HARRIETT ADALINE CHILTON (1912-1994)

Harriett Adaline CHILTON, daughter of William Chapman CHILTON and Jemima Sue CHEATHAM, was born 5 September 1912, in Appomattox County, Virginia. [Harriett A. Chilton, "Robert A. CHILTON Bible" (Falls Church, VA: Author, 1973), p. 14), Harriett A. CHILTON Research Papers, MS1289, Jones Memorial Library, Lynchburg, VA. (hereinafter CHILTON MS).]

During World War II, Miss CHILTON served in the Women's Army Corps. [Harriett A. Chilton, "Our Confederate Ancestors" (Falls Church, VA: Robert E. Lee Chapter No. 56, U.D.C., 1971), p. 5, CHILTON MS.] She was a charter member of the Appomattox County Historical Society, established in 1975. [Harriett A. Chilton, "Hundred HUNTER Cousins" [Falls Church, VA: Author, 1976), p. 3, CHILTON MS.]

A resident of Falls Church, Virginia, Harriett CHILTON was a member and historian of the Robert E. Lee Chapter, No. 56, United Daughters of the Confederacy. She received the UDC Cross of Military Service based on the service of her grandfather, Robert Alexander CHEATHAM, in the War between the States. [Chilton, "Our Confederate Ancestors," loc.cit.]

Miss CHILTON retired from the Central Intelligence Agency in 1971. "Her hobby and passion in retirement was the continuous pursuit and preservation of the history of families and community records in the Appomattox area." [Obituary, Lynchburg News and Advance, 3 November 1994, Sect. B, p. 2 col. 1.]

Additionally, Harriett CHILTON was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Colonial Dames, and the Jamestown Society. "Of all her accomplishments, she was proudest of her part in the preservation of Wesley Chapel Church." [Obituary, loc.cit.]

An avid researcher, Harriett Adaline CHILTON compiled a vast wealth of historical data on her native Appomattox County. She died 2 November 1994 at her home in Falls Church and was buried, with military honors, at the Salem United Methodist Church, Spout Spring, Virginia. [Ibid.]
