Freshman Week Now In Progress; Dorm Serenades Tonight With Rush Tomorrow

Awards Presented To Winners Of Olympics At Student Union Benefit Dance Friday Night

by Carlyn Young

Freshman Week reigns over the campus this week with the annual Frosh-Soph Olympics in progress. The climax of the olympics will take place tomorrow afternoon with the tug-of-war and the flag rush. Friday night features the Student Union Dance and the presentation of awards to the winners of the olympics.

FRESHMEN SERENADE

From 7:30 to 8:30 tonight, the Freshmen girls will serenade Luther and South Halls and from 9 to 10 the men will sing to Guild and North Halls.

The tug-of-war will take place at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon, with the flag rush following at 2. This year the flag rush will be divided into two 10 minute halves with a three minute enforced rest period between. Both the flag rush and the tug-of-war are limited to twenty men per side. All classes after the fourth period are cancelled so that the entire college may witness the competition.

ATHLETIC CONTESTS

The Traditions Committee, headed by Roger Greentaner, set up the week's schedule and the point system for the olympics. Monday afternoon at 3:30 saw the women's softball game between the Frosh and Soph teams while the men's basketball game took over at 7:30 that evening.

Tuesday's schedule featured men's touch football at 3:30 and women's basketball at 8. The men's softball game will take place at 3:30 this afternoon.

The point system set up by the Traditions Committee is as follows: 20 points for the winners of the flag rush, 10 points for the tug-of-war, and 5 points for the victors of each of the other activities. If the Freshmen win the most points, they may doff their "dinks" and name tags

Debate Team Splits With Kings Point

In a forensic doubleheader at the Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy last Saturday, the Wagner Debate Society emerged from its first contests of the year with one victory and one defeat. The topic of the two contests was "Resolved that the United States should adopt a policy of free trade."

Arguing for the affirmative side of the case, Diana Wence and Arthur Salverson topped the Mariners' negative team, while Dorrit Weill and Doris Nagel, Wagner's negative debaters, lost to the Kings Point affirmative team.

Following the debates and a lunch, the visiting Wagnerians were guests of the Academy at a review of the cadets. They were then escorted to the Wagner-Kings Point football game at Lowe Stadium.

Attention Seniors...

If you have not yet ordered your class rings, do it this week. Class ring orders are being taken only until this Friday, October 23. A deposit of $5.00 must be paid at the Bursar's office, for which you will receive a receipt. This receipt must then be taken to the Alumni office (Room T-3, Trinity Hall) where the ring may be ordered. Remember, the deadline is this Friday, October 23.

Choir Tryouts Held; First Concert Sunday

During the first weeks of school this fall, Dr. Sigvart Steen held tryouts for the 1953-54 Wagner College Choir. Of the fifty-two members, two thirds are new in the choir this year.

The choir's new manager is Prof. Harald Normann. At present he is making arrangements for a tour of several eastern states. Miss Mary Louise Hanson, voice teacher, will accompany the choir on tour as chaplain.

The Choir will make its first appearance of this year at the Reformation Day Service at the White Plains County Center this Sunday, October 25, at 4:30 p.m. in connection with the uniting of all Protestant churches in Westchester County. This service is under the sponsorship of the Laymen's Interchurch Council of White Plains, composed of all the thirteen Protestant churches in the area. Four thousand people are expected to attend.

V.P.'s Will Present "Liliom" This Fall

Ferenc Mdnar's play "Liliom" will comprise the main production of the Varsity Players for the fall semester. This announcement was made at a Varsity Player meeting last week by Mr. Vincent J. Zangara, director of the group. The performance dates for the show are December 3, 4, and 5 at 8:30 p.m.

The tragedy, which will be the first V.P. production directed by Mr. Zangara this year, is also well-known as the play from which Rogers and Hammerstein took the plot for their musical production "Carousel."

Tony Nebauer will enact the title role of Liliom, while the feminine lead, Julie, will be played by Elaine Banfi. Nebauer has appeared in two of last year's Varsity Player shows: "The Little Foxes" (as Cal) and "The Madwoman of Chaillot" (as a Broker). Miss Banfi is also a veteran of these two shows, having portrayed Alexandra in the former and Irma, the cafe waitress, in the latter. Both Nebauer and Miss Banfi are members of Alpha Psi

Holiday Schedules

Announcement has been made by Dr. Stern, Dean of the College, of the schedule of holidays for the rest of the year.

Friday, October 30, is an academic holiday because of Homecoming. This is in place of Armistice Day, November 11, at which time classes will be held as usual.

Thanksgiving vacation begins at midnight on Wednesday, November 25, and ends Sunday, the 29th.

Christmas holidays start at midnight on Friday, December 18, and classes resume on January 4th.

Student Union Marks Progress With Dance

As the opening gun in the campaign for a Student Union at Wagner, an informal "College Hop" dance will be held in the gym this Friday night. Beginning at 8:00 p.m., the dance will last until midnight.

According to Roger Greentaner and Bob Klumpp, co-chairmen of the Student Union Fund Committee, Lou Siani and his orchestra will provide the music for the dance. This is the same orchestra which played at the Interfraternity Dance on September 19. A featured innovation of the Student Union Dance will be a "group singing period." At this time, the words to a number of well-known and popular college songs will be flashed on a screen. Lasting for about 20 minutes, the songfest is expected to add to the informality of the evening.

Highlighting the dance, however, will be the presentation of an award to the class which is victorious in the Freshman-Sophomore olympics.

Bids for this informal drag dance are $2, with ticket sales being made under the direction of Fred Frick and Rolf Mielzarek. The chairman of the Theme and Decorations Committee, Paul Arentsen, announced the "College Hop" theme, with the decorations aimed at building a stronger interest in the college and the Student Union.

College Awards Ex-Senator A Doctorate

Choosing law making as the theme for his speech, Seabury Mastick received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at a ceremony held in the Auditorium Monday.

The former New York State Senator spoke against "muckraking" articles appearing in national magazines which he terms an "interesting story of venality without reference to the other side of legislative activity."

He contended that these articles are unfair to lawmaking bodies, and points out that, contrary to opinions given in these articles, "our laws are not all framed in iniquity and passed by men with base motives."

Mr. Mastick, a director of Warner Brothers Co., Bridgeport, Conn., has been in the practice of law in New York state since 1896.

In concluding his speech, Mr. Mastick warned that "any attempt to undermine the confidence of the people in their representatives is reprehensible. It is a step towards political chaos."

Dr. Sutter Re-elected President Of Board

Dr. Frederic Sutter was elected to his 36th consecutive term as president of the Wagner College Board of Trustees at a meeting of the entire Board yesterday morning in the Inter-Sorority Room, Guild Hall.

Pastor Sutter, who has served three times as Acting President of the College, was graduated from Wagner in 1894, and from the Philadelphia Lutheran Theological Seminary in 1897. Since 1907 he has been Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, the College church.

George R. Tollefsen of Brooklyn was elected to be a new member of the Board. Nominated by the New York Synod of the Lutheran Church, Mr. Tollefsen replaces Frank Egner, who retired last Spring and whose term expires this coming June.

46-Piece Band Plays At All Home Games

The forty-six piece Wagner College Band, under the direction of Charles F. Roberts, made its first appearance at the Wagner-Haverford football game on October 3rd. The next home football game, this Saturday, October 24, will find the newly-organized band musically greater and up to full strength as it parades down the field before the kick-off. At the homecoming on October 30 and 31 the band will be much in evidence at the pep rally, the crowning of the queen, and in leading the float parade.

Director Roberts is well known in Staten Island music circles. He is the director of the Staten Island Music Center which he founded upon being graduated from Wagner in 1949.

He feels that in order to augment our band to a top level Concert Band he must encourage those interested to come to him for private help and instruction. Even now sectional rehearsals have been held in addition to the two regular rehearsals a week. Rehearsals are held on Monday and Thursday evenings at 8 p.m. in the Music Building.

Students who want to contact Mr. Roberts may do so by calling GI 7-3913.

Two Student Nurses Attend Convention

Two students of the Wagner School of Nursing returned last week from a convention of the New York State Student Nurse Association held in Buffalo, New York. The students, Dorothy Oest and Joan Venes, attended as the representatives of Wagner's Student Nurse Fellowship. Their expenses to and at the convention, held from October 12 to 14, were paid by the fellowship, which had elected them as its delegates at a special meeting.

At the convention, Miss Venes, a sophomore, was elected to the State Association's advisory council. Both delegates reported that they had a valuable experience at the meetings.

In addition to the convention activities, the two Wagnerians said that they had a fine time socially. One of the highlights of their trip was a side trip to nearby Niagara Falls on Monday evening, October 12.

Reckmeyer, Schweizer Queen's Attendants

Lois E. Sundt, a member of the junior class, was elected Wagner's Homecoming Queen of 1953 at last Thursday's convocation. Elected at her attendants were seniors Jane Reckmeyer and Wanda Schweizer.

CORONATION NEXT WEEK

As Homecoming Queen, Miss Sundt will reign over the festivities of Friday and Saturday, October 30 and 31. She will be crowned by Dr. Delo in the college auditorium on Friday evening at about 8:30, immediately following an outdoor pep rally. During these ceremonies, Queen Lois will bestow her blessing on the football which will be used in Saturday's homecoming game against Ursinus.

Following her coronation, she and her attendants will watch a Command Performance of the Freshman Class, which will present its talent show. Then Queen Lois, escorted by Dutch Lichtmann, president of the Student Association, will lead a procession to Beisler Lounge, Guild Hall, where the SCA is sponsoring an informal dance.

DEAN'S LIST SCHOLAR

Proving that beauty and brains mix, Miss Sundt has been on the Dean's List every term since entering Wagner, once with straight A's. A native of West Brighton, Staten Island, she is a graduate of Curtis High School. Majoring in elementary education, Miss Sundt is a member of the Future Teachers Association of Wagner College and a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. She is also captain of the cheerleading squad, of which she was a member last year.

Miss Reckmeyer, whose home is in Asbury Park, New Jersey, was also an attendant of last year's Homecoming Queen. A senior, she is majoring in biology, although she hopes to become an airline stewardess. Miss Reckmeyer is a member of Le Cercle Francais, Wagner's French culture club, and the Varsity Players.

Miss Schweizer, like Miss Sundt, is an education major, a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, a cheerleader, a Dean's List scholar every semester (straight A's last term), and a graduate of Curtis High School. She will be graduated from Wagner next June, completing her college work in three years plus one summer session. Miss Schweizer is also a member of the Art Club. In past terms she was a member of the Homecoming Committee, the WAGNERIAN staff and a two-term Faith and Life Week committee member.

Profile of the Week

Fred Jacobsen

By Dorrit Weill

Did you know that the president of the Luther League of New Jersey is a student at Wagner? Fred Jacobsen, a senior, is also the advisor to the Staten Island Gra-Y. In his three years at Wagner, the Psychology-Sociology Pre-Sem has held an impressive number of offices.

This year he is class treasurer, Parliamentarian of his fraternity, Delta Nu, a member of the Board of Traditions, and business manager of the Student Union Fund. He has been active in intra-mural basketball since he came to Wagner.

Fred is going to college on a full-tuition scholarship from the Howard Whitfield Foundation. For his board, he has worked at many jobs, both during the summers and the school term. He has been a gardener, super-market stockboy, painter, collater, truck driver, parking lot attendant and survey employee of the New York Port of Authority (to mention but a few of them.)

Fred is a Dan's List student in spite of all his participation in these many and diverse activities. Next term, he hopes to attend the New School for Social Research in New York City, part-time for extra courses.

After graduation, Fred will attend the Temple University Graduate School for his M.A. in psychology. Then he will go on to Gettysburg Seminary.

Fred is a member of the Committee on Congregational Auxiliaries in the New Jersey Synod.

His hobbies are; Photography, Modern Art, Semi-classical Music, and traveling.

TIME'S MYSTERY

My soul took flight from yesterday's sadness,
 And landed atop the mornings gladness;
 The sorrow it bore by a spirit was taken
 And laid to rest in the ground forsaken;
 Unrequited love effaced it by time's cruel kindness,
 As the diamond that glimmers despite its hardness.

Thy Kingdom Cometh !

Deuteronomy 31:6 - Be strong and of a good courage, fear not, be not afraid of them: for the Lord thy God He it is that doth go with thee; he will not fail thee, not forsake thee.

At times life appears to be one long parade of crises. But each crisis doesn't march alone. The color guard of worry always goes before. In each situation they march shoulder to shoulder, crisis and worry.

There are instances in which our worry is justified and constructive. If we have an exam for which we have neglected to prepare, we may very well worry. Here worry may be justified as well as constructive. Worry may cause us to study.

On the other hand, worry may be unjustified, destructive, and actually quite useless. We may have studied for the exam and yet we tend to be fearful and worry about it. We seem to manifest a lack of faith in ourselves, others, and God.

Mark Twain has mentioned that while he had many troubles in his life, few of them ever happened. When we look at our lives, how true this statement is. Each new crisis is the biggest, and we wonder how we'll ever survive. We cast out the promise of God's constant aid. The Christian life is not easy. There is no promise of a bed of roses. But, God does promise us strength and courage to live the Christian life.

Moses told the people of Israel to

Out Of This World

Have you ever wondered what it's like on the moon, whether there are any people on Mars, or what the rings of Saturn would look like up close? Have you ever wanted to know what it's like to travel to outer space and gradually leave the old familiar earth behind? Well, it isn't such a wild dream after all.

You can book passage to almost any place in space at the Hayden Planetarium (81st Street and Central Park West). It is not, as some people think, an antiquated, run-of-the-mill museum where are deposited large collections of dusty meteors. It does, of course, contain some of the world's most famous and interesting meteors, and a fascinating collection of early telescopes and astronomical instruments, but more than that is the Sky Show which is part of every performance at the Planetarium.

Before the Sky Show begins, there is a sort of orientation period which takes place in The Hall of The Sun. This is a circular room on the main floor which houses moving models of all the planets in our Solar System. Here, we receive a short introductory lecture by one of the Planetarium staff who presents to us some interesting and little known facts about the world we live in and its planetary neighbors.

At the conclusion of the short talk, we are given some time to view some of the current exhibits in the halls of the Planetarium before proceeding to the second floor where the huge dome of the Planetarium becomes a screen for the Zeiss projector. This is the beginning of the Sky Show.

We are briefed carefully for our trip to which ever planet we intend to visit. We are told climate, conditions for life, etc., so that we will not be completely lost when we arrive. Soon we are ready to go---signals flash; a voice counts off the seconds; and we take off in our rocket for our destination.

We watch the earth get steadily smaller and smaller until it becomes merely a moon. Then our destined planet looms into sight. Gradually it gets larger until we are about to land. Mountain peaks, rivers, and valleys define themselves. The rocket ship lands and we spend our time in exploration of the terrain and wonderment at the beauty and strangeness of our new world.

Soon, all too soon, we must depart. So, we reluctantly board our rocket ship and head for home. After a pleasant trip filled with the beauties of the sky we see, we find ourselves once more in our seats in the circular theatre of the Planetarium, feeling as if we had never left.

On our way out, we view some other exhibits. We weigh ourselves on scales that tell us our weight on the various planets. Our weight goes from 10 pounds on the moon to several thousand pounds on the sun. There is also the time capsule, assembled in 1941, a replica of which we see here. The contents are displayed to us. A razor blade, a copy of Life Magazine, a child's crayon set---all those things which will be of interest to the man of the 21st century.

As we leave the building, we stop at the desk where souvenirs are sold and pick up a sun-dial paper weight or a pocket compass or a star chart. Then we leave, to return when the rocket ship of the Planetarium has a new destination; a new world for us to explore.

Frosh, Beware!

Chicago, Ill.-(I.P.)

Emphasizing the importance of good study habits has been the problem of all high school and college teachers and administrators. Lack of good study habits usually takes its toll in the Freshman year of college, when supervision is relaxed and the student is left on his own. The fact that the number of "flunk-outs" is greatest in the Freshman year is statistically proven.

"You must expect to study at least 25 hours a week," freshmen at Illinois Institute of Technology have been warned as they enter college this year. The 25-hour minimum study figure was set, on the basis of an average college student's class load, by Mrs. Elizabeth A. Simpson, dir-

Question: In your opinion who will be the next mayor of New York City?

Paul Baranek, Senior; I would say Wagner because he has the ability to rebuild what has been torn down by the present administration.

Teresa Mauro, Freshman; Harold Riegelman. After the years of Democratic and Liberal control of Tammany Hall since LaGuardia, Impy and his gang has awakened the New Yorker to the possibilities of the Republican ticket.

Henry Gerdes, Sophomore; Rudolph Halley. He has proved himself a capable administrator and politician as president of the city council. The legislation passed during his tenure as boro president will not be forgotten by the people of New York City.

Dotty Probst and Hope Milarta, Freshmen; Due to the fact that our parents have always registered Republicans it is natural that we should lean toward the Republican nominee.

Charles Robillard, Sophomore; Wagner, of course, because he has been an honest and efficient boro president of Manhattan. He has had a fine record of public service. I believe the people of New York City will show their confidence in him.

Covering The Hot Stove League

Here we are in the fourth week of the football season and the Dodgers aren't even cold in their graves yet. By the way, what did you think of the Charlie Dressen deal? I think they're going to have a tough time finding anyone who can do the job he did. Well, I guess the Yankees have stifled all the poison pen letters. Last week they signed two negro boys to contracts for the first time in their history.

It will probably make Casey Stengel happy to know that, with this kind of talent coming from the farm clubs, I don't think he can miss his sixth straight. I hear that they're really going overboard for the Browns, pardon me, the Orioles in Baltimore. Hours after the transfer was okayed by the American League, 4,000 seats for the 1954 opening game had been sold. I'm glad to see that Bill Veeck is back in baseball as president of the Los Angeles club in the Pacific Coast League.

IT'S GONNA BE WE IN '53

One of the funniest things I've seen in quite a while was the headlines the Brooklyn Eagle ran after each game of the World Series. The pre-series streamer read, IT'S GONNA BE WE IN '53, first game: AW, SO WE GAVE THEM ONE, second game: !!!?&$-(-?&$!, third game: ER-SKINS 'EM ALIVE, fourth game: LOST WEEK-END? NOT FOR US! fifth game: DO NOT FORSAKE US! sixth game: XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX-please omit flowers.

Well, I guess we've seen the last of Big Jawn. Johnny Mize quit the day after the Series and left for his home in DeLand Florida. Speaking of the old vets, I think they're going to be forced to tear the uniform off Enos Slaughter. Although he is nearing 40 he is still the hustlingest player in the N.L.

Seahawks To Play Brooklyn At Home

On Saturday, October 24, the Wagner College Football Squad will play host to the Brooklyn College Eleven. This is a continuation of a rivalry which began in 1928. The teams have met ten times during this quarter of a century, with Brooklyn College holding the edge on the strength of its six victories over the Seahawks. Last year Wagner welcomed its traditional opponent back to their schedule, when after a four year suspension of play, Brooklyn came to Grymes Hill and was humbled 40-14.

In recent years the Brooklyn school has been unable to field a team that could be even remotely compared to the squads which they had boasted in by-gone years. Many of the Seahawk alumni can well remember the powerhouses they had which ran roughshod over Wagner in the post-war years from 1946 through 1948. This of course was a peak period in collegiate football, because of the power and depth supplied by the students returning to complete their war interrupted educations. It was in 1950 that the caliber of the Brooklyn squads began to diminish, and by 1952 they found it difficult to keep within their competitive class.

This season Coach Ted Rosequiet and his squad are still seeking their first win, following consecutive defeats at the hands of Hobart, Hamilton, and the National Aggies. Interesting to note is the fact that Hamilton, who was edged by Wagner 7-6, defeated the Brooklyn school 7-0. Contrary to their offensive ability, it is reported that the Rosequietmen are comparatively strong on defense. Therefore, it is believed that the Hawks will take to its aerial offensive in order to penetrate the Brooklyn end zone.

Because of the superior passing of Karl Strobel and receiving of Fusco, Succo and Co., Wagner is expected to win its second straight contest over the visitors from the home of the Dodgers.

Pro vs College Football

By Alfred Haggerty

The easiest way to start an argument among a group of rabid football fans is to ask them which is better, professional football or college football. Someone will immediately pop up and say that there's no doubt that college football is better than professional because it is more spirited and colorful. He will go on to say that college students play for the fun and enjoyment they get out of the game and therefore put on a better show for the fans.

He will also bring out the point that there is less chance of injury among the schoolboys because they don't play the game as rough as do the pros who are trying to make a living by scoring touchdowns. The fact that the free substitution rule is out of college ball while the pros are still two-platooning-it may be brought out to show that the college game is easier to follow and therefore is more appealing to the average fan.

NOT SOUND ARGUMENTS

If I happened to be present while these arguments were being given I would sit back until the case for college football was thoroughly presented. Then I would go on to show the fallacy of each argument and give concrete reasons why the pro game is, in my opinion, by far the better of the two. If you are drawn to a college game chiefly because of the color and spirit which it exhibits then I advise you to go see a pro game in the near future. If you want any more color than is presented during the pre-game and half time ceremonies and any more spirit than is shown by the fans when their favorite scores then I suggest that next Saturday instead of going to the stadium you go to see a Broadway musical.

SCHOLARSHIPS INVOLVED

The fact that college football is played, usually, for the enjoyment it gives to the participant is in many cases true, but on the other hand if a boy is going to college on an athletic scholarship he is not playing just for fun. He wants to make a good showing because he knows that this scholarship can be taken away at any time. And as far as injuries go there are apt to be as many or more in the college game this year because of the one platoon which forces boys to play when they are often physically exhausted and not able to protect themselves. Probably the main criticism many people have of the pro game is the continuous change of players which makes it difficult to know who is doing what and when.

BALANCED GAME

When I am watching a game it doesn't make too much difference to me who is making the tackles and blocks and running interference as long as I know who's making the long gains and the passes which result in touchdowns. If there is one outstanding tackle I think that any person of average intelligence, providing he knows the number of the tackler, can look up his name on the scorecard. Besides these arguments not being valid there are many things which the pro game has which make it a more interesting spectator sport.

These things are summed up best by the following words of a National League football official. "We think we have the ideal game as it stands, so don't look for any tinkering with in the foreseeable future. To our mind we have perfected a nice balance between the attack and the defense. All other factors being equal, neither overshadows the other, as an average of the scores through any season will prove. We place our goal posts where we believe they belong- on the goal line- for an obvious reason. It makes the field goal a more potent weapon, and we regard this as one of the most attractive plays in football, not only so far as the spectator is concerned but because it reduces the possibility of a tie score, which is always unsatisfactory to a game."

NO DEAD BALL RULE

"We also do not penalize the ball carrier for losing his balance and falling to the ground. The original intent of the college dead ball rule was to eliminate injuries from piling on. But we don't have any more casualties than they do from that source, largely because we are quick to crack down on the tackler who roughs and the players know it." After having talked myself hoarse in order to strengthen my stand on this controversial issue I would probably have nothing accomplished in the way of convincing the college fan that he is supporting the wrong side.

Gains 98 Yards On Ground, Through Air

Wagner dropped below the five hundred mark for the second time this season as they lost to the Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy at Great Neck, Long Island, last Saturday. As has been the case in all of the games this year the controlling factor throughout was the defense. The only touchdown was scored by the Mariners in the second quarter and other than this neither team sparked offensively.

The Seahawks threatened with five minutes gone in the second period as Johnny Succo completed a pass to Larry Fusco on the Kings Point 23 yard line. This, however, came on fourth down and was four yards short of a first down so they lost possession. At this point the Mariners took over and started their drive which quickly brought them to pay dirt. Charlie Allen slashed over right tackle for seven yards. Then Duane Robbins tossed a 25 yard pass to end Charles Meyers who made a sensational, circus catch. He made this catch a step behind the last defender and raced the remaining 45 yards untouched for the score. It is ironical to note that Robbins threw only four passes all day and although this one won the game the other three were all intercepted.

In the third quarter, with only one minute ten seconds remaining, Tony Tedesco intercepted a K.P. pass on his own 27 and ran it out to the 47 where with only one man between him and the goal line he was boxed in and tried to lateral. Although it was complete it was ruled forward and the Seahawks could not penetrate enemy territory. The final period saw the Hawks threaten twice only to be halted both times through no one's fault but their own. The first threat was cut short by penalties and the second was defeated by an interception.

All in all the game was a sloppy one with the visitors losing the pigskin three times on fumbles and the victors giving it up five times in the same manner. Wagner also had two punts batted down and one blocked partially. Larry Fusco was outstanding in defeat as he ran, passed and received the ball for a total of 120 yards. At the quarterback slot he completed one of three passes for 27 yards and as a pass receiver he snatched two for 22 yards. Rushing he picked up more yardage than the entire team did in the first game as he moved the ball 71 yards.

Karl Strobel did most of the passing for the Hawks. Mark Wiesner and Ron Larder were also in the foreground as they each recovered two fumbles. I don't like to come out with that old story that it was a moral victory, but with Kings Point being about the toughest team on its schedule the Hawks showed that they can give any team trouble on any given Saturday.

New Dorp Wins

New Dorp High School knocked Madison High out of the unbeaten ranks in the PSAL Saturday, as they walloped them 31-6. The game was played at Wagner field before a capacity crowd.

Don Rizzo paced the New Dorp attack with a pair of touchdowns, while Howell tallied Madison's lone score in the third period.

Thy Kingdom Cometh !

be strong, to have courage and not to be afraid. Why? Because there was no need for fear. God was with them. God is with us too. He aids us in the real crises of life and tells us not to be concerned with our little egotistical problems, most of which never materialize. We are told to seek the Kingdom of God and that by so doing, strength and courage, all that we need, shall follow.

Faith in ourselves, in others, and above all in God is the key. He will help us. For: "When troubles rise against us,
To drive us to despair.
One gate is always open,
One ear will hear our prayer."

We go not alone to meet the march of crisis and worry. Our ranks are stronger than theirs, for God marches with us.

Freshman Week

immediately. However, if the Sophomores win, the Frosh must wear their labels until Thanksgiving.

Friday night features the Student Union Dance, which is being held in place of the annual Frosh-Soph banquet. The class winning the Olympics will receive an award at this time.

This year the Freshman show will be presented on October 30, at which time the Homecoming Queen will be crowned.

During Freshman Week, the rules of dress include "dinks" and name tags for all the Frosh. The boys must wear white shirts and green bow ties, and the girls must wear white blouses with large green bows.

Both Sophomores and Freshmen classes are determined to win the Olympics this year. Ewald Borchers, president of the Freshman Class, was heard to say that he is sure his class will win as they are superior in numbers to the Sophs and have terrific class spirit. However, Eduard Eberbach, president of the Sophomores, and his classmates are equally determined to emerge as the victors of Freshman Week.

Chapel Speakers

Tomorrow night Hal Markert will speak at the 7 p.m. Vesper Service in the Chapel. He will be assisted by Edwin Owens. Next Tuesday the speaker will be Rolf Mielzarek, whose liturgist will be Jerry Mraz.

These Vesper Services are held every Tuesday and Thursday evening from September through May in the College Chapel.

Varsity Players To Present "Liliom"

Omega national honorary dramatic fraternity.

Other members of the "Liliom" cast include Anne Pierce, Pat Perry, Elaine DiPasca, Barbara MacCreedy, Robert O'Donnell, William Schneider, Michael Connelly, George Reswick, Robert Price, John Young, Edward Ruckmayer, Anton Thumhart, Arthur Kappler, and William DeHeyman. Thumhart is also the show's stage manager.

The V.P.'s are also planning to sponsor a Variety Show on November 13 and 14. Half of the proceeds of this show will be donated to the Student Union Fund.

At last week's Varsity Player meeting, Nancy Rague resigned as the group's vice-president. Bob O'Donnell was then elected unopposed to succeed her.

In resigning, Miss Rague pointed out that she is now working during the day and attending night school only, and cannot be at the regular daytime meetings of the organization. However, she will continue in office as the president of Alpha Psi Omega honorary dramatic fraternity, as this group holds all its meetings in the evening.

O'Donnell, who was nominated by Miss Rague, has also appeared in a number of Varsity Player productions. Included in these were "Aria da Capo" from last year's "Theatre in the Round" show and "The Madwoman of Chaillot."

Debate Team Splits

The Debate Society's first home contest of the year will be held next Tuesday, October 27, when N.Y.U. will send two teams to Grymes Hill. Miss Nagel and Miss Weill will again uphold the negative point of view, while a novice team will defend the affirmative side of the proposal.

Freshmen, Beware!

ector of reading services at Tech's Institute for Psychological Services.

"If you don't read as rapidly as the average student, you'll have to put in more than 25 hours," according to Mrs. Simpson. In warning against the idea that "more study" is the cure for academic ills, she said, "Good students study no more than poor students--they just use their time more effectively." She also gave the following specific pointers on how to study.

CRAMMING UNNECESSARY

Besides taking notes on lectures and on library reading, make notes and summarize each textbook assignment. Preview every assignment in your text quickly before studying it, to find topical headings and summaries that give you a pre-comprehension of the assignment. Quiz yourself, orally or silently, on every assignment, so your instructor's quiz will not be the first you have faced. Review your accumulated notes in each subject once a week and "cramming" for finals will not be necessary.

Vets Club Formed

Last Tuesday, October 13, a group of veterans attending Wagner's day session held an informal meeting with the intention of forming a campus "Vets' Club."

At the meeting, it was decided that the action of forming such an organization was important enough to warrant delaying the actual discussion as to the type, function, and aims of the group until a later meeting. In this way it was hoped that a majority of the veterans attending Wagner could be reached and given the opportunity to attend.

Accordingly, a tentative date for the next meeting has been set. This will be some time next week, with the exact time and room to be announced on the bulletin board.

Brand-new national survey shows college students prefer Luckies

Last year a survey was made in leading colleges throughout the country which showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette. This year another nation-wide survey was made—a representative survey of all students in regular colleges coast to coast. Based on thousands of actual student interviews—this survey shows that, as last year, Luckies lead again—lead over all other brands, regular or king-size—and by a wide margin! The reason: Luckies taste better.
