WAGNER COLLEGE, S. I., N. Y.

DECEMBER 1, 1955

Choir, Band & Contralto Featured In Gym Concert

Featuring the Wagner College Choir, contralto Margery Mayer, and the First Air Force Band, the annual Wagner Christmas Festival Concert will be given in the Gymnasium on Sunday, December 11, at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. Admission to both performances is free.

The climax of the concert will be the rendition of Wondrous Things the Lord Hath Done by the Choir and Miss Mayer, accompanied by the Band, and under the direction of Dr. Sigvart J. Steen, chairman of the Music Department.

First Appearance

The Festival Concert will mark the first public appearance of the 1955-56 Choir. Under the direction of Dr. Steen, the Choir will be heard in two groups of choral works in addition to the finale.

Miss Mayer (in private life Mrs. Sigvart Steen) is a noted contralto who will appear as soloist during the program and in the finale. A voice instructor at Wagner, she is a member of the New York City Opera Company, and has appeared with a number of other opera companies and symphony orchestras, as well as on numerous radio and television programs.

Here Last Year

The First Air Force Band, which appeared with the Choir in last year's concert, will be conducted by Chief Warrant Officer William D. Berky. It will be heard in about six symphonic presentations as well as the finale.

The Christmas setting for the concert in the Gym is being designed by Professor Harald Normann of the Music Department, and constructed under the supervision of Mr. Ernest Nelson, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. The program design is being done by Helene Smith, '56, an art major.

Overture Opens

The Festival Concert will open with an overture by the band, Bach's Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring. The Choir will then be heard in two groups, with a solo by Miss Mayer and a reading of the Christmas gospel in between.

At the 4 p.m. service Dr. David Delo, president of the college, will read the gospel. At the 8 p.m. service the liturgist will be Major John Miller, a First Air Force chaplain.

Following the Choir's appearances, the Band will be heard in a half-hour performance.

Sorority Planning Christmas Dance

The annual Christmas semiformal dance of Alpha Delta Pi sorority will be held this year on Friday, December ninth, at the Boulevard Hotel.

The dance will begin at 9 p.m., and end at 1 a.m. Music subject will be "What I Like will be by the Top Hats.

Contest Seeking 'Ugliest' Student

An "Ugly Man Contest" for the benefit of an orphanage is being held next week by Alpha Phi Omega's Kappa Epsilon chapter. The contest will run from Monday, December fifth, Friday, through December ninth.

Wagner students will select their choice of an "ugly man" from the following candidates: Gene Crimoli of Delta Nu; Richie Peterson of Kappa Sigma Alpha; Charley Domke of Alpha Sigma Phi; Harry Lysgaard of Omicron Pi Theta, and Harry Steeve of the Freshman Class.

A booth will be set up in the "Hawk's Nest," where students may cast their votes at a penny a vote. Students may vote as many times as they wish, provided they pay a penny for each vote.

The winner of the "Ugly Man Contest" will be announced at the Alpha Delta Pi dance on Saturday, December tenth. He will be given a prize to commemorate his victory.

Lawyer Speaking On Communism

Speaking on the subject of 'Communism: What Is It?" Mr. David H. Harris, special assistant to the Attorney-General of the United States, will be the guest at the next all-college convocation, being held on Tuesday, December 13th.

Former State Official

Prior to taking his current office, Mr. Harris was special deputy Attorney-General of the state of New Jersey from 1951 to 1954. During that period he played a prominent part in the state's probe into syndicated gambling in Bergen County.

A graduate of New York University with a Bachelor of Science degree, Mr. Harris is also a graduate of the Rutgers Law School. He has been a member of the Bar since 1933.

Combat Veteran

The government lawyer is a veteran who spent three and one-half years overseas with the combat Infantry, was wounded three times, and awarded the Purple Heart. He later spent four years in Newark as the director of the Newark War Veterans' Service Bureau.

Mr. Harris' daughter Varian is a junior currently attending Wagner.

Fifteen Students Suspended Because of Auto Violations

Fifteen Wagner students from both day and night sessions received notice of their suspension from classes effective November 22. These students were suspended for failure to appear before the Wagner College Traffic

Committee to answer for alleged traffic violations on the campus.

Minister Speaks In School Chapel

Continuing the Chapel program which has been announced in previous issues of the WAG-NERIAN will be the Reverend Dr. Robert Weiskotten of St. John's Lutheran Church of Richmond Hill, Long Island, the following rules: who will speak in the Chapel at tomorrow's service. He is a nated areas. member of the Board of Education of the New York Synod of the United Lutheran Church.

Next Monday, December fifth, will bring the Reverend Clement Suemper of Castleton Hill, Staten Island, to Wagner. He will I Like About Being Moravian." Two days later the Chapel speaker will be Dr. William P. Hieronymous, professor of education at Wagner.

The December ninth service will be devoted to an introduction to the Faith and Life Week program. The half-hour service will be conducted by student volunteers.

Morrison Suspends

The suspensions came directly from Dean Morrison, who at present assumes the role of faculty guide to the committee.

The students were not suspended without ample warning. The committee's procedure is to issue ordinary traffic summonses to students violating any of all others are now on sale.

Featured in leading roles in Goodbye, My Fancy are Joan Meek, Gigi Bonadio, l'ete Shinn, and Dick tum Suden. John Mlynar is staging the show, and Dorothy Wedge is in charge of its business affairs.

Set At College

Goodbyc, My Fancy is set in the dormitory of a Massachusetts women's college, and deals with the events surrounding the return of its most distinguished alumna. Much of the play's comedy is found in spoofs of "ivy tower" traditions and satires of typical college people and events.

Backstage Crews

Working with Mlynar on the main backstage crews for Goodbye, My Fancy are Jon Roeckelein, set designer and crewman; Foster Bathrick, Bob Bauer, Carlos Ferrazzoli, Folkers Freimanis, and Dick Bailey, crewmen; Lee Hempel and Emma. Spalding, props; Ginny Hernandez and Hope Machina, makeup; and Chou Schafer, wardrobe. Mlynar will handle the lighting effects himself.

Business staff members, working under Miss Wedge's direction, include Miss O'Connor, box-office manager; Bill Elliott, Carol Marschhaus, and Dick tum Suden, publicity directors; and Irene Lueders, house manager. Miss Wedge is also in charge of programs.

What's The Reason?

In the opinions of quite a few people at Wagner, Chapel attendance is not as good as it should be. Accordingly, the matter was brought up and discussed in the College Council, the Student Council, the SCA Council, and the SCA's Morning Chapel Committee, which is now studying the problem.

There are, it seems, two schools of thought. One holds that there is no problem at all—that Chapel attendance is good. They point out that many Wagnerians have religious objections to attending, and that attendance is not compulsory, but voluntary.

The other group feels that since Wagner Lutheran College (italics ours) is church-sponsored, and that this fact is known by all students before they register, an attendance at Chapel of only 200 or so out of a total day enrollment of over 900 is very poor. They point out that the services are not exclusively Lutheran—for example, the current series of talks by Staten Island clergymen on their own faiths—and that students of many faiths do attend Chapel at the present time. They feel, therefore, that there must be another reason why more students do not attend Chapel at the present time.

If you agree with this second group and have any suggestions to make, please give them to Chaplain Kirsch or to the SCA's Morning Chapel Committee, which is under the chairmanship of Art Anderson.

The Student Center . . .

Continuing to answer criticisms and questions concerning the new "Hawk's Nest," the Wagnerian has obtained the following data on the center:

Tables:—From six to eight more tables will be added to the center very shortly, and will occupy the space between the dancing area and the TV lounge.

Clocks:—A clock will definitely be installed in the center as soon as finances permit. Consideration is also being given to placing an extension of the school bell system in the "Hawk's Nest."

Shuffleboard:—At present there is not enough room to permit shuffleboard playing during school hours. However, it is anticipated that the court will be put to use on Friday and Saturday nights within the next few

Ping-Pong:—Although room was left for ping-pong tables near the dancing area, the committee agreed that the tables would take up too much room and cause an excessive amount of additional noise if left in the "Hawk's Nest." Therefore the tables were moved to the balcony of the Gymnasium.

Cafeteria Prices:—Coffee is now ten cents per cup because of the increased cost of wholesale coffee. This price change had been contemplated for quite a while, but was delayed until the Student Center opened. Ice cream, soda, and sandwich prices are also in keeping with costs, according to those in charge.

And A Reminder . . .

May we take this opportunity to remind you to circle Sunday, December 11, on your calendar, and when that day comes to attend the Christmas Festival Concert in the Gym (admission free). In addition to the Wagner Choir and the First Air Force Band which performed so beautifully last year, operatic singer Margery Mayer Steen will also appear in this year's concert. Why not bring your friends and relatives up to Wagner for the through interviews with Wagconcert—for their convenience there are two performances, one at 4 p.m. and one at 8 p.m.

DRAMA OF THE YEAR:

Last Man Out!

THE PLACE: "Ye Guil-Den." THE DATE: Thursday, October 27, 1955 A.D.

THE TIME: 9:29 p.m.

THE MAN: Fred Hornbuckle lest man out!

He walked up to the counter. The air was charged-seltzer. You could feel the tensenessthe present tense about to become the past tense because of the future tense-it was becoming more tenser and tenserer by the minute.

An owlish-looking man in a white coat stood behind the counter, peering grimly at him from behind the Chicklets. It was Robert Russell, the rambunctious rabbit.

"What'll ya have?" he demanded tersely.

"Pabst Blue Rib—a soda. Grape. Mission. Make it fast," came the reply.

Russell fished through the ice. He found it. He blasted it open. "Eight cents."

"Here's a dime." Hornbuckle grabbed two pieces of Bazooka bubble gum. "I like the funnies. Keep the change." He turned and slowly strode away, the green and gold "New Dorp" on his jacket gleaming in the gathering dimness.

Suddenly Russell leaped over the counter, slammed the door shut, and screamed-"All right nobody gets in anymore."

A pot cover clanged, sounding the death-knell of the Guil-Den. The fires under the grill and stove were extinguished for the last time. The hamburger meat went back into the refrigerator. The coffee went down the drain. This was it!

Mr. Martin Viohl walked in for the final close-up, tears in his eyes. As he sadly went about his task, he reflected on the long and glorious (?) past of the Guil-Den.

"It was opened by Mrs. Viohl on May 15, 1946. It would have been ten years old next May, but now after only nine years, five months, and twelve daysnow this!" We couldn't stand it any longer. It was heartwrenching, tear-jerking, and bubble-bursting.

Which brought us back to Hornbuckle, still chomping on his Bazooka. It was 9:37 by now, and the place was deserted, save for the staff and four determined men at a corner table. And there he sat-destiny's tot-the pride of Wagner -the one and only--the immortal Fred!

Slowly he rose. Out of re-Ron Larder, and Charlie DePaola also stood up and began to leave the den of iniquity. As he majestically sauntered past the counter for the last time, this man among men surveyed the ruins (which may some day be as famous as those of Pompeii), gulped hard, and exclaimed-"Good night!"

Then, heavy in heart but with his spirit uncrushed, he made his exit - Fred Hornbuckle-last man out!

In our next issue the WAG-NERIAN will bring to you an upto-date report on "Christmas in Foreign Lands," compiled ner's foreign students.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to Pete Shinn, past editor of the WAG-NERIAN, upon his successfully taking a high-school level paper and through hard work and palled me. ceaseless effort bringing it up to a college level, where it belongs.

I have not always agreed with Mr. Shinn's editorials, but I am forced to admire him on his newspaper abilities. I feel that the entire student body owes a vote of thanks to Mr. Shinn. I sincerely hope that the new editor will do as well. Best of luck to both of you.

> Ewald S. Forsbrey Student

Dear Editor:

I wish to use this column as a means of bringing forward a proposal which I would like talked over and thought about by the students and the administration.

As we all know, Wagner has lost its last eight football games. Wagner is now, and always will be, a small college when it comes to football. But on the other hand, we are ranked by tion? Dick Dunkel, the nationallyknown basketball authority, 119th out of 808 colleges and universities in the U.S. in basketball. Wagner can definitely go places in this sport.

I therefore propose that Wagner College discontinue football as an intercollegiate sport, and allocate all money and scholarships previously given to football to basketball. In this way I believe we can attract better high school players and become one of the best basketball teams in the nation.

I hope that the student body will talk this over, and that it will be brought up before the Student Association.

> Very truly yours, Harold Hoffman.

EDITOR'S NOTE: See the "In Reply" Sportorial on Page 3.

Dear Sir:

This is an open letter to the basketball team.

Please fellas, win a game this year. Wagner hasn't won in any kind of intercollegiate competition since last semester. The football team dropped eight, the debate team is 0-2, and our dance team didn't cop a recent contest. So please fellas, let's get Wagner back on the right gram represents. track starting with Scranton.

> Very truly yours, Reginald J. Kennedy.

I have rarely been shocked by the WAGNERIAN. But last week's story of the Who's Who nominations shocked and even ap-

I was shocked over the fact that some people had been included and more so because some people had been left out. It would seem that the system of selection is in dire need of examination.

I am told that there are three bases for selection to this august group. 1) Scholarship; 2) Campus activity, and 3) School spirit. It is to the latter two qualications that I should like to speak.

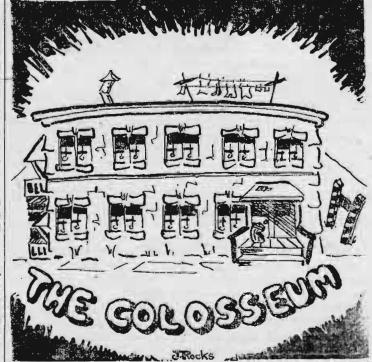

Unless the system has changed since last year, each senior lists the activities in which he has taken part. Presumably these are checked by the Dean's office. But the question is this: What constitutes membership in the group? Does attendance at one meeting mean that the person is a member of the organiza-

In your account of the selection, certain people were listed as having taken part or belonged to the Varsity Players. These same people to my knowledge never set foot on the stage or ever let themselves be seen backstage when work was to be done. The same could be said for the WAGNERIAN. In the past, people have listed themselves as members of the staff and never so much as knew where the office was located.

What is the standard by which the selection committee rated school spirit? It seems evident that the term has come to mean conformity to a set of worn out Victorian and Ivy League judgmental terms. If school spirit means white bucks and a loud mouth then I say it is a lot of garbage.

Perhaps some member of this committee could answer these questions for the benefit of the college community. To speak quite frankly, I think it is the most disgusting display of campus partisanship ever given to Wagner, and the very antithesis of what the Who's Who pro-

> Very truly yours, John R. Young, Jr. Class of '55.

In Reply . . .

In my column of October 29th, I reported the discussion among students of the possibility of dropping football at the intercollegiate level. I stated that most of the football critics were those displaying little or no spirit or backing in the form of participation at rallies and games. I maintain my position regarding football. I still think the critics are those lax in cooperation.

Mr. Hoffmann said he thought scholarships should be diverted from football to basketball players. I suggest Mr. Hoffman acquaint himself with the Wagner College policy regarding GRANTS IN AID. I think he should forward any criticism, constructive or otherwise, to the student representatives of the Board of Athletic Control. I further suggest Mr. Hoffmann devoted more time to building a better club to represent Wagner, and less time to talking about something he evidently is not familiar with.

The last game of the 1955 season has been played, and the Seahawks wound up the season with a dismal record of losses and losses. This is probably the worst record compiled by a Wagner team in recent years, and the blame cannot be placed on any one person.

BOW HUNTING

This is one of the most frusrating methods of hunting your author has ever experienced. Most hunters, on the other hand, admit it is also the most rewarding. Bow hunting requires one to call upon every resource he possesses; steady nerves, a strong hand, and enduring patience are the keys to successful bow hunting.

The bow and arrow season was ushered in by New Jersey authorities a few weeks ago. I had never employed the bow prior to this year, and despite the fact that I'm able to hit a barn from the inside, I realize the tremendous ability required to actually hunt with the weapon. Hitting a red ring at thirty yards is a far cry from hitting a moving deer at the same distance. Stalking a deer during the rifle season is a difficult task at best; stalking a deer with a bow is a far more difficult job, due to the close range that is necessary to insure a hit.

Deer are very alort animals and will bolt at the slightest noise. The woods at this time of year are very dry and quiet. No snow has fallen, and every twig seems to yield an ear-shat tering snap, scaring any game within earshot.

You stalk your deer for hours, painstakingly planning every step, careful not to disturb even the smallest leaf. For the smallest leaf is one of the most alert watchmen of the forest.

Both the players and Coach Kay Weidemann are hoping for some strong vocal support from the student body that night to help them start the season off with a victory.

Wednesday, December 14, will find the team traveling to NYU for a late afternoon game, their first away from home this season. Game time for that contest is 4:30 p.m.

Eight of the players on this year's 14-girl squad are veterans who played last year, and should give the team all the experience it needs. They include last year's top two scorers, Delores Euler and Alma Quigley, and Minnie James, Jo Ellen Fabbri, Marty Heine, Elsie Slacke, Anne MacLean, and Ruth Bie.

Rounding out the squad are Eileen Kelly, Barbara Kriftner, Ellen Derr, and Florence Smith. Nancy Alexander is the team's manager, and Gina Tiller its assistant manager.

Facing 20 Opponents In Regular Schedule

Opening their 1955-56 basketball season in the Gym tomorrow night with a home game against Scranton, the Wagner Seahawks are looking forward optimistically to the coming 20game schedule. Hopes are high on the campus that this year's squad will be able to better the 19-5 record of the 1949-50 team and the 18-6 record of the 1953-54 club, which piled up 11 straight victories before losing

Aim at Tournament

The high point for the Seahawks this season will come outside their scheduled 20 games when they appear in the fifth annual Hofstra Invitation Tournament during the last week of December. Wagner has already won the tourney twice (1951 and 1953), and a victory this year would give the 'hawks the third leg and hence permanent possession of the tournament trophy.

Starting Lineup

Coach Herb Sutter's probable starting lineup in tomorrow's game will consist of Bob Mahala, "Lonny" West, and George Blomquist at the forward positions, and Ed Peterson and Tom Drake at guard. Peterson, the team's captain, has scored 796 points in his three seasons of varsity play, and seems a cinch to hit 1,000 this year. If and when he does, he will become the third Wag-

Mahala and Blomquist are both ex-servicemen who played for Wagner before entering the army. Mahala, who played varsity ball for two years, was the team's number two scorer behind Bob Bosley before entering the service. Behind his starting five Coach Sutter has a capable bench headed by Charlie Domke, who saw considerable action last year, Dick Simler, and Lou Marcano.

WATV Televising 6 Wagner Games

At least six of Wagner's basketball games during the coming 1955-56 season will be televised by WATV, Channel 13.

PRINTING?

When you are going to have some printing done, this outline may help you in your planning:

- GENERAL DESCRIPTION-e.g. publication, stationary, ticket, advertising circular.
- QUANTITY-Anticipate your total need. Reprinting later will usually cost much more than making the original order larger.
- Size—Check on standard sizes of paper, envelopes, cards, etc. NUMBER AND SIZE OF PAGES in the case of publications.
- PAPER—Good paper can be as important as good design and good type.
- Color—Often the benefits of printing in two or more colors will amply justify the added cost.
- CONTENT-Does the job contain complicated make-up, tables, a variety of type faces, foreign languages or characters? These may all add to the cost.
- ENGRAVINGS-Are there half-tones, line cuts or castings? Will you supply engravings, photos, art work,
- PROOFS -- Do you require galley proofs? Page proofs? Press proofs? Will you do your own proof-reading?
- DEADLINES—For proofs, make-up, completion, delivery. Be sure to allow sufficient time.

If you keep these details in mind, you will be better able to plan your job, and the printer can give you a more accurate estimate.

Community Chest Committee

The executive committee of the 1956 Campus Community Chest drive was appointed last week by CCC co-chairmen Nancy Bumball and Bill Schneider.

Included on the committee are Phyllis Lewis, secretary; Walter Baumhoff, treasurer; Ruth Lopez, collections chairman; David Pitou and Tomas Coffé, carnival co-chairmen; Carol Rice, publicity director; John Mlynar, display manager, and Barbara Ann Hall, nursing school collector. Chaplain Paul J. Kirsch is the committee's faculty advisor.

MEETS NEXT WEEK

The first meeting of the CCC Committee will be held next week, when a goal for the drive will be set. Sub-committees will also be formed, and the prospective receipts allocated to different charities on a percentage basis. Work on a theme will also be inaugurated, and a number of new ideas for raising money will be discussed.

sure that different results would have been obtained "if" something had occurred. Something didn't. That's the way the ball bounces. I'm equally sure that every man on the squad tried his hardest, but something was missing. This should have been the year. Some indefinable abstract did not jell.

Pennsylvania, formerly one of the top teams in the country, has not won a game since 1952. The fault cannot be placed on head coach Steve Sebo. He is fighting a dictatorial alumni and an unmerciful schedule maker. Penn, fifty-five point underdog against Notre Dame, played a magnificent first half. They simply succumbed to superior power in the second half. The point is, Penn. threw everything it had against Notre Dame, and didn't stop fighting until the final whistle. That they lost is not in itself important; that they fought is.

The fact that Wagner had such a poor season is not to be overly magnified. Two games were lost by 7-6 scores, one by 14-6, one 14-7, and still another 21-19. True, the margin of victory could have been one hundred points; it would not have altered the statistics in the won and lost column. A loss is a loss, whether by one or one hundred points. The point is that the club tried. You cannot ask men to do more than try.

Cheer up. The basketball season is just around the corner!

Alpha Inducts 6 New Brothers

The Alpha Sigma chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity inducted six pledges into the brotherhood on November 18th. The new brothers are Larry Boyd, Ed Hellenschmidt, Frank Lucatuorto, Walt Schoen, Warren Tunkel, and Mr. Frank Townsend, a member of the Dining Hall staff.

Following the induction, a dinner was held at the Holiday Inn. Guest speakers at the dinner, given in honor of the new brothers, were Dr. Gaspard Pinette and Dr. William Hieronymus, faculty brothers.

Albert Schroeder, president, announced that a Founder's Day Masquerade Party will be held Saturday, December third, at the Clove Park Restaurant. This affair will be a closed function of the fraternity.

The Art Club has announced that all orders for posters must be turned in to the club at least one week before the date on which the organization ordering them wants the posters. Otherwise, the Art Club may not have enough time to work on them.

Germans Award Missions Plaque

A Johann Heinrich Wichern plaque, distinctive award of the German Evangelical Inner Missions, was bestowed upon the Rev. Gerhard Dietrich at ceremonies in Stuttgart, Germany, on October 3. Dietrich is director for social service in Germany of the Lutheran World Federation's Department of Lutheran World Service. He is an alumnus of Wagner College, class of 1940, and brother of Dean Dietrich.

The Wichern plaque was given to Mr. Dietrich for six years of service in Germany "as a friend, helper and counsellor" to churches in West Germany,

Mr. Dietrich served in Germany from 1949 to 1952 as emigration consultant for the Lutheran World Federation, then became director of LWS social services. Two of his four children were born in Germany. Mrs. Dietrich is the former Maric Ohlson, Wagner class of

Books Displayed By French Club

A display of French children's books and school books has been held in the library under the auspices of Le Cercle Français, Wagner's French club, recently.

The collection of books was loaned to the college by the New York City cultural division of the French Embassy. Arrangements for securing the books were made by Dr. Gaspard Pinette, the club's faculty advisor, Jo-Ellen Fabbri, its president, and George Peterson, vice-president of the club.

Le Cercle Francais also recently attended a performance of the Comedie Francaise in New York City. This theatrical group was the subject of a feature story in Life magazine last month.

New Newspaper Published by ESA

A new paper published by the Evening School Association of Wagner College was issued for the first time last week. Called the Owl, the paper is scheduled for publication the last week of every month. Its initial issue contained eight pages. The Owl supersedes the Evening Bulletin published last

According to Bernard Koch, its editor-in-chief, the Owl will publish news and articles pertinent to the evening student, and other articles of more general interest. Included in the last issue, for example, were articles by Chaplain Kirsch (on Veteran's Day), Professor Giesemann (on Jazz), and Evening Session President James Canfield (who outlined his administration's policies), in addition to other feature articles and
