Salisbury, N.C.

Dear Sir:

I have had inquiry from Miss Agnes Hicks, Clarkesdale, Miss., for information as to ancestors who moved from Rowan County to Hardin County, Tenn., and I will quote the following, in order that you may look up your records and see if you have any such names recorded that may throw light upon this important matter:

" Daniel Travis Alexander and Ezekiel Alexander, Jr., and (we believe that their father was Ezekiel Alexander, Sr.,

Daniel Travis Alexander, Ezekiel Alexander, Jr., and Ezekiel Alexander Sr., lived in Rowan County, N.C. in 1790.

Daniel Travis Alexander and Ezekiel, Jr. Alexander, Jr., left Salisbury, N.C. in 1816- 1820 and moved to Hardin County, Tenn.. Do you have any trace of this Alexander family. The wife of Daniel Travis Alexander was Susan Ward. Daniel Travis Alexander had two brothers: Bertram and Seab Seaborn Alexander. ~~Seaborn~~ Seaborn Alexander was a Mexican war veteran, Company M, 1st Reg., Tennessee Infantry, (but that is later than the date above given).

If you can look this up, see if these people were landowners, and if there is any trace of them there and where they came from to Rowan County, it would be most helpful to this lady who wants the information.

Yours truly,

W. R. Stowe

James P. Deaton

The Charlotte Observer of June 30, 1940, Mrs. Yarbrough wrote an article about Mr. Harry P. Deaton, who for forty years was owner & editor of the Mooresville Enterprise, who was a direct descendant of one of the Signers of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence through his mother, Mary Grissian Alexander who married Pinkney Stuart Deaton & moved to Concord, N.C. where Harry P. was born Feb. 22 1872. Mary Grissian Alexander was the great-great-granddaughter of Matthew McClure who was a Signer of the Declaration of Independence & his great-grandmother, Melinda McClure married Charles Alexander (a well known member of the Alexander family which was among the first in Mecklenburg County to adopt strenuous measures for American Independence). James Deaton (grandfather of Harry P.), was born & reared on the Thomas Deaton place near Mooresville which had been granted by Gov. Granville to the great-great-grandfather of Harry P. who lived to be ninety-nine years old & reared a family of three daughters & eleven sons--nine of whom served in the Confederate Army.

Harry P. Deaton married April 8 1902, Miss Minna Blanch McNeely with whom he was very happy until her death the second of June 1940 leaving Catherine, (the elder, who married the editor & owner of the Dare County Times, Victor Meekins), & Mary Moore

* On June 26 1934, The Concord Daily Tribune, of Concord, Cabarrus Co. N.C. (a town about twenty miles from Salisbury), published an article written by Janie A. Patterson Waggoner (I think married), called The Four Historic Names On The Phifer Memorial, which monument was erected to honor the Martin Phifer family which consisted Martin (aged 16) & his youngest brother, John, who left Berne, Switzerland, in 1737, settled in Virginia then removed to North Carolina in 1755, when the latter settled in Rowan while Martin settled just across the county line in Anson (at that time) later Cabarrus. (There is a discrepancy here as the writer later says Martin's eldest son, John, was born March 22, 1747, "in Anson County, now Cabarrus" so perhaps their removal to N.C. may have been earlier than 1755.) "According to the inscription of the memorial, John Phifer, eldest son of Martin and Margaret Phifer, was born in Anson County, now Cabarrus, March 22, 1747, and died at 'Red Hill' in 1776. The slab over his grave was so faded by time and mutilated by the British soldiers that the exact date of his death could not be deciphered by the writer." (Red Hill is the name of the Martin Phifer home & remains in the family). John was probably the most illustrious of old Martin's sons, but it is in connection with the third son, Martin Jr., that I, (M.G. McCubbins) have copied the above leading what follows in connection with the Alexander family:

"The following is taken from the 'Genealogy and History of the Phifer Family'; His father being one of the executors of his son John, sent Martin to take care of the children and estate of John. To the house of John he moved with his family and many years kept a public house. Far and near his table was known, he being a great hunter, kept it well supplied with deer and other game, with which the forest abounded. After the death of his father he moved back to 'Cold Water' and built a house on the hill, 'It is there at the 'Red Hill; according to the family tradition, that General George Washington, then the first president of the United States, spent the night with Major Martin Phifer, Jr., May 29, 1791, on his famous inspection tour of the Southland. Elizabeth Locke Phifer, his wife, according to the Phifer history, 'made great preparation for the great man's coming and was sorely disappointed to find her distinguished guest so simple in his diet'. We should also preserve the first visit by Washington in Cabarrus on the same day to the home of General Robert and Sarah Alexander Smith at their home, 'Smithville', now the Harry home, seven miles southwest of Major Phifer's where the President and Major William Jackson, his companion-secretary, dined at noon. Mrs. Smith's first husband was Lieutenant Colonel Moses Alexander. She was before marriage Miss Sarah Taylor Alexander. Through her father she came of a very ancient family, a lenial descendant of the first Earl of Caledon, James Alexander, (1710-1802). Col. Moses and Sarah T. Alexander were the parents of Nathaniel Alexander, M.D., Governor of North Carolina, and six other children. Their home was on the site of the present Harry home, but only the old kitchen is standing today."

"In Washington's diary kept as a record of his southern tour, which through this section followed the Great Stage road from Charlotte to Salisbury and the northern states, President Washington left the following record:

"Sunday, May 29th, 1791'--Left Charlotte about seven o'clock, dined at Col. Smith's twelve miles off, and lodged at Major Fifer's, seven miles farther.

"Monday, 30th--At four o'clock I was out from Major Fifer's; and in about ten miles at the line which divides Mecklenburg from Rowan county; I**

The above excerpts may be just what you would like to start you upon another line of thought but to give strength will add dates of birth & death of parents of the mentioned sons. Martin Phifer Sr. born Oct. 18, 1720, died Jan. 18, 1791 aged 71 years (the article says he was descended of the Pfeiffers, of Phieffersburg, Germany, & married in 1745, Margaret, the daughter of Caleb Blackwelder, a native of Holland,) Margaret Phifer, born Oct. 29, 1722, died Jan. 18, 1803, aged 81 years.

Rev. S.C. Alexander (Back Creek Church)

"April 26, 1857.

REV. AND DEAR SIR:- At a meeting on the 4th instant, of the members of Back Creek Church, the undersigned were appointed a committee to wait on you and request a copy of the Historical Address delivered on the 21st ultimo for publication. A regard for posterity, and the perpetuity of so valuable a record of the almost lost History of our Church, gathered with much care and research, ought to be had in a more permanent form.

You will confer a favor that will meet the desire of many friends in thus complying.

Very respectfully yours,
JAMES E. ANDREW,)
DAVID R. BRADSHAW,) Committee.

Rev. S.C. ALEXANDER.

MIRANDA, ROWAN COUNTY, N.C.

April 29, 1857.

GENTLEMEN:- I received your note today, asking for a copy of the Historical Address delivered by me, at the dedication of Back Creek Church. It it can add anything to the honor or welfare of Christ's Kingdom, I most cheerfully acquiesce in your request.

S.C. ALEXANDER.

JAMES E. ANDREW,)
DAVID R. BRADSHAW,) Committee.

Back Creek Church History, page 23: "The pastoral relation was dissolved between Rev.
S.C. Alexander and Back Creek Church on September 10, 1859, he having served it, one half his time, since March 5, 1854, the other half time at Thyatira Church. He was Pastor before, during, and for some time after the building of the new church, and was a great instrument in advancing the Lord's cause in this community. The Historical Address or sermon delivered by him at the dedication of Back Creek Church March 21, 1857, (just read in your hearing) marks him as a man of no ordinary ability, tact and zeal; and God's blessing has followed him and his work into other fields of labor."

Hezekiah Alexander

Charlotte Observer, Feb. 8 1940: "MRS. JUANITA A. MILLIKEN. Monroe, Feb. 7.--- Mrs. Juanita Alexander Milliken, 41, wife of J.F. Milliken, prominent Monroe attorney, died tonight at the home at 9 o'clock, after eight months' illness. Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock, the place yet to be decided, conducted by Rev. D.P. McGeachy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, assisted by Dr. G.R. Combs and Rev. F.D. Drane. Interment will be in Monroe cemetery. She was a daughter of the late M.A. and Ida Alexander of Mecklenburg county and was a descendant of Hezekiah Alexander, pioneer family of Mecklenburg. She married Mr. Milliken 13 years ago. She is survived by her husband; two children, Martha and John; five sisters, Mrs. W.A. Henderson, of Monroe, Mrs. DeWitt Bradford of Huntersville, Miss Ollie Alexander of Monroe, Misses Harriett and Elizabeth Alexander of Salisbury; two brothers, S.D. Alexander of Raleigh and W.L. Alexander of Monroe."

Abraham Alexander (Mecklenburg Co.N.C.)

Salisbury District Court of Law & Equity 1799-1818; page 139; March 19 1802, case #39 of Nathaniel Alexander vs the heirs of Cyrus Alexander heard before Judge John Hall. The gentleman complainant, Nathaniel Alexander, on March 29 1801 said Cyrus Alexander died in May 1799 owning 107 acres in Mecklenburg Co.N.C. on the edge of a bottom, a field & crossing a branch, which he had offered to sell the said Nathaniel his part of it, about 100 pounds worth, & make a title in fee simple. (It seems to have come from the death of his father Abraham Alexander who died considerably prior to this). Said Cyrus died without a will & without making the promised deed, leaving heirs Dorcas Emelia & Sarah as his only children & heirs & they are under age. William L. Alexander, as counsel of complainant, suggests that The Court be guardian of said infants so that case may proceed &c

Among some old notes I find the will of Abraham Alexander's widow, Dorcas Alexander, made in Mecklenburg Co.N.C. Feb.29 1800. Sons; Joab, Cyrus, Abraham & Nathaniel. Son-in-law; William Semple Alexander. Rebecca, widow of my son Cyrus & their children Dorcas Amelia & Sarah; Margaret, wife of my son Abraham & their child Dorcas; Jane wife of son Nathaniel; & Hannah wife of son Joab. Theresa is the daughter of my son-in-law William Semple Alexander. Exrs; sons Abraham, Nathaniel & Joab. Attests; J. Alexander & James McKee.

Also the will of Abraham Alexander made April 12 1786. Wife Dorcas. Sons; Isaac, Abraham, Nathaniel, Joab, Ezra, Charles & Cyrus. Only daughter: Elizabeth. Exrs: wife & sons Isaac & Abraham. Attests: John McWilson & Hezekiah Alexander.

Hezekiah Alexander of Mecklenburg Co.N.C.

History of Mecklenburg Co.N.C. (by Dr. J.B.Alexander) page 408: "HEZEKIAH ALEXANDER. This member of the numerous Alexander family was a brother of John McKnitt Alexander, and was born in Cecil county, in the northern part of Maryland, in January, 1722. He migrated with his family to the Mecklenburg county in 1754, and was soon assigned a prominent place among the early settlers. He located four or five miles east of Charlotte and in 1764 erected a stone residence on which the date is cut, and is a good house to this day. He was for many years a magistrate and member of the County Court. Foote relates of him that he was "the clearest-headed magistrate in the county", a high compliment. In May, 1775, he served in the Mecklenburg Convention, and in the ensuing September he was chosen a member of the Salisbury District Committee of Safety. In April, 1776, he was appointed paymaster of Col. Thomas Polk's regiment of the Continentals, and the next month he was chosen one of the two members to represent the Salisbury District in the State Council of Safety, on pay of twenty shillings proclamation money for each day's traveling and attendance. He died June 16, 1801."

FAMILY COATS OF ARMS

By W. E. Hennessee
The State, June 1, 1946.

Heraldic blazoning of the coat of arms of the Alexander family:

Shield—Parted per pale (vertically) argent (silver) and sable (black) a chevron counterchanged (with colors opposite) in base a crescent counterchanged.

Crest—An arm holding balances proper (natural color).

Motto—Per Mare Per Terras. (Latin: "On the Land and on the Sea.")

Black, in heraldic symbolism, denotes death, sin, a dour disposition, mourning and anger, while silver connotes virginity, purity, gentleness and eloquence. The chevron is called an "honorable ordinary," meaning one of the honorable charges most ordinarily used. It is a charge denoting nobility and knighthood. The crescent was the badge of the Mohammedans from whom the Crusaders sought to wrest the Holy City. It was adopted by many Crusaders as their badge. The scales denote justice and refer to the one-time heredity office of the family, "Judges of the West Highlands." The motto is that of the Clan Randall, to which the Alexander family belonged and which they many times headed.

The name, Alexander, is found either as given name or surname in almost every land. It comes originally from the Greek and means "friend of man." Its Celtic form was Alister.
