is also averaging 11 points and 12 rebounds per game.

Co-captain Ginger Sprenger is averaging 10 points per game and is called by Coach Andruzzi, 'the hardest worker on the team.'

The only senior on the team Heide Boeckmann has filled the role of center for the Shehawks this year. Though she doesn't shoot much Heide makes her contribution with strong rebounding and tough defense.

Freshman Mary Gormly was averaging 12 rebounds per-contest before she was forced out of action with an ankle injury. A good future is expected from her in the coming years.

Rounding out the team are Lisa Cummings, Lynne Gable, and Gerry Nelson.

As a team the Shehawks are second in the eastern conference in free-throw shooting.

The other colleges in the area are getting better by recruiting and that Wagner will have to be competitive with them to continue improving.

SEAHAWKS FLY SOUTH

By Charles Vetter

You don't play baseball in February. Don't tell that to Joseph Consagra, Wagner College's new head baseball coach.

Coach Consagra is already working out with his team in Sutter Gymnasium and will soon begin spring training. The Seahawks head for Florida March 15 where they will spend 10 days in the Miami area getting ready for the upcoming season. 'We'll work-out and get as many games as we can while in Florida' said coach Consagra.

After last year's disappointing season the Seahawks came back with a strong 8-6 record this Fall season and are looking forward to an even better spring. We've worked hard this year so we are aiming at a good year' said assistant coach Alan Osmundsen adding 'coach Consagra has already done much to turn the teams attitude around.'

Consagra coached at James Monroe High School in the Bronx where he ran up an impressive record before coming to coach at Wagner College. In 18 years at Monroe, he won 18 championships and compiled a winning percentage of over .800.

Some returning veterans that will be depended on this year are shortstop Danny Hallihan, right fielder John NoGrady, center fielder Gary Nellis, and pitchers Rick Prall and Pat MacAlarney.

Tryouts are now being held for the team. Anyone interested should see coach Consagra who is especially looking for more catchers for his team.

Iona: A Not So Easy Victory Over Seahawks

By: Charles Vetter

Highly touted Iona College had to use all its sharp shooting skills and rebounding muscle to turn back a stubborn Wagner basketball team 96-83, Saturday night (Feb. 25) at the Sutter Gymnasium.

Iona is competing for a spot in the upcoming ECAC Metropolitan Tournament and a win over Wagner was crucial to it's hopes.

For the first half however Wagner played inspired ball and fought Iona to a standoff. The Seahawks contained Iona's 6-9 center Jeff Ruland with a collapsing zone defense and outrebounded the bigger Gaels 16-14 in the opening stanza which ended with Iona ahead 43-40.

In the second half the Gaels began to wear down the Seahawks and their lead began to grow.

The Gaels are now 17-9 as a result of their win while Wagner's record slipped to 7-17.

The game began with both teams hitting their shots, trading baskets Wagner benefitting from the hot hand of Mark DiDonna who scored ten of Wagner's first 19 points.

With the score 16-15 Iona opened up a lead with six quick points to put the Gaels up by seven, 22-15. With eight minutes to go Wagner came up with a spurt of their own as DiDonna, Steve Johnson and Clarence Bishop each chipped in two points, to close the gap to 24-23.

For the rest of the half Iona continued to hit at a torrid pace utilizing the inside game of Ruland and perimeter shooting of Kevin Hamilton. Wagner's Earl Lewis hit five points in the last two minutes but the half ended with Iona up by three points.

In the early minutes of the second half Iona opened up a nine point lead at 53-44, before Wagner was once again able to close the gap to four.

Midway through the period Iona ran off ten consecutive points with Ruland being the main beneficiary of the many fast breaks. A time-out by Wagner coach PJ Carlesimo failed to help the now obviously fatigued Seahawks who couldn't get closer than ten points behind.

With seven minutes to go Ruland missed a dunk attempt but Wagner's Lewis was called on a foul on the rebound. That was Lewis' fifth foul and he was forced from the game. He didn't think he was going to be a trend setter though as in rapid succession Enrique Aponte, CB Bishop, and Steve Johnson also fouled out, as the Seahawks hustling play began to be shown by their number of fouls.

For the remainder of the game the Seahawks were never able to Mount another charge at the disciplined Gaels. The game ended with Iona winning 96-83.

Iona coach James Volvano now must wait for a phone call to see if his team was chosen for the ECAC Tournament.

A presentation was given before the game to Seahawk guard, Henry Dillard. The junior Dillard has now broken every assist record at Wagner.

Mark DiDonna scored 26 points while shooting 10-18 from the field. Earl Lewis shot 9-13, scoring 20 points and hauling down 12 rebounds.

Jeff Ruland led Iona with 32 points. The Gaels shot an impressive 59 percent from the floor.
