Professor George says the coldest day he ever felt was when his aunt, Docia George (the youngest child, who married William Gray Hampton of Yadkin County aristocratic family, son of Henry? Gray Hampton the sheriff, lived at Jonesville N.C.) lost her husband & died at High Point N.C. was buried

N.C. History (Lewis Publishing Company) Vol. V page 65; Thomas Millard George, educator & editor of the leading paper of Mount Airy, was born Jan. 15 1852 in New Hope Township, Iredell Co. N.C., married in Dec. 1883, Mary Critz (also a teacher, born in Davie Co. N.C., daughter of Haman & Elizabeth (Frost) Critz) by whom had: Lillian, William Fiske, Wesley Critz & Mabel Elizabeth.

The parents of Thomas Millard George were Wesley Hensley George, born June 1810, in Stokes Co. N.C., (who had a natural gift as a mathematician & "developed exceptional skill as a surveyor",) & Arena Redman (she was born in Iredell Co. N.C., daughter of John Redman by wife Jane Williams; granddaughter of Thomas Redman of Irish ancestry who was born in Virginia, among the pioneer settlers of Iredell County, where he & wife Mary reared a large family--a farmer as was his son, John. It is thought that the father of John's wife, Samuel Williams, was born in Davidson Co. N.C. of Welsh ancestry but moved to Iredell where he too farmed). Mrs. Wesley George died at the age of seventy four--her first husband was William Chenault by whom there were three children (Abner, William & Mary), by her second husband there were seven children; John Franklin, Martha, Reuben Harrison, Julia, Thomas Millard, Isadore & Docia. Her second husband was a whig, elected twice to Legislature & served in the Constitutional Convention of 1868. He bought a farm in New Hope Township & taught school but in 1872 bought a farm in the western part of Yadkin County where he died in 1880.

Isaac George was born in Virginia, became a pioneer settler of Stokes Co. N.C. but moved to Iredell County, quite late in his life, about 1840, he removed to Indiana with some of his family, accompanied by his wife, a son & two daughters, bought land near Knightstown where he died nearly eighty years of age--his wife, a Miss Hensley who was born in Virginia, & by whom he had reared five children (Enoch, Wesley H., Elizabeth, Mary & Reuben) then went with a son to Litchfield, Ill. where she died.

The great-grandfather was Reuben George, was born in & spent most of his life in Virginia (the remote ancestors were Welsh settlers of Maryland) was with the Virginia troops in the Revolutionary War. Two of his sons went to Ohio & two to North Carolina--one being the Isaac just mentioned.
