Welcome, Class of 2017

As the school year begins for most students, this year's Orientation Coordinators Justin Stevens and Michael Remini have been planning orientation since June, to create this year's theme, "I <3 Wagner."

The theme reflects the Wagner College slogan, "Be Part of the City," just like many tourists sport their "I <3 New York" shirts around the Big Apple. Co-Curricular Programs (CCP) and 40 peer leaders have signed up to guide first-year students with their life-changing experience.

Welcome to all 450 freshmen, representing 12 countries and 29 states. Enjoy your new home for the next four years.

SGA President

Message from the ‘Oval’ office

Your voice is always heard with SGA

Hello Class of 2017,
I hope you all had memorable summers. It is hard for me to believe that this will be my last year at Wagner College. It feels like just yesterday I was in your shoes and picking up The Wagnerian for the first time.

I would like to extend a warm welcome to you and your families on behalf of the entire Student Government Association (SGA). We are all honored that the student body has chosen us to represent them.

“SGA’s main purpose is to help you, the student, in any way possible. We are here to listen to your praises and complaints about the college. We constantly work to support the creation of more clubs and fund them to the best of our ability. It is our goal to help add to the vibrant, diverse community of students that are proud to say they attend Wagner College.”

The SGA is under the Campus Life division. There is both an executive board and a senate. The executive board is composed of six undergraduate students: President, Vice President, V.P. of Finance, V.P. of Communications, V.P. of Campus Events and V.P. of Civic Engagements / Community Service. The senate is filled with twenty undergraduates. Five senators from each academic grade level represent their respective graduating class.

Our office is located in the Student Union, room 211. We are here to act as a liaison between the student body and administration. If you have any concerns that you want to express, please do not hesitate to stop by our office.

Throughout the year, we sponsor several and assist with several large events. We are looking forward to a few things this year like Fall Fest, Homecoming/Fall Festival and Wagnerstock. It is also tradition for SGA to plan Wagner’s largest event, “Big Name Act,” in the spring semester. We bring a famous musical artist to campus and host a concert.

If you want to get involved on campus and obtain great leadership skills I strongly encourage you to join the SGA. We are currently accepting applications for the five senator positions for the class of 2017. Applications are available in our office and online at www.wagner.edu/sga/apply/.

We will start accepting applications on the first day of classes, Aug. 26. All applications are due by Sept. 9, by 4 p.m. Then, campaigning will begin. The full details regarding campaigning can be found inside the application. Four senators will be elected on Sept. 17. It will then be their responsibility to select their fifth senator.

However, if you do not feel that the SGA is the right choice for you, I strongly encourage you to look through this issue at the full list of all clubs and organizations that Wagner has to offer. If you don’t see any clubs or organizations of your liking, then you have the ability to change that. Just reach out to anyone in the SGA and we will be more than happy to explain the process of bringing a new organization to the campus.

I wish you all nothing but the best in your future endeavors and look forward to meeting you during orientation weekend and around campus throughout the year.

Y’all take care,
Andrew

Meetings are Mondays at 9 p.m. in Union 202.

Orientation Coordinators Michael Remini and Justin Stevens, along with Betsy Harper, an intern with the National Orientation Directors Association (NODA), worked full time most of the summer.

Peer leaders Ryan Gambino (junior), Taylor Gugger (junior) and Kymberlie Vargas (senior) eat breakfast in the Hawk's Nest before a day of peer leader training.

Meet this year's Orientation Coordinators

Michael Remini Major: Psychology Class of 2014 “Get involved in as many ways as you can. Wagner has a place for everyone you just have to find your niche.”	Kelsey Justin Stevens Major: Theatre and Speech: Performance Concentration Class of 2014 “Be open to new experiences and cherish the time you have here because it really does go by SUPER fast. Quicker than high school.”
---	--

This year's orientation theme is "I <3 Wagner" in black, white, and red. They kept consistent with the theme by painting the anchor in front of Harbor View Hall the same colors.

The trip to Manhattan

Step 1: Catch the shuttle

The ferry shuttle is free! It departs from the gazebo by Parker Hall and then picks up at the gazebo by the Union guard booth and near the Grymes Hill apartments. Shuttles on the hour stop at St. John's University next door before heading to the ferry terminal.

Staten Island Buses

S66

The S66 bus can take you to Port Richmond or to the ferry terminal. It runs Mondays through Fridays and can be caught right on Howard Avenue.

S53

The S53 bus travels to both Port Richmond and to Brooklyn, and can be caught on the bottom of the hill on Clove Road. It runs Monday through Sunday.

Step 2: Board the Ferry

The Staten Island Ferry is a passenger vessel that connects the St. George section of Staten Island to the southern tip of Manhattan, near Battery Park. The ride takes approximately 25 minutes each way and is completely free. While waiting for the ferry to arrive, there are food and convenience stores in the terminal.

Here are a few tips to keep in mind:

- The ferry runs 24 hours a day, seven days a week.
 - The Staten Island ferry transports over 60,000 people Monday- Friday.
 - A typical weekday involves the use of five boats, which make 109 daily trips.
 - The ferry is the only non-vehicular mode of transportation from Staten Island to Manhattan.
 - The schedule changes on holidays, so be sure to check it before you leave.
 - The ferry takes about a half an hour, so try to bring a book, your homework or an iPod.
 - Snacks and beverages can be purchased on all Ferry rides, but bring cash. Many stores in the ferry terminal do not take credit or debit cards.
 - There are 9 ferries in the SI Ferry fleet, including three of the newest ferries built to hold 4,440 passengers at a time.
- For a complete ferry schedule, visit www.nyc.gov

Don't forget!

If you plan on taking the subway once you get to Manhattan, your going to need a MetroCard.

In addition to adding your new student ID to your wallet, a MetroCard is another essential for life in NYC. For those that come from far away lands, or are simply New York newbies, a MetroCard is needed to ride the subway and the bus as well. For your first time venturing into the city and taking the subway, you will find the MetroCard machines in the subway station. The machines are simple to use and will ask if you want to refill an existing card or obtain a new card. Every swipe you make, both into the city and back to the ferry station, will cost $2.75 each. When you have less than that on your card, you will not get through the turnstiles. Never duck under or jump over; it's a felony. The subway stations have smaller swipe machines to check your balance. If you feel too rushed with the machines down in the subway stations, MetroCard machines can also be found at the ferry terminals. With all the trips to be made in the Big Apple, you will catch on quickly and enjoy the city like a local in no time.

Written by Stephanie Hinkes

Step 3: Take the Subway

The journey does not end after the ferry ride. You can get to anywhere in New York City by taking a subway or bus.

Hopstop, NYCMate and NYC Bus & Subway Maps are three apps that can be downloaded to your smartphone. These free apps give you step by step directions on how to use public transportation.

It tells you what subway, bus or train to take. Additionally, it explains transfers and which exit out of the subway terminals to use.

If your running low on pocket change, you can get walking directions and choose weather you want the quickest or cheapest rout
